"Its present premises consist of two buildings and about an acre of land. The buildings are ideally suited for its present purposes, and to provide approximately 3,200 feet of space. The company was not able to purchase this property from Shell Oil Company at this time, but is renting it on a temporary basis. If the hopes market are realized, it will re- of the company with respect to the development of the Canadian quire a much larger manufacturing space in the early future."

THIS PIER will be wrecked and a new one built in its place this summer at Cobourg for oil tankers such as this one unloading gasoline which will be piped to storage tanks in Cobourg. While the pier is being replaced the ships will tie up at the ferry slip which has not been used since the ferry service to Rochester was abandoned two years ago. The pier is being rebuilt because it has been gradually sinking into the water for the last several years.—(Murray Smith Photo)

Moscow Offers Tricky Officials Warn

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Presss Business Editor

The monthly news letter of the United Kingdom Information Office in Ottawa has some comment on the recent trade conference in Moscow. It says, in part:

"The much-publicized 'offers' from Moscow add nothing to what could have been done in the past without the elaborate flummery of a Moscow conference.

"The fact that the Chinese now are offering to place orders direct with British manufacturers proves, if anything, that they intend to continue their policy of squeezing out long-established firms in China.

"These firms have been persecuted and confronted with extensive, crippling claims—a policy in line with the Soviet plan to eliminate any Western contacts with China.

"The new Soviet offer has sinister strings to it. Eastern Europe will buy U.K. textiles only provided plenty of machine tools come along with the package. Britain, in loyalty to her other North Atlantic Treaty Organization partners, and despite her desperate need for trade expansion, will never agree to such a bargain."

Odd bits of information appear from time to time in Foreign Trade, publication of the Foreign Trade Service, Department of Trade and Commerce. This time it's about cork.

H. M. Maddick, assistant commercial secretary for Canada in Lisbon, writes:

"Cork is the bark of the cork oak tree, harvested by splitting lengthwise through the bark of the trunk or limb and stripping it off.

"The cork industry means to Portugal what the pulp paper industry means to Canada. Portugal possesses 32 per cent of the world's raw and manufactured cork."

The slogan "Clean-up, Paint-up, Plant-up, Light-up" is being heard again with the announcement by the Canadian Beautification Association that the annual Beautification Campaign will be held May 10-26. Local campaigns will be conducted in more than 600 communities in all 10 provinces.

Tackle Big Mountain

MEXICO CITY, May 7 (AP)—Two Mexican mountaineering clubs have joined forces to attempt the ascent of 20,270-foot Mt. McKinley, highest peak on the North American continent. The clubs, formed of printing and railroad workers, will go to Alaska in June for the climb, they hope to fly a Mexican flag from the summit.

Purge Figures

BERLIN, May 7 — (Reuters) — East Germany's efforts to create a strong pro-Stalin Communist party cost 150,696 members their membership cards during the 16-month purge which ended last year, the press bulletin of the Socialist Unity (Communist) party said today. The bulletin said most of those expelled had not obeyed the principles of Marxism-Leninism. Others were thrown out for lack of edequate class background, immorality, and other charges.

Hydro Bowlers End Season With Banquet

CAMPBELLFORD, May 7 — (ENS)—Hydro bowlers wound up their mixed league on Tuesday evening with Irene Chapman's "Chill Blaines" taking the final play-off game after leading the league since the third bowling night last fall.

On Friday evening, they held their banquet and party in the Masonic hall with the Petherick's Corners Zion W.A. providing the banquet.

The club cup was presented to runnerup team captain Jack Cowell to: Irene Chapman, Madelaine Free, Helen Cowell, Bill Oliver, Jim McPherson, Ted Cryderman and Hilton Beatty. Vern Lockwood presented a box of chocolates to each player on the team.

Prizes were presented to the following: Marg. Field, ladies' high average; Ted Smith, men's high average; Marg. Flint, ladies' high triple; Doug Carswell, men's high triple; Barbara Smith, ladies' high single; Bill Oliver, men's high single.

After the officers were elected for the next season, Fred Palliser entertained the group with two readings. The balance of the evening was spent in dancing.

Clark Arrives

TOKYO, May 7 (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark arrived in Tokyo this afternon to take over command of United Nations forces in the Far East. He said he "would do everything in my power to bring about an honorable armistice." Clark was met at the Haneda airport by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the man he succeeds.

New Equipment For Color Photos

NEW YORK, May 7 — (AP) — Radio Corporation of America technicians have developed electronic equipment which will enable newspapers to print pictures of the day's news events in color, Brig.-Gen. David Sarnoff, R.C.A. chairman, said Tuesday.

Known as the all-electronic color corrector, the new device reduces by at least 50 per cent the time required to make color plates for printing, Sarnoff said. Now being tested in co-operation with several large printers and publishers, the new corrector will be fully developed and in commercial production soon, he added.

While details of the equipment were not disclosed, R.C.A. engineers said the new corrector "applies television techniques to the original inter-chemical device to eliminate the mechanical part of the earlier electro-mechanical model.

"Instead of mounting the separation negatives in a heavy carriage and moving the latter over three fixed scanning lights, the R.C.A. model employs a beam of light which is moved over three fixed separations. The heart of the equipment is a cathode-ray tube similar to the picture tube in a television set. It differs from the TV tube in that the moving spot of light takes approximately 10 minutes to scan the face of the tube instead of 1/30 of a second."

Celebrates Birthday

BUENOS AIRES, May 7 (AP)—Senora Eva Peron, wife of Argentina's president, celebrates her 30th birthday today. Argentine workers have planned special ceremonies and no newspapers are being published.

Temperance Reading Given At Auxiliary

CAMPBELLFLOLRD, May 1 (ENS).—May meeting of the St. John's Evening Auxiliary was held recently in the Sunday school rooms. After a short business period, Mildred Mutton gave a talk on temperance.

Bernice Hardy, leader of group IIV, then had charge of the program.

Beatrice Horsman read the scripture lesson.

Mary Johnston read a poem and Mildred Mutton led in prayer. Carolyn Towns sang a solo, followed by a reading by Beatrice Horsman. The leader then called on the guest speaker, Captain Clark of the Salvation Army, who gave a talk on making Canada a fit home for the family of God.

CollegiateBoardPlans Repair Burned School

COBOURG, May 7—(ENS)—The collegiate board met Tuesday night to discuss repairs to the school caused by a recent fire which damaged part of the room. Water damage to the classrooms on both floors was also extensive. The board had planned to have a new roof put on this summer, although the fire removed some of the old shingle roof."

The insurance company has indicated that it will pay around 50 per cent. of the damage to the roof. It will not be known for some time as to how much it will cost to fix up the classrooms again that had been damaged by water, and so far the actual fire loss has not been established.

Few Volunteers Out For Firefighting Course

COBOURG, May 7—(ENS)—Ony four turned up at the meeting called by H. M. Maynard, civil defence director for the Cobourg area Tuesday night. Mr. Maynard had sent a call out for 24 men to learn fire-fighting. However, he is going to continue with only four until more decide to take the course.

Fire Chief Ken Baird will teach the quartet the routine of fire fighting and they will go out with the regular fire brigade on a number of calls. Also in the course is instruction in first aid and decontamination methods, and this will be taught by Mr. Maynard.

Miss Sarah Campbell

MARMORA, May 7—(ENS)—The funeral of Miss Sarah Letitia Campbell took place Tuesday afternoon in St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc.

Canon J. M. Brownlie, of St. Paul's, Marmora, was the officiating clergyman, assisted by diocesan lay reader W. J. Cottrell, who read the lesson. Burial took place in Fox's cemetery, Eldorado. Pallbearers were Everitt Cleveland, Charles Donaldson, Dan Vallieres, Joseph Lamb, Louis, Fibert and Charles Griffin.

30 Houses Lost

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 7 — (AP)— Floods caused by heavy ruins swept away 30 houses and did extensive crop damage at Buenavista, 70 miles northwest of Bogota, news dispatches said today. About 1,000 residents in homes near the swelling Magdalena river prepared to move out.

Doesn't Want Pictures

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—Film and stage star Jean Arthur began a three-month vacation in England today and asked photographers not to take her picture, please. With her hair clipped short and wearing dark glasses, she explained apologetically: "I'm ugly without Hollywood makeup."

Church Filled At Bailey Rites

LAKEFIELD, May 7 (ENS) The Church of St. John the Baptist was filled Monday afternoon when citizens of Lakefield and district as well as many from outside points gathered to pay their last respects to Edward Walter Bailey, who died suddenly at his residence Thursday evening.

The service was read by the Rev. L. J. Delaney and the Rev. G. S. Scovell of Toronto delivered the address.

A kindly man, Mr. Bailey will be greatly missed in the village where he took an active part in civic affairs as well as in his church.

He is survived by a daughter, Miss Mildred Bailey of the P.C.V.S. staff, a son, Edward of Hamilton, a granddaughter, Elizabeth Bailey of Hamilton, four sisters and a brother.

Present at the funeral were representatives of the Lakefield and District High School Board; the Student Council of the High School; Lakefield and Young's Point Branches, Canadian Red Cross Society; the Canada Cement Co.; Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School; Lakefield Curling Club, and the Engineering Institute.

Interment was in Hillside cemetery where the service at the graveside was conducted under the auspices of Clementi Lodge 313 A.F. and A.M. with the Rev. G. S. Scovell, Past Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Canada, Province of Ontario, in charge.

Honorary pallbearers were George Charlton, Reeve E. H. Northey, N. A. Moore, O. A. Langley, Q.C., and J. McKerchar all of Lakefield, Limbert Graham of Napanee, Harry Wagar of Point Anne and J. H. Legate of Belleville.

Active pallbearers, all members of Clementi Lodge, were: Kenneth Morris, Frank Payne, Jack Leonard, George Graham, Melville Kingdon and William Whetung.

Kinsmen Hold Party For Club President

CAMPBELLFLORD, May 7 (ENS).—The Campbellford Kinsmen Club showed their esteem of their president, Gordon Walroth, who has been convalescing after a serious operation, in the form of a surprise party in his honor.

Acting President Forrest R. Dennis spoke of the contribution Mr. Walroth had made not only to the Kinsmen Club, but to the community in general, and then presented him with a double desk set. Mrs. Walroth was present on the occasion to share in her husband's surprise.

Mr. Walroth and his wife will be moving to Yarker, near Napanee, as soon as he is well enough, where he will assume management of a bank there.

The winners on the recent fishing tackle draw under the auspices of the Kinsmen were announced as follows: 1, Mrs. Jack Tinney; 2, Murray Campbell.

Films in natural color depicting the professional golf championship tournament were enjoyed, with Bruce Grill operating the picture machine.

U.N. Blacklist

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., May 7 (AP)—A U.N. blacklist for seamen and civil aircraft crew members convicted of narcotics smuggling was approved Tuesday by the U.N. commission on narcotic drugs. Under it, the U.N. would begin listing offenders after next January and turning the names over to their governments or unions for action that might result in loss of seamen's certificates or air crew licences.

Seize Two Slingshots

SALEM, Mass., May 7— (AP) —Two slingshots which police said would hurl a five-pound rock more than 200 yards were confiscated by police last night. Police said the 60 windows in two Salam manufacturing plants were shattered by the weapons, apparently operated by boys. The slingshots made out of a branch of a tree are two inches thick and three feet high.

Aldermanic Vacancy

Mr. Norman Graham has resigned from the City Council; his aldermanic term does not expire until the end of the year, so an appointment will be made to fill the vacancy. This should put no undue strain on municipal machinery, but it seems to be somewhat complicated by an old 1910 City of Peterborough Act of the Ontario Legislature. At least, some city officials seem to think the matter of replacement is complicated.

* * *

Ordinarily, the Ontario Municipal Act would be the instrument by which a new alderman was appointed to fill the vacancy. The Act, as given in the Revised Statutes of Ontario 1937 (1950 collation), is straightforward about it. Section 169(1) states in part:

"Where a vacancy occurs in the office of alderman in a city where aldermen are elected by general vote, the unsuccessful candidate who secured the highest number of votes at the next preceding election shall be entitled to the office."

Subsection 3 of the same section states that:

"The Clerk shall immediately after the vacancy occurs give notice in writing to the candidate who is first in succession that he is entitled to such vacant office."

There is no hedging about which unsuccessful candidate in which year shall be appointed. It shall be the candidate who was runner-up in the last elections.

* * *

The 1910 Peterborough Act states, we have been informed, that at the next regular meeting after a vacancy has been created, the Council shall elect "some duly qualified person" to fill out the remainder of the term. That is more general than the later Municipal Act. We are not sure that the Municipal Act supersedes this particular clause in the Peterborough Act—probably not. If the Council decides to elect to the vacancy anybody other than last year's runner-up it will be departing not only from the normal practice of other Ontario cities, but also from the normal practice in Peterborough. And, anyway, what responsible man or woman wants to go into the Council by the back door? Surely the appointee should be someone sufficiently concerned about the city's business to have already faced the voters.

* * *

There need be no fiddle-faddle about this. By custom and the Municipal Act, Mr. William J. Beggs should be offered the vacant aldermanic seat. He was runner-up in last year's municipal elections and 2,834 voters had enough confidence in him to vote for him. Mr. Beggs' appointment will give the Council a Labour man's point of view.

Easier Credit

Last year's restrictions on easy borrowing of money, instalment buying and other measures to tighten credit did as the Government hoped and its economic advisors expected; they lessened inflationary pressures. They were one of several means taken to try to control the cost of living. These controls have succeeded. For the third month in succession (up to April 1st) the index went down. Yesterday the Government took down its credit barriers. Apparently inflation is so well in hand that the experts feel that easier credit will not be harmful; or politicians feel that in yielding to business interests in this, they will win favour and forestall demands for suspending the credit restrictions.

Credit creates new money. If a person is able to buy a refrigerator or a car for a down payment of a few dollars, he is actually not using merely the few dollars, but the $200 or $1,000 that the refrigerator or car is priced at. That is the inflationary effect of easy credit; it puts more money in circulation, through the goods bought on credit or by instalments. It is this last effect which will be helpful to business and industry (if it is not blighted by further inflation); people will be able to buy more goods. The amount of cash they have to put up now is small. The more goods that are bought the busier retail stores are, and the jobbers and factories which supply them.

We are in two minds about the value and even the morality of buying on instalments, even though it is a commonplace of business, and every family buys such large items as houses on credit. To buy a suit of clothes, a twenty-dollar article or a piece of furniture on credit, that is, by instalments, does seem to verge on monetary insecurity. First thing we know, perhaps, one may be able to buy a pound of steak for a down payment and easy weekly instalments.

Nobody Happy About The 24th?

Since the 24th of May falls on a Saturday, Peterborough merchants have decided that they will observe the old Queen's birthday on the following Monday. Thus they will not miss the ordinary Saturday trade.

The executive of U.E. 524 recommended that the C.G.E. be asked to make June 30th a paid holiday in lieu of May 24th. The reason for that recommendation need not be laboured. The 24th of May is a statutory holiday, requiring that workers be paid for it. But this year it falls on a Saturday, which, in the five-day week at the Canadian General, is not a work day. So, say the union organizers, eager to catch popular acclaim, let's try to get the 24th shifted to Monday, June 30th. (A fantastic shift). It won't be the 24th of May, but if we pretend it is, we can get the company to pay for it, and then we'll have a nice long holiday—with pay—from Friday the 27th to the next Wednesday, the 2nd. It's the July 1st week.

The merchants want to make the best of the 24th by having the holiday on the 26th. The union at the C.G.E. wants to make the best of it by having the 24th (which their workers get anyway, since it is a Saturday) tucked on to the last day of June.

Since nobody seems to be paying any attention to the historic reason for the 24th of May holiday, why have it at all?

Most people seem to be paying close attention to the holiday aspect. Next year perhaps everybody will be happy. According to a bill recently put through the Commons, the 24th of May hereafter will always be celebrated on a May Monday, whatever its date. Queen Victoria's birthday does not matter any more. We suspect that the time will shortly come when the Victorian era will again get its just due and people will wish that they could still truly celebrate the Queen's birthday, as a special pause in hurried, regimented life.

Do Sailors Love Nice Girls?

A popular song assures us that every nice girl loves a sailor. It has sometimes been asserted—probably by agents of Moscow—that the fondness of sailors for girls who may be described as nice is not so acute. Though now that we come to think of the matter we have never met a sailor's wife who was not a woman of more than ordinary charm. Still, wives and girls are rather different things.

A clergyman at Middlesbrough, in England, has marshalled fifty churchgoing, nice girls, who are studying ways to entertain sailors when they come ashore; the subjects which they are studying are dancing, badminton, tennis and organized hiking, in groups. It is hoped that this will keep sailors out of the clutches of women whose methods of entertainment are not of the group kind.

We shall watch this experiment with keen interest. It has been traditional for many centuries that sailors arrive home from their travels ravening for the company of girls whose notion of entertainment is somewhat rowdy. Perhaps the girls of Middlesbrough will prove that the opinion of the centuries has been wrong, and if they do so it will be a notable victory for moderation and harmless pleasure. Certainly we should like to be present when it is first suggested to a group of sailors who have been working their heads off at sea for three months, that they go on a jolly hike with a lot of other jolly tars, and some jolly girls, and a jolly chaperone.

Miss Posture Week

You may not want to know it, but this is "Miss Posture Week" on the North American continent. It is a new "week" in the calendar, and not initiated, as an innocent person might think, by people who are concerned about their own slouching (most Canadians seem to like to slouch) but by the chiropractors' association, with headquarters in the States. The promoters of the week, cunning in the ways of catching the eye, are displaying a photographic example of good posture, a "Miss Posture of 1952." Miss P., a well set-up gal, poses on a swing in a highly posture-revealing bathing suit. We confess that looking at the image of Miss P of '52 does not remind us of posture at all; good or bad as it may be. We are all eyes for Miss P., without posture. It seems to be a case of Miss Posture [illegible] way.

World's Arts At Venice

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED of the most distinguished figures in the contemporary world of arts, drawn from nearly fifty countries, will meet in the historic setting of the beautiful monastery on the island of San Giorgio at Venice to discuss the position of the artist in modern society, when the UNESCO-sponsored International Conference of Artists takes place from September 22 to 28, it was announced here this week.

Britain will be represented by Mr. Stephen Spender, the poet; Mr. Ralph Tubbs and Sir Patrick Abercrombie for architecture; Mr. Graham Sutherland, the artist; and Mr. Henry Moore, the sculptor, who will read a special paper on his subject. Sixty-five countries have been invited to send representative men of arts and letters to this meeting, which was proposed by Belgium in 1951 and for which the Italian Government is to act host. So far, some thirty countries have agreed to do so, and although their contingents have not yet been announced, the names on the Organising Committee of the Conference alone, and of the rapporteurs who will present special papers, indicate the calibre of the talks.

THE CHAIRMAN is Andre Lhote, the French painter and art critic, and the Committee's rapporteur Henry Billings, the American painter. Committee members include such figures as Guillaume Landre, the Dutch composer, and Fritz Wotruba, the Austrian sculptor. Arthur Honneger will speak on music, Taha Hussein Pasha of Egypt on literature, Marc Connelly on the theatre, and Guiseppe Ungaretti, the Italian poet, will give a general talk on the position of the artist.

Creative artists of painting, sculpture, architecture, music, literature, the theatre and the cinema will assemble from countries as far apart as Ecuador and Siam, chosen by their States or by such consultative bodies as the International Music Council and the International PEN club.

✧ ✧ ✧

BEHIND THE PUBLISHED theme of the conference—"The Artist in Modern Society"—lies a more dramatic question to be discussed: "Is the idea of the great artist and of the great artistic movement to survive at all? Up to fifty years ago, in a somehow smaller and more leisurely world, the artist was, in the true sense, free—free to create and free to starve to do so. His practical problems were confined to little more than finding his daily bread and the tools of his trade. A little apart from the world of daily affairs, he slipped easily and naturally into a circle of kindred spirits which included not only his direct rivals, but his colleagues in all the arts—the painters, sculptors, musicians and writers of his day. Arpund such coteries which preserved the artistic unity of that day were the riches of great patrons in terms of state or individual, discerning enough in their fashion, whose favour meant success. Out of this free association, which could bring together a Georges Sands, a Liszt and a Chopin casually and at any moment, sprang not only the great names but the great artistic movements in the harmony of which every individual art had its part.

✧ ✧ ✧

AS ANDRE LHOTE, the French painter, points out at UNESCO headquarters in Paris this week, the traditional catalyst—the "Cafe Boheme"—has disappeared, and with it the simplicty of life which enabled artists to devote themselves to their work. The modern painter or writer, his life endlessly complicated by censorship, copyright laws, business relations with agents, distribution problems, and even labour and trade union worries, is hard put to it to keep himself and his artistic detachment above water, and has almost no time to compare notes with the sculptor around the corner or the architect half way around the world.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE COMPLEXITY of developments with which the artist now has to keep up, and the rivalry of thousands of aspirants around him force him also to specialise in his own field to seek success along a narrow individual line which is often unrelated to trends in sister arts. Nor can all the new State and international organisations designed to protect and develop him relieve him of the daily distractions of practical affairs or assess his worth against the full background of the arts. "We painters", Lhote said, "are swamped by the thousands of amateurs—the spinster who thinks she has talent, the policeman who likes to daub when off duty, and the businessman seeking relaxation". Real originality or even genius emerge all too slowly from the vast mass in which they are hidden, and the world finds it more and more difficult to select the grains of gold from among so much sand.

THE VENICE conference will, in a modern sense, revive the freemasonry of the "Cafe Boheme", but on a practical plane. Delegates will discuss and hear reports on the complex juridical, moral, political and economic problems which attack not only their own art but all the sister arts also, and on the extent to which the artist is given a lifeline by the State or by private organisations—or is left to sink or swim for himself. Poets will hear about architects' economic problems; painters will be told of the copyright laws from which writers suffer; sculptors will discuss [illegible]

THE CONFERENCE MEANS that, for the first time on a world-wide scale, artists representing all the fields of art will combine to study one another's problems and jointly try to find means to give themselves the best possible chance in this accelerated and distracting age. The ultimate project of the conference will be the formation of an international Union of Architects, which are at present concerned with one art only. It is felt at UNESCO that there is great need for such a body, which alone could bring the exponents of all the arts constantly into contact with one another, and turn to advantage those contemporary outside influences which at present tend to compress the artist into an isolated, defensive and often sterile individual unit.

Terrible Disaster

Government By Bloodshed

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON (in La Paz)

ONE WOULD suppose that to enter a country on the first regular plane to reach it after a successful revolution in which hundreds were killed and thousands wounded, would be a difficult, romantic, or even dangerous experience.

When I flew to La Paz (seat of the Government of Bolivia) under just such circumstances it proved to be none of these things. The day before my flight I checked at the Panagra airline offices in Lima to find out if the plane would leave at the scheduled time, and was informed in rather a bored manner that it would.

I asked the Peruvian girl behind the counter if my Bolivian visa, issued the week before, were still valid; she looked surprised and said: "Why not?" Since it had been issued under the auspices of a diplomatic official who had described the new regime in rude terms and subsequently resigned, I was less sanguine about the validity of my credentials, but I never argue with Peruvian women because they always turn out to be right.

THIS ONE DID, too. At La Paz airport, 13,000 feet above sea-level a fire was, as usual, burning in the grate. I had expected numbers of armed men in uniform, but there were none. The immigration officials barely glanced at my passport, and the customs men gave my baggage the most cursory examination I have ever known. When I made a tentative reference to the revolution he said cheerfully: "It's all over."

My fellow-passengers in the airport bus were two obvious plain-clothes policemen. They chatted amiably, and, to a leading question of mine, one replied casually: "Oh, everything's quiet now." In theory they should have given each other meaningful glances, or said "The glorious forces of liberty have triumphed," but Bolivians don't behave like that.

On the serpentine highway down to the city a thousand feet below, little bowler-hatted Indian women were trudging up with babies on their backs, impassive as ever, and the only sign of anything unusual was a group of Indians, in mourning, gathering with five enormous wreaths—and five cheap coffins. The working class district of Villa Victoria, on the way into the city, was one of the hardest hit, together with the residential area of Miraflores.

IN THE CITY itself there were other signs that all was not normal. In my hotel I was informed gloomily by the desk-clerk that the elevator was not working, there was an eleven o'clock curfew and they had run out of beer. Outside the National Palace in Plaza Murillo there stood on guard, instead of smart soldiers, armed civilians of the Workers' Militia, including one girl. Ambulances and trucks went by at intervals carrying dead and wounded.

But it was Easter Sunday, the sun was shining, and the streets were full of families out for a stroll. Outside the cinemas people were queuing up to see, among other things, "Panic in the Streets" and "For Whom the Bell Tolls." The street-market was functioning normally, and children were playing on the see-saws in the municipal park. One young man, walking along a crowded street, even made fun of the whole thing. Raising an imaginary rifle, he shouted: "Hands up, rabble!"

"Shut up," his friends told him amiably, and the passers-by laughed.

THIS ASTONISHING CALM and good nature—victims and vanquished could often be heard amicably discussing the week's events, and obituaries of the fallen on both sides were impartially published next to one another—astonished foreign residents. They were even more impressed by the utterly undemonstrative heroism of the citizens of La Paz. This extended to non-combatants, who refused to take cover and got killed out of pure curiosity. A local paper (in an issue politely apologising for its failure to publish the usual Sunday literary supplement) remarked of the sightseers that it would be a good thing if Bolivians supplemented their courage with a little common-sense.

Symbolic of the spirit of the country was a poster plastered all over the walls of La Paz, heralding the return a few weeks before of the remains of a national hero from Chile. During a war against that country in the last century this single Bolivian had found himself the last survivor of a group surrounded by a large Chilean force.

"Surrender, you fool!" called the Chileans.

"Surrender?" he roared back, reloading, "Surrender your grandmother's . . . .!" — and dropped dead from wounds. (The posters also left the last word of his life blank.)

THE BOLIVIANS, a hardy, largely Indian people, poor and uneducated, still mostly living in primitive conditions, have not changed. As a North American resident remarked to me: "I love the Bolivians; they're the nicest people in the world. But they're crazy—they don't give a damn about being killed."

During the week the battered city took up the thread of its existence again. Easter Monday was a Bank Holiday, the Day of the Americans, and, revolution or no revolution, it was so celebrated, and the flags which had been flying at half-mast the day before were hoisted to the top. Later, the curfew was repealed, electric light and power was restored district by district (bringing Press tributes to the Canadian-owned Bolivian Power Company), the ban on the sale of spirituous liquors was rescinded, and each day the Press carried long lists of soldiers who had fought on the wrong side, been detained, and were now set at liberty.

THE WORLD HEALTH Organization and various individual neighbouring countries flew in medical assistance to the overcrowded and understaffed hospitals (casualties in La Paz itself were now estimated at 1,000 dead and over 5,000 wounded). A touch of comic relief was brough by the arrival of a team of nurses despatched from Argentina in a blaze of publicity by the "Fundacion Eva Peron." These young ladies, dressed in Army-style uniforms (with a yet smarter variation for evening were) brought with them, as one Bolivian put it, "more glamour than nursing experience and more propaganda than medicine." They circulated copies of Eva Peron's autobiography round the hospital wards and were known to the ungrateful population as "las Evitas."

By the end of the week the La Paz Golf Club was announcing a tournament, the Always Ready Football Club was calling its members to an Ordinary General Meeting, the new President's wife had arrived by plane from Buenos Aires and gone straight to visit the hospitals, the Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs of the previous regime was strolling tranquilly and unmolested through the park, and the Embassy Night Club ("Centre of society and the first in the capital") gave notice that it had "the pleasure to invite its distinguished and select clientele to pass unforgettable nights" dancing to the American Boys Orchestra in the Season of a Thousand Surprises.

BUT, despite this apparent capacity to forget the events of the previous week, there were signs that Bolivians were beginning to count the cost of "Government by bloodshed." On the day I arrived, the only newspaper to appear, "El Diario," printed a sober editorial, ending:

"It is a pity that Bolivia has to travel the road of progress with so many upheavals, though other American, European and Asiatic countries confront similar phenomena. This, of course, is no consolation, but it is an explanation which can bring a little tranquility to our souls. One day the Bolivian people will know what it wants and will get it; in the meantime it continues to seek happiness amid tears, bullets, and blood."

Two days later, dealing with the same theme, the paper added: "The peaceful transition of the British people from a Conservative Government to a leftist Labour regime, and its return to the Conservatism of Churchill is an example which should be imitated by all civilized peoples of humanitarian Christian sentiments, among whom, surely, is the people of Bolivia."

DR. PAZ ESTENSSORO'S Government has already shown signs of some wish to follow that example. Though he advised the outspoken opposition newspaper "La Razon" not to resume publication for a week or two because in view of events it might be attacked and cause further loss of life, the Press as a whole seems free to speak its mind. There are no restrictions on the freedom of speech or assembly, nobody has been lynched, shot, or otherwise executed for fighting on the other side, and everyone is as free to enter or leave the country as I was. This is rather embarrassing for the leaders of the former Military Junta, who precipitately took refuge in foreign embassies and now cannot emerge without looking remarkably foolish.

But—one never knows in Bolivia. In the Season of a Thousand Surprises there may still be more surprises to come.

The Piano In The Parlour

(HAMILTON SPECTATOR)

ONCE—And it wasn't too long ago—it was a strange and bare "parlour," indeed, which did not boast a massive piano, an "upright" as they were known in the trade. The early years of the 1920s, just before radio had graduated from its gadget stage, were the halcyon ones for the piano industry. U.S. manufacturers, largely centred in New York's Bronx, were turning out 375,000 a year.

The industry was riding on the crest of a boom created by that weird, mechanical compromise with the phonograph, the "player" piano. That boom was smashed in the later '30s by radio, and the swiftly following depression almost destroyed the industry. The ranks of the U.S. manufacturers thinned from 275 to but 17. Production dropped from the 375,000 pace to a low of 32,000 in 1933.

It was the spinet, developed in Sweden and popularized in Britain, which saved the U.S. industry in the mid '30s. This "pocket-size" instrument, better adapted to smaller houses and apartments, less cumbersome and a more attractive piece of furniture—no small point in piano-buying—than the severe, massive uprights, carried the industry out of its doldrums. U.S. production today is a respectable 175,000 a year. There are now 28 manufacturers there—and none of them turn out those tinkling glib "players".

Having barely survived the phonograph and radio invasions, the piano men are now bracing themselves for a fresh struggle to retain their place in North American living rooms. The new invader, of course, is television, a formidable foe, to be sure.

They are optimistic, however. Radio killed the player piano, they admit, but both the radio and the phonograph, stimulating interest in music generally, strengthened the position of the conventional pianoforte.

The optimist is probably justified. At any rate, the loveliest and most versatile of all musical instruments will hardly go down before its electronic rival without a rousing struggle.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Seek ye the Lord, all ye meek of the earth, which have wrought his judgement; seek righteousness, seek meekness: it may be ye shall be hid in the day of the Lord's anger. (Zeph. 2: 3.)

God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God. Also unto thee, O Lord, belongeth mercy: for thou renderest to every man according to his work. (Ps. 62: 11, 12.)

They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever. As the mountains are round Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from henceforth even for ever. For the rod of the wicked shall not rest upon the lot of the righteous; lest the righteous put forth their hands unto iniquity.

Do good, O Lord, unto those that be good, and to them that are upright in their hearts. As for such as turn aside unto their crooked ways, the Lord shall lead them forth with the workers of iniquity: but peace shall be upon Israel. (Ps. 125: 1-5.)

Fear not, little flock; for it is your father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom. (Luke 12: 32.)

O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the Lord. (Jer. 22: 29.)

No Free Cars at the Ottawa Ex!

(Ottawa Journal)

The Central Canada Exhibition Association is going out of the lottery business, and The Journal believes its directors have come to a wise decision in this respect. If the Ottawa fair cannot be maintained without the spur to attendance of a distribution of free automobiles to holders of lucky tickets then the Ottawa fair had better vanish. Aside from its moral aspects the C.C.E.A.'s prize distribution was unsound financially—it cost too much.

Survey Committee Predicts Ontario To Have 5,497 Doctors By 1961

TORONTO, May 7—Favorably impressed with the province's supply of doctors, the Ontario Health Survey Committee Tuesday listed seven recommendations aimed at maintaining and increasing the level of medical manpower. The committee estimated that by 1961 the province should have 5,497 physicians—an increase of about 500 over the number registered last year.

Increased assistance to medical schools should be channelled through annual maintenance grants based on the number of students enrolled who are residents of Ontario and additional grants to provide essential facilities, the committee said.

The program to underwrite postgraduate work by psychiatrists and public health specialists should be continued and supplemented by similar assistance for pathologists.

Part of the committee's work consisted of recording in detail data about each doctor in the province and the committee suggested that the expanded statistics be maintained by the College of Physicians and Surgeons "as a valuable instrument for peace-planning and an essential guide for the mobilization of doctors in the event of war."

Conscription Plan

The committee's report even hinted at a plan for conscription of doctors in the event of war, pointing out that they should be called from civilian life in the most equitable fashion possible and in a program designed to maintain effective medical service to civilians.

With the doctors concentrated around urban centres, the committee recommended, if necessary, that the government should use public funds to guarantee outlying or sparsely populated areas of adequate medical services.

Extension of health services, the committee said, should be geared to the supply of physicians with provisions made for training additional personnel to staff new or extended services. The report also suggested that the Ontario Medical Association and university medical authorities develop and decentralize as much as possible their postgraduate and refresher course programs.

Property Owners Complain At Lindsay Tax

LINDSAY, May 7—(ENS)—A serious situation has arisen here in connection with property owners in the east section of the town. Property owners on Kent Street East, King and Queen Streets and on St. David Street are complaining over the cost of recently installed sewers and improved roads.

Chairman of finance, Ald Lloyd Burrows said property owners had been warned their costs would mount, especially where vacant lots were owned. "Now, we find that ratepayers in that section of the town are in an uproar because some of them seemed to think they would get sewers and conveniences free", said the finance chairman.

"Can't we do something for these property owners?" queried the mayor.

"Those people were told what it would cost. It was advertised in the papers. The commitments have been made," stated the town clerk W. R. Allely. "The trouble is that some of these owners have three and four vacant lots and some are facing two streets" said Alderman Burrows.

"Can't we spread the payments out over 20 years?" suggested the mayor. The clerk pointed out that that was exactly what had been done and that it was too late to change matters now.

As one councillor remarked "we may have those properties coming back to the town for non-payment of taxes."

Hermann Beats Yukon Eric In Main Grapple Bout Aided By A Groggy Referee

Hans Hermann won a lucky deciding fall over Yukon Eric in three minutes at the Brock Arena last night when he rolled over on Eric to gain a quick count from Referee Sam Gotter after Eric had pinned Hans on the floor in plenty of time for the count. But Gotter had been knocked cold briefly by Eric when the latter threw his big chest at the German in a corner, the latter ducking and Gotter getting the business. He was groggy as Eric proceeded to batter Hans around and then fall on him. Earlier the villainous Teuton had roughed Eric up plenty with head bashes into the ring knuckles and his "Prussian Squeeze," but Yukon proved strong enough to shake him off and return.

Uses His Squeeze

Hermann took the second fall of the main go in nine minutes with his unconscious squeeze hold of the head. He softened big Eric up first with fists to the jaw and repeated slams of his head into the turnbuckles. Referee Sam Gotter was slow in breaking up these illegal tactics, and Hermann worked fast when he got the advantage. He started off with eye rasps and roughing on the ropes, but later had to flee the irate Eric, who caught him once with a punishing armlock. The fans booed the equalizing fall but Hans gave them the Nazi salute and goose-stepped triumphantly from the ring.

Eric, at 276—one pound more than Hermann—took the opening fall in 14 minutes with his "Kodiak Krusher"—a bear-hug, pulling the fleeing German in over the ropes to apply it to the body. He had slowed him up previously with several such grips but Hans kept going to the ropes to escape. After taking a roughing for a space from the strutting Hans (who argued with referee and fans at times), Eric went on the boring-in attack on the assumption of Joe Louis that "they can run in a ring but they can't hide," and he finally caught up with Hermann. They had shown some mat work at the start of the bout and some tests of strength, with Eric much stronger and far more popular with the small crowd.

Talun Loses

Bill Stack, going 248 pounds, won the semi-final in 11 minutes over Iron Talun, the 301-pound bearded Pole. The latter was plenty clumsy but strong and he yanked hair at times. Stack, who showed a lot of stuff against a slow opponent, retaliated by yanking the bald one's black beard, and both were warned. It was fairly lively toward the last, after Talun had gone out of the ring once, and it wound up with Talun disqualified. He kept refusing to let Stack up from an illegal grip and three times he tossed the ref away like a bit of thistledown. Three times and out, the ref figured, so he gave Bill the bout, and the fans cheered.

Ray Clarke, at 232, and Herb Larson of the same weight, fought to a prelim draw in 30 minutes. They opened fast and dished up a good variety of holds. Larson started to rough it and he got away with a lot as the crowd rode him. After a series of exchanges, Clarke dropkicked his rival over the top strand of hemp and then punished him with some slams that shook the ring. He was away ahead of the play halfway through, but Larson came back in rough fashion to crowd him at times with plenty of mean action, and they were fighting hard at the gong. The ref ruled it a time-limit draw.

Alf Hill is back as pro of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club this year, and this capable young performer is a popular choice. He is also in charge of work on the course, gives lessons and looks after the sale of supplies. Two new directors see duty this year, W. A. Brown of the house committee, and Les Reid of the match and handicap. Bert Cutmore retires after long service, and Len Lawrence will be another one missed from the board. Pro shop is being enlarged, plumbing improvements made and a lot of work being done on the course. Prelim work on enlarging the 18th green and the third tee is in process. More and more members are coming out as the weather warms.

Quinte Diamond Plans

Noted an item in the Quinte sheet saying some two dozen ball prospects—a number of 'em juniors—are drilling with the Belleville Redmen of the C.O.B.L. lately. It looks like pretty much of a homebrew club so far. Among hurlers working out are Ralph McCabe, Bill Strahan, Dick Fitzpatrick, Bob Bunton and Art Wright. Others are: Vern Goyer, Leo Goyer, Mouse Bush, Ted DeGray, Huck Reeves, Jackie Wardhaugh, Pat Gilmour, Russ Soules and Earl Forrester. They hope to get Sammy Mulholland of Kingston, too. Also Bill Fordham, who is coming to town as a minor baseball coach. They have 275 boys registered now in their minor setup but need team managers badly. Where have we heard of that need before?

* * * * * *

Unless enough senior ball players show sufficient interest at a meeting tonight with the executive, the Petes' baseball entry in the C.O.B.L. will fold up for a year. That was the feeling at an executive meeting last night. Temporary manager Cy Whatley reported that not enough prospective players were attending drills and that some of the regulars were considering transfers to Oshawa and Cobourg. This on top of the fact that several more had transferred from Peterborough last fall or winter to Sudbury, Barrie and the States—Milne, Plunkett and Golden—make things look bad with the season opening less than three weeks away. So, the executive has invited the players to a private huddle tonight to discuss all angles. It's up to the fellows themselves now.

In Black and Blue Play

Snappy black and red new uniforms will adorn the sturdy frames of the local senior lacrossers this semester, the Petes again being sponsored by the Timber Structures. They open O.L.A. play a week from this Friday with Owen Sound Crescents (back after a year's layoff, after taking the Mann Cup) the opposition at Miller Bowl. Jerry Fitzgerald will arrive in town Monday, so it looks like this all-star defenceman has decided to toss in his lacrosse lot again with the Timbermen. Playing coach Bob Thorpe is rapidly rounding the squad into shape and it'll be pretty much the same lineup as last year, with the addition of several ex-juniors to replace Em Creighton and Mick Magee, who retired. Fred Hildebrand may join the club, too. No further word on an exhibition this Friday.

* * * * * *

Little Referee Sammy Gotter got a rough handling on the Brock Avenue last e'en in two of the three pro mat bouts. Talun, the 301-pound Polack, tossed him around three times ere Sammy could gain his feet and his composure long enough to award Bill Stack the semi-final bout. In the main go, after Yukon Eric and Hans Hermann had each won a fall, Sam got behind the German just when Eric was driving him into a corner with his huge chest. Hans ducked but Sammy didn't—and he went down like a hundred pound of bricks. Eric had Hans down then but Sammy didn't come around in time and he recuperated just when Hans rolled Eric o'er. So Eric lost out. Prelim was a draw.

Option Three Rookies To Ottawa Club

PHILADELPHIA, May 7 (AP)—Philadelphia Athletics Tuesday night announced they had optioned three of their rookies to their farm club at Ottawa of the International League. They are right-handed pitchers Ed Burtschy and Roland Hoyle and shortstop Jack Littrell.

Littrell has been in the Athletics' farm system for years. He played at Savannah of the Sally League last year where he hit .261.

Burtschy hasn't worked a single game for Philadelphia while Hoyle has given up nine hits and seven runs in 2 1-3 innings of relief ball.

Enter 48 Horses In Annual Queen's Plate

TORONTO, May 7 (CP). — Forty-eight Canadian-bred three-year-olds remain eligible for the 93rd annual running of the Queen's Plate, Canada's richest and the continent's oldest continuously run horse race.

Thirty-seven owners made the $50 payment May 1 to keep their entries eligible for the May 24 stake, the Ontario Jockey Club announced Tuesday. Starters pay an additional $100 post fee.

Pre-race payments plus $15,000 added by the O.J.C. make the race worth an estimated $21,000. The Queen donates the traditional 50 guineas, a custom started by Queen Victoria in 1860 with the first running.

E. P. Taylor stable of Toronto with four has the largest entry. Two, Acadian and Red Martlett, are pre-race favorites on the basis of fast trials.

The J. E. Frowde Seagram stable of Waterloo has three eligible — Flareday, Hielan Laddie and Game Warrior. The first two went into winter quarters favorites at 6-1 on the strength of their two-year-old form. The Seagram stable—now in its third generation—has won 20 plates, the last in 1935 with Sally Fuller.

Famous Jockey

Johnny Longden, internationally-famous jockey, will ride Lord Strome, one of the two Winnipeg entries. Lord Strome, is from the Whittier Park Stock Farm of James Speers.

Veteran jockey Pat Remillard—who topped Canadian riders last year with 117 winners—will ride Our Omar, owned by A. G. Scotty Kennedy of Winnipeg.

All are also eligible for the Queen's Plate trial, a six-furlong $2,500 added race to be run on May 17.

One of the conditions of the Plate is that entries must not have started in any race as a three-year-old before the Plate, other than the trial. Because of the large list still eligible it is possible, the O.J.C. said, the trial may have to be run in three or four divisions.

Among the Ontario entries, with owners, are:

Sleeping Giant, Elmar Stable, Trafalgar.

Allison Pass, Elmar Stable.

Sod Field, James G. Fair, Cainsville.

Regan Field, James G. Fair.

Latin Lad, Garden City Stable, Niagara Falls.

Caractacus, Imperial Stable, Kitchener.

Flareday, J. E. Frowde Seagram, Waterloo.

Game Warrior, J. E. Frowde Seagram.

Hielan Laddie, J. E. Frowde Seagram.

GOLF PRO AGAIN—Alf Hill is back at the Peterborough Golf Club as professional this year, besides looking after work on the course, lessons and sale of equipment in the club shop. He is a capable and well-liked pro, having made a mark for several years in various tournaments about the province.

Will Modernize Bowie Track

BALTIMORE, May 7 (CP). — Larry MacPhail today announced plans for spending $2,500,000 to modernize Bowie Race Track.

Working in his usual dynamic manner, the former baseball promoter wasted little time in drawing up a program for modernization after a syndicate with which he is associated bought control of the 38-year-old Southern Maryland track three months ago.

Bowie, which has been looked upon as a poor relation to other Maryland tracks, Pimlico and Laurel, will get a $75,000 face-lifting this summer, with the rest of the money to be spent next year.

This summer's work will include rebuilding the track itself, adding chutes for races at seven furlongs and one-quarter mile, tripling the parking area, doubling the betting-window space in the club house, a new sloping terrace in front of the grandstand, new infield betting information board, and addition of a lake to the infield.

Rochester Edges Toronto In 7-5 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

Rochester Red Wings spotted Toronto Leafs two unearned runs in the first inning and then went on to win 7-5 in an International League game Tuesday night.

In other night games, Buffalo Bisons smothered Baltimore Orioles 8-1 and Springfield Cubs nipped Syracuse Chiefs 2-1. The Ottawa-Montreal game was rained out.

Rochester evened the count against Toronto in the second on triples by Ray Jablonski and Lou Ortiz, a single by Freddie McAllister and a fielder's choice. The visitors added a single in the third, two in the fifth and singles in the eighth and ninth.

Dave Joyce, who allowed eight hits in the seven innings he worked, collected his second victory of the season.

Two Home Runs

Catcher Andy Anderson of the Leafs clouted two home runs.

A tight pitching duel at Baltimore broke wide open in the seventh inning when Buffalo pushed across four runs.

Paul Stuffel of Baltimore held his own with lefthander Hal Yaylian of the Bisons for six innings, each allowing four hits. But in the seventh Stuffel weakened and Buffalo took a 5-1 lead.

Tom Simpson pitched five-hit ball and leftfielder Jack Wallaesa came through with extra-base hits when they counted to give the Cubs their victory.

Art Hartley, who was relieved for a pinch-hitter in the sixth, was the losing pitcher after yielding eight hits.

Steve Gromek Hurls Shutout To Best N.Y. Yankees 1-0

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Gromek, 32-year-old righthander from Hamtramck, Mich., qualifies as a Yankee killer for Cleveland Indians. The veteran righty, considered a second stringer on the Indian mound staff, pitched a nifty 1-0 four-hitter in beating the Yanks and Allie Reynolds last night for the third time. The last time Gromek started against the Yanks in Yankee Stadium—May 19, 1949—he trimmed the bombers, 3-2. The time before that—in Cleveland in 1948—he downed the Yanks, 2-1. Gromek's shutout was the first time a Cleveland pitcher has blanked the Yanks since Bob Feller's no-hitter in April, 1946.

Gromek was backed up by only one run but he made that stand up to beat the Yankees last night and best Allie Reynolds in a brilliant hurling duel. Steve not only handcuffed the Yanks with only four singles but had the crowd of 35,914 limp at the finish when he retired the last three batters with the potential tying run on base.

Had Them Off Balance

"Credit the sinker I developed during spring training," Gromek said afterwards. "I had them off stride. My new sinker was working fine in the beginning and when they began to look for it, I switched to my fast ball which was 'alive.' It was breaking up and away."

The victory kept the Indians within one game of the first place Boston Red Sox, who trounced the Chicago White Sox, 11-2.

A pair of homers by Clyde Vollmer and another by Walter Dropo made it easy for righthander Willard Nixon of Boston to register his first triumph. Vollmer also collected a single and double for a perfect night at the plate against loser Joe Dobson and two relievers. He batted in six runs.

Conrado Marrero pitched the third-place Washington Senators to their fifth straight victory with a 5-2 win over Detroit. Again Jackie Jensen and Archie Wilson, obtained from the Yankees last Saturday, were the big guns on attack for the Nats. Jensen doubled, drove in a run, stole a base and scored twice. Wilson hit a single and triple, scored once and batted in a run.

Duane Pillette pitched the St. Louis Browns back into the winning column with a 5-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. Marty Marion and Clint Courtney each hit homers and batted in two runs for the Browns.

In First Place

Brooklyn's Dodgers moved past New York's Giants into first place in the National League with a 10th-inning 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Andy Pafko scored the winning run in the tenth. He tripled off Ken Raffensburger and came on a fly by Carl Furillo. Gil Hodges hit a home run.

Teeing off on former teammate Max Lanier and a parade of five additional hurlers for 15 hits, Eddie Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals snapped the Giants' seven-game winning streak with a 9-4 triumph that dropped the defending champions into second place.

Robin Roberts hurled a brilliant two-hitter as the Philadelphia Phils snapped a four-game losing streak with a 6-0 victory over Pittsburgh. Del Ennis paced the Phils' 13-hit attack with a pair of homers. Johnny Klippstein pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 2-0 shutout over the Boston Braves in the only game played in daylight.

Walsh Prefers To Direct Actors In Films

By BOB THOMAS

—HOLLYWOOD, May 7—(AP)—Raoul Walsh, who is celebrating 40 years in the movie industry, admits he would rather direct actors than actresses.

Walsh has long been known as a "man's director." He has piloted such rugged stars as Douglas Fairbanks, Errol Flynn, James Cagney, Alan Ladd and Gregory Peck. It's no accident that he has specialized in male subjects.

"Women are too much trouble," he said. "They arrive on the set in the morning and theyre concerned about some dress they're supposed to wear. By the time you hash the whole thing out, it's 11 o'clock. If I only had men to worry about, I could have had a half-dozen scenes in the camera by then.

"Actors are ready to start acting the moment you call them. But not actresses. When they are called, a whole crew of people begins working on them. Between scenes, the girls are always runnings to a mirror to see if every hair is still in place."

Not All Anti-Female

Walsh is not entirely anti-female. He gave Rita Hayworth her biggest boost to fame in "Strawberry Blonde." But he is more known for finding and developing male stars. He took a stunt man named Duke Morrison, renamed him John Wayne and starred him in "The Big Trail."

The director's latest discovery is a tall, good-looking lad named Rock Hudson. He played a bit in Walsh's "Fighter Squadron" in 1948. Now Rock is enacting the leading role in the director's "Gun Hand."

"I like to take these young kids and bring them along," Walsh explained. "It's kinda like an inventor toying with a new invention."

It's no accident that Walsh's films are distinguished by their amount of action; his training in the silent films accounts for that.

"Most movie scripts today are overwritten," he remarked. "I go through them and cut out the dialogue wherever I can. That may be why my pictures are so popular in foreign countries. I've just heard from Japan, where some of my pictures have been playing. They have even started a 'Raoul Walsh Fan Club' over there."

Didn't Get Bacon

OSHAWA May 7 — (CP) — Bronislaw Dobralowoski, who had $1,100 in the bank, was fined $25 and costs Tuesday because he failed in an attempt to bring home the bacon. Police said that while shopping Dobralowoski slipped some bacon into the false bottom of a carton he was carrying in an atttempt to hide it from the cashier.

Dismiss Charges

TORONTO, May 7 (CP)—The Police Commision of suburban Etobicoke Tuesday dismissed charges against police of unnecessary violence. Fred McGaw, picked up by police last November 11 as a break-in suspect, had charged that he had been beaten, kicked and "kneed" by two officers. He was declared in contempt of the commission when he refused to answer a question.

RESCUED—His body covered with oil, James F. McIntyre of Fall River, Mass., is hauled aboard the deck edge elevator of the aircraft carrier Wasp, moments after the vessel's collision with the USS Hobson. McIntyre was one of 61 Hobson crewmen who survived the disaster, which took the lives of 176.

Italian Boy Of 12 Adopted By Peterborough Kiwanis

Since the middle of March this year the Kiwanis Club of Peterborough is a "parent". Its "child" is a sad-eyed Italian boy of twelve called Giorgio Ferrante whose only fault is that he "made the mistake" of being born while a war was raging in his country. Kiwanis Club has become a "parent" to Giorgio by contributing to the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, an organization founded by two Englishmen in 1937 to care for orphaned children in the Spanish Civil War, and now grown to world'wide proportions. There are 6,000 foster parents in the world today. They belong to no special class. Chief Justice Thibaudeau is one. Jack Benny and Fred Allen have adopted twin French boys. Eleanor Roosevelt at one time had five foster children. Business men, house-wives, Boy Scout and Girl Guide troops, fraternities, sororities and clubs all across Canada have become members of the Plan wihch has been called the true application of the Christian principle.

During the 15 years since the plan was founded, 70,000 little waifs in Greece, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland and England have been provided with food, clothing and medical care. Giorgio is a typical case of a child aided by the plan. His father was killed in an air-raid which also destroyed his home, leaving his mother in great poverty with a large family. Four of the children still go to school. The others are beginning to find work, but unemployment is the greatest problem in Italy today. The entire family lives in a four-room apartment but only two rooms have any furniture. Beds are made up on floors. Water must be carried from a well, and there are no santiary facilities. The Italian Government is doing what it can, but it will be years before the work of organizing relief is completed. In the meantime, Giorgio and others of his age, belong to a lost generation.

"Adoption" with the Foster Parents' Plan is financial, not legal. There is no mass relief. The relationship is purely on a personal basis. A "parent" agrees to contribute $15 monthly toward food and medical care, receives a photograph of his foster child, and enters into correspondence with his protegee. It is this contact through letters which will do much to strengthen the boy's morale during this period when he is emerging into manhood in a world of devastation and insecurity.

The plan is non-political, non-profit and non-sectarian. Field headquarters are in London from where the plan's work is directed, with financial and home headquarters in New York. Canadians may obtain information regarding the operation of the plan by writing to Miss Gloria Matthews, Canadian Director, Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, P.O. Box 65, Station B, Montreal.

GIORGI FERRANTE, 12, who has been adopted by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club through contributing to the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children.

Ballet Festival Covers Wide Range

TORONTO, May 7 (CP) — The second night of the fourth annual Canadian Ballet Festival Tuesday night produced traditional and modern themes covering subjects from peasant merriment to bombing raids.

The clasical ballet of Ottawa presented the two-act "Fadette," a simple tale of village rivalry adapted from a novel by Georges Sand. Rose Macdonald of The Telegram called it "captivatingly animated" and gave it "unqualified praise for excellently communicative mime."

"La Vie Champetre" presented by the Mildred Wickson ballet of Toronto detailed a love story at a wine festival against a background of laden grapevines.

Herbert Whittaker of The Globe and Mail said: "Her dancers did Miss Wickson credit, performing with relaxation and precision for the most part." Jack Karr of the Toronto Daily Star said Lillian Jarvis and Katharine Stewart "danced with considerable charm."

Blitz Sound Effects

Blitz sound effects were used in "London Fastasia", a story set in the midst of the London Blitz and presented by a Ballet Concert of Vancouver. Mr. Whittaker said: "The success of the work . . . depended almost entirely on the dancing of its leading roles (Kay Armstrong and Calvin von Reinhold.)"

He found the costuming "disturbing . . . being rather Springlike in a characterless way."

The festival continues all week with 12 companies from many parts of Canada performing. The theatre last night was nearly full.

Cash Settlement Ends Tone-Payton Case

LOS ANGELES, May 7—(AP)—A cash settlement Tuesday wrote a tame ending to the Franchot Tone—Barbara Payton alimony case.

Milton Golden, lawyer for the voluptuous actress, said she and Tone finally settled their differences for "a cash consideration that was satisfactory." Golden did not name the amount.

Tone's application for permission to file an amended divorce complaint against blond Barbara was taken off the court calendar. He charged in the application that his wife and her old boy friend, actor Tom Neal, committed adultery in the house where she and Tone lived as man and wife.

Barbara and Tone were married last September, 10 days after Neal had beaten Tone, but the marriage lasted only 53 days.

Golden said his client would drop her counter charges that Tone was under a psychiatrist's care and that he had threatened her.

The divorce is expected to take place quietly in a few weeks.

Gardiner Ready To Recommend Floor For Cheese

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Tuesday night he is prepared to recommend to the federal cabinet that a floor price for cheese be established if certain details can be settled with producers.

He said in an interview that a floor-price plan or an alternative co-operative marketing scheme was discussed with cheese producers within the last few days and again Tuesday night with Stormont County cheese producers.

A delegation of about 50 producers asked him to help the industry avert a crisis developing because of lack of markets and price fluctuations.

Mr. Gardiner said he will discuss two alternative plans for meeting the chedar cheese situation in Ontario with Thomas Kennedy, the province's agriculture minister.

However, the final decision as to whether cheese producers will have floor-price or co-operative marketing scheme will rest, in part, on the producers themselves, he said. They have not yet indicated which plan they prefer.

Under the co-operative marketing plan, the government would guarantee an initial price of, say, 20 to 25 cents a pound, with producers marketing their production through a co-operative. The final price would depend on the co-operative's final selling price.

Babe Pratt Decides To Hang Up Skates

VANCOUVER, May 7 (CP). — Walter Babe Pratt, a professional hockey player for 17 years, announced Tuesday he's "had it" and is hanging up his skates.

"I'm looking for a job for the summer and a hockey coaching job for the winter," he told a reporter.

Pratt, who said a troublesome spine injury prompted his decision, played with Tacoma Rockets of the Pacific Coast Hockey League last season.

MAJOR DISEASE

Nephritis, a disease of the kidneys, for many years has ranked third among leading causes of deaths in Canada.

BACK IN BALL — George (Red) Sullivan, Peterborough's gift to Boston Bruins of the N.H.L., will spend an active summer here in ball again. He will see softball service with East City of the men's loop, and has also agreed to perform as one of the several intermediates with the local junior baseball club in the Lakeshore League.

City Carpetball

The league schedule will be completed with this week's play.

Results for last week: Fire Hall No. 13 lost both games to S.O.E. No. 2, by scores of 14-19 and 10-14; Legion No. 2 won both from St. Georges No. 12 by 22-3 and 15-5; Red Patch No. 10 dropped both games to Legion No. 4 by scores of 9-14 and 9-13; Legion No. 6 defaulted to L.O.L. No. 14; Quakers No. 7 also defaulted to Fire Hall No. 15.

Results of postponed games: Red Patch No. 10 split with Legion No. 11, winning the first 16-3 and losing 10-15; 2nd Armour No. 3 defaulted to Legion No. 2 and Moose No. 9 defaulted to Legion No. 4; Moose No. 9 defaulted to 2nd Armour No. 3.

Games not been reported: St. Georges No. 12 vs. Glens No. 1; Orphans No. 16 vs. Legion No. 8; Glens No. 1 vs. Legion No. 11.

The final match for the President's Cup between Legion No. 2 and L.O.L. No. 14 will be played at the Legion Hall at eight p.m. Thursday, May 8.

All winners of trophies last year are requested to turn same in to Elsie Bennett's at once.

Don't forget the banquet Wednesday, June 4, at the Orange Hall. Also, skips, let us know how many will be in attendance from your team.

City Preparing To Annex Smith Block

Progress of the preliminaries in the annexation of a large block of Smith township for the Land Assembly housing development were reviewed in the information report to the council Monday night by City Clerk Outram. It included reference to the smaller block of property lying between the city's northern boundary and the larger area which the city is also acquiring for housing this year. The text of the report follows:

"Several conferences have been held between John Pierce, surveyor, the City Engineer and City Clerk, with respect to the preparation of the description of the area proposed to be annexed from Smith township to provide for the Land Assembly home building program.

"It is hoped at an early date to have from Mr. Pierce a detailed description of the boundaries of the area. The clerk of Smith has been informed of these developments, and the proposals of your committee. It is to be expected that the surveyor's plan of the proposed area will be submitted to a meeting of Smith council May 6.

"The next action of the city council will be to pass the necessary bylaw for the annexation, which will be forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval. As soon as the final description of the area is presented, it is proposed to embody this in the bylaw, and to present it at an early meeting of the city council. It will be necessary, also, for the council of Smith to endorse the annexation by resolution, which Smith council is prepared to do.

"For the information of city council, I am pleased to report that all real estate dealers in the city have been informed of the housing development and their interest invited. The Board of Education and the Utilities Commission have also been informed of the intention of the city council to develop this area for housing, more particularly for the area lying immediately north of the city, for immediate development this year.

"I am also pleased to inform the council that the interest and co-operation of the chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board has been secured for the annexation, particularly for the housing area development immediately north of the city. The detailed development of this area, especially as it affects sewers and other local improvements, was a problem. While the Ontario Statutes give authority under the Planning Board for city councils to establish housing areas outside the boundaries of the city, there is no provision for the extending of local improvements.

"Since it is the intention to develop this area with all local improvements, immediately, the position was that the city could be giving services in an area which was not within the city (about 25 acres west of Hilliard St. and north of Wolsley and Dumble Streets).

"The council's position has been considerably clarified, since following conversation with Lorne Cumming, chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board, it has been agreed that the Board in its order for the annexation will provide that the city can enter into the (smaller) area previous to Jan. 1, 1953, and lay local improvements in the same manner and with the same legal authority as though the area were already annexed to the city."

What a difference a year makes: Leo Durocher of New York Giants knows.

At this stage of the 1951 season, Leo's New York Giants were groping for a crack in the cellar wall. They had just finished an 11-game losing streak.

But while the losing streak was on, the Giants never gave up. Even ace pitcher Sal Maglie had a 2-2 record and Larry Jansen hadn't won a game since the opener.

This year things are different. They had a seven-game winning streak up to last night but St. Louis stopped them 9-4 while Brooklyn Dodgers edged Cincinnati in 10 innings 5-4 to go ahead.

Although the Giants were bumped out of first place by half a game, they are still in there fighting.

Whether Leo's man will go on to repeat their famous comeback of last year is still the question of 1952. But Durocher promises they will be in there fighting against the favored Dodgers.

The International Boxing Club announced Tuesday at New York that it will be a 30-30 percentage split gate for middleweight champion Ray Robinson and light heavyweight Joey Maxim when they meet for the 175-pound title June 23 at Yankee Stadium. The same terms will prevail for a return bout within 90 days.

Football sources in Montreal Tuesday said Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four have asked waivers on Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts, John Yonaker and Bill Chambers who played on the team last season. It is believed the three United States imports will be replaced by men recommended by the new coach, Peahead Walker.

The University of Kentucky, three of whose former basketball stars admitted accepting bribes to fix games, pledged Tuesday to reform its athletic program to avoid future scandal. But the university in reply to New York Judge Saul Streit said: "Our policies will not be dictated by him."

Undefeated Chuck Davey of Lansing, Mich., will attempt to keep his record tonight against Chico Vejar of New York, defeated only once in 42 bouts. They meet in a welterweight fight at Chicago Stadium. Davey is 6-5 favorite.

Hold Special Meeting To Consider Secession

FORT ERIE, May 7 (CP) — Mayor Charles H. Price said Tuesday special meeting of town council will be held May 15 to consider secession from Welland County.

The meeting will also decide whether to appeal the town's 1952 council assessment which has resulted in Fort Erie owing Welland County $55,000 in taxes—an increase of $15,000 over last year and $5,000 more than council included in its budget.

Canadian Navy Launches Local Recruiting Drive

Two naval officers are in the city arranging for a visit of a Royal Canadian Navy mobile recruiting unit which will be in Peterborough from May 12 to May 19.

The navy is launching its second annual three-month campaign in Ontario this summer to recruit young men and women for the R.C.N. The navy is chiefly interested in attracting young men between the ages of 17 and 25 having a minimum of Grade 8 education, and preferably with Grade 10 or matriculation who will make a carer of the navy.

Tuesday afternoon, Lieutenant David Gill and Able Seaman Lucien Theriault showed a film at P.C.V.S., entitled "Stay in School." Following the film which emphasizes the importance of remaining in school whether or not the student has a navy career in mind, Lieutenant Gill outlined what the navy has to offer in the way of careers. He is also planning to address service clubs here later this week.

In an interview, Lieutenant Gill said that showing the film is part of the navy's education program. He has served with the R.C.N. reserve for the last four summers while studying for his master's degree in Econo...s at Toronto University.

"The navy benefits in the long run, because it obtains better educated recruits who are able to learn the more advanced technical trades," he said.

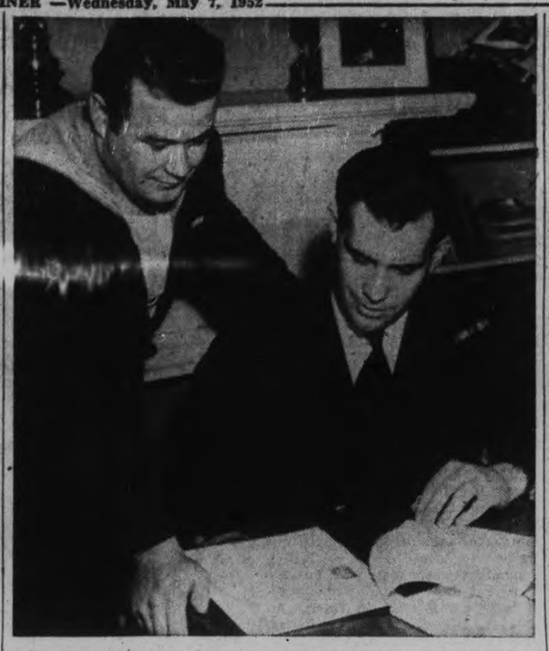
Lieutenant Gill is trying to locate an office for the recruiting unit to receive recruits, answer inquiries and put prospective recruits through the navy's selection process, giving them intelligence tests, interviews, and medicals before sending them to Toronto for induction.

Aside from giving young men an opportunity to do a useful job for their country, Lieutenant Gill points to what the navy can do for young Canadians. It offers them a variety of careers, radio mechanic, electrical mechanic, and various marine engineering jobs. In fact, Lieutenant Gil says "a ship is like a small town, requiring doctors, skilled tradesmen, and administrative personnel. "Young men can learn any type of work or business in the navy and while learning, they receive good pay, food, clothing and lodging."

With him is able seaman Theriault of Hawkesbury who at 22 has had four years of active service with the navy, including six months in Korean waters aboard the destroyer H.M.C.S. Huron.

France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Portugal, the British Isles, Norway, Sweden, Gibraltar, are a few of the countries able seaman Theriault has seen on shore leaves since joining the navy.

Does he find chauffeuring an advance recruiting party rather dull after his globe cruising and fighting Reds in Korea? "Well" able seaman Theriault said "It's always good to get back to Canada, your own country."



AHOY MATES, if you're interested i a career with the Royal Canadian Navy, drop around at the Mobile Recruiting unit which will be in Peterborough from May 12 to May 19. Lieutenant David Gill (Right) and Able Seaman Lucien Theriault (Left) are in the city this week arranging for the navy's second annual recruiting campaign, which is being launched throughout the province.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Trains Collide

SYDNEY, Australia, May 7 — (Reuters)—Seven persons were killed and 100 injured near here today when a commuter train piled up into the rear of another train.

Begin Inquiry On Army Thefts

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP)—The Commons defence-spending committee Tuesday started an inquiry into the handling of military stores with a flurry of questions about thefts and the way the forces try to prevent them.

The inquiry was prompted by the Camp Petawawa thefts. It was launched with a 17-page statement by Elgin Armstrong, assistant deputy defence minister, on the methods the department uses to keep tab on stores, to make periodic inventories and audits and to prevent fires.

Mr. Armstrong indicated his belief that the system provides reasonably-good safeguards but some members drew on wartime and reserve experience to suggest that a lot of the safeguards—such as the posting of fire orders—are largely theoretical.

The upshot was that the committee did not get down to details about thefts but members sent Mr. Armstrong away laden with questions about losses and what has been done about them as well as one about what the last two major audits at Petawawa showed in the way of losses.

Sees 200 Million Loss In Saskatchewan

WOODSTOCK, May 7—(CP)—John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Lake Centre, Sask., said Tuesday night the loss from the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan may amount to at least $200,000,000.

In a speech to the annual meeting of the Oxford County Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Diefenbaker said the only conclusion that could be reached is that the agriculture department was "grossly and flagrantly negligent."

He described the recent budget as a "mixed assortment of politic- of trick and financial hocus-pokus —a dish of crow seasoned with honeyed words, which you and I will have to digest."

Juvenile Smokers

VANCOUVER—(CP)—City police commissioners ordered a crackdown on smoking by juveniles. A Federal Act of 1908 prohibits smoking by children under 16 and is authority for police to seize cigarettes from youngsters. Storekeepers selling to children without a written note from their parents may also face charges.

24 Flee Fire In Restaurant

TORONTO, May 7 (CP) — Firemen battled a three-hour fire in a downtown Yonge Street restaurant Tuesday night. Twenty-four persons were forced out of the building and two firemen needed medical attention.

The fire in the Normack restaurant was started by defective wiring in the basement. No estimate of damage was given.

Firemen Arthur Handson was overcome by smoke. Fireman George Sharpe had his foot cut by an axe.

One of the tenants of rooms above the cafe came down three steep flights on crutches. Vernon Pickering, who had just left hospital, suffered shock. "I don't know how I got out," he said.

Restaurant owner Jack Cousky and his staff of five escaped through two exits while 10 occupants of rooms above made their way down a single staircase through heavy smoke. About a dozen customers were in the cafe when the fire was discovered. They left without confusion through the front door.

Announce Extension Of Uranium Guarantee

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP)—Production Minister Howe Tuesday announced a new extension of the government's guarantee of a market for uranium, thus ensuring floor prices for the atomic ingredient for the next 10 years.

He told the Commons the extension is aimed at providing an additional incentive for the people who search for the mineral used in atomic fission.

The government has been guaranteeing floor prices for uranium ores and concentrates up to March 31, 1960. This is being extended to March 31, 1962.

House Approves 25% Increase Of Vet Allowance

OTTAWA, May 7 — (CP) — The Commons Tuesday approved in principle government proposals to increase veterans' allowances by 25 per cent, but only after day-long hammering by some members to increase the payments still more.

There are indications a lot more will be said about veterans allowances.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) appealed to veteran-members to band together to change the legislation when it goes to committee. Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South), an Army captain of the First World War, said that if the allowances aren't boosted and the ceilings on veterans earnings removed "we will be sitting . . . until Christmas wrangling over it."

George Nowlan (PC—Annapolis Kings) also said he hoped the committee would boost the allowances and Ray Thomas (SC—Wetaskiwin), a Navy veteran of the last war, said they should be increased to meet the cost of living.

4 Pieces of Legislation

Four pieces of veterans legislation were considered. Approval in principle—second reading — also was given bills amending the Veterans Benefit Act, the Veterans Insurance Act and the Pension Act.

The main debate erupted on Veterans Minister Lapointe's bill to boost to $50 from $40 the maximum allowances payable to a single veteran or widow and to $90 from $70 the maximum for a married recipient. The allowances are paid to needy veterans, 60 and over and to widows, and dependents of veterans. They go to about 40,000 Canadians.

Beyond the veterans debate there was little else in the Commons, but the Senate spent more than an hour in debate on a maesure to amend the Victoria Day Act. If it obtains third reading and Royal assent Victoria Day will be celebrated on first Monday before May 25, beginning next year. The Commons already has approved the bill.

Paid On Monthly Basis

Mr. Lapointe, explaining the Veterans Allowance measure, said allowances henceforth will be paid on a monthly basis. If a veteran is temporarily employed he will not receive the allowance. After employment ceases he can receive his allowance again.

The allowances at present are paid on an annual basis and are reduced where the total income of a single veteran is more than $720 a year. The income ceiling is $1,200 in the case of a married veteran.

Col. A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) said the allowances should be increased to $60 for a single veteran and $120 for married as requested by the Canadian Legion. He was joined in this plea by Mr. Knowles and Joseph Noseworthy (CCF — York South).

The changes in the Benefit Act extend for another year governmental authority to provide Korean veterans benefits similar to those provided after the Second World War. The Insurance Act amendment involves technical changes while there are several changes in the Pension Act. One would increase to $72 from $54 the annual allowances to amputees for wear and tear caused to clothing by artificial limbs.

TURNS CAR OVER

Ken Walker, 22, of R.R. 7, Peterborough, received a bruised right knee and his 1942-model coupe was badly damaged Tuesday night when he jammed on his brakes while travelling south on the River Rd. and the car rolled over in the ditch. Walker was rounding a bend in the road, about 2¼ miles south of Lakefield, when he found himself almost on top of a slowly moving car going the same direction. He applied his brakes and the vehicle skidded in the gravel and rolled over in the ditch, coming to rest against a tree. It received about $400 damage; the whole right side was caved in. O.P.P. Constable Roy Feeley investigated.

James G. Wharry Promoted To General Manager; Reorganization At Quaker

Fred Ash, Andrew Rutter, Jr., Max Clarke All Move Up In Advancements Announced By President

James G. Wharry, vice-president and assistant general manager of the Quaker Oats Co. of Canada Ltd., has been promoted to the office of general manager and vice-president. His promotion was one of five organizational changes announced Tuesday by Reg. R. Faryon, company president. All five of the men involved are Canadians. They are Fred G. Ash, superintendent of the Peterborough mill, now general operating manager for Canada; Andrew Rutter, Jr., Eastern Canadian sales manager, now advertising manager; Maxwell E. Clarke, now assistant superintendent of the Peterborough plant in charge of production; and P. M. McCarrell, retiring vice-president in charge of manufacturing, who will continue to serve on the board of directors.

In announcing these changes Mr. Faryon said they were part of a plan of general reorganization in the company to keep it abreast of the times and of expanding business. The company is constantly adding new products to its line and because of the rapidly changing character of the business, the responsibility and scope of management is increasing.

Increase Capacity

"The Quaker Oats Co. of Canada Ltd. is embarked upon a large-scale modernization, rehabilitation, and expansion program in Canada," said Mr. Faryon. "This several million dollar program has been under way for some time; and when it is completed the company's capacities for production and facilities for service will be greatly augmented.

"While the bulk of this money is being spent in Peterborough, expenditures are also being made at Saskatoon and in other Canadian centres."

Mr. Wharry, the new general manager, joined Quaker Oats in 1926 after graduating from the Ontario Agricultural College, in Guelph, with the degree of Bachelor of Agricultural Science. After serving for some time in New England as a salesman Mr. Wharry came to Peterborough in 1934 as sales manager for Quebec, the Maritimes, and Newfoundland.

When the Canadian company was organized in 1943 Mr. Wharry was appointed a vice-president, and he was elected to the board of directors.

He is recognized as a world authority in the milling business. He is a member of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and the Canadian National Millers' Association.

Native of City

Fred Ash, the new operating manager, is a native of Peterborough who graduated from P.C.V.S. He joined the company in 1924 and has had a wide and varied experience in milling operations.

For the past six years he has been superintendent of the Peterborough mill. Previously he held positions both in the office and in the plant itself.

Andrew (Andy) Rutter, Jr., the new advertising manager, will be in charge of the company's advertising and merchandising. He joined the company in 1938 as a retail salesman, and has held the posts of retail sales supervisor, manager of retail sales, and sales manager for Eastern Ontario.

For several years Mr. Rutter has been closely associated with the company's advertising and he has been responsible for product merchandising.

Maxwell E. Clarke, the new assistant superintendent, will be responsible for production and the co-ordination of manufacturing to sales.

Mr. Clarke has been with the company since 1928 apart from a six years' leave of absence for service in the Second World War. He has had extensive experience in the office and the plant and has held several supervisory positions in the Peterborough mill.

4 Firms Tender On School In Ashburnham

The Board of Education's accommodation committee on Tuesday night opened tenders for the new public school in Ashburnham. Four tenders were presented by J. C. Parkin of J. B. Parkin Associates, the architects. Owing to list of revisions to the basic tender as asked for by the architect, the actual awarding will come before the Board at its meeting on Thursday night.

The basic tenders were Charles H. Huffman Ltd., $219,317, Eastwood Construction Co. Ltd., $225,500; W. H. Mortlock Contractors, $225,778, and Bradford-Hoshal Ltd., of Port Hope, $242,680.

Three Serious Bidders

All three Peterborough contracting firms, considered the only serious bidders, included a list of revisions on their basic tenders. The basic tenders would be cut in each case if any of the following features were eliminated: a brick windscreen to protect the kindergarten children outside; folding doors for the playroom; exterior steps on the south side of the building; and the air supply system and fan room (the biggest item).

There would be an increase if acoustic tile were used instead of the fibre tile.

Trustees on the accommodation committee favored the Huffman tender which was lowest. He agreed in his accompanying letter of explanation to reduce his tender by $8,972 if the air supply system and fan room were eliminated; and by another $630 if the folding doors were eliminated. Acoustic tile would be an additional $147.

Work Begins To Replace Zacks' Block

Work is beginning on the building that will replace the Zacks block burned out last May 19 in the $500,000 fire that killed four firefighters.

It will be a two-storey building, reaching back about 140 feet from George St., with 70 feet of frontage. Robert Christie, construction superintendent, expects the work to be completed in about six months, if there are no interruptions.

At present, workmen in what was the basement of the Zacks building are making measurements in preparation for the construction of footings and columns. Others are demolishing the back 15 feet of the Peterborough Lumber Co. building.

Offices Above

On the ground floor of the building will be a Metropolitan store, believed to be the largest in Canada. Offices will be located in the second storey, which will have only half the depth of the ground floor.

Survey work on the building is expected to be wound up today. The construction department of Principal Investments Ltd., which owns the site, is doing the contracting work.

Two O.P.P. Constables Given Corporal's Stripes

Two Provincial Police constables in District 8 have been promoted to corporal, District Inspector J. A. Stringer has announced. Both men have had 11 years service in the O.P.P. They are Corporal Fred Rawlings of the Fenelon Falls detachment of the O.P.P. and Corporal Aime Gaudry of District 8 H.Q. in Peterborough. Both promotions are retroactive to April 1.

It is expected that Corporal Rawlings will be transferred from Fenelon Falls shortly, to be the N.C.O. in charge of one of the shifts at H.Q. Corporal Gaudry will likely remain at H.Q.

On Liquor Cases

Corporal Gaudry, age 36, came to Peterborough H.Q. last June. He has been given a number of special assignments, mainly liquor cases.

He was born at Rainy River and served there with the O.P.P. and with detachments at Dryden and Red Lake. He was transferred from District 16, Kenora, in June 1951, and has since then been at Peterborough.

Corporal Gaudry is married and has four children—Dale 12, Carole 9, Don 5, and Wendy, a year.

Corporal Rawlings is a native of Petrolia. He spent nine years as an O.P.P. constable in District 13, Sault Ste. Marie, and also at Sudbury. In April 1950 he was transferred to Peterborough H.Q.

He was here a month and then went to Lindsay. From there he was transferred to Fenelon Falls and he is still in that detachment. It is believed, however, that he will soon be brought back to H.Q. as one of the complement of N.C.O.s.

Corporal Rawlings is married and has two children—a nine-year-old daughter Jane, and four-year-old son Paul.

Curb Speculation In Smith Land, Council Assures

Sale by the city of building lots in the property that has been bought from Schneider-Alexander Ltd. and other owners in that block north of the city is to be hedged by restrictions against speculative interest.

That assurance was expressed in the adoption of the board of works report by the council on Monday night.

The city is acquiring two blocks of property beyond its Smith township boundary for future residential expansion. They were both considered about the same time. First purchase applied to the farm area for the government's Land Assembly Scheme. That property is not available until annexation is completed at the beginning of 1953.

The smaller block of about 26 acres lies between the city boundary and the main acquisition including the Sanderson and Stalker farms.

For immediate housing purposes this year, Ontario Municipal Board is permitting the city to proceed with subdivisional plans as if this smaller area were already annexed.

The clause in the board of works report, presented by Ald. J. E. Gillespie, chairman, Monday night is quoted as follows in its text:

Quoted Clause

"That having been informed by the Department of Planning and Development that that Department and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation do not desire to include in the Land Assembly scheme in Smith township the following lands under option from their owners: Schneider-Alexander Ltd. Henrietta Maude and William Wilson Grubb, Thomas Medland and Walter Robert Lloyd, the city council exercise its rights under these options and purchase these lands, in order that approximately five acres of land adjoining the Queen Elizabeth School may be sold to the Board of Education to provide additional lands required for that school;

"And to establish a plan of subdivision for the remainder of the lands, so that services may be extended through the subdivision to serve the larger area to be developed for housing to the north, and also to provide approximately 120 home building lots which will be sold to purchasers this year, and serviced with municipal services at once by the Board of Works.

"And that these lots be sold to purchasers at a price sufficient to cover the city's costs in connection with them, including the preparation of the plan of subdivision, legal fees, etc.; and that the lots also be required to pay the usual [illegible] for local [illegible] be informed [illegible] to purchase immediately and to assure that municipal services will be extended into the area at once."

Miller Urges Use Of Police Camera

Why should the city have to buy a camera for the assessment department when the equipment of the police staff should be available?

That question is being pressed by Ald. T. D. Miller, but from the police department comes the word quoted from Sgt. William Aggas that their camera cannot be loaned in any circumstances, following the regulations of the Police Act.

Their camera, costing $485, must be "on duty" 24 hours a day in the police department.

J. E. Davis, assessment commissioner, [illegible] for a camera to take pictures of properties in question of valuations [illegible] scriptions.

The police have the wrong angle, Ald. Miller commented, and requested that Mayor Waddell speak to the Police Commission about it again.

Swedish Accidents

STOCKHOLM — (CP)—Swedish Insurance companies have registered nearly 85,000 traffic accidents for 1951. Fatalities last year numbered 446, compared with 324 in 1950 and 321 in 1949.

April Warmer, Drier Than '51

Just as you have been telling everyone, this spring has been warmer and drier than last year.

Official Weather Recorder James Harrison confirms it. April this year was slightly warmer on the average and about an inch and a half less rain fell.

The highest temperature was 79, recorded on April 29th. Last year the maximum was on the same day, but it was only 71. The low this year was 18 degrees on the 11th and the average was 46.35 degrees. The lowest reading a year ago was 29 on the seventh; the average was 45.

The total rainfall in April, '52 was 3.16, but last year there was 4.77 inches of rain [illegible] of snow making a total precipitation of 4.87 [illegible] inches of [illegible]

Suggest Ontario Government Appoint Hospital Commission

TORONTO, May 7 — (CP) — Appointment of a hospital commission of at least three members by the Ontario Government is recommended in the report of the Ontario Health Survey Committee, made public today

The report was released here by Health Minister Phillips of Ontario and tabled in the Commons by Health Minister Martin.

The proposed commission, responsible to the Provincial Health Minister, would be comprised of members representing the public, the medical profession and the hospitals. It could administer hospital matters in an objective and impartial way.

Coupled with the recommendation is one for establishment of a regional board in each of seven hospital regions. Each board would be assisted by a regional medical advisory board.

Make Recommendations

"The regional board would be responsible for making recommendations to the hospital commission on the allocation of the capital construction grants, the distribution of provincial maintenance grants, the elimination of unnecessary or duplicating services, maintenance of proper standards of care and treatment of patients, etc."

The committee, set up in the fall of 1948 to inquire into health and hospital services and facilities and suggest ways of improving them, called for expansion of Ontario's public hospital system.

The report says five basic types of hospital service are required in such an expansion: Public general, convalescent, long-term, welfare institutions, and special hospitals.

31 Mental Clinics

It proposes establishment of 31 mental health clinics, staffed and equipped to give diagnosis and treatment. It says these clinics would cost an estimated $600,000 —about one-quarter of Ontario's share of the federal grand for mental health purposes.

In addition, "provision of suitable and adequate mental health service to the school population of the province and to inmates of our reform institutions would, in the opinion of the committee, be worthwhile extensions of Ontario's mental health program."

Other recommendations are that additional workers be trained for the expanding mental health services, that senile persons be taken out of the mental hospitals and cared for in a special type of institution and that public general hospitals establish facilities to treat patients suffering from the less severe forms of mental illness. It also urges provision of special treatment facilities for alcoholics and drug addicts.

The committee decided Ontario needs more general practitioners.

"Its study of the situation in Ontario has led the survey committee to the conclusion that the need for general practitioners should be stressed more than the need for certain specialties (excepting psychiatry, pathology and public health). The present ratio is one general practitioner for every 1,832 of population on a province-wide average."

The report says it may be desirable to consider expanding Ontario's four medical schools or adding a fifth.

Aid Medical Schools

The committe also urged increased provincial government financial help to medical schools.

The report recommends improvements in the nursing education program. It proposes government-financed expansion and modernization of hospital school accommodation, increases in the salaries of paid nursing teachers and the provision of bursaries to assist promising students who would not otherwise be able to undertake the nursing course.

It suggests that the Ontario Health Department re-examine the financial position of tuberculosis sanatoria with a view to possible revision of the present basis of payment of maintenance grants and that such grants include the cost of all services necessary for the treatment of patients.

Would Expand Work

It urges development of the program for cancer control by expansion and improvement of facilities for diagnosis and treatment. It proposes elimination of charges or radiotherapy and the provision, ultimately, of a complete cancer service providing surgical facilities, hospital treatment, home care and rehabilitation.

The report proposes a central registry for cases of crippling among children and an over-all program for their treatment, education and rehabilitation.

TOTEM POLE?—Resembling a totem pole, brought up to 20th Century standards, this streamlined mast houses new, secret radar equipment, aboard the United States, $70,000,000 superliner now being built. The strange looking mast has an enclosed crow's nest. The ship, nearing completion at Newport News, Va., is expected to try for the Atlantic speed crown, now held by the Queen Mary. The United States will be the largest passenger vessel flying the U.S. flag.

Find Missing Boy

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C., May 7 (CP)—Exhausted and weak from lack of food, 12-year-old Eddie Weetman, missing in the snow-packed woods for four days, is in hospital here today. His condition was described as only "fair." A 75-man search party, made up of cowboys, Indian riders, students and townsfolk, found him late Monday, huddled in a thicket.

Senate Studies May 24 Bill

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP)—Victoria Day, starting in 1953, may always be celebrated on Monday —no matter on what day May 24 falls.

The Senate Tuesday night gave second reading to such legislation. The bill needs third reading and Royal assent to become law.

Under the terms Queen Victoria's birthday—May 24—will be celebrated on the first Monday before May 25. The Commons previously approved similar legislation.

This year the holiday will be celebrated Saturday, May 24. If the legislation passes it will be held in 1953 on Monday, May 18.

As in the Commons, the change met with some opposition in the Senate. Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, said it was "nonsense" for parliament to legislate such a matter. Honor to Queen Victoria should be paid on her birthday.

Several senators said the subject recalled happy memories. Senator Arthur Roebuck (L-Ontario) said he particularly remembered May 24 as "the day we used to shed our red woollen underwear."

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"Maybe he's not so dumb after all, dear!"

Warsaw W.I. Hold Meeting

WARSAW, May 7 (ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society held their May meeting Thursday afternoon with 12 presents. Mrs. Dyson presided for the worship service and took as her theme "Mothers." Mrs. Edwards read the scripture. Miss Clara McCracken gave a reading on temperance and Mrs. Russell read a short paper on worship and prayer. Miss McCracken gave a paper on "Mother" ending with the poem Somebody's Mother. Mrs. John Gallaher of Cottesloe sang a solo.

Mrs. Harold Payne as program convener gave a reading "A Mother's Faith" and conducted a contest on stores in Peterborough. Lunch was served by Mrs. T. Russell and Mrs. C. Parcels.

The town hall was well filled on Friday evening for the play entitle Here Comes the Prince, presented by the Lakefield United Church under the auspices of the Women's Association. The cast was well chosen and each one took their part real well. Special mention might be made of Joan Halliday, Terry Donovan and Grannie as stars of the evening's performance.

St. Peter's Alumni To Hold Reunion

St. Peter's High School Alumni at the final business meeting of this season on Monday evening made numerous plans for the fall. Mrs. E. J. Sheedy, treasurer, was in the chair in the absence of President Mrs. A. Torpey, and Secretary Miss Vivien Sullivan took minutes.

Plans were drawn up and a committee appointed to hold a fall fashion show in the new school auditorium.

In the interest of all members it was decided to hold a reunion next fall, entailing a banquet and dance on Saturday and a communion breakfast on Sunday morning. Labor Day weekend was named a tentative date.

Mr. Joseph Moher and Mr. Al Shaughnessy resumed charge of the plans for the graduation and commencement exercises for this year.

The arrangements for celebration of "Mary's Day" on May 10 were announced by Mrs. J. E. Sullivan. An essay contest is being conducted in the high school on the subject "Our Lady" and the alumnae will give a prize for the best essay.

All women of the parish are to meet at 2:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon in St. Peter's Cathedral for recitation of the rosary. The school children are holding a continuous rosary from eight to five o'clock.

Nominating committee submitted a list of members' names to be contacted before June when the next executive will be installed.

ANCIENT COMPLIMENT

The custom of throwing shoes at a wedding originated in ancient times when shoes were worn only by wealthy classes.

MR. BARNEY DAVID LOFTUS, B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Loftus of Peterborough, and his fiancee, Miss Vicki Sher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Sher of Toronto. Their wedding will take place on Wednesday, June 4th, in Toronto.

Maypole On Cake Attractive Tea Table Centre

An unusual and very greatly admired tea table centre was the feature of the tea on Tuesday afternoon for which members of St. John's Afternoon Branch W.A. were hostesses. A pleasing number of ladies braved high winds to patronize this event.

This centrepiece was a cake made by Miss Margaret English who had iced it in pink and decorated the sides with tiny gumdrop figures. Then, she topped it with a tiny Maypole and had baby ribbon streamers falling to the edges of the cake. The table was effectively lighted with pink candles and the centre was ringed with pretty artificial magnolia blossoms. Grape hyacinths and yellow forsythia bouquets were at the base of each candle holder.

Pouring tea in turn were Miss Florence Gladman, Mrs. J. Mills, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers and Mrs. H. C. Sootheran.

Serving was done by Mrs. E. Graham, Mrs. H. Long, Mrs. E. Goodwin, Miss Ruby Quartermaine, Mrs. A. E. Thompson, Mrs. F. G. Mann, Mrs. Howden, Mrs. T. H. Floyd, Mrs. P. A. Martyn and Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. J. H. Crocker filled the tea pots and Mrs. G. Groombridge replenished the table with plates which were arranged by Mrs. H. A. Lemmings and Mrs. R. Ford.

President Mrs. F. E. Hooper and vice-president Mrs. H. A. Craig were receiving at the door and they called attention to the display of curios from South American countries which were in charge of Mrs. J. Cridland. These curios came from Toronto headquarters for the occasion and are of interest to the W.A. members because of their study of the southern countries which has just been completed.

A table of home cooking was in charge of Mrs. R. G. Lawless, Mrs. W. Dyer and Mrs. W. Flowers.

And Now - - - A Brief Bikini

PARIS, May 7 — (AP).—Now they have made a brief Bikini.

Jacques Heim did it today in his mid-season fashion show, with the naughtiest bathing suits and sunsuits Paris has ever seen.

Other shockers were transparent open-work lace dresses worn over nothing but bathing shorts.

Heim calls the tops of his new bathing suits "beam bras." Hardly more than G-strings, they consist of two stragetically-located bands of fringes across the bust and hip-line.

Lady Marks 80th Birthday At Harwood

HARWOOD, May 7—(ENS)—Mrs. Thomas Robson celebrated her 80th birthday on Saturday, when she was at home to her relatives and neighbors from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Her children were all at home for the occasion: Mrs. Euphemia Levielle, and daughter, Joan, of Toronto; Mrs. Florence Ogden and daughter, Marjorie of Mimico; Mrs. Helen Newman and Mr. Newman and twin daughters of Ajax; Mrs. Hazey Murney of Cobourg; and one son, Mr. and Mrs. George Robson and their son of Noranda, Quebec. Also at home Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robson, Marilyn and Clifford. Another son, Harry, died in the First World War.

Mrs. Robson received some beautiful flowers and gifts on this occasion. One feature of the event was the birthday cake, which was cut during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter of Toronto are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crick.

What's Right?

You have a meal in a restaurant and are wondering how much to tip.

WRONG—Leave a tip that is 10 per cent of your bill.

RIGHT: Realize that a 10 per cent tip is no longer considered adequate and make it from 15 to 20 per cent of your check.

Divinity Student Guest At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, May 7—(ENS)—John Fralick of Barrie, a theological student, preached the sermon in St. Thomas' Anglican Church on Sunday morning. Mr. Fralick is one of the 20 students attending the school of rural sociology being held in the parish of Cavan. The school held its sessions in Millbrook from Tuesday to Saturday of last week.

Classes commenced in Christ Church, Bailieboro, on Monday and will continue there through Wednesday when the school will move to St. John's Church, Ida, for the two concluding days.

The Rev. A. A. Chote, the rector, administered holy communion on Sunday morning assisted by the Rev. Allen Read of Mono Mills. Mr. Read was the originator of the school two years ago in Mono Mills, and the first two sessions were held there. This is the first year another parish has been chosen as its site.

Teen-ager Novices Model Own Clothes

TORONTO — (CP) — Thirteen girls between the ages of 11 and 16 were the models at a recent fashion show of the Girls Kiwanis Club of Toronto.

The garments modelled ranged from a one-piece cotton dress to a wedding gown of satin. All items were made by the girls. The wedding-gown was made by a 17-year-old who will wear it to her own wedding in June.

The class was formed 11 weeks ago and the students all were beginners. They were given a complete dress-making course of one lesson a week.

Despite the difference in ages, every child learned to master such intricate types of sewing as monogramming, hemstitching and embroidery.

DOROTHY DIX

Heartbreak Cured If Girl Sees Another Man

DEAR MISS DIX: Just how deep does hurt go? Can it keep love in your heart yet deaden every other feeling? Can you continue to love a person who has caused so much heartache that you can't bear to see him? Could I be happy with a husband in the future, yet still love an ex-husband who hurt me so much that I couldn't take him back? Is it natural for me to think of him once in a while, or will he always come first for me

JANET

ANSWER: Your letter was evidently written in the darkest hours following a marital break-up, and your complete hopelessness is readily understandable under those circumstances. However, the mere fact that you can even think of a future husband while in the throes of despair over just losing one is a good sign that a complete recovery is not far in the offing.

Your pride seems to be the real sufferer—not your heart. Whatever outrages your ex-husband committed, my guess is that they wounded your vanity far more than your heart. Probably you never will entirely forget him, but as time goes on his image will become dimmer and dimmer until one day you'll actually have to make an effort to remember what he looked like.

Don't Dwell On It

Don't try to put yourself in the place of a tragic, fictional heroine whose heart was broken to bits by a reckless lover. Modern maidens are made of sterner stuff. Dwelling on dark events of the past will only delay the period of recovery.

The heartache attending a broken romance is one of the most fleeting, though acute, pains. Being able, at this heatrending point, to see a man in your future at all, proves that your recovery is already well under way.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My wife and I have been happily married for six years and are still very much in love. We get along exceptionally well, except for one thing. Twice a year we have heated arguments because of office parties. Allow me to explain.

During the summer our small office has a picnic from which our families are excluded, and which I feel obligated to attend. At Christmas we also have a party. At these affairs we all feel gay and carefree and considerable hugging and meaningless kissing goes on. I don't approve of such behaviour, but when everyone does it, I can't very well be a wet blanket. When I come home bearing evidence of having been kissed, the little woman is upset and an argument occurs. How can I be part of office activities and be sure of a happy home?

CHARLIE

ANSWER: The feeling of good fellowship among co-workers that is engendered at the average office party is a fine thing, but when these parties are degraded to the level of a cheap petting binge, it's time they were stopped. Your office seems to go all out to stage affairs that will reflect credit on no one. Your wife is perfectly right to object, and it is up to you and the other office workers whose wives (or husbands) feel the same way to change the tempo of the affairs or cut them out altogether. Who is to tell just when kisses will cease to become "meaningless?" You surely aren't the only man who is having trouble at home over these socials, but why not be the one to do something about them?

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a high-school girl of 16, very fond of a boy in the Marines. My best friend likes him too. One night when she was supposed to be going steady with him, he told her he was staying home but came over to my house. How can I tell her without breaking up our friendship?

D. H.

ANSWER: You haven't been very fair to your girl friend; how fair will you be to yourself, or any other friend? If you take a boy away from a girl friend, your friendship with her is bound to end—unless she is a paragon of understanding. Better decide which one you want—the girl or the boy.

Home and School Association News

RIFLE RANGE SCHOOL

Rifle Range Home and School Association met in the school Monday evening with Mrs. E. Davis presiding. Devotional period was taken by Mrs. Humphries, and a universal favourite, "The Old Rugged Cross" was played as a duet on Hawiian guitars by Mrs. D. Friesen and Mrs. W. Goulding.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Mrs. W. Muir, recording secretary. The annual reports were read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. Muir; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. Amos; programme convener, Mrs. N. Andrew, substituting for Mrs. P. Lavictoire who was unable to be present; social convener, Mrs. J. Quinn; membership convener, Mrs. B. Neely; devotional convener, Mrs. H. Humphries.

A report on the convention of the Federation of Home and School Associations, was read by Mrs. W. Amos, one of the delegates. In the absence of Mrs. R. Brinson, nominations convener, the report of the nominating committee was read by Mrs. M. Northey.

The following officers were elected by acclamation; Mrs. W. Amos, president, Mrs. E. Davis, vice-president, Mrs. N. Andrew, recording secretary, Mrs. M. Northey, corresponding secretary. Seven members were nominated and qualified for the office of executive member, and a vote by ballot was held. Tellers appointed were Mr. L. Welch, Mr. S. Wood, and Mrs. H. Quinn.

While the election results were being tabulated, Mrs. Friesen and Mrs. Goulding again played guitar duets, the numbers chosen being "Paul Mullette", and "Aloha Oe".

Mrs. H. Quinn announced the results of the voting as follows;—Mrs. J. Quinn, Mrs. M. Humphries, Mrs. H. Pearson and Mrs. J. Trennum.

The new officers were installed in a simple and impressive ceremony by Mrs. V. Reynolds, president of King Edward Home and School Association, and as she wished each member success during her term of office, she urged that they work together with the aim of furthering home and school ideals.

Retiring officers were thanked by Mrs. T. Cooney, and after a few remarks by the new president, the meeting was adjourned.

A social half-hour followed, with Mrs. J. Quinn in charge, assisted by Mrs. T. Cooney, Mrs. Humphries, Mrs. N. Andrew, Mrs. L. Welch, and Mr. J. Quinn.

OMEMEE

OMEMEE, May 7—(ENS)—Mrs. A. W. Nelson, district chairman of Peterborough Home and School Council, was a guest at Omemee Home and School's annual meeting Monday evening and installed the newly-elected officers. She also addressed the Association on the highlights of the Ontario Federation convention.

A feature of the meeting was annual reports. Mrs. I. Clifford gave the treasurers report and Mrs. R. Rehill the secretary's survey of the year's activities. Program convener, Mrs. A. Stephenson, received the subject matter of the program and thanked all who had contributed to their success. Mrs. Hicks, for publications, finished her report with an appeal that more use be made of the available literature. Others reporting were: Mrs. H. Lennox for health, Mrs. Ralph James for membership, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan, the press, Mrs. L. M. Curtis, publicity, Mrs. McGill, social, and Mrs. H. Sisson as sunshine convener. The retiring president, Mrs. H. Green, stated that while some hopes had been realized during her two years of office, she felt there was much left to be done. She was grateful, she said, for the excellent co-operation of fellow officers, conveners and teachers.

The report of the nominations committee was given by Mrs. S. D. Vaughan. The following are the nominees who allowed their names to stand for the various offices: president, Mrs. A. Stephenson, vice-presidents, Mrs. J.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

On Special-Purpose Menu Offer Mushroom Casserole

Vegetarian
Macaroni and Mushroom Casserole
Quick-cooked Shredded Carrots
Spinach with Egg Garnish
Tossed Salad with French Dressing
Old-Fashioned Rhubarb Pie
Cheddar Cheese Coffee

Directions

In the 9th chapter of Genesis, 3rd verse we are told that, "Every moving thing that liveth shall be meat for you; even as the green herb have I given you all things."

But some of us interpret that one way, others another. While I am a healthy carnivore (meat-eater) there are thousands of herbivores (vegetable-eaters) who claim anyone is better off without meat. One solid fact that the vegetarians have to declare is that they have very little cholesterol in their blood and that this may be the reason why they have less heart and artery diseases.

I know nothing more than I read or am told, but from that I know a solid fact or two. One of them is that the macaroni and mushroom casserole should be tried and repeated, then filed away in your permanent file for frequent future reference.

Macaroni and Mushroom Casserole

Boil ½-lb. macaroni (or spaghetti or noodles) in plenty of salted water until tender. Drain. Meanwhile make the sauce. Saute ½-lb. mushrooms which have been scrubbed under running water with a brush, and sliced, in 2 or 4 tablespoons butter or salad oil, until they are limp, but not at all brown. Add ½ cup finely chopped celery and one-quarter of a finely chopped clove of garlic, during the last 2 minutes. Add 2 cups milk to the cooked mushrooms, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce, 1 teaspoon paprika, ¾ teaspoon salt, then stir in a smooth paste made by mixing 2 tablespoons flour with ¼ cup cold water. Stir until thick. In a buttered casserole arrange alternate layers of cooked and drained macaroni and this mushroom sauce and top all with ½ or 1 cup grated cheese. Bake at 375 deg. F. for about ½ hour.

The Quick-cooked Carrots are a time-saver. To serve 4 shed 12 medium-sized new carrots on your medium-sized shredder. Cook in 1 cup boiling water with ½ teaspoon salt until tender—about 10 minutes. Add ¼ cup finely chopped parsley, then stir into it a mixture of 1 tablespoon soft margarine and 1 tablespoon flour. Stir until thick.

To give added protein to this meal garnish the spinach with sliced hard-cooked eggs.

Old-Fashioned Rhubarb Pie

Line 9-inch pie plate with your best pastry. Mix together 1 1/3 cups sugar, 5 tablespoons flour and 4 cups cut-up washed but not peeled tender pink rhubarb. Fill pastry-lined pie plate with this and dot with 1½ tablespoons butter. Cover with well-gashed top crust and seal edges well. Sprinkle top of crust sparingly with sugar. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes or until crust is golden brown and juice bubbles through slits. Best served warm.

Two good variations are to substitute strawberries or blueberries for half of the rhubarb.

Royal Dressmaker Designs Uniforms

LONDON (CP).—The girls of Britain's Women's Royal Army Corps will shortly be wearing their new dark green "walkout" uniform or No. 1 dress.

The uniform was designed by Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker, and consists of a jacket and skirt with a green, peaked cap which at the back gives the impression of a draped beret. The jacket has three horizontal channel pleats across the front and fastens with three buttons. Channel pleats also give the effect of pockets at the side, although the only pocket is in the lining of the jacket.

Other details are two sleeve buttons and a single button on the epaulets. There is a matching belt on the jacket for general use, but on ceremonial occasions officers wear a sash and other ranks a white belt. The skirt is fairly full. At about 15 inches from the ground it is slightly shorter than the present civilian trend.

Bailieboro News

Sales, Ad Club Hold Annual Party

Peterborough Sales and Advertising Club held their annual ladies' night party Tuesday in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room. One hundred and thirty couples attended, enjoying dancing, an imported floor show, bar facilities and a sumptuous buffet luncheon. Twenty-one of these couples were winners of valuable draw prizes, and in addition each lady was given a corsage on arrival and a parting gift of a silver bon bon dish and a collection of samples.

Outstanding in the floor show was the tumbling act by two little Finnish girls recently come to Canada with their director father. There was also a magician, a comedian and a balancing ball act.

The winners of the draw prizes were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Deyell, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. Vince Murdoch, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Art Gertley, Mr. and Mrs. A. To lesson the responsibilities of the general secretary it was decided to appoint a corresponding secretary for which there would be a separate ballot after the election results were announced.

In the meantime the duties of a corresponding secretary were read and discussed. Miss Jessie Lamb's hearty vote of thanks to the retiring officers was greeted with unanimous applause.

The three executive members elected were Mrs. Kenny, Mrs. Wedlock and Mrs. Ruttle. Nominations for corresponding secretary were then received from the floor. Mrs. A. Whetung being the only nominee received the appointment by acclamation.

When the new officers had been installed by Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Stephenson took the chair. She thanked the Association for the honor conferred upon her and Mrs. Nelson for her large contribution to the program.

A revival of the swimming lesson project was discussed and it was suggested that the executive confer with Mrs. Forbes concerning re-organization. It was decided that the Association hold a June meeting.

Following the meeting lunch was served by Mrs. McGill and her helpers.

Report Hospitals Need 11,416 New Beds

TORONTO, May 7 — More than half of the 11,416 new beds recommended by the Ontario Health Survey Committee for mental hospitals are under construction, or will be built in the next three years, Health Minister Phillips said Tuesday. The survey, made in 1948 and 1949 showed overcrowding of existing facilities to the extent of 2,926 patients.

The committee also recommended construction of 574 new beds each year to cover natural increase in population.

Statistics given by the committee showed Cobourg Mental Hospital led with 60.6 per cent more patients than the bed capacity. Other percentage overcrowding figures were: Brockville 42.5, Hamilton 57.5, Kingston 16.5, London 34, New Toronto 25, Penetang 35.3, Toronto 55.6, Whitby 12.2, Langstaff 38.7, Orillia 20.5, and Woodstock 24 per cent.

Only Ontario mental hospital which was not overcrowded at the time of the survey was at Fort William.

The committee claimed that even if Ontario adds the recommended 11,416 beds, it would still have less beds per capita than New York State.

Dr. Phillips had instituted a 10-year plan for mental hospital construction prior to the report of the committee. It includes projects at Smiths Falls, Brockville, Kingston, Hamilton, London, Port Arthur, Woodstock, and New Toronto.

In addition to this program, many beds in mental hospitals, formerly occupied by senile patients, are being made available for mental cases through removal of aged patients to new homes for the aged.

The committee recommended establishment of 31 community mental clinics, in public general hospitals where possible. "These clinics would provide a consulting and diagnostic service, and in addition, would treat patients, many of whom will not require admission to a mental hospital," the report said. Cost was estimated at $600,000 annually.

Total cost of committee recommendations for mental hospitals was estimated at $62,700,000 for construction and $9,421,809, for maintenance.

While not stating any specific sums, the committee urged the government to financially encourage Queen's University, University of Western Ontario and Ottawa University in post-graduate psychiatric training.

Representatives of the committee visited every hospital in Ontario and they reported the interiors of mental hospitals tended to be drab and depressing.

During the period 1935 to 1949, 91 doctors left the Ontario mental hospital service. The largest group of doctors now in the service have from 20 to 24 years' experience and the service is now largely dependent on a group of doctors who will be retiring in a few years. Most of the physicians who left were earning less than $3,400.

Last year, a new system of federal-provincial grants for construction of psychiatric units in general hospitals was announced. The province pays $7,500 a bed, while the federal government pay $1,500.

The report recommended teams of a psychiatric, psychologist, a social worker and a secretary, man the clinics. The clinics would require a vast increase in number of practicing psychiatrists in the province, the report shows. An additional 53 are recommended, with three times that number needed to staff the new hospitals.

The committee recommended the Toronto area should have seven community mental health clinics. A special unit for children at the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital also was urged.

Overcrowding caused a waiting list of more than 1,500 mentally defective children who should be admitted to an institution, the report said.

Many are held in jails for unduly long periods after magistrates have determined admission to mental hospital is necessary, the report said.

The committee illustrated the inadequacy of treatment facilities with the example of insulin treatment for schizophrenia. In 1948, there were 953 patients suffering from that disease in hospitals, yet only three of the 15 hospitals gave the insulin treatment, and there were only 30 beds reserved for that treatment. A conservative estimate claimed at least 330 of the patients would have benefited from that treatment.

Another example of the crowding was shown by a report from Sudbury that in 1947 there were 68 mental patients in jail, and in 1948, 61 were in jail. The jails did not have facilities for caring for the mentally ill, nor could they be segregated from the criminals.

In many cases, jail physicians are only part-time employees, although the mentally-ill may have needed full-time care.

Pension Plan For Members Of 8-10 Years

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA — (CP)—All political parties have tentatively agreed to a contributory pension plan for members of the Commons.

The plan, to provide a life pension for anyone who has served at least eight or 10 years in parliament, will be discussed soon by Finance Minister Abbott and representatives of the political parties.

If final agreement is reached, the plan likely will be submitted for approval at this session. While it will be sponsored by the government when it is introduced, it will represent the labor of a group of private members who have worked for several years on possible pension schemes.

The program is aimed particularly at taking care of men who devote most of their life to politics and then suffer defeat when they have no business or employment to which to return.

Recently, Julian Ferguson (PC—Simcoe North) urged the government to increase the indemnities of members of the Commons. Members now receive $4,000 for each session of 65 days duration and $2,000 a year tax-free living allowance. In 1951, members received $10,000 because there were two sessions.

One Session

Prime Minister St. Laurent has told his supporters there will not be two sessions this year. A Liberal member said that at a recent caucus the Prime Minister made it clear that unless work is concluded by June 30 or by July 15, at the latest, the session will simply be adjourned until the fall.

Such an adjournment would mean that members would receive only one indemnity no matter how long the session lasted.

Mr. Ferguson's request was welcomed by many members, including some Liberals. However, Liberal sources said there likely will be no increase in indemnities until after the next Federal election, expected by some in the fall of 1953.

Under the proposed pension plan, each member would contribute a percentage of his indemnity each session. The government would match the members' contribution. To qualify for a pension, a member would have to serve in at least two parliaments. The life of a parliament is usually four years, although under statute it is elected for five years.

Based On Tenure

The pension of a member would vary according to his contributions. To get a maximum of $3,000 a year, a member would have to serve for at least 17 sessions.

One of the originators of the plan said that only 84 members in the 262-seat Commons have served for two parliaments and now would qualify for such a pension. He said there is a turnover of about 100 members in the life of every parliament, and out of that number only 20 would be pensionable.

He said adoption of the pension plan would eliminate many hardship cases among members, defeated or taken ill after many years of service.

If the plan works successfully for the Commons, he said, a similar contributory plan my be devised for the Senate. Senators now are appointed for life. Under a pension plan, a voluntary retirement age at 75 may be fixed. A Senator would have the option of holding his seat or of retiring on pension when he reached that age.

Charges Bank Concealed Assets

TORONTO, May 7 (CP) — Frank O'Hearn, a retired broker, says that the Bank of Toronto concealed assets totalling $489,000,000 in its 96th annual report to shareholders.

He has filed a writ asking the courts to declare that the bank concealed the assets for the year ending Nov. 30, 1951. He claims that the methods and practices used "grossly misrepresented the transactions" of the band and that "the profits were misreported and cash shortages concealed."

In 1946 Mr. O'Hearn ran for mayor of Toronto on the platform that he would recover for the city some $45,000,000 which he claimed had been overpaid to the banks. He was defeated.

In 1948 he went to Ottawa with a plan for the Progressive Conservative convention which he said would reduce the federal debt by $11,000,000,000.

He brought a civil action against the city of Toronto alleging that errors in the city's accounting system cost the taxpayers $51,428,327. Mr. Justice J. A. Hope dismissed the action.

Mazzoleni Keeps Principal's Job

TORONTO, May 7 (CP) — Dr. Ettore Mazzoleni has withdrawn his resignation from the Royal Conservatory of Music here and will continue as principal of the newly-formed school of music.

Dr. Mazzoleni submitted his resignation earlier in a controversy over re-organization of the Conservatory and the University of Toronto faculty of music. His resignation was not accepted.

Alienation Suit Dismissed By Court

TORONTO, May 7 (CP) — The story of a street-car romance was told in court Tuesday in a suit brought by Mrs. Gertrude Ada Wickham against Ivy Goldsmith, 37, for alienation of her husband's affecitons.

The suit was dismsised when the court found no evidence that Miss Goldsmith had enticed Wickham.

Rupert B. Wickham, 64, a street-car motorman, said he first saw the defendant as she cycled ahead of his street-car and waved to him. Later they met at the car-barns, made dates and kept company.

When you first took her for a drive was it in your car?" asked J. D. Reid, Miss Goldsmith's counsel.

"No, it was on a street-car." Mrs? Lillian Bowers, Mrs. Wickham's daughter, testified that Miss Goldsmith went into the Wickham home as a housekeeper and still lives there.

Council Reappoints Simpson To Board

WINDSOR, May 7 (CP)—Windsor city council voted Monday night to reappoint controller Hugh Simpson to the board of governors of East Windsor hospital. The controller was ousted by a board vote April 28.

Appointment of Controller Simpson to the hospital board was a condition of a $5,000 city council grant to cover a July hospital building fund deficit.

Robbers Get $12,000 Loot From Austin Jewelry Store

BURGLAR-PROOF metal screen on the window in the (above, left) photo failed to stop thieves from breaking into Bert Austin's Charlotte St. jewellery store Wednesday night. Two showcases and several drawers which Mr. Austin is examining (top right) were as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard after the thieves made off with $12,000 worth of watches. The staff immediately began taking inventory after the robbery was discovered at 10:45 and Joan Austin is using one of the emptied showcases (lower photo) as a desk while she makes a list of the missing watches and jewellery.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Calm Thieves Walk Out With Watches, Not Noticed By Pedestrians

Methodically Clean Out Many Showcases Until Frightened Away By Return of Two Store Employees

In the biggest Peterborough robbery since 1946, Bert Austin's jewellery store on Charlotte St. was entered Wednesday night and $12,000 worth of watches and rings were looted from the showcases. "I won't have to worry about watch inventory," Mr. Austin commented as he examined two showcases, bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard, which had been filled with valuable watches for his 26th anniversary "clean-out" sale.

"I wouldn't have had a watch left," said Mr. Austin, "If they hadn't dropped 60 in the alley."

The watches found strewn in the alley at the rear where entry was gained by cutting through a fine mesh heavy steel burglar proof window screen, indicated the thieves made a hasty exit.

The loss which is the largest since the $13,000 Barrie Fur robbery on January 9, 1946, is only partly covered by insurance.

Interrupted By Employees

Time of the robbery has been pin-pointed at between 9 p.m. and 10:45, when two employees, Floyd Murray and Dorion Stark entered the store to remove diamond rings from the show window and put them in the safe.

When they turned on the lights, they saw empty watch cases littering the floor and tops of showcases and leading to an open window in the office at the rear of the store where the burglar proof screen had been cut.

From the watches and jewelery trays scattered in the alley, police conclude that Mr. Murray and Mr. Stark surprised the thieves at work and frightened them off, while they chatted outside for a few seconds before opening the door.

Everything All Right

Mr. Murray's son Robert picked up his car which he left parked in the alley behind the store about 9 o'clock and noticed nothing amiss. Hence, it is believed the break-in occurred between then and 10:45.

Marks left on the door jam of the storeroom behind the office indicate that once inside, the thieves attempted to smash the lock on a door leading to the alley. However, they failed to

Red Prisoners Seize UN Commandant; Held As Hostage

PUSAN, Korea, May 9. (Friday)—(AP)—The army announced today that Red prisoners on Koje Island seized the Allied camp commandant and a fellow-officer Wednesday and are holding one as hostage. Brig.-Gen. Francis Dodd was dragged inside the prisoners' stockade. But the other officer managed to escape. His name was not available. A report from the island prison off the South Korean coast said a note had been passed from the stockade, but its contents were not disclosed. This report said that Dodd had not been harmed. It was several hours old, however.

Koje Island has been the scene of two violent prison disorders this year.

On Feb. 12, 179 persons were killed in an uprising by Red prisoners in notorious "Compound 62."

On March 13, 12 Communists were killed by South Korean soldiers in an allied prisoner stockade on Koje after a rock-throwing fight between Red and anti-Red North Koreans. Twenty-six Communists were injured.

An official statement said the South Korean soldiers disobeyed orders not to fire on the prisoners after one soldier was hit by a stone.

Dodd, former deputy chief of staff of the U.S. Eighth Army, took command at Koje after the February riot.

Detective Chief On Payroll Gross Testifies

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—Bookie Harry Gross, who has involved former city officials in his multi - million - dollar bookmaking business, testified today that William Whalen, former chief of detectives of the New York Police department, had been on his payroll.

Gross said Whalen went on his payroll right after he became an Inspector, at which time Gross gave him a dinner and an expensive watch.

Before Gross took the stand for the second day in the police departmental trial of five officers accused of lying about their relations with Gross, a defence lawyer tried vainly to get an adjournment from Deputy Police Commissioner Albert Delehanty.

All five on trial have filed for retirement this month. Unless the case is completed before the effective date of their retirement they cannot be punished by the police department.

May Lose Pension

They face loss of pension rights.

Gross testified Wednesday that James J. Moran shook him down for a $15,000 political contribution during former Mayor William O'Dwyer's 1949 campaign.

Gross also testified he had "an arrangement" with Inspector William P. O'Brien, whom O'Dwyer later named Police Commissioner. The "arrangement", Gross said, was for protection at the rate of $50 or $100 for him (O'Brien), plus the regular amount for the spot (booking room)."

Police Clip Meter Beaters

TORONTO, May 8—(CP)—City police have launched a crackdown on "meter beaters."

Traffic officers hauled two cars from a downtown street to the police garage, Wednesday. Each had two tickets and police said they had been parked for six hours.

Parking meters were installed recently in the downtown section on a trial basis.

Said Inspector Vernon Page today:

"The idea of these meters is to give more people a chance to use the downtown streets. If a motorist persists in trying to beat the meters, we're going to take him off the road."

M.P. Asks St. Laurent About Drama Trophy

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP)—Joseph Noseworthy (C.C.F.-York South) asked in the Commons Wednesday if the government is considering any action to prevent the "substitution of a distillers' trophy for the Bessborough Trophy, as the top award in the Dominion Drama Festival."

Prime Minister St. Laurent said: ". . . When discussions as to the appropriate action to be recommended to parliament are made, they will be announced in the usual way."

Festival officials announced last week they planned to accept financial assistance from Calvert's distilleries.

Expect Howe Curb Gas Use

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP)—Production Minister Howe may issue an order within the next few days curbing the use of aviation gasoline in most parts of Canada, it was learned today.

The move is being considered as an emergency measure to conserve shrinking Canadian supplies caused by the United States oil strike. Most of Canada's aviation gasoline comes from the U.S.

The curb may cut military and civilian aircraft gas use by as much as 30 per cent of current consumption.

It likely will affect all provinces, possibly with the exception of the prairies where some aviation gas is produced.

Mr. Howe's order may be made Friday or possibly during the weekend.

Anti-Strike Bill Condemned By Labor

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP) — Spokesmen for organized labor condemned a proposed anti-strike bill as shocking and viciously anti-labor.

In statements prepared for delivery at a House of Representatives armed services committee hearing considering the bill, William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, and Joseph Curran, vice-president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, attacked the bill as a one-sided measure favoring management.

The bill, introduced last week by Representative Howard W Smith (Dem. Va.), provides for 80-day injunctions to prevent strikes affecting national security and for operation of unions and industry by court-appointed receivers after 80 days if no agreement has been reached. It would prevent changes in wages or working conditions during the period of negotiations and receivership and would allow Congress as well as the President to initiate the injunction proceedings.

Green said the legislation would have a "catastrophic" effect on the morale of workers. He called it "a gratuitous insult" to organized labor.

Red Supply Base In Flames After Big Raid

SEOUL, Korea, May 8 (AP)—Day-long waves of United States planes, in the biggest air raid of the Korean war, today turned a major Communist supply base "into billowing flames and smoke" the U.S. Fifth Air Force reported.

The Air Force said the dawn-to-dusk rain of high explosives, rockets and jellied-gasoline fire bombs destroyed 165 supply buildings and damaged 81.

American and Australian jet planes screening the raiders shot down two MIG-15 jets and damaged another.

Target of the mass raid was Suan, 35 miles southeast of Pyongyang, North Korean capital. Suan is a feeder point to Chinese troops on the western front. Air force photos had shown the area literally loaded with trucks and military supplies heavily guarded by anti-aircraft guns.

300 Attacks

Jets and propeller-driven planes made well over 300 individual attacks, the Air Force said.

They "tore the Communist supplies to shreds" a communique said. "Thousands of gallons of fiery napalm (jellied gasoline) were spread over the tarket, turning piles of supplies into billowing flames and smoke."

F-80 Shooting Stars opened the attack at dawn.

Then came waves of F-84 Thunderjets, more Shooting Stars, propeller-driven Mustangs, and Marine Pantherjets, Sky Raiders and Corsairs.

The Fifth Air Force said the strike was bigger than one a year ago on Red air bases just inside Korea near the Manchurian border. That one involved 312 planes.

Gleaming Cake Explodes At Party

LONDON, May 8 — (Reuters)—Practical jokers opened London's high society season Wednesday with time-fused fire crackers at the debuntantes' "Coming-Out" Party.

About 250 young ladies —this year's crop of debs—drifted in well-drilled formation down a stair case for the highlight of [illegible] Charlotte's ball [illegible] Hotel House. The moment [illegible] cutting ceremony arrived.

The debs dropped a mass curtsy before the cake gleaming with 208 electric candles. A moment later three muffled bangs and a wisp of blue smoke was evidence of the jokers' handiwork.

Three giant firecrackers with slow fuses were fixed with adhesive tape to the legs of the table holding the cake.

Sniffed a ball committee member: "No damage was done but it was fortunate the fireworks were mistimed. A moment earlier and they might have upset the debutantees' curtsy."

DEMAND CYPRUS BACK

ATHENS, May 8. (AP)—Huge crowds demonstrated in downtown Athens today for the return of British-held Cyprus to Greece. Archbishop Spyridon addressed the gatherings, which approved a resolution saying that every Greek considers it a "stigma that Cyprus remains under serfdom."

Report Iron Ore Discovery Sparks Options At Simcoe

TORONTO, May 8. (CP)—A Toronto paper says today an iron discovery is connected with the optioning of between 4,000 and 5,000 acres of farmland in the Simcoe area. "Steel Company of Canada, whose Hamilton works are only 45 miles from Simcoe, is prominently mentioned as the interested company but officials today denied this," its newspage story from Simcoe says.

"Also mentioned is the Algoma Steel Corporation of Sault Ste. Marie, which last year bought a blast furnace at Port Colborne at the Lake Erie end of the Welland Canal, about 50 miles from Simcoe. A senior official of Algoma today denied any knodwledge.

"A Mines Department official in Toronto said he was sure it is Stelco."

H. L. Selby, a farmer near Simcoe, said last week he had optioned 90 acres of his 100-acre farm for "an enormous sum." It is also reported that options are averaging [illegible] acre for 100 acres if an option is taken up. It is estimated more than $600,000 has been paid out already in options.

Biggest Hunt

"The Simcoe find means that the biggest hunt for iron in Ontario history now has spread into southwestern Ontario for the first time. The search has even moved into an undisclosed location in the Toronto area, with the biggest steel company, U.S. Steel, heading it. The search is intense in eastern Ontario, with parties at work from the Quebec border at least as far west as Peterborough."

The paper adds that there now is a strong belief that perhaps 90 per cent of Ontario is favorable for iron ore discoveries. In the northern part of the province, iron is being sought across a 1,000-mile front from the Quebec border to Manitoba.

"It was disclosed today that a magnetometer survey of the Simcoe land was completed this week, which strengthens the belief iron ore will be found at a depth of 3,000 feet. The area investigated is bounded on the north by the town of Simcoe and extends south to Port Ryerse on the north shore of Lake Erie. This is a distance of five miles. Maximum width is two miles.

"Diamond drilling to try to prove the existence of commercial ore bodies is now expected to be started."

Work, Publicity Caused Death

[illegible] (CP).—Work [illegible] were responsible for the death of Dr. Lister Moore, John Sinnott (L-Springfield) said Wednesday at a Commons agriculture committee meeting.

The 36-year-old veterinarian was found dead in his Weyburn, Sask., hotel room Tuesday. He had been in charge of the foot-and-mouth disease eradication program at Weyburn, 75 miles southeast of Regina.

"It is evident," said Mr. Sinnott, "that this man worked day and night doing his very best to stamp out this plague. He worked as hard as he could."

Yet he must have seen headlines in newspapers "condemning him for doing the job he's done."

George Murray (L.-Cariboo) asked Agriculture Minister Gardiner, during the committee's discussions, to comment on the "tragic case of Dr. Moore."

"I don't want to refer to it," Mr. Gardiner replied.

Plan To Auction Trucking Industry In U.K.

LONDON, May 8—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill's government today struck its first blow at socialist nationalization of industry with plans to auction off the state-run road freight-trucking industry to private buyers.

A fleet of 43,000 long-distance trucks, taken over by the late labor administration in 1947, will be put on the open market, a government report said.

But to prevent their competition hitting the state-run railroads too hard, buyers will have to pay a levy to the government calculated to produce £4,000,000 yearly.

Legislation to enforce the proposals will be presented to parliament this summer.

Encourage Efficiency

The government is understood to be prepared to lose in the auction up to £20,000,000 on the price paid in compensation to private owners when the industry was nationalized. But today's report said the new proposals would encourage efficiency in both road and rail transport, and "should lead to better and cheaper transport."

The railroads will remain under state control, but will be split up into regional areas largely independent of headquarters in London. The report said the railroads suffer from "excessive centralization."

In a review of transport under nationalization, the document said the Labor government's Transport Act had not achieved —and was not likely to achieve—its avowed purpose of providing Britain with "an efficient, adequate, economical and properly-integrated system of public inland transport and port facilities."

Transport is the first nationalized industry to be handed back to private ownership by the Conservatives. Churchill announced last Saturday he will follow by denationalizing the iron and steel industry.

East Germany Threatens To Set Up Army

BERLIN, May 8 — (AP)—East Germany's Communist government hurled new threats today to set up its own army if West Germany lines up with western defence.

Prime Minister Otto Grootewohl telegraphed Soviet Prime Minister Stalin that West Germany's nearly-complete peace contract with the western allies threatens civil war and the Soviet zone will arm to meet it.

East German President Wilhelm Pieck said on May Day that western signing of the peace contract —expected before the end of May —would compel the east to raise a defence force. Wednesday night leaders of the east zone's ruling Socialist unity (Communist) party wired Stalin such an Army, necessary for defence "against aggression," would be raised.

The western allies have said for months that East Germany already has a trained nucleus army in its 50,000-man State Police and 10,000-man Sea Police unit.

These latest Communist moves came as Adenauer's government and the west pushed ahead toward completion of the peace contract and companion plans for inclusion of German troops in the proposed six-nation European Army.

Police Conduct Secret Inquiry

TORONTO, May 8 — (CP) — A Toronto newspaper says today that "a highly-secret investigation requested by a foreign power, not the United States" is being conducted in suburban Forest Hill by the Criminal Investigation Branch of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Inspector William Lougheed, head of the C.I.B. described the investigation as a "hush-hush" affair.

"The investigation, the nature of which police officials said they could not disclose, has been under way for some time under Inspector Leonard Neil," the paper says in a newspage story.

"So secret has the investigation been kept that not even Forest Hill police have been informed of the persons concerned. Forest Hill police officials expressed surprise when told the Provincial Police were conducting an investigation in their municipality."

U.S. Government Lifts Steel Shipment Ban

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—The government today listed its ban on shipment of steel from warehouses.

The freeze was clamped on April 29 to preserve steel supplies for defence projects. The freeze order went out a few hours after President Philip Murray of the C.I.O. called a strike against the steel industry.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, Federal boss of the steel mills, said a survey of the industry has indicated supplies have built back up to the point where the freeze on shipments from warehouses can be removed.

Medical Discovery

New $60 Machine Acts As Extra Heart And Lung

DALLAS, May 8—(AP)—A $60 heart-lung machine pumped a man's blood for 75 minutes, changing him from sickly blue to healthy pink, a surgeon announced today.

The machine gave him an extra heart and extra lung to fight a mysterious lung disease. It drew blood from a vein in his leg, cleared it of carbon dioxide, gave it fresh oxygen, and pumped the blood back into an artery in his arm.

Mechanical hearts by-pass just on one side of the heart already have worked on humans. But the latest development marks a big step toward a major goal—of having machines that will let surgeons completely by-pass a patient's own heart and lungs and operate on them while they are free from work.

The dramatic story was reported to the American Association for Thoracic Surgery by Dr. James Helmsworth, university of Cincinnati medical school.

He called it the first such successful use of an artificial heart-lung on humans in the United States. All the while, the man's own heart and lungs kept working.

The man died, however, several weeks after the experiment. Dr. B. N. Carter of the University of Cincinnati Medical School said the man had an "incurable lung disease" and that the heart pumping was done only to give him relief in his breathing.

The man, a former fireman, had a disease that scarred his lungs. He hungered for oxygen, became blue and short of breath. His heart was impaired.

The machine pumped for 75 minutes, while his color changed from blue to near-normal pink, Dr. Helmfworth said. He could breath more easily, and slept soundly for the first time in several weeks.

Rags To Riches Story

Pioneer Film Producer On Her Last Voyage

LIVERPOOL, England, May 8—(Reuters)— The veteran 21,833-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia left here to the farewell hoots of passing ships today on her last voyage.

The 38-year-old ship, once the German Tirpitz aboard which Kaiser Wilhelm planned to accept the surrender of the British fleet in the First World War, has been sold for scrap to a firm at Inverkeithing in the Firth of Forth, Scotland.

The ship's bell and a plaque, commemorating rescue work carried out by the ship's company during the Yokohama earthquake of 1923, are to be presented to her master at that time, Capt. Sam Robinson, now living in Vancouver.

The Empress was transformed into a luxury cruiser when Germany handed her over as reparations in 1919. She has since visited most ports in the world.

NEW YORK, May 8— (AP) — William Fox, 73, a pioneer motion picture producer and one-time operator of more than 250 theatres valued at more than $100,000,000 died in hospital today.

Fox ran $1,600 into a personal fortune of $35,000,000. But his moving-picture empire crumbled under the depression, creditors and lawsuits.

He served a five-month term in prison at the age of 63 on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice and defraud the government. He was accused of bribing a Pennsylvania court judge to obtain favorable bankruptcy verdicts.

Theda Bara, the "Vampire," and Annette Kellerman, who made the one-piece bathing suit famous, were among stars of his productions.

His own rags-to-riches story was as dramatic as any of the film fiction he presented. Fox was born in Hungary, emigrated to the United States and became a $17-a-week pants presser on New York's lower east side.

The refusal of his boss to give him a $3 raise started him on his fabulous movie career. He quit the ironing board and bought a run-down Nickelodeon in Brooklyn.

The Nickelodeon was the forerunner of the Fox Films Corporation and the Fox Theatres Corporation. He produced such films as "What Price Glory" and "Seventh Heaven."

His kingdom crashed with the stock market in 1929.

An onslaught of law suits descended on him during the next six years. The federal government filed tax liens of more than $2,000,000; corporations sued on charges of breach of contract; stockholders sued.

In 1936 he went into voluntary bankruptcy.

He is survived by his widow, the former Eva Leo, and two daughters.

Plan To Restrict Building Around Airport

OTTAWA, May 8. (CP)—The Federal government plans to restrict building around Canada's major airports to prevent air disasters such as occurred in populated areas in the United States. Transport Minister Chevrier obtained first reading in the Commons Wednesday of a bill to apply zoning restrictions to airport areas.

He said he does not think any present buildings around airdromes will come down but under the measure the height of future buildings or natural growths will be restricted.

The measure also will provide compensation for owners of property adjacent to airports who suffer a loss as a result of the building restrictions.

"The recent casualties in populated areas where aircraft have landed out of control causing loss of life and extensive damage, indicate that great care should be taken not only in the location of suitable airport sites, but also in regulating the erection of buildings in the vicinity of an airport," said the minister.

He obtained immediate support from Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North Centre). But Mr. Knowles and Howard Green (P.C.-Vancouver-Quadra) thought the municipalities should be given an opportunity to express their views on the subject.

Quiet Session

The Commons' half-day Wednesday sitting was quiet—at one time there were only two more than the required quorum of 20 members—but it got a lot done.

Second reading — approval in principle—was given a measure authorizing the Canadian National Railways to build a 46-mile, $10,000,000 branch line from Terrace, B.C., to Kitimat, B.C., to serve a $500,000,000 aluminum development.

First reading was given another bill to authorize a $1,250,000 loan to the New Westminster Harbor Commission to expand and develop the harbor of the Fraser River city. Both bills were approved by all parties.

Before rising the house began discussing a resolution to a bill for various changes in acts affecting the defence sphere. One change would provide that persons violating the Geneva Conventions of 1949 may be tried by courts martial outside Canada. At present Canada does not have this power.

Reds Release New Tirade

MUNSAN, Korea, May 8—(AP)—The Communists today accused the United Nations command of delaying a truce in Korea by refusing to negotiate further on prisoner exchange. The prisoner issue is the only one in the path of an armistice.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il's blast failed to shake the Allied delegates from their stand against forced return of prisoners of Red rule.

The Allies have told the Reds that 62,000 captured Red soldiers do not want to be repatriated.

"Your so-called screening of our captured personnel is absurd," Nam declared in the 18-minute session at Panmunjom.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. command delegate, called Nam's speech a "propaganda tirade that can serve no useful purpose."

French Red Party Organizes Protest

PARIS, May 8 — (AP) — The Communist Party issued orders today to Communists throughout France to organize protest demonstrations against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

Ridgway is due in Paris May 25 to take over as supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe. Said the Paris Communist Federation:

"He arrives dripping with the martyred blood of Korean and Chinese women, children and the aged, against whom he has committed the most awful barbarian crimes. He is the war criminal that the world forever will call 'the germ killer'."

Ridgway is coming to France "to step up the preparations for aggression against the Soviet Union, the popular democracies, the democratic German republic," the Communists said.

Better Conditions Blow Against Reds

MONTREAL, May 8 (CP) — Health Minister Martin said today improvements of hospitals and health services is a blow struck against Communism, "a Godless philosophy which denies the dignity of man and reviles the validity of those spiritual forces on which our society is so firmly founded."

In an address prepared for delivery to the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Mary's Hospital, Mr. Martin said:

"I believe that in what we do to strengthen our hospitals and to improve our health services, we are winning an important victory over Communism."

He said the hospital has become an essential part of the community's health service. As medical science becomes more and more concerned with protecting, rather than restoring health, the hospital must assist in positive measures to prevent disease.

Millbrook Tax Rate Struck At 73.5 Mills

MILLBROOK, May 8 (ENS) — Millbrook council struck a mill rate of 73.5 at their meeting Monday night. Largest single portion of the levy will go for village purposes—36.5 mills.

Breakdown of the 1952 tax rate is as follows: county levy 12.6 mills, village 36.4 mills, Millbrook and Cavan Arena and fire engine debentures 2.5 mills, Durham county high school 7 mills, Millbrook public school 11.5 mills, school debenture 3.5 mills.

Council voted to grant $50 to the Millbrook and Cavan Agricultural Society, following an interview with Jeff Powell on behalf of the Millbrook Spring Fair, which will be held June 11.

Accounts totalling about $854 were ordered paid. Fire chief Douglas Sheppard reported 14 firemen present at practice on April 28.

2 Policemen Stray, Finally Released

PANMUNJOM, Korea, May 8—(AP)—Two United States military policemen strayed 50 feet outside the Panmunjom neutral zone Wednesday and were seized by Chinese soldiers. The Americans were released after the intervention of a North Korean security officer.

Both were given stern lectures.

They had been patrolling the outer rim of the 1,000-yard neutral circle surrounding the armistice conference tents which truce negotiations were under way.

Suggests God Only One Able Regulate Lake

OTTAWA, May 8 — (CP). — A senior External Affairs Department official suggested Wednesday that only God can really do much to lower the levels of Lake Ontario and prevent shore line erosion even if the St. Lawrence Seaway is finished.

H. O. Moran, Assistant Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, said one of two proposed measures by man has not made any appreciable change. The other, he suggested, would not make much difference in the water level either.

The big trouble was an unusually heavy rainfall this spring. Those abnormal rains were "almost entirely responsible."

Temporarily Discontinued

He testified in the Commons External Affairs Committee that diversion of the waters of the Ogoki River into Lake Ontario has been temporarily discontinued by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. That was one step that had been recommended.

The other was removal of the Gut Dam near Ogdensburg, N.Y. That would be done, he said, if St. Lawrence Seaway plans went through, but it would mean a drop of only six inches or so in the water level.

Gordon Graydon (P.C., Peel) asked whether, when the seaway is finished, there can be any assurance that the lake's water levels can be regulated to prevent the scandalous erosion now taking place.

Mr. Moran said: "The assurance could only be given by the person who regulates rainfall."

Calm Thieves

force the special lock and had to pass the loot out the window where they entered.

The window is about five feet above the floor of the office, and to avoid attracting attention they were careful to avoid breaking glass. The window was raised, and a pane of glass tipped in the base of the window at an angle to prevent draughts was found outside in the alley.

Partially Screened

While they tore watches out of cases and tossed the boxes about the store, emptying the showcases and the drawers behind them, they were partially screened from passersby by the closed-in back of the show window. There were only dim night lights left on in the interior.

About the time the robbery was discovered, Mr. Austin's daughter Joan, was on her way home from a movie. She was chatting with a girl friend at the corner of Park and Charlotte Sts., when she saw a cream 1951 Studebaker speed up Charlotte St., from downtown and make a tire-screaming left hand turn, then roar south on Park St.

At the time, Miss Austin said she noted the make and color of the car, because of its excessive speed. A few minutes later, when she arrived home and learned her father's jewelery store had been robbed, she remembered the speeding car and gave a description of it to police.

Tabulate Loss

After the robbery was discovered, Mr. Austin and his assistants spent most of the night, tabulating a list of the loss. In addition to the watches, about two or three dozen stone and signet rings were taken. The thieves apparently knew jewelery, because they concentrated on the most valuable line of watches, and made off with an estimated 250.

Detective Sergeant Bud Clarke, Identification Sergeant William Aggas and Constable Douglas Farthing are investigating. Detective Clarke said that the thieves would be lucky to get 10 per cent of the value of their loot when they try to sell the "hot" jewellry to a "fence" who has to resell it, or a pawnbroker.

Preached In Area Rev. A. M. Irwin Dies In Oshawa

OSHAWA, May 8—(CP)—The Rev. A. Mansel Irwin, 84, a minister in the Methodist and United churches more than 40 years, died last night. His pa[illegible]orates, all in the Bay of Quinte Conference, included Dalrymple, Grafton, Canton, Newcastle, Cannington, Norwood, Whitby and Oshawa.

He preached at Norwood United Church from 1914 to 1919. He was father of Paul Irwin of Irwin and Godson.

His last church, from which he retired nearly 20 years ago, was Oshawa's Northminster. After his retirement, he served as chaplain of construction jobs in Northern Ontario and with the Ontario Temperance Federation.

He was born in Victoria county's Mariposa township July 21, 1867, and was graduated from Victoria College in Toronto in 1898.

Surviving are six sons, Karl of Toronto, Paul of Peterborough, Norman of Whitby, Dean of Mount Royal, Que., Ross of Pickering and Dr. Roy Irwin of Port Perry; three brothers, Thomas of Calgary, Edward of Vancouver and Dr. S. W. Irwin of Washington; and a sister, Mrs. Etta MacRae of Vancouver.

The funeral will be held in Whitby Saturday with burial in Oshawa.

Charge Camp Attacked Twice

PANMUNJOM, Korea, May 8—(AP)—The Communists said today the prisoner-of-war camp at Changsong was attacked by nightflying aircraft twice this month.

The report did not include a specific demand for redress or action by the United Nations command. An official Allied spokesman said he presumed an investigation would be made.

The alleged attacks were on the nights of May 4 and 5.

Changsong is 30 miles northeast of Sinuiju, near the Yalu River boundary with Manchuria. British, American and other non-Korean Allied troops are reported held there.

Western Oils Hold Firmly To Gains

TORONTO, May 8 — (CP) — Western oils held firmly to moderate gains today in early afternoon stock market dealings. Other sections, however, showed little trend.

Industrial dealings remained in selected leading issues and few oils, metals or penny golds attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,740,000 shares.

Papers and utilities posted a scattered list of advances to form industrials' strongest sections. Steel, refining oils and banks also drew firm support but foods, liquors and textiles slipped.

Western oil gains ranged to about 50 cents. Canada Southern, Canadian Atlantic, Central-Leduc, Pacific Petroleum and Royalite pushed upward.

Base metals were mixed. Consolidated Smelters, Fenimore Iron, Golden Manitou, Noranda and East Sullivan strengthened while Hudson Bay, Labrador, Silver Miller and United Asbestos weakened.

Senior golds were quiet. Junior producers tended lower but prospects and holding companies edged upward.

Secondary School Teachers Pinklist Kingston 2nd Time

TORONTO, May 8. (CP)—The Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation has notified the 6,000 secondary school teachers in Ontario that it will not back them if they accept a job in Kingston. This was the second "pink-listing" of the school in two months. A [illegible] negotiations [illegible] off with the board of education. The teachers refused to accept a board offer of a $100-a-year increase in September for 28 of the city's 54 high school teachers. They are seeking $200 for everybody.

Previous negotiations brought about a new schedule set for September which offers a minimum of $3,000 and a maximum of $5,200 for non-specialist teachers and $3,200 minimum and $5,400 maximum for specialists.

Pinklisting is the technique developed by the secondary teachers to achieve the same effect as the blacklisting powers given the parent Ontario Teachers' Federation by law. Teachers cannot accept a position with a board which has been blacklisted; they may, but rarely do, with a pinklisted board.

Action High-handed

Mrs. Edwin Bryce, chairman of the Kingston board, Wednesday [illegible] the Federation action as high-[illegible] list us," she said. "We had arrived at one of the better settlements in the province. The teachers are attempting to pressure us into their point of view."

After the first pink list went into effect on March 18, many Kingston secondary teachers gave notice they would resign at the end of June. All but three withdrew their resignations when the pink letter was withdrawn. None have indicated they will resign as the result of the second letter.

Mrs. Bryce said there was no fear of a shortage of teachers in September. More than 40 applications for positions open had been received as soon as the first pink letter was withdrawn.

Three other Ontario centres are in Federation disfavor and have been pinklisted—Stratford, Hamilton and York Township. In the latter municipality, 100 of the 119 teachers will resign if a cost-of-living bonus is not restored.

WON'T BE LONG—Little Robert Epstein unconcernedly licks a lollypop while his father, Irving J. Epstein, of Philadelphia, hovers over him as firemen worked for almost two hours to free the child's foot from a drainpipe. The youngster stepped into the pipe in the pavement leading to his house door and remained wedged until a section of the pipe was removed.

Supreme Court Throws Out Board Orde:

HALIFAX, May 8 (CP).—The Nova Scotia Supreme Court on Wednesday rapped the Provincial Labor Relations Board on the knuckles, threw out [illegible] in order refusing certification of six marine workers' locals because an official was a Communist, and ordered the board to "proceed with the application according to the law."

The full bench, in an unanimous decision, ruled the board was remiss when it denied certification last year to locals of the industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of Canada (C.C.L.) with some 500 members at Dartmouth, Lunenburg, Pictou and Liverpool shipyards.

The decision followed a union application to quash the board's order and for a writ of mandamus to command the board to exercise its jurisdiction in respect to that application for certification.

Ordinary Procedure

Mr. Justice Vincent MacDonald who wrote the judgment, said in part:

"Nothing would more introduce uncertainty, friction and confusion into the system than a construction which would entitle the board to refuse certification for a reason nowhere stated in the Trade Union Act.

"None of the arguments arrive at such a construction . . . and the board must be required to proceed with the application according to the law."

Pearson Announces Canada Backs Allies On Truce

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP) —Canada publicly accepted Wednesday the position that Communist prisoners in Korea should not be forced to go home.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, reporting to the Commons that 62,000 of the 132,000 Red prisoners have said they don't want to go home, said it would be unthinkalbe to force them to go.

At the same time, he said in a statement that the Korean armistice terms the Communists have just rejected represent the utmost limits to which the U.N. powers can go.

But, he added, there is no need for resumption of full-scale fighting, and if it does break out again it will be the responsibility of the Communists. He hoped the Reds will reconsider their position.

Mr. Pearson's statement came a few weeks after Canada reminded Washington that any refusal to return prisoners would violate the Geneva Convention. That stand was interpreted in some quarters as Canadian policy, but officials said today it was not policy, that it was simply a reminder of a fact,. one of a large number of facts which the government weighed in reaching the decision the minister announced in the House.

One other fact considered was the possibility that in any major war, Russia might refuse to repatriate prisoners on the grounds that the Russians said the prisoners didn't want to go home.

Mr. Pearson didn't mention these background factors Wednesday.

He did express the hope that the Communists will reconsider their rejection of the three-point "package" terms under which the U.N. offered to exchange the 70,000 Red prisoners who do want to go home for 12,000 U.N. prisoners; refused to accept Russia on a "neutral" armistice supervisory commission, and withdrew objections to construction of airfields in North Korea. He said the terms were fair and would not have jeopardized the U.N. charter.

The minister said the only concession the U.N. can allow on repatriation of prisoners is to allow the 62,000 men to be interviewed by a neutral body or by joint Red Cross teams representing both sides. This had already been offered.

The withdrawal of objections to airfield construction during an armisitce was agreed on by the U.N. powers "only after considerable heart-searching . . . and is proof-positive of the genuiness of the desire for an armistice."

Heribert Michel Presents Fine Concert At Piano

Heribert Michel, pianist, organist, chori director, and new Canadian made his first public appearence in Peterborough, Wednesday evening at a concert in St. John the Baptist School auditorium.

The concert was sponsored by the Men's Choir of St. John the Baptist Parish.

The program included piano solos by Mr. Michel and selections by the Men's Choir and the St. John's School Choir under the direction of Mr. Michel.

Mr. Michel who has already established himself as a capable musician at Sacred Heart Church where he is organist proved himself equally a pianist in Wednesday evening's concert.

In his first two selections, Sonatas by Haydn and Beehoven, the pianist showed himself master of the exacting technique required. His interperetation of the jolly third movement of the Haydn was delightful.

The more profound and musically demanding Beethoven Sonato (The Pathetique) was played with intelligence, beauty and strength. It was here that the pianist revealed a commendable flair for building climaxes without letting the music get out of hand.

Mr. Michel turned to Chopin for his second group of selections playing, Valse Brillante, the first part of Polonaise, Opus 43, a Prelude, and Grand Valse.

Here there was shown a keen sensitivitiy to the beautiful lyricism of this music and again technical agility was displayed.

The third group and four group of selections represented more modern composers. They were Rachmaninoff's, Prelude in C Sharp Minor, Gallop, by Moussorgsky; Rustle of Spring, by Sinding and Voices of Spring, by Strauss.

Mr. Michel interpreted the first part of the much-played Rachmaninoff concerto with a quietness that was refreshing and which made the climaxes as they were developed much more effective as a result.

The Sinding and Strauss fell a little short of the standard of playing in the other selections due to a tendency to overemphasize the bass This quite possibly might have been caused by nervousness.

The Men's Choir under Mr. Michel's direction sang remarkably well.

A comparatively small group of eleven members, this choir sang with freshness and feeling and when it was required, power that was unforced and controlled.

In their first group were the religious selections, Allelluia, by Palestrina; Regina Coeli, by Antonio Lotti, and, Ave Verum, by Mozart. They sang all three with a well-balanced ensemble spirit.

The choir showed its versatility by singing three songs of Stephen Foster's in its second appearance of the evening. Here the clever arrangements by Mr. Michel gave the group an opportunity to display the singing ability of some of its individaul members. Particularly effective was the song Some Folks, in which a commendable bass singer sang which almost amounted to a solo with a choir accompaniment.

Two other numbers were, Beautiful Dreamer, and, Somewhere My Love Lies Dreaming. In all three the diction, sense of rhythm and harmony was very good.

The most remarkable characterisitic of the children's choir (approximately 45 members from Grades 3-5 of St. John school) was the selection of songs themselves, so suitable for young voices. The first three, The Way to London, Laughing Children, and, Little Fiddle, were all gay, lilting and rhythmic and the children grasped the spirit of each. Their singing was natural and sweet and they seemed to be enjoying themselves immensely.

In their second appearance they had an opportunity to show their ability in part singing.

Here the group was smaller with eighteen voices singing, Come, Follow, Follow Men, and My Love and Arbutus. And for the last two selections, Spring Song, and Cradle Song, they were divided into two triple trios.

The harmony was good and the words were all clear. Especially enjoyable was the unique round arrangmement of, Come Follow, Folow Me.

The children sang all their selections without a director as Mr. Michel played the piano accompaniments.

Robert Johnston accompanied the Men's Choir.

Variety was added to the program by an oral composition, The Hummingbird, by Paulette Turcotte and a recitation by Jolene McFadden.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was John J. Daly.

Beware Of Mortar Mice Exterminators

We learn with interest that three Toronto men have been sent to prison for three years apiece, because they defrauded a Toronto spinster out of $3,978; the judge called them "the scum of the earth". Certainly they were crooks of unusual resource and perhaps of some humour, for they had examined the lady's house, and persuaded her that it was in danger from a parasite which they called "mortar mice"; they undertook to drive away the mortar mice, presumably on some sort of contract with an escalator clause in it.

* * *

The world is full of trusting people, and in an age to which science has contributed so many new menaces "mortar mice" do not sound too improbable. The men who cheated this trusting spinster were kinsmen to the sellers of phoney magazine subscriptions, the collectors for non-existent charities, and the other vermin who pester the public by rapping on doors.

* * *

Too many people rap on doors these days, and too few of them know how to do the job properly. Anybody who calls at a house for a legitimate purpose should begin his conversation by explaining who he is, and what he wants; if he has credentials, he should show them. But it is a bad habit of assessors, voters' list checkers, collectors of information for directories, and the like, to say nothing about who they are or what they want, and to plunge at once into their questions. And it is a bad habit of too many householders to assume that they are obliged to answer any questions which they are asked by any caller who carries a notebook. We live in an age when official snoops of all kinds have become so common that we tend to answer questions without thinking.

* * *

We need a reminder that a man's house is his castle, and that anybody who sets foot on his property is a trespasser until he shows that he has legitimate business there. Even an official, collecting information for a good reason, should remember that his right of door-bell-ringing is a disputable one, and that courtesy is his best method of approach. As for exterminators of mortar mice, it would not be a bad notion to revive the fine old custom of setting the dog on them, or driving them off with a wet mop.

Trade With China

Great things were forecast as a result of the Moscow Economic Conference last month. Some business men, industrialists and economists from the western world said that the Reds were ready to do business, Cold War or no. They said that big orders could be exchanged between China and Britain, for instance, to the profit and advantage of each, and that Moscow was hard-headed and soft-spoken in favour of truck and trade with capitalist countries. The report in our Third Column today suggests that there was more propaganda than practical business to the Conference and the trade deals supposedly made.

If China really wants to trade with Britain why do its representatives concoct deals in Moscow and ignore the trading facilities at its front door: Shanghai? The Communists took Shanghai three years ago, in May 1949. British trading houses and bankers accepted in good faith Mao Tse-Tung's pledge that the interests and rights of foreign merchants would be respected, so long as they refrained from political meddling. They did not interfere, but nevertheless their trade dwindled almost to nothing.

The chief trade line between Britain and China was (and should still be) the Hong Kong. Today only one British coaster runs between Shanghai and Hong Kong every sixteen days, and only one Chinese ship once a month. There is no other, and no long-sea shipping. Shanghai, which was once the seventh greatest port in the world, is dead.

So languishing are trade as well as diplomatic relations between Britain and China that all British consulates in China have been closed except in Shanghai and Tientsin. The Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China is withdrawing from China; the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank is expected to do likewise.

The fault is not entirely China's, yet the Mao regime has done nothing to encourage trade with Britain and the western world, and has allowed Shanghai to dwindle into trading insignificance. Shanghai foreign merchants suffered first not from the Communists but from Chiang Kai-shek's blockade from Formosa, which stopped all shipping from Korea. The U.N. recommended embargoes on goods which its member nations should not trade with China as a belligerent country in the Korean War, have also struck hard at trade. But in the face of China's indifference to the foreign trade out of Shanghai, what worth can be put on trade deals she has made at the Moscow Conference? Before the war there were more than nine thousand British bankers, insurance men, mercantile and shipping men, brokers, storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, teachers and employees of the Municipal Council and public service in Shanghai. Now the British community in Shanghai numbers less than six hundred. If China wants to do business with Britain why is it ignoring the Shanghai and Hong Kong channels?

Eastern Ontario Distinguishes Itself

The award of the highest honours in the Dominion Drama Festival to the production of The Enchanted by the Saturday Players of Ottawa was a matter of keen interest to those who saw the play during the Eastern Ontario Regional Festival in this city. We all like to have seen a winner; we all like to have some contact in a winner; we are glad that this particular winner was seen, and appreciated, by a Peterborough audience, and that the winner of our own festival was the winner of national honours. Peterborough, we are sure, wishes to congratulate the Ottawa company on a well-earned victory.

Nor was this the only respect in which Eastern Ontario won commendation in the final Festival in St. John, N.B. When the work of the Canadian regions which comprise the D.D.F. was examined, it was found that the most distinguished festival—by which was meant the festival which had contained the most plays of literary worth—was that to which Peterborough played host. The plays which were seen here included works by Shaw, Shakespeare, Chekov, Christopher Fry, J. M. Synge, as well as the winner by Jean Giraudoux. The comment was often made at the final festival that the plays seen there were not, with two or three exceptions, particularly interesting works; many discussions were held to discover ways of raising the standard of the work done by the Little Theatre movement across Canada. It is pleasant to know that in Eastern Ontario such improvement is less glaringly needed than it is elsewhere. We can only hope that the high standard which has been achieved in this region will be maintained in the future.

The choice of Michel St. Denis as the adjudicator of the final festival was a most happy one and his comments upon the plays were, as always, authoritative and imbued with wide knowledge and deep experience. It became apparent once again that the need which plagues the theatre in Canada is for leaders of the character of Mr. St. Denis; we have many fine actors and technicians, and a few—thought by no means enough—good directors. But we have no acknowledged leaders to point the way toward higher achievement than that which we have now reached.

To Make School Patrols Safe

Peterborough has begun a new system to protect children as they cross intersections to and from schools. Under the advice and supervision of the police, youngsters are being instructed to act as guards. Equipped with a STOP sign, the patrolling school boy or girl collects at the curb a queue of his schoolmates wanting to cross (using the stop sign against them while doing it), and then steps out into the roadway, holding his sign aloft to stop car traffic while the queue crosses.

The system is in successful operation in Ottawa, and is preferable to the adult guards now being employed, since pupils thereby assume responsibility themselves. If the safety patrols succeed in Peterborough most of the adult guards can be eliminated, except at complicated intersections which bear unusually heavy traffic, for instance at Sherbrooke, Reid and Park, and at the George and Water street bisections of Murray street. At both these the men on guard are doing excellent jobs.

The pupil patrols will not be successful, and indeed could be exceedingly dangerous, if motorists do not heed the stop sign which the youngster displays. It is directed against them. If they dash off from the curb when traffic is not being held up, they are running into special danger, for motorists expect the way to be free for them when the boy or girl has the sign directed against his school-fellows.

Already, even in the first few trial days, motorists are disregarding the youngster's stop sign, the police say. Perhaps the drivers are not yet familiar with the new procedure (although this newspaper has certainly given a great deal of publicity to it). Perhaps some drivers are careless, or impatient or just cocksure and reckless, resentful of a child's authority to hold up a stop sign against him. In the first weeks of the new system the police will undoubtedly be on hand to observe and assist. Drivers who do not co-operate and whizz by the stop sign can be nabbed by the policeman and castigated.

Chinese Trade Deal Smells

By SUSAN STRANGE

OFFICIAL AND COMMERCIAL circles in London seriously doubt if the £10 (ten) million trade deal said to have been concluded by Mr. Sydney Silverman, M.P. with Chinese representatives at the Moscow Economic Conference will ever be carried through. At the very best, it is thought here, the final results will be very much more modest; and it is quite possible that obstacles on both sides will bring the proposal to nothing.

The deal proposes an exchange of British textiles, chemicals and metals for Chinese coal, eggs and agricultural products. But on closer examination, so many snags have appeared that suspicious Chinese motives at the Moscow conference have multiplied.

THE MAIN OBSTACLE to the deal is the United Nations list of items which must not be sold to China. This list was recommended to all United Nations members by the General Assembly's Additional Measures Committee in May, 1951 and is still in force as long as the war lasts in Korea. Metals—which according to Mr. Silverman are to make up thirty five per cent of the British exports to China under the Moscow deal—come under this ban. The list includes all classes of iron and steel products, aluminum, copper, lead, nickel, zinc, tungsten and other non-ferrous metals and their alloys.

Many chemicals—which it is proposed should make up another thirty per cent of the British exports in this deal—may also be barred for strategic reasons. According to the U.N. list, no chemical should be exported to China which is important in the production of weapons of chemical warfare, explosives, anti-freeze and de-icing preparations, refrigerants for use in tanks, smoke screens and incendiary bombs, and a long list of other products. The embargo on chemicals seems so wide and fine-meshed that it would clearly be hard to get very much past it.

THE CHINESE representatives in Moscow must, it is thought, have been well aware of the details of the U.N. embargo before they made their offer to Mr. Silverman. It therefore looks very much as though the offer to buy British textiles, at present suffering a severe sales slump, has been thrown out as a bait to get Britain to break her U.N. obligations concerning metals and chemicals.

Another odd fact, throwing doubt in London on the sincerity of the Chinese representatives' offer, is that warehouses in Hong Kong are known to be filled with textile products in which, so far, the Chinese Communist Government has shown little interest.

THIS WAS POINTED out today by the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Peter Thorneycroft. In a reply to the request of Lord Boyd-Orr (the leader of the unofficial British group at the conference in Moscow) that the United Kingdom should send responsible people to Moscow with samples of British textile goods, Mr. Thorneycroft recalled that Britain is, and has been, perfectly willing to increase its trade with China, and that established British merchants in Hong Kong and Shanghai have been active in looking for such trade. If the Chinese were prepared to do business, he continued, they had only to approach these merchants or, if they preferred, the United Kingdom Government through official channels.

Again, the Chinese offer to send coal and food to Britain sounds attractive in an economy chronically short of both. But when studied in more detail, those concerned with buying both coal and food are inclined to be sceptical.

IF THE COAL is for use in Britain itself, the Government and the National Coal Board would have to be persuaded that Chinese coal would be worth the immense cost of shipping it ten thousand miles. And at the moment, after a mild winter which has enabled them to cancel contracts for imported American coal, neither is feeling so desperate a need to get coal at any price.

If, on the other hand, the coal is for bunkering purposes, it is pointed out in trade circles that almost all Far Eastern shipping has now switched to oil-burning. Moreover, British firms supplying shipping lines with bunker coal in the Far East have tried in the past to buy coal from the Chinese authorities. But they found that the terms of payment demanded were so complicated and unreasonable that no satisfactory arrangement could be reached.

Though Chinese coal is not, therefore, of any great direct interest to either the British Government or British merchants, there would be a ready market for any amounts that could be exported to Japan and other Far Eastern countries, all of whom are suffering an acute coal shortage. Supplies from South Africa have recently been cut off and India is unable to produce more. It seems odd, therefore, that the Chinese should offer coal to Britain and not to their neighbours.

◇ ◇ ◇

AS TO THE FROZEN EGGS, soya beans, seed oils and other agricultural products "offered" to Britain, the Ministry of Food (which controls all such bulk purchases abroad) has been negotiating for some time through its agents in China for these products and for coarse grains and oil cake for cattle. But so far the negotiations have produced nothing satisfactory. A few small quantities have been bought, but it has proved difficult to arrange for anything substantial.

ON THE WHOLE, the general impression [illegible] hard evidence of a change in the Chinese attitude towards trade with the West. If there is such a change, it will be welcomed—but not until Peking gives more convincing proof than this of its sincerity.

The greatest obstacle to trade has been, and remains, the war in Korea. It is open to China to end the war at any time. And in the meanwhile superficially attractive offers such as this are more likely, it is thought here, to be clever propaganda moves—encouraged, no doubt, by the Kremlin—designed to make it appear as though trade and friendship with the West were being frustrated only by the non-cooperation of the British and American Governments.

DIPLOMAT

A clergyman was spending the afternoon at a house in the village where he had preached. After tea he was sitting in the garden with his hostess. Out rushed her little boy, holding a rat above his head.

"Don't be afraid, mother," he cried, "it's dead. We beat him and bashed him and thumped him until"—and then catching sight of the clergyman, he add, in a lowered voice—"until God called him home."

AN AMERICAN BOUT

Strictly For The Birds

By KENNETH HARRIS

EVERY now and then there is an article in the American Press about the highly-developed, and developing, slang used by American teen-agers. Last week I visited a High School to give a talk on The Englishman in a Changing World, which I gave at 8:30 a.m., a time at which the world to me looks stupefyingly static, and afterwards talked to some students to try to familiarize myself with the changing language.

One of them told me I looked "all duked up", which as far as I could discover meant that I had on a collar and tie, a dark suit of which the trousers matched the coat, and had been enough of a narcissist to brush my hair. I would have gone down better, perhaps, if I had looked like a "wild man" or a "farm boy".

I was told that before I got up to speak I looked "strictly for the birds," meaning I looked unpromising. One of the boys I was with, taking coffee at the local restaurant ("Casbah"), was seeing quite a lot of one of the girls, so the two of them were "on the chain". Another boy told me confidentially that he was "on the hawk" for another girl in the party, which meant that he was making a play for her because he wanted to take her out regularly. He didn't know what his chances were of "steadying her down" since she was a "sportsman"—free with her kisses.

Before we broke up our brawl (party), which we did before anybody signified his boredom by asking, "Any one for tennis?"—behaviour which would have been pretty "righteous" (extraordinary) anyway since I was a visiting "peasant" (adult), and therefore a "snap" or "O.K. in their books"—I asked these delightful and outstanding young people ("cool, casual, cats") whether they made a habit of talking in this language.

They said No, they didn't. It was fun to do it now and then, but usually they spoke in ordinary language, and if newspaper reporters said that American youth was slang-crazy, and the "common drip" (general public) believed them, then that showed just how "square" (stupid) the common drip were.

Rolling The Land

(WINDSOR STAR)

MOST CITY people who take pride in their lawns have them rolled each spring. It is best done as early as possible, when the soil is soft. The purpose is to make the lawn smooth, easier to mow and more pleasant to look upon.

A few decades ago most farmers rolled their fields after the seed was sown. The land would be harrowed, the idea being to work the seed into the soil and cover it up, then a large horse-drawn roller would be pulled over it. Sometimes this would be done immediately after the seeding; sometimes just as the grain was breaking through the ground. There was a double purpose, to level the land so harvesting operations would be smoother and to pack the soil down around the seed or, if it already had sprouted, around the roots of the grain. It helped keep the dust from blowing off the fields, also.

Some farmers still roll their land, but they are relatively few. One argument against the practice was that, on heavy land, it would pack the soil which would tend to become hard and would not absorb the moisture properly. It worked best on light soil which had a tendency to blow.

A nicely rolled field in the spring time was a pretty sight. But on most Ontario farms the old woolen rollers have been allowed to rot away while the later model steel ones have been sold for scrap or sit idle in fence corners.

Isobel Cripps Centre

("Critic" in London New Statesman)

A friend has been telling me about the work of the Isobel Cripps Centre which is established in London under the Presidency of Lady Cripps to teach the principles of "psychophysical re-education." This is the technique of teaching people to improve their posture so as to secure maximum co-ordination of the various parts of the body and achieve relaxation in activity as well as at rest. To the layman it sounds a sensible approach to the stresses of modern life; and I am not surprised to hear that under Isobel Cripps's crusading sponsorship the Centre is winning support. I am sceptical about most forms of medicine and therefore disposed to sympathise with those who teach sensible methods of avoiding physical breakdown. My informant, who originally went to the Centre seeking relief from a painful and recurring ailment of the back, tells me that as a result of learning the technique he has for the last four years been free of the complaint and has twice the stamina and half the fatigue he ever knew before.

It was a very quiet funeral at a cemetery near Bourdeaux, with only two mourners, the husband of the deceased and a young man who was said to be her boy-friend.

The husband was exceptionally calm and collected, but the young man was very emotional and upset.

Returning from the ceremony, the husband went up to the boy-friend.

"Never mind," he said, "who knows, mon ami—I may marry again."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now it came to pass on the third day, that Esther put on her royal apparel: and stood in the inner court of the king's house, over against the king's house: and the king sat upon his royal throne in the royal house, over against the gate of the house. And it was so, when the king saw Esther the queen standing in the court, that she obtained favour in his sight: and the king held out to Esther the golden sceptre that was in his hand. So Esther drew near, and touched the top of the sceptre.

Then said the king unto her, What wilt thou, queen Esther? and what is thy request? it shall be even given thee to the half of the kingdom. And Esther answered, If it seem good unto the king, let the king and Haman come this day unto the banquet that I have prepared for him. Then the king said, Cause Haman to make haste, that he may do as Esther hath said. So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Esther had prepared. (Esth. 5:1, 6, 12.)

* * *

And the king said again unto Esther on the second day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, queen Esther? and it shall be granted thee: and what is thy request? and it shall be performed, even to the half of the kingdom. Then Esther the queen answered and said, If I have found favour in thy sight, O king, and if it please the king, let my life be given at my petition, and my people at my request: for we are sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slain, and to perish. But if we had been sold for bondmen and bondwomen, I had held my tongue, although the enemy could not countervail the king's damage.

Then the king Ahasuerus answered and said unto Esther the queen, Who is he, and where is he that durst presume in his heart to do so? And Esther said, The adversary and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the king and queen. . . . And Harbonah, one of the chamberlains, said before the king, Behold also, the gallows fifty cubits high, which Haman had made for Mordecai, who had spoken good for the king, standeth in the house of Haman. Then the king said, Hang him thereon. So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. (Esth. 7:2-6, 9, 10.)

No Time For Planting

(New York Times)

There is an old saying that the proper time to plant the garden is when the oak leaf has passed the stage of budding and has become as big as the ear of a squirrel. It is a nice thought, since the oak and the squirrel have so much in common. The higher limbs of the oaks, and hollows within its trunks, provide a nesting place for the squirrel, and its acorns provide the squirrel not only with his bread but with his cake as well. Rent is paid, and the account settled with baker, when in the fall the squirrel stores up supplies for the winter, neatly and carefully burying little piles of acorns. Forests of oak grow from these winter supplies, for, like many another among his inferiors, the squirrel cannot remember everything, including the exact location of all his warehouses.

It is a nice thought, indeed, that joining of the oak leaf and the ear, a nice thought were it not for the somewhat dubious connection with the garden. For, as everyone knows, one of the sorriest ways in which to spend the best days of the spring is to plant the garden, to use the perfect leaf-and-ear days in hard and lengthy labour. The spring deserves far better than a spade and rake, a wheelbarrow and the twitching, aching muscles which bring insomnia by night. A nice thought, that of the leaf and the ear, but from a practical standpoint it would be more pleasant to plant the garden only when the oak leaf is as big as an elephant's ear. A rather large elephant's ear, one lying beyond the ambitions of any oak.

A young woman was extremely vain of the honours conferred upon two distant male relatives. She talked on the subject to all and sundry: "I have two relatives in the House of Lords. Have you any?"

"No," replied one of her acquaintances, "but I have three maiden aunts in the Kingdom of Heaven."

"We're sure happy to give you guys a lift to save you paying them awful fares."

Britain To Test Forces In Amphibious Invasion

LONDON — (CP)—Britain will launch her biggest peacetime amphibious manoeuvres today, seven years to the day when the war with Germany ended.

The three-day exercises, centering on the Isle of Wight and Southsea on the coast of Hampshire, are being staged for the benefit of students and officers now training at the staff college.

On hand for the simulated operations will be Defence Minister Earl Alexander, Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the Imperial General Staff, J. P. L. Thomas, first Lord of the Admiralty and Supply Minister Duncan Sandys.

The manoeuvres will include an amphibious assault against Eastney and Southsea, which early in the Second World War were fortified against a possible invasion. The demonstration will embrace the complete technique of amphibious assault from reconnaissance by commando troops, to beach landings supported by Centurion, Churchill and Sherman tanks.

In addition of commando units, troops recently returned from Korea will attempt to scale the 250-foot ramparts of Culver Cliff, near Sandown, Isle of Wight. Among the Korean veterans are the 1st Battalion of the famous Gloucester Regiment and the 4th Queen's Own Hussars.

The attacking force will be equipped with the latest weapons including a new type of flame-thrower. Jet aircraft of the Royal Navy and R.A.F. will provide air support for the mock invasion. Reinforcements and supplies will be transported by helicopters.

Electrically-controlled explosions on the beaches will lend a realistic touch to the assault.

Believe Father Takes Child From House

WINDSOR, May 8 (CP) — A 14-month-old girl was taken from her home, police said Wednesday. They believed the adbuction was the result of domestic difficulties.

Irene Szady Bey disappeared from her bedroom between 10:30 and 11:45 p.m. EDT Tuesday night. A window had been opened and a ladder placed against the house.

Police said they believed the child was removed from the house by her father. The parents had been separated for some time and there had been discord between the two.

District Head Of Institute Visits Havelock

HAVELOCK, May 8—(ENS)—Mrs. H. Shearer of Buckhorn, district president of the Women's Institute, visited the Havelock branch at its meeting in the council chamber on Monday afternoon. She congratulated the officers on the way the meeting had been conducted, the home-like atmosphere which had made her feel one of the group, and the co-operation apparent throughout the meeting. She closed by wishing them success on the new year just commenced and for years to come. Mrs. W. Pearson of Buckhorn accompanied Mrs. Shearer.

Mrs. H. Pollock, president, presided for the business session. The secretary was authorized to book a date in the fall for the film on the "Royal Tour."

The secretary was also authorized to write Dr. R. A. Kelly of the Peterborough department of health to inform him that the meeting at which he was the guest speaker was voted to have had the outstanding program of the year on account of his address.

Mrs. H. Pollock (president), Mrs. R. Melville, Mrs. W. Rice and Mrs. H. Thompson were appointed the voting delegates to the district annual meeting at Norwood on May 29 with Mrs. S. Southward and Mrs. W. Johnston as alternates.

W. Bullied was engaged for the summer to look after the flower garden around the town hall.

Mrs. H. W. Roche and Mrs. H. Pollock were appointed as delegates to the provincial convention at Toronto in the fall with Mrs. L. Colquhoun as an alternate.

Mrs. Colquhoun gave a detailed report of the district executive meeting held recently in Peterborough.

Under "current events" Mrs. H. W. Roche spoke about the negotiatons with the U. S. A. regarding the St. Lawrence seaway, the government of Japan and read a Mother's Day poem.

The branch was notified that the office of district second vice-president should go to either the Havelock or Belmont branch this year. Mrs. Fred McKenzie was elected to have her name entered as a candidate for this office. Mrs. J. Hoffman was also named but withdrew in favor of Mrs. McKenzie.

Mrs. W. Rice and Mrs. A. Holland were the program conveners with the latter presiding.

A demonstration by the "Learn How Club" assisted by their leaders Mrs. F. Bennett and Mrs. W. Woodbeck, put on a demonstration of what they had accomplished under their last year's project entitled "The Cereal Shelf." The girls taking part were the Misses Beverley Bennett, Lillian Toms, Dorothy Graham, Betty Toms, Darlene Hadley, Jean Kennedy and Lois McKay.

The Havelock Institute will present the members of the club and their leaders with teaspoons which have been ordered and are expected for the next meeting.

A reading was given by Mrs. A. Holland and a vocal solo "There is Only Just One Mother" by Mrs. John Beatty.

Tea hour hostesses were Mrs. W. Hitchins, Mrs. W. Bullied, Mrs W. Rice, Mrs. B. Jewell and Mrs A. Holland.

More Cotton

NEW DELHI—(CP)—The official all-India estimate of cotton in 1951-52 puts the current production at 3,041,000 bales against 2,676,000 bales in the previous 12 months. The 13-6 per cent production increase was achieved on a 12.3 per cent increase in area under cotton.

Report 3 Unionists Ordered Reinstated

WINDSOR, May 8 — (CP) — United Auto Workers officials said Wednesday that three union men fired by Ford of Canada for alleged leadership last fall of wildcat work stoppages have been ordered reinstated without loss of seniority.

They said Judge Eric Cross, of Woodstock, arbitrator in the cases of 26 men fired on the stoppage charges, had ordered the reinstatement of Carl Anson, James Liles and Norton Lyster.

The judge had so far heard the cases of only these three, said officials of the union. He would hear evidence on the remaining 23 firings May 14, 15 and 16.

Judge Cross would make no comment on the union statement.

Plan $130,000 For Research

TORONTO—(CP)—The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society plans to spend $130,000 this year on research into the diseases which have attacked 600,000 Canadians.

The money will be part of the $700,000 it hopes to raise in a campaign which starts in most Canadian cities on May 5 but in Ontario May 12.

The Society serves patients in all provinces but Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island.

Of the Canadians affected by the diseases, 100,000 are totally or partly disabled with 15,000 confined to beds or wheel chairs.

The money for research will be allocated in the form of grants and fellowships.

Leading the study on rheumatic diseases in children is Dr. John Keith of Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children who is conducting a five-year research on his little patients.

Once the leading cause of death among children of school age, the diseases now are rated in fourth place.

Worst of the rheumatic diseases are rheumatoid arthritis which affects three times as many women as men and arthritis of the spine which is basically a man's disease.

But the former is not just a disease of old age. One of Dr. Keith's patients is a two-year-old girl. Most victims of rheumatoid arthritis are between the ages of 20 and 50 years.

The Hospital Team

IN the general hospital of today, there is demonstrated an admirable type of team work. To the hospital team, the welfare of the patient is the all important consideration. Doctors and nurses, the key members of this team, are aided in their ministrations to the sick by many persons behind the scenes. Among the latter are dietitians, chefs, X-Ray and laboratory technicians, medical record librarians, laundry workers, seamstresses, stationary engineers, office workers and those employed in the maintenance department of the hospital. True it is that the patient may seldom see any of these hidden workers but they are all part of the hospital team and each helps daily to promote good order and cleanliness throughout the hospital. Statistics show that, on an average, the members of the hospital team outnumber the patients in the ratio of three to two. All these devoted workers are on the payroll of the hospital but they reap a more satisfying reward in the knowledge that they have a part to play in winning the hospital team's precious award—the speedy recovery of the patient and his early return to his normal place in the life of the community. Truly do our hospitals, by their service to every [illegible] person who seeks shelter within their walls, play a major part in maintaining a high standard of health throughout the nation.

This message is brought to you by St. Joseph's Hospital on behalf of National Hospital Day, May 12.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Petes' senior ball executive and 11 players sat down to a round-table discussion last p.m. and from it emerged the strong likelihood that a contending club would be fielded this season in the C.O.B.L. For a time it seemed like the club would have to fold for lack of players but last night's meeting showed that the fellows want to play and they're ready to really hustle to aid the officers in lining up a team. It would be a shame to see the senior game die out here, even if only for a year, and it would be too bad to drop out after just being re-admitted to the new C.O.B.L. Also, the lights at Riverside must be paid for bit by bit.

* * * * * *

Anyway, they have the nucleus for a good club with chaps like Bill Edger, Lefty Dadson, Al Menzies, Joe Stewart, Freddy Garvey, Thompson, Pagett, Bill Huntley, Joe Lowrey, a couple of new players in town and several more prospects. The players last p.m. talked over problems with the executive, then with Prexy Max Swanston alone for a time, later with Cliff Cadd, and again with the whole executive. They outlined what was required, asked further representation on the executive and, while admitting that a few imports were needed, felt that such newcomers should not be overpaid at the expense of home talent.

* * * * * *

Players Working On It

Solution was left in the players' hands. They are to contact other players and assure the executive that they'll field a real contending club in the Central League. The executive will endeavor to bring in a few players as needed and to raise enough money to get the team off to a fair start. The players will work out regularly now for a week or two under Pat Calladine, as temporary coach, and will get together again early next week with the executive to report progress. That's the story at present. The Petes plan to continue in the senior circuit, unless they run into unexpected player difficulties within the next week. Meantime, they must all drill hard as the season opens in a little more than two weeks.

* * * * * *

Shortage of competent players looked at first to be the stymie, but that may be overcome now. You see, the good 1951 club lost Golden to the U.S. navy, Milne to Sudbury and Plunkett to Barrie. Also, the two Oshawa boys, Brabin and Maeson, returned to the Motor City. Several more had planned to move out to Oshawa or Cobourg—commuting for ball—but are now ready to carry on here again. Stewart played volleyball and basketball last winter, so will probably give baseball a whirl again, despite a trick knee. Several ex-juniors, some former seniors and a few imports could well round out a good team. More will be known after the week-end, but the Petes fully expect to stay in there now.

Most Valuable Player

Pauline Stewart of Neill's received the most valuable player award at the Girls' City Basketball League annual windup banquet in the Y. W. last night. About 50 on deck and 'twas most enjoyable, we hear, though we didn't know about the "do" till after. Trophies went to the championship squads, Neill's seniors, Nurses' intermediates, and C.G.E. juniors. Alex Sinclair gave a most interesting address on basketball, the recreation commissioner having considerable knowledge of the game. Various coaches received presents, and the evening was made more merry by the lasses' sing-song handled by Jean Castle and Shirley Bestard.

O.L.A. senior coaches have been officially listed for the year. Chuck Davidson is back at Mimico in place of Art Harrison. Bob Thorpe replaces Don Crowe here. Don McPhail takes over at Toronto but Mimico so far has not agreed to let him be a playing coach there. Doug Gillespie coaches Owen Sound, Hec McKenzie is the Fergus pilot, Hamilton has Doug Cove, while Joe Cheevers is in charge of players at St. Catharines. Don Campbell has signed to play for both Fergus and Owen Sound, and that'll need some straightening out. This year, overtime in scheduled games is restricted to 10 minutes as in hockey. All games start at 8:45 p.m. except at St. Catharines where it's 8:30, and Saturday tilts in Owen Sound get underway at nine bells.

Name Crighton Referee-in-Chief For 1952 Season

MONTREAL, May 8 (CP). — The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union (Central) announced today the appointment of Hec Crighton as referee-in-chief for the 1952 football season.

The position is a new one. Among Crighton's duties will be the appointment of all officials for Ontario-Quebec Conference games and arrangements for holding written examinations for rating officials.

Details for the written examinations will be made public later. A rules-interpretation meeting will be held during the last week in August.

Today's announcement follows a meeting May 3 in Toronto of the rules commission, which has been re-organized as a sub-committee of the board of governors of the union.

No Reflection

The announcement said the appointment of Crighton, a veteran referee, is no reflection on the work of W. C. Foulds, who has been responsible for appointment of officials in the last few years.

It was felt that "the ultimate aim of the C.I.A.U. (Central) should be to develop a group of competent officials who would referee only intercollegiate games."

Decisions regarding examinations, rating of officials and the appointment of a referee-in-chief "are logical steps toward this aim."

Members of the rules commission are: George Hartwell, University of Western Ontario, chairman; Ian Clark, University of Toronto, secretary; R. R. Merlfield, McGill University; H. Batstone, Queen's University; G. Marriott, Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference, and W. Patterson, South Western Ontario Conference.

Queen Alex Victors

Queen Alex Seniors of the School Softball League took a 7-5 win yesterday over King George on the East City diamond after Druce replaced Johnson on the mound in the third to get the verdict. Roberts took over from Dennison on the other slab in the fourth. The losers got two runs in the first and three in the third, as Queen Alex shoved two across in the second and five more in the fourth.

K.G.: Harding, Grills, Clark, McNaughton, Nurse, Dennison, Roberts, Meeks, Barker, English, Storey, Lentz.

Q.A.: Nelson, Johnston, McNamee, Stewart, McClennan, Ball, Conway, Druce, Macklin, Downer, Kilborn, Jarvis, Barber.

Umpires, H. Curry and V. Northcott.

Confeds Take Tilt

It was 19-10 for Central seniors against Queen Mary in a game closer than the score indicates. Morgan, R. Loucks and Lincoln stood out for Queen Mary, with Robbins, Naish and D. Lustic best for the other side. Robbins hit two homers, and Morgan and Lincoln one each. Naish hurled heady ball for Central, limiting the losers to eight hits as his mates got 22. Central kicked five and Queen Mary had but two miscues. Teams:

Queen Mary: Dafoe, Dobbin, Morgan, Lincoln, Stinson, Brisbois, A. Harris, Atkinson, R. Loucks, M. Loucks, Perritt, Williams, P. Harris.

Central: Patterson, Findlay, Naish, Kent, Robbins, Craymer, Gray, Dunford, D. Lustic, Tranter, Brown, Woodward, Fuller.

Umpires, A. Hill and D. Lawless.

Central Triumphs

Confederation took a 12-[illegible] over Prince of Wales in [illegible] senior school softball game, a fast seven-inning affair lasting but an hour and 10 minutes. Each side had two strikeouts, the losers leaving 10 and Confeds nine. Chamberlain and Rollins looked good. The victors got seven in the last innings after four in the first and one in the fourth, while the losers tallied all three in the seventh. V. Northcott and J. Weir were the umpires.

Plan Redistribution Of Golf Prize Money

TORONTO, May 8 (CP). — E. Harold Banks, manager of the Ontario Golf Association, announced Wednesday a redistribution of prize money for the Ontario open, to be held at the Weston Golf and Country Club July 3-4.

The total prize Monday of $2,000 remains the same but $250 has been taken away from the winner to be spread among the next 11 finishers.

Ontario open winner will receive $750. The runner-up will get $400 with $300 for third place and $200 for fourth, $100 for fifth and $75 for sixth and $50 for seventh. The next five will receive $25 each.

King Edward Wins

King Edward took a 15-10 senior school softball victory over Prince of Wales in seven frames yesterday. They counted three runs each in the first and second innings, adding eight in a big fourth, one more tallying in the fifth. The losers scored singles in the first, third and sixth, with three in the fourth, and two apiece in the fifth and seventh. Teams:

P. of W.: Downer, Carl, Hunt, Boyce, Reid, Faulkner, Peirson, Johnston, Bowen.

K.E.: Curtis, Floyd, Rusaw, Orr, Rose, Rowe, Beggs, Phillips, Finney, Stevens, Hill, Howden.

Umpires, Gainer and Crown.

Ex-Yanks Help Senators To 6-2 Win Over Tigers

By The Canadian Press

Lots of people said before the baseball season opened that the New York Yankee bench brigade was good enough to guarantee a first-division berth. At the moment, some of those boys are doing just that—for the humble Washington Senators. Ever since Manager Casey Stengel shipped reserve outfielders Archie Wilson and Jackie Jensen and pitcher Spec Shea to Washington for centrefielder Irv Noren, the first two have been hitting like crazy.

Shea, who didn't pitch a ball for the Yanks in regular action, cooled out the St. Louis Browns with a five-hitter in his only Washington start. Jensen, hitting .150 when he left New York, has a .526 average with his new club and Wilson, a seldom-used Yank pinch-hitter, is clouting .450 as a Washington regular.

Two hits by Jensen helped veteran Sid Hudson to a 6-2 victory over Detroit Tigers Wednesday night as the happy Senators held down third place. Despite a couple of safeties by Noren, the fifth-place Yanks took a 7-2 pounding from Cleveland Indians.

Second Victory

It was the second straight Cleveland victory at Yankee Stadium, where they managed only one win in 11 tries last year. Al Rosen's eighth homer and back-to-back doubles by Luke Easter and Dale Mitchell made winning pitcher Mike Garcia's job easy.

The Indians needed that decision to stick one game behind the league-leading Boston Red Sox who crushed Chicago, 7-2, on southpaw Billy Henry's pitching and batting. The rookie backed up his five-hit work with a triple and single that drove in two runs. It was his fourth straight.

Philadelphia's Alex Kellner shoved the St. Louis Browns a little closer to their old home in the second division with a fine 1-0 triumph over Earl Harrist. Eddie Joost's double, a sacrifice and an outfield fly accounted for the only run in the first inning. Kellner gave five hits, Harrist only four.

Brooklyn headed home from its first western trip, still in possession of the National League lead, with the help of some strong-arm relief pitching by Johnny Rutherford in their 5-4 triumph over Cincinnati. The righthanded rookie from St. Paul gave the Reds only three hits in a 6 2/3-inning stretch for his first major league win.

Uses Aces

Don't let anybody tell you the Leo Durocher-Eddie Stanky battles won't be for blood. Durocher used his two New York Giant aces—Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen—to subdue Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1.

Stan Musial opened the Card inning with a double. Maglie was shaken up covering first base retiring Peanuts Lowery. When Sal walked Wally Westlake and threw one ball to Enos Slaughter, Jansen took over and made Slaughter rap into a game-ending double play.

Against this array of talent, Stanky started Willard Schmidt, a kid rookie from Omaha of the Class A Western League. He almost got away with it. Schmidt, the sensation of the Cards' training camp at St. Petersburg, stopped the Giants for five innings before Don Mueller drilled a two-run in the sixth.

Howie Pollet broke into the win column for the first time this year with a five-hitter at Pittsburgh broke a six-game losing slump to whip the Phillies 5-1.

The scheduled Boston-at-Chicago day game was postponed because of cold.

Royals Edge Ottawa 3-1 Behind Mills

By The Associated Press.

The fine pitching of Gil Mills, 25-year-old rookie righthander, has come as a pleasant surprise to the International League's pace-setting Montreal Royals.

Mills, a member of the Brooklyn Dodger organization since 1945, has posted two victories without a loss so far. In all of his previous seasons he never did better than .500. That was in 1948 when he split eight decisions with Pueblo of the Western League.

The lanky native of Memphis, Tenn., pitching a 3-1 triumph over Ottawa Athletics Wednesday night to protect the Royals' three game lead over the second-place Syracuse Chiefs.

Mills gave up eight hits while the Royals collected only four off Jean Pierre Roy, a former teammate who went down to his fourth straight loss.

Scored Twice

The Royals scored twice in the sixth to win. Junior Gilliam drove home the winning run and scored the insurance marker on Jim Pendleton's fly ball.

Syracuse turned back Springfield Cubs 4-1 scoring three runs in the ninth to break a 1-1 tie. The Chiefs loaded the bases in the ninth and Loren Babe and Hank Workman followed with singles to break up the game. Bob Keegan was the winner and Wes Carr the loser.

Preacher Jack Faszholz pitched Rochester Red Wings to a 5-2 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs. The Wings broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth scoring twice on four successive singles. Don Richmond homered in the ninth for Rochester's final run.

Baltimore Orioles edged Buffalo Bisons 4-3 in 10 innings with Roy Weatherly driving home the wining run on a bases loaded fly ball. Weatherly saved the game in the top of the 10th by throwing out a Buffalo runner at the plate.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting: Don Mueller, Giants—Drove home two runs with sixth-inning single off rookie Willard Schmidt in 3-1 win over St. Louis.

Pitching: Johnny Rutherford, Dodgers — Stopped Cincinnati with three hits in 6 2-3 relief innings for 5-4 win.

Breaks College Record

EL SEGUNDO, Calif., May 8—(CP)—Gerry McNamee, swimming star from Vancouver who attends the Junior College at Fullerton, Calif., broke the United States National College record in the 1,500-metre race Wednesday night. Taking part in the Southern California junior college swimming championships, McNamee covered the distance in 19:14.2—1-10th of a second faster than the record.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

President Will Harridge of the American League Wednesday hired Douglas W. Scotty Robb, who quit his National League umpiring job two days ago after being disciplined and fined by the senior baseball circuit's boss, Warren Giles.

The direct switch of leagues by an arbiter under such circumstances is unprecendented in the majors.

Robb, a four-year veteran of the National League, was accused of pushing manager Eddie Stanky of St. Louis Cardinals during a geme at Cincinnati April 22.

Middleweight champion Ray Robinson and lightweight king Joey Maxim finally signed official contracts Wednesday for their June 23 title bout in New York's Yankee Stadium—and drew a reprimand from the National Boxing Association. It said it felt such inter-class bouts were not in order until the champions concerned have defeated the logical contenders in their own divisions.

Western Fair's racing program this year at London again will feature the standard-bred futurities, trot and pace. Purses for the three-year-old futurities are $2,400

Dan Floria, trainer of heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott, said Wednesday that challenger Ezzard Charles is a "sucker for a left hook and Walcott will win with it again" when the two meet in Philadelphia June 5. Walcott kayoed Charles in Pittsburgh last July to gain the crown.

Johnny Daniels, 55, who got into horse racing as an exercise boy for the late E. R. Bradley of Kentucky and went on to become a jockey, trainer and clocker, died at his Inglewood, Calif., home Wednesday.

Cleveland Indians are giving Bob Kennedy the down payment on a new home May 20 at a sendoff before the outfielder rejoins the marines for at least 17 months. The presentation is part of a "Kennedy Night" at Cleveland when the Tribe plays Boston Red Sox.

Bill Bevens, who hoped to come back to the major leagues by way of Cincinnati, was released by the Reds Wednesday to San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League. He hurled a one-hitter for New York Yankees against Brooklyn in the 1947 world series.

University of Alberta Bears left Edmonton Wednesday for London, Ont., where they will meet University of Western Ontario in the National Intercollegiate Basketball finals. First game of the best-of-five series is scheduled for Monday.

Dan Parker, sports editor of The New York Daily Mirror, says today in his column; "Baseball circles are buzzing with the report that Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will make a bid for Fred Saigh's St. Louis Cardinals stock if Saigh's income tax difficulties should lead to his expulsion from baseball." Saigh said he hadn't heard "of any such possibility."

Undefeated Chuck Davey, 148½ scoring four spectacular knockdowns, Wednesday night easily defeated Chico Vejar, also 148½ with harpooning lefts to the face and stomach in their 10-round welterweight battle in Chicago Stadium. The victory moved Davey, unbeaten in 33 bouts, into contention as the No. 1 challenger of Cuban Kid Gavilan's welterweight crown. The defeat was Vejar's second in 43 fights. He had scored 24 knockouts.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The great colt War Admiral won the Kentucky Derby 15 years ago today at Churchill Downs, covering the mile and a quarter in two minutes, 3 1/5 seconds. That was then the second-fastest time in the race, 1 4/5 slower than Twenty Grand in 1931. The existing record of 2:01 2/5 was set by Whirlaway in 1941.

MAN OVERBOARD — The Wild Water Regatta at Shepperton, England, swallows a doughty canoeman attempting to shoot the raging rapids. The course, resembling a slalom ski run, was made doubly rugged by erected obstructions.

JOCKEY EDDIE ARCARO looks backward over his shoulder as Hill Gail crosses the finish line ahead of Sub Fleet to win the 78th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs Saturday. It was the fifth Derby victory for the jockey known as "Banana Nose." Well behind the leaders are Blue Man, third; Master Fiddle, fourth; Happy Go Lucky; Arroz, behind Master Fiddle; Count Flame and Hannibal.

Cobourg Juveniles To Operate Again

COBOURG, May 8.—Cobourg juveniles are preparing to operate in the Lakeshore Baseball League again this year and will hold a meeting Monday night to decide on club policy.

The pitching staff is rated one of the best in teen-age circles and includes Rollie Campbell, Frank McIvor and Sleepy Dawe who moved up to intermediate ranks for the playoffs.

The infield and outfield are practically intact.

The move to get the team going was hastened this week when Port Hope welcomed six Cobourg regulars at their first practice and declared the door was open for more to try out.

Believed Drowned

BOWMANVILLE, May 8 (CP) — Fourteen-months-old Tommy Rowan was believed drowned in Lake Ontario Wednesday. The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Rowan, live about 1,000 yards from the lakeshore 10 miles east of Oshawa.

Schacher's Capture B'nai B'rith League

Herb Schacher's team won the B'nai B'rith Bowling League title after a 32-week grind. On his team were: Joe Rogow, Phil Macks, Hilly Yudin, Harry Schwartz, Sam Moldaver and Ben Epston. In a post-season playoff, group winners were captained by Ben Abramsky and Meyer Levine. The annual banquet is set for next Tuesday in the Empress.

High single for the season went to Herb Schacher with 385 as Phil Macks rolled a 378 and Zimmel Levine 359. Top three went to Zimmel Levine with 919, Phil Macks hitting 883 and Irv Cipin 852. Z. Levine won the high average with a neat 238 mark, as Phil Macks was second with 213.

Commons Clears Its Decks For Study Of Estimates

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA — (CP).— The Commons soon is expected to start a detailed study of the government's expenditure program.

The $4,700,000,000 program, including defence expenditures of $2,100,000,000, has not yet been touched, although the estimates of the various departments have been before the Chamber for weeks.

The budget outlined the government's plans to raise $4,279,000,000 in revenue to meet expenditures. In study of the estimates, the various ministers will explain the reasons for proposed expenditures and listen to comments of members.

Invariably the study brings from some members requests for new public buildings in their constituencies, for new wharves or harbor facilities and for other government services. Invariably, too, the Opposition suggests that certain expenditures be reduced. Such moves are consistently defeated.

Because the expenditures cover all departments, all phases of government activity are brought under review from the Prime Minister's office down.

Call In Experts

Ministers bring top experts to the floor of the Chamber to help them reply to any questions that may arise.

The study is protracted and spreads over several weeks. Usually the session nears its end with still millions in estimates awaiting approval. This leads to complaints and to suggestions that a committee be established to relieve the Commons of the main task of dealing with the estimates.

At present the estimates of only one department—External Affairs—are submitted to a committee for study. The committee probes into Canada's foreign relations and discusses planned expenditures. The estimates then are referred back to the Commons for final approval. They usually are passed quickly.

Some members have suggested that this practice should be extended to take in other departments, particularly defence.

Midget Racing Planned In Two Centres

By JIM PEACOCK,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Calgary and Edmonton will have a 20-night program of midget auto racing this summer. For promoter Al Davey, it is the realization of a scheme he first planned while recuperating in an Army hospital during the war.

Davey, Toronto-born airline machinist and longtime resident of Moose Jaw, Sask., broke his leg in a wartime motorcycle accident overseas. While in hospital he designed, and later constructed, several small, hand-controlled autos for paraplegics.

From these came micro and three-quarter midgets, built along the lines of big-track racers but of "soap box" size.

The simple-engineered Micro is driven by an eight-horsepower engine and has a maximum speed of 60 miles an hour. The three-quarter, known as the "TQ," is powered by a 35 to 40-horsepower engine and hits a top speed of 120 miles an hour.

Racing over quarter-mile cinder tracks in the two cities maximum speeds are seldom reached. But the Micro averages near 50 miles an hour and the TQ better than 60 under ordinary conditions.

Similar In Size

With the exception of metal work and engine size, both cars have the same measurements. The wheelbase varies from 54 to 60 inches and the tread from 36 to 40 inches. The wheels measure from seven to nine inches in diameter and ground clearance is not more and four to six inches. The actual body is about 6½ feet long, 30 inches wide and 36 inches high.

About 15 Micros and an equal number of TQs are expected to compete this season. Last year when one Edmonton and five Calgary meets were staged, only 10 Micros saw action.

Davey, now 39, has spent the last 2½ years planning and building midget cars. He laid the ground work for a Canadian Midget Car Racing Association and, with the help of drivers and builders who competed in Micro meets last season, has written into a booklet racing regulations and specifications.

Midget racing, open to all comers, is to be operated on a professional basis with prize money awarded at each meet. Drivers also will compete on a point system over the season for the Alberta championship.

If Davey's ambitions are realized, midget car racing will become a Canada-wide sport with a national championships.

To Finance Project

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—The International Ladies Garment Workers Union (A.F.L.) will use $7,500,000 of its own funds to finance a mortgage on a co-operative housing project the union is sponsoring on New York's lower East Side. A union source said the decision was made after it was learned the mortgage loan could be insured by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Weighty Thefts

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 8 (AP)—Police have on their hands the weightiest crime in local history theft of 31,500 pounds of cement sidewalk. The 450 blocks, each two inches thick and weighing 70 pounds, were pried out of walks in what is to be the new capitol approach.

Clue To Crime?

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 8 (AP)—A rusted .38-calibre revolver Wednesday was found wedged behind a kitchen sink where it apparently was stuck more than 26 years ago. The gun was wrapped in a newspaper which described a $93,000 Buffalo bank robbery by six men late in October, 1925. Police sought to determine if the gun had any connection with the still unsolved crime.

Hope To Borrow

SOUTHAMPTON, England, May 8 (AP)—A party of South African officials sailing for the United States in the liner Queen Mary Wednesday night said they hope to borrow $19,600,000 from the world bank. Dr. J. T. Hattingh, chairman of the South African Electricity Supply Commission, said the money would be used for an extensive building program.

Gridiron Star Graduates As Minister

WINNIPEG —(CP)—John Kenneth Goldie, former football player, flier, railroader and salesman, has embarked on a lifetime career.

The 37-year-old former lineman for Saskatchewan Rough Riders will soon be a minister of the United Church of Canada.

Goldie was graduated recently from Winnipeg's United College with a diploma in theology. By midsummer he will be minister of a church somewhere in Manitoba.

For the last seven years he has been preparing himself for the ministry. But for 14 years before that he was getting another type of training which he believes is worth just as much.

At 16, Goldie was a pint-sized quarterback in junior football in Regina. He was neither fast nor heavy but one of the deadliest tackles of the gridiron.

After graduating to senior football, Goldie played for the team which won the western championship in 1936. The doughty lineman picked up a foreward pass and ran it over the Blue Bombers line for the deciding score.

Joined Air Force

The Second World War took him from the Rough Rider line and his job as a salesman in a Regina department store. He left the R.C.A.F. with the rank of Squadron Leader after leading bomber attacks over Germany.

It was the bombing runs which made him plan for the ministry.

He says among the hurtling bombs he saw "futility." On discharge he entered United College.

Goldie worked his way through by selling brushes and working on the railroad. Soon he will be Rev. John Kenneth Goldie.

Goldie believes his experience on the gridiron, the railroad and on those flights over Germany have taught him something that will help him on the road ahead.

"I think," he says, "you have to know people before you can teach them."

Raid Communists

HAVANNA, May 8 (AP)—Police seized a large quantity of anti-government literature and arrested 40 persons Wednesday night in raids on the central headquarters and 43 branch offices of Cuba's Socialist Popular (Communist) party. No high officers of the party were arrested, police said. Propaganda leaflets attacking the new government of Gen. Fulgencio Batista, were confiscated.

Lay Destroyer Keel

RIVA TRIGOSO, Italy May 8 (AP)—Italy laid the keel of a new 2,700-ton destroyer Wednesday. The warship, named the Impetuoso, will be a sister ship to the Indomito, on which construction started April 24.

Millbrook W.A. Group Raises $77 In Sale

MILLBROOK, May 8 (ENS) — The town group of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's church met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Chester Fisher, on Tuesday afternoon.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. B. B. Dawson. She was assisted by Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, who gave the scripture reading. Letters af thanks from shut-ins for boxes received at Easter were read by the secretary, Mrs. Homer Ouellette. Mrs. Arthur Fallis, the treasurer, reported that $77 had been realized from the rummage sale held Saturday. A poem, "The Lord Gave Me a Job To Do" was read by Mrs. Fisher. The Rev. Margaret Butler gave an interesting talk on "Giving One's Best."

Refreshments were served by the supper hostesses, Mrs. Howard Lunn, Mrs. C. Sanderson and Mrs. Wm. West.

Two-Month Visit

SYDNEY, Australia, May 8 (AP) — Sister Elizabeth Kenny leaves for the United States by plane today on a two-month visit to centres where her methods of polio treatment are used. The Australian nurse, who is suffering from Parkinson's disease, has been living quietly at her home at Toowomba, Queensland, since she retired and returned from the U.S. last year. She said she has been invited by a number of physicians and laymen to demonstrate how to detect poliomyelitis virus in skin and muscles.

Too Much Snobbery

SYDNEY, Australia, May 8 (AP)—Prof. George Catlin, Cornell University philosopher who recently visited southeast Asian countries, said today that while political liberty is being preserved in Malaya, snobbery remains. Exclusion of Malays and Chinese from British clubs in Malaya raises serious risk of damaging relations at a time of grave international crisis, he said in an interview.

Will Change Methods

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—Guided missiles in the immediate future will supersede present methods of anti-aircraft gunnery, Minister of Supply Duncan Sandys told a meeting of British engineers Wednesday.

New Insurance Rate

HAVELOCK, May 8—(ENS)—Norwood District High School Board Monday night authorized a new insurance policy for pupils at the high school.

The board had been told by their insurance agent that higher rates would need to be paid to get the coverage pupils had last year. The new policy authorized will be taken out at a cost of 50 cents per pupil per year.

A broader course for students interested in agriculture was suggested to the board by G. A. Brethen, of the East Peterborough Agricultural Association. Special instructors would assist in the course, and boys and girls between 14 and 18 would be eligible.

Attendance at the two schools was reported as follows: Havelock, 69; Norwood, 124. Accounts totalling $26,700 were ordered paid.

Air-Guided Missile

VANCOUVER, May 8—(CP)—Canada now is developing an air-to-air guided missile, Dr. J. J. Green, chief of Division "B", Defence Research Board, said Wednesday in a report to the Engineering Institute of Canada convention here. Dr. Green said security prevented him giving any details.

Sault Outraged "Baby" To Be Door Prize

SAULT STE. MARIE, May 8 — (CP)—Outraged citizens protested Tuesday after reading a news story which said a baby would be given away this weekend.

The story in the Sault Daily Star said the baby would be given as a publicity gag during the opening performance of a stage-show at the city-owned memorial gardens.

The story added that the mother was unable to support her offspring and agreed to let the baby go as a door prize.

Newspaper officers were flooded with telephone calls offering adoption. Some threatened to get in touch with the Children's Aid Society. One woman said she would phone the Humane Society.

"The world is coming to a pretty bad end when a human life is given away as a door prize at a public affair," said one letter to the editor.

"Granted things are hard, but a child is not given by God to be given away to the person with the largest pocket-book," said another.

A publicity stunt, the story neglected to say the "child" was a baby pig.

Jeweller Ordered To Keep Pact

VANCOUVER, May 8—(CP)—Alter Isaac Goodman, wealthy retired jeweller, has been ordered to carry out a contract for transfer of his assets to his oldest daughter, Dorothy, and her husband, Morris Wasserman, of Toronto.

Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne, of the British Columbia Supreme Court, ruled Tuesday that the contract the 76-year-old Goodman made with the Wassermans in Toronto in 1951 is valid.

Under it, he turns over assets—mainly Vancouver property valued at more than $70,000—and in return is to receive $250 monthly for life. His estranged second wife, Mrs. Bertha Goodman, of Vancouver, is to be paid $100 monthly.

Goodman claimed he was forced "by duress and undue influence" to enter the agreement, but Mr. Justice Clyne said.

"I cannot help but believe that Goodman is suffering from delusions of persecution resulting from illness."

Promise Fulfilled

Jersey Shipment Held In New York

TORONTO, May 8—(CP)—The Canadian Jersey Cattle Club said Wednesday it has received a letter from Jersey Island, home of the Jersey breed of dairy cattle, saying that the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease there was limited to three calves which had not left their stable since birth.

The club said a herd of 10 animals imported to Canada from the island is in quarantine at New York and will remain there indefinitely. Among the cattle is a $5,000 bull from the Waterloo Cattle Association, Waterloo. The remainder of the herd is owned by Valley-Anna Farms, Agincourt.

Petition Asks Liquor Vote In Havelock

HAVELOCK, May 8—(ENS)—Havelock town council accepted a petition presented at their meeting on Monday night by Henry Gerow and Jack Green, asking that the council submit to a vote of the local qualified electors the following question: "Are you in favor of having a liquor retail store and beer warehouse situated in the Village of Havelock, township of Belmont, county of Peterborough under the provisions of the Ontario Liquor Control Board?"

The petition has 226 signatures, which Reeve E. J. Leeson commented was well over the 25 per cent required providing they were all legitimate voters.

The act governing the granting of the vote was read and during the discussion that followed in regard to the council having no option in the matter, Councillor R. Sanderson commented that providing the council turned down the petition the two gentlemen who presented it could appeal to a judge. The only penalty he said would be that the judge could unseat the council and he wondered if he would do so on this particular question. The motion by Councillors Bell and Curtis carried unamiously that the clerk check the petition with the last revised list of provincial voters and if found correct take the necesary steps in forwarding it to the Ontario Liquor Control Board.

Chief of Police, Hall, presented his report for April as follows: complaints and occurrences 29, accidents reported and investigated 1, (one motor vehicle accident was investigated) one building permit was issued, value $5,300, dog tags sold, 3. fires reported and extinguished by the fire department 3, transients cared for 1, revolvers and pistols registered 3; Charges laid: criminal code 1, conviction 1, liquor control act 1, conviction 1, court attendance 3 days.

Arrangements were made for grading the village streets to be followed with a covering of calcium chloride.

The council viewed the piano purchased for the auditorium of the town hall and Councillor Sanderson commended Reeve Leeson, who made the purchase, for the choice he had made.

FALSE ALARM—It was detention day for four Cortland, N.Y., school boys recently, who, police said, admitted turning in a false alarm. Police and school officials "sentenced" the youngsters to one day's hard labor scrubbing up the fire hose. Their names were withheld because of their ages.

Sees Need Soon For More Rail Construction

MONTREAL, May 8 (CP) — W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said Wednesday the development of Canada has "caught up with railway construction."

In an address prepared for delivery before the company's 71st annual general meeting, Mr. Mather said that "as the productive capacity of the nation increases, an increase in the capacity and efficiency of transportation facilities is essential."

Railways should be "placed in a position to finance their requirements of capital on a sound basis."

Regarding transportation's role in the expanding economy, Mr. Mather said:

"The integration of Canada as a vigorous nation, the growing forestry and mining activities of Quebec and Ontario and the expansion of agriculture in the prairies were made possible only by the construction of railway mileage . . ."

In 1949, it was estimated an expenditure program by the company would require $80,000,000 annually over a five-year period. Now, "even larger annual expenditures may be necessary."

Mr. Mather said Canadian Pacific Airlines has applied to extend trans-Pacific services from the Orient, now terminating at Vancouver, to South America, and Canadian Pacific steamships will have to acquire a ship to replace two vessels being transferred from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Development of oil resources in western Canada had brought increases in railway traffic, although the C.P.R. "has not directly engaged in the discovery or production of oil."

Mr. Mather said the best interests of the company would be served by granting reservations and leases to those willing to undertake exploration and drilling over areas involved.

Strengthen Ties In Free World By Making People Bilingual

By ALAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 8—(CP)—A move is afoot in France to strengthen the free world by making it bilingual.

Under the terms of a bill adopted by the Foreign Affairs Committee of the French National Assembly, French-speaking and English-speaking countries would agree to have both languages taught at the primary school level.

Countries which speak neither language would be encouraged to promote common use of both English and French or to decide upon one of the two.

The movement for Anglo-French bilingualism would start with reciprocal agreements involving France and the British and United States governments. Teaching of the two languages would be compulsory and "living" methods of instruction would be emphasized.

The bill passed by the Foreign Affairs committee, first step in the campaign for bilingualism, was introduced by Gerard Jaquet, deputy for the Seine district. Although present legislation does not refer to Canada, Jaquet says in a letter to this correspondent that Canadians, representing a country which is a "more or less perfect" example of bilingualism, should take a keen interest.

In fact, writes Jaquet, Canada seems uniquely fitted to act as a sort of intermediary between France and such countries as the United States and the United Kingdom in negotiations "which could in spite of everything be very delicate." Canadian opinion, he says, might be persuaded that there are moments when a country should abandon its "traditional caution" to play a part for which circumstances have designed it.

The only members af the foreign affairs committee who opposed the bill are the eight Communists. Its sponsors hope its passage now may clear the way for similar action in the British parliament and the U.S. congress.

Jaquet recognizes that extension of bilingualism may be considered rather an utopian project, but he says:

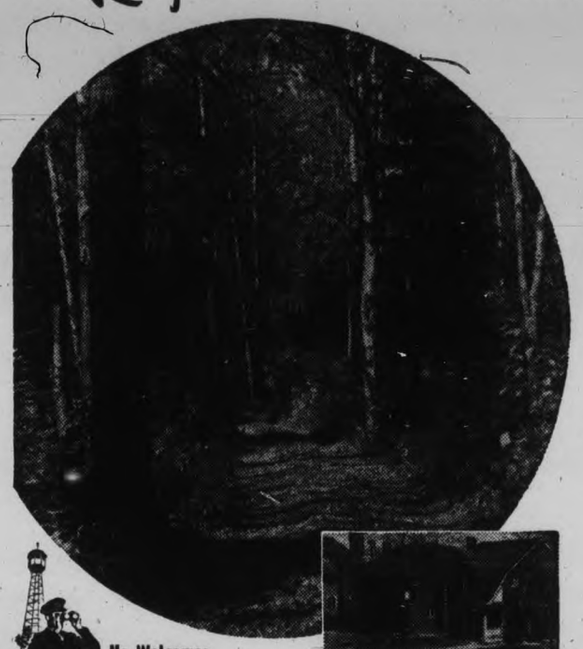
"What value can the new Europe have if the masses in the different member states remain alien to one another? What power of cohesion can we expect of a European army reminding one of the Tower of Babel?"

In the Soviet sphere of influence, by contrast, the Russian language is on its way to becoming the second language of the eastern world.

Two main difficulties have been noted here. One is that it may be easier to have specific subjects taught compulsorily in the French state schools than in the schools of Commonwealth or American countries, the other that bilingualism usually flourishes only where students have a chance to speak both languages outside the classroom.

All things considered, Jaquet probably has a long battle on his hands. A personal sidelight is that this correspondent, with some rather dubious pretensions to bilingualism, wrote to Jaquet in English and was answered in French, neither having the courage to commit words formally to paper in his "second" language.

THE Ranger PROTECTS THE FORESTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF EVERYONE



The Fire Ranger is saving your money!

Even though you may never leave the town or city pavements . . . even though you may never even see a fire ranger he's saving your money. Ontario is blessed with a wonderful forest area of over 100 million acres . . . and it belongs to all of us. It gives work to some 50,000 people. The payroll of forest industries totals about $44 millions. The net value of forest products is around $90 millions . . . larger by far than even the automobile industry! Forest fires rob us of income . . . and they're a total waste, with no profit for everyone. The fire season is here . . . keep it in mind, keep fires out of our forests!

He Welcomes Your Help

The Fire Ranger welcomes your help during the dangerous fire season ahead. When you're in forest country, driving, living or walking, be careful of matches, cigarettes, campfires, sparks from stoves or fire-places in your cottage. Be on the alert too for fires caused by lightning or other causes. Report them promptly.

Believe Body Fluid Aids Radiation Burns

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 7 (AP)—A University of Chicago doctor reports experiments that indicate a body fluid, as yet unknown, can save animals from deadly radiation burns, like those of an atomic bomb.

Techniques that helped mice survive radiation which normally would have been fatal were outlined Tuesday by Dr. Leon Jackobson of Chicago at a meeting of the Association of American Physicians.

He said X-ray used in the tests made injuries which "so far as we know" are like atomic bomb burns. He reported the burns were healed by inserting into the mice body tissue from other mice not exposed to the rays. This was done within an hour of exposure. Small quantities of splenic tissues, embryo suspensions or bone marrow suspensions were used.

Dangerous Ants

JOHANNESBURG — (CP)—Airline pilots have been warned against ants, able to throw up big anthills overnight on the Kamatipoort airfield near the border of Portuguese East Africa. An official warning said that although a caretaker makes the rounds every day the ants can throw up new hills in a matter of hours.

BEST ACTRESS — Performance of Carmel Kemp, of St. John's, Nfld., was judged best by a woman actress in the Dominion Drama Festival at Saint John, N.B. She played Louisa Creed in the play, "Ladies In Retirement," presented by the St. John's Players Workshop Group.

BUICK CUSTOM

It's a HONEY for the MONEY

Can you imagine this—

A car with Buick's power, Buick's size, Buick's room and Buick's big-car roadability—at a price down where anyone with the price of a new car can reach it?

How about coming in and looking it over?

Some things you'll need to see—such as the smartest new fabrics and interior trims that these swift beauties have in cold cash to perfect the 15 engineering features that give it a road-hugging smoothness—cushion your going like a million dollars' worth of velvet beneath the wheels.

Or the effortless ease of Dynaflow Drive.*

Some things you'll want to sample—such as the hoodful of power—the power of the mighty and thrifty Fireball 8 Engine—a valve-in-head that makes the most of high compression, gets good you'll agree that from the viewpoint of downright value, this is the finest Buick ever built.

Our welcome mat's out. Why not come in soon and get set for a thrilling year?

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

BUICK SUPER

Or a long list of new conveniences, developed by Buick's engineers this year.

Some things you'll need to try—such as Wide-Band brakes—new this year on the CUSTOM, and also on SUPER and ROADMASTER.

Some things you'll need to feel—such as the Million Dollar Ride, so called because it cost Buick this much and more

Some things you'll want to compare—such as delivered prices—and we believe

Truman Stand On Korea Leaves Reds With Two Choices

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—Asiatic Communists today had the choice of accepting what is apparently the final Allied armistice offer in Korea or continuing a war that has cost them much and gained them little.

While the Communists mulled over President Truman's declaration that the United Nations' three-point proposal must be accepted in entirety, military and diplomatic officials here weighed the alternatives to be used if the offer is spurned.

If the Chinese and Korean Reds turn down the package proposal, including the point that there be no forced return of prisoners who don't want to go back, the prospects for continued war will be uppermost. The shape this war could take—more prolonged stalemate of the existing battleline, a blockade of Red China's ports, attacks on the China coast—figures in several alternatives considered by the United Nations forces.

The chance of a diplomatic effort outside Korea to settle the dispute remains a possibility.

Indirect Results

Taking the case directly to the Russians could have indirect beneficial results for the Allies even if the Kremlin rejected the armistice proposal. A rejection by Moscow would leave Russia in the position of virtually ordering her Chinese and Korean satellites to continue a war which has helped only the Russian Communists.

The war has cost the Chinese and Korean armies an estimated 1,170,000 battle casualties and loss of weapons and equipment hard to replace. And after almost two years the Communists stand about where they were at the start, near the 38th parallel dividing North and South Korea.

They may choose to continue standing there, behind the fortifications in depth which they have built up along the stalemated battle line since truce talks started last summer.

The Communists have the ability to mount an attack; whether they do so is another question.

Losses Replaced

Losses suffered by the Reds during the heavy fighting before the armistice talks have more than been replaced. Fortifications, including deep bunker positions and artillery sites, have been observed on the front. These could mean either preparation for defence and continuation of the stalemate or a jump-off on a new offensive.

The single package proposal submitted by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's negotiators at Panmunjom and supported by the U.N. Allies including Canada contains these three points:

1. No forced repatriation of prisoners of war. A poll has shown that 100,000 of the 173,000 prisoners would oppose return to Communist hands.

2. The United Nations will not insist on prohibiting reconstruction or repair of airfields in Communist areas.

3. The Commission to supervise an armistice shall include two Communist satellite nations, Poland and Czechoslovakia, and two chosen by the United Nations, Sweden and Switzerland.

It was the first point that was at issue and the one on which Truman was precise and adamant. He said "he will not buy an armistice by turning over human beings for slaughter or slavery."

Drama Governor Plans To Resign

WINNIPEG, May 8 — (CP) — Frank Morriss, of Winnipeg, a governor of the Dominion Drama Festival, says in his Free Press column "Here, There and Hollywood," he intends to resign over the substitution of a distillers trophy for the Bessborough Trophy as the Festival's top arward.

"The Festival, which has been going downhill for the past few years, now reaches a financial peak and an artistic low," he says. "It has insulted the former Governor-General, who founded the Festival."

Senate Approves Bill To Cut Federal Power

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP) — The senate Wednesday approved in principle legislation to eliminate the Federal Governoment's power to halt inter-provincial movements of dairy products or their substitutes.

The government was gvien the power last year under the Canada Dairy Products Act but the act was never proclaimed.

Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario), who sparked several previous debates on the legality of sale and manufacture of margarine, sponsored the legislation given second reading.

A former trade minister during the 1930's, he said the government's power was in conflict with the British North America Act which provided for free trade between the provinces.

Senator Cyrille Vaillancourt (L-Quebec), said he would tell the people of Quebec to withdraw from confederation now if the Federal Government didn't fulfill its job of protecting the provinces.

The Dairy Products Act was beyond parliament's power under the B.N.A. Act.

Could Go Farther

Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia), said if once the idea was established that the Federal Government could regulate inter-provincial trade, there was nothing to stop extending it to include fish and other non-dairy products.

When the Dairy Products Act came up last year, he said the senate was asked to put it through quickly. He suggested it was rushed through because there were some false pretenses behind it.

Senator T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba) said the original act seemed to be aimed at margarine and it was dangerous to establish such a principle.

South Korea Will Exhibit At Trade Fair

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

South Korea will have an exhibit at the Canadian International Trade Fair, to be held at Toronto June 2-13.

The war-stricken country announced its decision in a cable which fair officials consider somewhat of a classic of understatement. The cable said the decision was somewhat due to "unsettled conditions."

Korean exhibits will include lacquerware, linen embroidery, table sets, towels, artificial pearls, furs, bristles.

Other countries showing for the first time are Iran, Lebanon, Finland, Thailand and Haiti. In all, about 30 countries will exhibit, and fair officials expect an increase in business registrations over last year, when more than 35,000 buyers attended from 53 countries.

Canadian exhibitors will put on their biggest show yet, and have 180,000 square feet booked so far. Total bookings are expected to be about 260,000 feet, compared with 145,000 last year.

Other major exhibitors include Britain, Germany, United States, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy and Sweden.

Visitors will include 50 business men asociated with the Port New York Authority, who will examine a variety of equipment; 30 business men from Venezuela; and a group of 22 from Germany and Belgium.

Other Buyers

Individual buyers planning to attend, fair officials state, include the reputedly biggest agent for Canadian goods in Ecuador; the director of a large firm in India who is intersted in the new construction-equipment section; an importer from Haifa, Israel, and so on.

The big exhibit of International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., will include a showing of the six precious metals of the platinum group—platinum, palladium, iridium, osmium, ruthenium and rhodium.

The Netherlands Information Bureau, Ottawa, says The Netherlands exhibit will include a new method of pre-fabrication of homes, hangars and storage halls.

The fair, first held in 1948, and held annually since, will be opend by Dr. J. R. M. van den Brink, Netherlands minister of economic affairs.

Boss Approves Plan For Recreation Centre

CALGARY, May 8—(CP)—Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent, said Wednesday night that what is needed in Tokyo as a recreation centre for Canadian troops on leave is a hotel which would have complete facilities.

He was commenting on an announcement by Defence Minister Claxton in the Commons at Ottawa Wednesday that a "suitable building has been found for a recreation centre in Tokyo."

Boss, stopping off here on his return trip to Korea after a short stay in Canada, said in an interview that a hotel would give the troops some place to go after 11 p.m. He said he felt the centre should be a base from which the troops could operate while on leave and not just a place where they could pass the time.

Actress Lynn Bari Sues Agent Luft

LOS ANGELES, May 7 (AP).—Actress Lynn Bari has sued agent Sid Luft for increased support for their three-year-old son. She asserts Luft and Judy Garland earned more than $750,000 last year.

The suit, filed Tuesday says Luft was $10,000 in debt and unemployed when Miss Bari divorced him in 1950. She asks that support payments be increased from $200 to $500 monthly.

Luft and Miss Garland are engaged.

Costly Business

TORONTO, May 8—(CP)—The Welfare Council of Greater Toronto, in a 1952 revision of "A Guide To Family Spending," estimates that it now costs $142.83 a month to maintain a family of four in health and self-respect without counting rent, taxes, medical costs, savings, holidays or telephone. The comparable figure in the 1949 issue of the guide was $140.81. The average weekly wage in Toronto now is $50.

Acquitted of Rape

WINDSOR, May 8—(CP)—A Supreme Court jury Wednesday acquitted Ernest Clayton, 21, and Raymond Bagnon, 22, on charges of raping an 18-year-old Windsor girl January 13. The girl said that after an evening of drinking in a Windsor tavern, the two drove her to a sideroad south of the city where she said an attack took place

A HAWES QUALITY PRODUCT

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. Groombridge

Ganarska

This weekend will find several patrols of Scouts from many troops in the city carrying their duffel bags into the Camporee being held at the Reforestration Camp near Garden Hill, Ontario. This has been the spot where the scouts have met annually for the tree planting under the guidance of the Department of Lands and Forests for the past six years. We know that Peterborough will again come through with this good turn.

Trinity Troop

Last week found the troop hard at work in the Civic Arena fixing up their booth where they were to display and sell bird houses. Prizes for the best three bird houses went to Murray Mann, Bill Hendry and Gary Hancock in order named. The money raised by selling the bird houses is to be spent on new equipment for the troop. Our regular meeting will be held as usual this week.

St. Luke's—The Pack

The Rev. Walter Gilling was present at the last meeting and presented Blane Greenly with his First Star badge. We were glad to welcome John Chambers as a new chum into the Jungle and know he enjoyed the game "Jump the Bat" with the gang. David Choate demonstrated shoe cleaning to earn that point and the pack practiced a little marching in readiness for future occasions. A church parade will be held on Sunday May 18th, the day being set aside as Empire Youth day. On Saturday the pack, 22 strong turned out for a hike and journeyed to the scout grounds where many boys passed some of their tests as follows, Jack Watson, fire lighting, message, public telephone, birds and trees; Ray Baptie—fire lighting, Clen Walker—fire-lighting; Bob Simmons—fire-lighting, message, public telephone; Wayne Millar—fire-fighting, message; Wayne Halstead, fire-lighting; Jim Chambers—message; David Choate—message; Bob MacDonald—public telephone, birds and trees. Following the tests games were played and several cars arrived to take the boys home.

The Troops

Thirty-two boys were on deck at the last troop meeting to enjoy the games and instruction that were on the agenda. A great deal of strength was expended in the game "4 cornered tug of war" then followed an ease-up period during which the following tests were passed: Bob Depallaro—laws and promise, Kim's game; Garson Crowder and Terry Mulcahy, laws and promise; Allen Roberts, Kim's game, compass; Bob Legget and Fred Barker—Kim's game; Paul McConkey—flags.

Bill Watters Reports

St. Paul's pack are getting down to busines after many absences through sickness, opened the last meeting in the Sunday school auditorium at which Bob Shimer and Daird Minty were presented with their Toy-makers badges. The pack then adjourned to Victoria Park taking advantage of the daylight for baseball with the Green and Red Sixers coming through as winners.

Park Hill Troop

The 1951 Jamboree Trophy at last came to rest in its rightful spot as the Assistant District Commisioner attended our last meeting to present same to the troop who were fortunate enough to win it at the last district affair. First Aid was the main instruction of the evening with the Fox patrol coming through to take the honor pennant with the narrow margin of one point over the Peewit's.

St. John's Troop

Two investiture ceremonies were held recently by the troop one being at Bewdley on Friday evening last. Two car loads of boys motored to Bewdley under Scouter Ford where they held on open air meeting and invested Glen Wannamaker into World Scouting. A real camp fire program was held following the ceremony. Glen, a former member of the troop moved to Bewdley last week with his family. We wish him the best in his new home. Last evening, Tuesday night, was my pleasure to visit the home of Ken. Kingston and found half the basement had been given over to his son, Bob, as a Patrol Den. Here we were greeted by Patrol Leader Bob and came on a first aid class being conducted by Harry Ferguson of St. John Ambulance Brigade. At the close of the course three members of the troop were fully inducted into the World Brotherhood of Scouting these being Wayne Collins, Wayne Ferguson and Garry Ball. Fitting surroundings for such a ceremony, the flickering lights of the ceremonial candles casting shadows on the walls and the miniature totem poles gleaming history from their stand. We congratulate Bob's parents on their foresight and wish them Good Scouting.

Scouters' Club

All officers are well advised to reserve Wednesday evening, May 21st, for the attendance of the Scouters' Club to be held in St. Luke's Parish Hall. Those who are not contacted by mail should attend anyway and give your support and comments to this movement. Get to know your fellow workers—attend the Scouters' Club.

Nassua Camp

1952 would appear to be preparing a banner year in the history of the Scout Grounds near Lock 22 on the River Road, for up to date more applications have been received than before and reservations are being made for cubs and scouts. To make camping successful a great deal of work has been completed on the grounds but there is still a lot more to be accomplished. It is necessary to appeal to the various groups throughout the city for their assistance, and as the old saying goes, one volunteer is worth a dozen pressed men. Here is the opportunity for group committees and dads to do their good turn. Facilities for ladies to stay overnight must be completed in order that cub camping can have its proper attention, for this is one spot where mothers help to cook for the boys. It is the hope of chairman Jim Houghton to make this as good as any camp in Ontario, so why not phone chairman Jim at 6428 and say—"Here we are—what can we do to help?"

Millbrook High Trims Divinity Student Team

MILLBROOK, May 8—(ENS)—The Millbrook high school team and the Anglican theological students attending the school in rural sociology being held in the parish of Cavan, played a softball game in the fairgrounds on Tuesday afternoon. The clerical battery was excellent, but some of the fielders lacked big league experience. The high school team took advantage of all lapses on the part of their opponents, and rolled up an imposing score. In spite cross-field wind, the game was enjoyed by players and spectators alike.

STEEL TALKS CONTINUE—Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O. and the Steelworkers Union, and other union officials arrive at the White House Sunday morning for the resumption of steel talks. So far no progress has been reported. Left to right are: James Thimmes, vice president of the union; Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel; Murray; and Joseph Molony (CQ), director of District Four. The Government later broke up negotiations because labor and management appeared to be too far apart for agreement in the dispute.

Col. Kilgore Racks Fine Score In U.S. Meet

The leading U.S. contender for the Olympic pistol title, Lt. Harry Reeves of Detroit, was given a run for the honors in one event at a Buffalo meet by Cal Kilgore, 544 McKellar St. over the weekend.

One of Canada's best pistol shots, Kilgore scored 191 out of a possible 200 points in the time fire, centre fire, event at the Buffalo Revolver and Rifle Club's 10th annual indoor match. But Reeves, an instructor on the Detroit police force, scored 193.

In the aggregate scores for the .22 calibre and centre fire classes Kilgore totalled 1,630 points out of a possible 1,800. This was a slight improvement over his total of 1,625 which placed him third last year in the Canadian championship.

Results Later

The final results and standings for the match will not be known for another three weeks. But with his 1,630 score Kilgore should place high up amongst his American and Canadian competitors.

In the centre fire Kilgore used a .38 calibre pistol recording 168 points in the slow fire, 191 in the time fire, 176 in the rapid fire, and 272 in the three stage event, totalling 807 out of a possible 900.

Kilgore with his .22 calibre pistol scored 172 in the slow fire, 191 in the time fire, 193 in the rapid fire and 277 in the three-stage event, to bring the final total to 1,630.

Other matches will be on June 14 at Long Branch, the Ontario Rifle Association, and August 9-10, Ottawa, the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association.

Uniform Allowance For City Cars–Miller

Uniformity in staff automobile allowances was advocated by Ald. T. D. Miler Monday. Policy includes both lump sum and mileage grants for this expenditure.

Ald. Miller suggested that it might be better if the employees using cars in their work were paid on the mileage plan; that record cards be kept and the treasurer pay the employees according to the cards.

A motion by Ald. J. E. Gillespie and Ald. J. A. Dewart asked City Clerk Outram to get information from other cities about their practice, that it be collected and referred to department heads for study and report.

Gardiner Warns Publicity May Prolong Embargo

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner hinted Wednesday that continuation of the parliamentary investigation of the government's handling of the foot-and-mouth disease may prolong the United States embargo on Canadian livestock.

He made the statement to the Commons agricultural committee as a meeting called to decide whether to end the six-day investigation or call further witnesses. No decision was made.

Publicity given the committee's hearings was not helping attempts to overcome livestock marketing problems or to fight the disease "the way it ought to be fought."

"Unless we get the committee closed up at an early stage," Mr. Gardiner said, "we are going to experience such economic difficulties that anything we have experienced to date would look mild."

Chief Danger

The chief danger was not that the disease in South Saskatchewan would spread but that "we are being shut back behind our boundary lines."

The committee was expected to hold another meeting today to decide on continuation of its hearings, which have developed into a political wrangle.

Mr. Gardiner Wednesday tangled with John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre) and Hazen Argue (C.C.F.-Assiniboia).

Two other members, A. M. Stewart (L.-Yorkton) and John Sinnott (L.-Springfield), said opposition speeches in the committee were aimed at the coming campaigns in the six Federal by-elections this month and the June 11 Saskatchewan general election.

The Minister said Mr. Diefenbaker was going on a "political rampage." A speech by the Progressive Conservative member in Woodstock Tuesday alleged the agriculture department was "grossly negligent" in diagnosing the disease, he said. This was an attempt to "prejudice" the committee's findings.

Opposition members said additional witnesses, including Dr. N. D. Christie, district veterinarian at Regina, should be called by the committee.

Wouldn't Object

Mr. Gardiner said he would not object to this, but members must consider the situation in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Diefenbaker said if Mr. Gardiner had any fears, part of the committee should go to Regina to take evidence there.

The Minister said Mr. Argue had made an "inaccurate" statement Tuesday in charging that the department had withheld information dealing with the outbreak.

Mr. Argue replied that "nobody is going to shut my mouth" on any statement he wanted to make.

Meanwhile, Alberta's livestock industry tried to untangle the confusion over regulations dealing with shipments to British Columbia.

One minor easement was made in the Federal order which barred livestock shipments to B.C. from Alberta's three stockyards, limiting shipments to animals from feed lots. The change permitted shipments from rural shipping points where federal officials could inspect them.

Another confusion arose when Canadian National Railways refused fresh meat shipments from Edmonton to British Columbia. Telephone calls to Ottawa finally revealed no such embargo had been ordered.

"What a mess," said Alberta deputy agriculture minister O. S. Longman. "It has reached the point where it is new rules every day and twice on Sundays."

TO GET DEGREE—Oswald Mayrand of Montreal, editor of La Patrie, French-language daily newspaper, will receive the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, May 15. Five other Canadians also will be honored with degrees.

HIS FIRST WIN

Johnny Rutherford of the pitching staff of Brooklyn National League ball team, won his first major league game Tuesday, defeating Cincinnati 5-4. He held the Reds to three hits in a relief role for 6 2/3 innings. He is a son of Dr. Fred Rutherford of Detroit, and formerly of Peterborough. His average for the young season is .500.

TRIP FOR CHILDREN

Forty pupils of Grade 6 at Confederation School will travel by bus to Toronto Friday morning where they will make a tour of the parliament buildings, see the Ontario museum, the Bank of Commerce building and perhaps the Riverdale Zoo. In charge of the children will be their teacher Lloyd A. Corbett and his wife and Miss Kay Hill.

REMOVE BURNED SCRAP

Firemen have had a 24-hour duty patrol on the scene since the Tuesday night fire at the Lawrence Salvage Co. warehouse, Erskine Ave. and McKellar Sts. From time to time the smouldering tons of newspapers have burst into flame. A hoseline is still hooked up ready to dampen down any outbreak. Today a front-end loader is picking up the soggy debris and loading it on trucks and it is then being taken to the city dump in North Monaghan.

NORMAL SCHOOL STUDENTS took their studies outside Wednesday when they visited the Harry Blewett farm on the Chemong road. The work included lessons on land uses, map and compass reading, and tree planting. High on a windy hill the map reading class was held, reading the landscape with the help of map and compass. Marg Aiken of Millbrook (left, left photo), and Dwaine Gray of Port Hope (right) receive help from school master, Burritt Smitheram, on reading a compass. Evelyn Wallace, 241 Princess St. (top right) took time out to admire the season's trilliums. A major part of the visit was tree planting; Ruth Gibson of Glen Miller and Faye Freeman of Elmvale (bottom right) plant a red pine.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

No Decrease Expected In Unemployment Without Defence Orders

Number of Unemployed Falls Second Month In District Served By Local Office

Part-Time Work Boosts Total This Week

No relief in the high spring unemployment in Peterborough and district is expected by National Employment Office manager William Mellis unless local factories receive defence orders which are in the offing. At the same time Mr. Mellis pointed out that for the second successive month the unemployed receiving insurance money decreased in April to 1,611. In March unemployment dropped to 1962 after reaching peaks in January and February.

But conditions at the Western Clock Company sent the figures sailing over the 2,000-mark this week. The company announced that 400 employees would start a four-day week. These people are eligible for short time claims for unemployment insurance.

A year ago there were only 971 men and women drawing money through the government scheme.

Outdoor Work

Mr. Mellis said that the 300-decrease in April was due to the bright, sunny weather which opened up the outdoor work. Construction projects, lumber camps and other outside work hired a number of labourers.

Meanwhile in the city several factories received small orders enabling them to take back employees, relieving the unemployed load slightly. But in some cases, the Dominion Woollens and Worsted and the C.G.E., there are still some short time workers, said Mr. Mellis.

Other factories are relying upon defence orders in the offering to carry them through slack periods.

But the 700-increase over last year is largely due to the unemployment in the district. There 669 men and women are receiving money as compared with only 238 a year ago.

Conditions Bad

Mr. Mellis explained that conditions in Campbellford are "bad", with more than 200 on claim. Throughout the district people who returned to their homes after layoffs in the fall in Toronto, Hamilton and Windsor, are still waiting for conditions to improve.

At the end of April, reported Mr. Mellis, there were 2,013 men and women registered at the office as unemployed. In April, 1951, there were 1,141 looking for work.

Available positions numbered 66 at the end of April, said Mr. Mellis, and generally required experienced men and women such as machinists, draftsmen, toolmakers, typists, stenographers. A year ago there were 188 jobs open.

City Asks C.G.E. To Give Land To Widen Street

City council is asking Canadian General Electric Company for a strip of land on High St. 18 ft. 5 in. wide by some 505 feet in length.

There was no suggestion of paying for it in the motion Monday night by Ald J. E. Gillespie and Ald. H. S. Longhurst.

The reference sounded like an expected gift in the silence about price. City Engineer Chalmers sent a letter to the council recommending the C.G.E. be requested to deed a strip of land as defined above. It is required for the widening of High St.

The strip is at the rear of the property of Canadian General Electric on High St. recently bought from Mayor H. F. Waddell.

Widening of High St. was proposed some years ago, and has been gradually taking effect in sections here and there until eventually they add up to the entire length of the street. It begins at Lansdowne St., and carries north over one of the steepest slopes in the city to Sherbrooke St.

The broader street south from Frank St. is a convenience in the industrial development of properties nearby in the vicinity of the C.P.R. Timber Structures is one and Bell Telephone another. A cluster of buildings has grown up in that neighborhood.

City Accidents Up By 13 From '51 Figures

There were 13 more accidents in Peterborough in 1951 than in 1950.

According to the statistics relating to motor vehicle traffic accidents recently released by the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways there were 267 accidents in Peterborough in 1951 and 254 in 1950.

There were two persons fatally injured in accidents in the city in 1951 and three in 1950.

The total of accidents for Ontario in 1951 was 23,706—an increase of 4,789 over the 1950 total.

Two Show Decreases

Brantford and Galt are the only two communities listed in the report that show a decrease in the 1951 totals as compared to the 1950. Brantford had 277 accidents with two fatally injured in 1951 and 302 accidents with three fatally injured in 1950. In Galt there were 126 accidents and one fatally injured in 1951 and 138 accidents and three fatally injured in 1950.

St. Thomas had the least number of accidents in both years—52 in 1951 and 47 in 1950.

Kingston had 461 accidents in 1951 and 392 in 1950; Oshawa, 124 in 1951 and 97 in 1950; Kitchener, 546 in 1951 and 410 in 1950.

Normal School Pupils Visit Farm In Review Of Studies

Normal School classes were held outdoors on Wednesday when the 125 students paid their annual visit to the Harry Blewett farm on the Chemong Road. The visit is a review of the year's agriculture studies as well as part of the school's Arbor Day activities. The work at the farm included agricultural studies on farming, contour plowing and crop rotation, tree planting and map reading, as part of the senior social studies course.

The Blewett farm is an experimental farm for the Department of Agriculture.

Taken to the farm in chartered buses, the cost shared by the department of education and the students, the afternoon's activities began with a talk on land uses by Frank Paterson, agricultural representative. He showed the results of experiments in crop rotation, strip planting and contour plowing, briefly explaining the why of each.

The students were then taken to a slope on the south-eastern part of the farm and there were divided into four groups.

Mr. Paterson continued his lecture on land uses and experiments, explaining in greater detail the results of the land experiments.

At the same time a second group, under Burritt Smitheran, were reading maps with the use of compasses. With the compasses the students arranged the maps so they were able to read the landscape from the hill.

Before the map reading class, a third group, under C. E. Potts, was instructed in the correct use of the compass, enabling them to read the maps carefully.

The fourth group was the tree-planting. Before the activities started the students were shown how to plant a seedling and when at the hill each students planted a red pine in the tree lot. The trees were obtained from Department of Lands and Forests nursery at Orono by Mr. Paterson.

The other half of the Arbor Day celebrations includes work around the Normal School and continues throughout the month.

The students have been sending trees from the small lot south of the school to former students now teaching in urban and rural schools. They are also planting seedlings in lot vacancies.

Other work includes improving the school's nature trail and transplanting in the school gardens.

Pauline Stewart Top Player

Pauline Stewart, star basketball player for Neills, senior city champions, was selected most outstanding player in the girls' city league this year. The announcement was made at the league's banquet Wednesday night at the Y.W.C.A.

Presentation of the annual award was made to Miss Stewart by Joe Cooper, one of the league's referees and time keepers. Throughout the season Miss Stewart was one of Neills stalwarts both on the offence and defence, helping the quintette to remain undefeated for its second successive season.

Recollections

Guest speaker, Alex Sinclair, recreation director, recalled events during his basketball career while in Western Canada. He was introduced by Barbara Luther, C.G.E., and thanked by Carol Raper, Blacks.

Crests and trophies were presented to Neills, who won the senior championship for the third straight year, Nurses who won the intermediate title and to C.G.E. who won the junior honors. Gifts were presented to coaches and persons who assisted the league during the season.

Forgotten Cash Waits Claimants

Three Peterborough names are listed among the people with forgotten bank accounts in Canadian banks. None is now listed in the city directory. One Havelock name shown is not listed in the telephone book.

The original depositor may have forgotten the money. He or she may have died, and the heirs to the estate know nothing of it.

The names, addresses and amounts deposited follow (these accounts were in branches of the Bank of Montreal):

Donald Ross Gifford, 83 Orpington Rd., $25.51. William Godson, 118 Cameron St., $18.75. J Lorne Whelan, 469 Stewart St., $12.99. James McKay, $28.28.

Car Skids, Breaks Tree Driver Charged

Two charges [illegible] St., after his car went out of control on Aylmer St., near his home Wednesday night, skidded for 180 feet, mounted the curb, knocked over a maple tree and overturned on its side.

In police court today, Mullen pleaded guilty to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol. Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw then said he would offer no evidence on a second charge of careless driving.

The arresting officer, Arthur Beardsmore was not present when Mullen pleaded guilty and he will be sentenced later today after evidence has been heard.

Mullen and two companions escaped injury in the accident which resulted in an estimated $500 damage to the car. Mullen was driving south on Aylmer St., when the car climbed the east curb of Aylmer St., just south of Sherbrooke, then skidded sideways to the southwest curb of Aylmer St., knocking over the young tree and ending up on its side.

Two Cars Collide One Driver Blamed

A careless driving charge will be laid against John T. Wolff, 429 Downie St., as the result of an accident at Park and Murray Sts., Wednesday night, police said today.

Wolff was driving east on Murray St., and was in collision with a northbound car driven by Edward Ryan, 374 Grady Ave., at the Park St., intersection.

Mrs. Ryan and a small daughter, Marcel were passengers in the car, and Marcel was injured slightly by flying glass, shattered by the impact which drove the Ryan car 11 feet.

Three stitches were required to close a cut behind her ear. The Ryan car skidded 25 feet in a north-east direction before the collision, constable Arthur Beardsmore, who investigated, reported.

The front ends of both vehicles were damaged considerably.

Raybestos Workers Reject Conciliation Board Findings

Recommendations of a conciliation board on wages, hours, and union security have been termed "totally inadequate and unsatisfactory" by union officials, currently locked in a contract dispute with the Canadian Raybestos Co. Ltd. The bargaining agent for the 125 production workers is Local 527, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America.

A membership meeting of the local has been called for 1 p.m. Sunday in the Union Hall, George St., to decide on union tactics. A strike would be legal after Tuesday midnight (seven days after the conciliation report was received).

The majority report of the conciliation board, under the chairmanship of Judge M. A. Miller of Cobourg, recommended a reduction of the work week from 45 to 43¾ hours a week and a wage increase of four cents an hour; or a two-year contract with a reduction of the work week from 45 to 44 hours in the first year and a three-cent wage boost, and a reduction to 43 hours and another three-cent boost in the second year.

Keep Clause

An escalator clause, making upward adjustments only, would remain in effect. It provides a one-cent increase for each 1.4 rise in the official government cost-of-living index.

The board made no recommendations for changing the present union security provisions. So at the Raybestos Co. there is a voluntary checkoff of union dues with a 15-day "escape period". Other recommendations were no changes in the present vacation setup; no changes in the group insurance and pension plan; and no changes in the size of the negotiating committee. Grievance procedure must now be initiated within 30 days from the time of the alleged grievance.

Union Recommendations

Drummond Wren, the union nominee on the conciliation board, filed a minority report. He recommended a reduction of the work week from 45 to 42½ hours (the union originally wanted 40 hours), with the same take-home pay; also a 15-cents-an-hour general wage increase; and a modified Rand formula; requiring all employees, union members or not, to be subject to the checkoff as a condition of employment.

Mr. Wren argued that, according to company figures, the labor rate at Raybestos was sixth in Peterborough.

While Raybestos is 15 cents below the highest rate, it is well in line with the rates paid in local industry, the majority report of the conciliation board stated.

The present 45-hour week at Raybestos is five days of nine hours each.

Meet Company

"Totally inadequate and unsatisfactory," was the response of C. R. Sullivan, UE area representative, to the majority report. "We have been instructed by the negotiating committee to meet with the company with a view to reaching settlement along the lines suggested by the minority report."

The first meeting with the company to try and break the deadlock was at 10 a.m. today, but there has been no report on the outcome of the talks.

Robert Abbott, vice president and general manager, said the company met early today with the union and was meeting again this afternoon. "We're still trying to come to an agreement," he said.

Westclox Starts Four-Day Week, Has Large Stock

Beginning Friday about 400 of the Western Clock Co. production workers will begin working a four-day, instead of a five-day week.

"A large backlog of finished goods has accumulated," said John H Vernor, general manager. Apparently the watches and clocks have been piling up faster than they could be sold, and this stock must be reduced before full-scale production resumes.

"It is only the second time in 19 years that we have had 'short time' affecting the whole plant," said Mr. Vernor. "We've been in business here since 1920 and for the first 10 years there was no short time; during the '30s we had some, but so did most of the other firms."

Last Friday 21 employees were laid off. And most of the other production workers have been told they may expect a 34-hour week instead of a 42½-hour week from now on, for an indefinite period.

About 400 of the production workers are in this category. A dozen or more working on Seth Thomas clocks and on parking meters will remain on the full five days; so will stationary engineers, tool room and maintenance employees, and salaried workers.

Monday afternoon a committee from Local 570, International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) met with company officials to see what could be done.

There were no hitches in the talks. Both sides agreed to try and spread the work among the employees as evenly as possible.

Only emergency overtime will be worked. And there will be no new employees hired except as replacements or because of plant turnover.

"It has always been company policy not to hire new help during a period of short time," said Mr. Vernor.

The blow of short time has seemed all the more severe, another company official said, because the company has maintained production in the hope that the market for their products would take a turn for the better.

Representing Local 570 in the company-union talks were Ken Nisbett, president of the local; Gerald Dolan, chief steward; and Joe Wirtz, I.U.E. international representative.

Sees Husband's Body

QUEBEC, May 8—(CP)—The body of Arthur Pitre, 55, was taken to the women's jail Tuesday so his widow, under sentence to be hanged, might see him for the last time. He died in hospital Monday. Mrs. Pitre, 43, was convicted of murder in connection with the time-bomb explosion of an airplane Sept. 9, 1949, in which 23 persons were killed. Her execution date has been set for June 27.

STAYING ON THE JOB—Steel workers Harry Olsen (left) and Walter Beck report for work at U.S. Steel plant in Chicago, Ill., while reading about the collapse of White House peace talks between steel industry heads and union officials. C.I.O. president Philip Murray said, after the talks failed, that the steel workers won't strike against the government.

Regulations Relaxed On Royal Emblem Use

OTTAWA, May 8 — (CP)—The State Department Wednesday announced relaxation of rules governing the use of Royal titles, emblems and photographs for next year's coronation. The rules are the same as those approved by the Queen.

The order is a relaxation permitting reproduction of the Royal Arms, the Royal Cipher, the Crown the Royal Standard and approved Royal photographs. It does not apply to items of a temporary nature, including articles of dress.

The Queen also has approved that reproductions of Royal photographs and of the Crown, either alone or in conjunction with other emblems and the Royal Cipher may be used in schemes of decoration, provided they are not associated in any way with the advertisement of individuals, firms or commodities.

Professor Buchanan Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, May 8 — (CP) — Professor Milton Alexander Buchanan, 73, internationally known in the research field of Italian and Spanish languages, died Wednesday.

He served on the staff of University of Toronto for 40 years until his retirement in 1946.

In 1924 he was chairman of the Canadian Committee on Modern Languages which in 1928 issued a report on modern language instruction in Canada.

He leaves his widow, the former Marie Avery, of Galena, Ill., one brother, Dr. Norman D. Buchanan of Peterborough, and two sisters in Toronto.

NEW HEADQUARTERS EDMONTON — (CP) — Permits were issued to construct a new headquarters building for the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Red Cross this summer. The two-storey building of reinforced concrete brick and tile is estimated to cost $139,000.

FIVE ROSES ALL PURPOSE FLOUR"

"The children love my baking, and I'm thrilled to think that the neighbours and girl friends are always asking me 'Elsie, how did you learn to bake your wonderful cakes?"

"The truth of the matter is that I only started 'real[illegible] but it seem[illegible]ning [illegible]

"Last week I had baked a special super cake to enter in a contest, but Eric, my little boy, had other ideas about what should be done with a perfectly good cake. Can you imagine, before I realized it, he had helped himself to an enormous slice! I was heartbroken for a moment — but there he was grinning from ear to ear, and covered with chocolate icing, proudly singing: 'Mummy, you sure can cook! Nina and I think you are the best cook in the world!'

"Well, I must admit it's certainly nice to be so popular. So here's to your wonderful Five Roses All Purpose Flour. It's just grand to know that one flour is so perfect for everything from tender, flaky pastry to the most heavenly light cakes that just seem to float away. Anyway, the family certainly make them disappear as fast as I bake them. Personally, I wouldn't change flours for the world, believe me! Good Baking is Easy with Five Roses!"

Sincerely yours, Elsie Hyde

ASLEEP AT WHEEL—When Lloyd C. Kenens, 27, of Indianapolis, dozed at the wheel, his truck left the highway near Columbus, O., and struck a tree. Cab and trailer, carrying two tons of steel castings, tore apart. The cab continued forward and struck three parked cars, ripped off a lodge hall stairway and plowed into the Apostolic Church above. Total estimated damage—$10,000.

Winnipeg Makes Big Hit With "Concerto" Ballet

TORONTO, May 8 (CP) — The third day of the week-long fourth Canadian ballet festival here produced afternoon and evening performances with representatives from each coast and points between.

The Winnipeg ballet's production of "Concerto" was the hit of Wednesday's show. Herbert Whittaker of The Globe and Mail said it "gave a tremendous lift to the ballet festival."

Hugh Thomson of The Toronto Daily Star applauded the "Concerto" as "the most professional choreography and presentation of the show." Rose Macdonald of The Telegram called it a "spirited and polished presentation."

Jean Stoneham of Ottawa who has been with the Winnipeg group less than a year won rounds of applause as the prime ballerina.

The most novel presentation on Wednesday night was "Heroes of Our Time," presented by Toronto's New Dance Theatre. Dr. Thomson said the story of four teen-aged boys whose hangout was the corner store was of "immense power and sincerity."

The four boys read lurid comic books, eventually turned to crime and one was shot by police. Mr. Whittaker said: "What the New Dance Theatre group is giving us is a picture, crudely conceived and with unsparing melodrama, of juvenile delinquency in operation."

In the afternoon show, the ballet Production Club of Vancouver danced to Litolff's popular scherzo for piano and orchestra.

From the east came Gotshalk's Halifax Ballet to present O. Lemanis' "The Vision" to a score by L. Minkus.

Decorative Work

Miss Macdonald said the British Columbia group did "charming and decorative work" in the Scherzo and in Mara McBirnie's dance, "Sigh no more, Ladies."

The youngest performer in the show appeared in the afternoon—five-year-old Christilot Hansen in "The Magdalene." She was one of the Willy Blok Hansen group. Miss Macdonald praised the "beautiful sinuous movement" of the dance.

Opening ballet of the night's program was the Toronto Ballet's "Conte des Fees" (Fairytales).

The Janet Baldwin Ballet, also of Toronto, gave a repeat performance of "Suite."

Mr. Whittaker commended the festival for providing a "full-scale orchestra of stature." He said: "under the batons of Samuel Hershenhoren and Eric Wild of Winnipeg, the large aggregation of musicians gave the evening a sense of occasion for the audience as it must have for the dancers."

Minister Defends Immigration Officers

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP)—Immigration Minister Harris said Wednesday there was "no incompetence" by Canadian immigration officers in dealing with the case of Walter Harris, 30, of Buffalo, N.Y., sentenced to 15 days at Hamilton for drunk driving and then held another 54 days.

The minister told the Commons he personally had investigated Harris' case.

Outside the Commons the minister said the long incarceration apparently stemmed from the fact Harris lacked identification documents.

"TIDAL WAVE" HITS—A "tidal wave" struck both sides of the Bruce Peninsula and caused extensive damage at Stokes Bay on the west shore, near Owen Sound. A 20-ton fishing boat owned by George McLay of Stokes Bay rests on top of one of the piers where, a few hours before, a bridge over the Stokes river had one of its foundations. The bridge was carried out into Lake Huron by the force of the waves, known as a Seiche. A Seiche is an unusually large wave on a lake or other land-locked body of water. It is usually caused by minor earthquakes, winds or variations in atmospheric pressure.

Nova Scotia Premier To Open Games

MAXVILLE, Ont., May 8 (CP)—Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia will officially open the fourth annual highland games here on August 2, it was announced Wednesday. Maxville is in Glengarry County, 20 miles north of Cornwall.

Among the pipe bands present will be those of the Toronto Scottish Regiment and the Black Watch Regiment of Montreal.

Father And Son Plead Innocent

KITCHENER, May 8 (CP)—Gus Knutson, 49, and his 21-year-old son, Walton, Wednesday pleaded innocent and elected trial before a higher court on charges of possession of high-grade gold ore and retaining stolen goods. They were remanded one week.

The two were arrested May 1 when police searched a Kitchener home and seized about 200 pounds of high-grade ore, which they said was stolen from the Kerr-Addison mine near Kirkland Lake. The ore was valued at from $3,900 to $6,000.

The elder Knutson also is charged with possession of three unregistered revolvers.

The crown attorney said the pair also face charges of breaking and entering laid by Northern Ontario police.

AMERICAN MOTHER, '52—Mrs. Toy Len Goon, 57, of Portland, Me., has been named as the "American Mother for 1952" by the national jury, American Mothers Committee of the Golden Rule Foundation. Widowed mother of eight children, Mrs. Goon, who was born in Canton, China, and who is now a U.S. citizen, still runs her laundry in Portland.

Won't Support Delay

LONDON, May 8—(Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said he would not support the postponement of German contribution to western defence until a meeting of the three allies and Russia could be held. But, he told questioners in the House of Commons, the government would bear in mind the possibility that such a conference on Germany's future might be possible "at the appropriate moment."

Plan To Build Smelter For Cobalt

COBALT, May 8 (CP) — A smelter to cost some $2,000,000 and to produce cobalt, silver and nickel metals and copper residues will be built here, Mines Minister Welland S. Gemmell said Wednesday night.

The demand for cobalt metal has assured this mining camp of a solid future, he said. The Ontario government is preparing alterations to the Mining Act to provide greater impetus for prospecting and development.

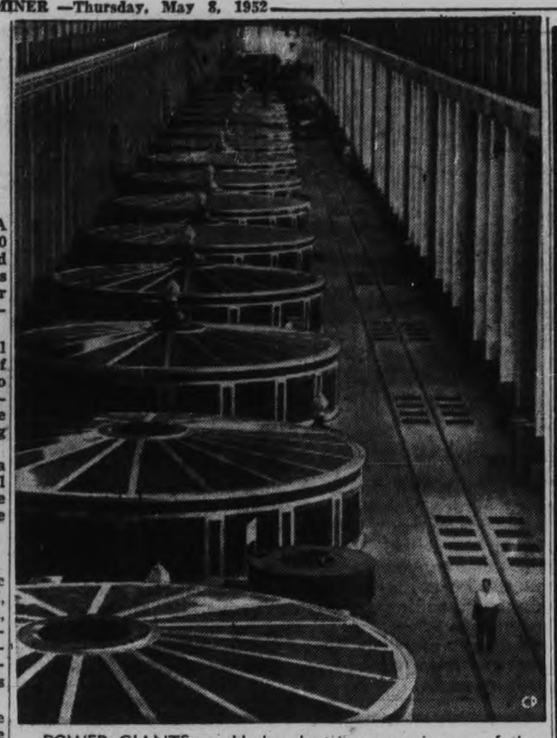
Mr. Gemmell was speaking at a combined meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, the Kinsmen and Rotary clubs.

Complete Negotiations

He announced that the Quebec Metallurgical Industries Limited, a subsidiary of Ventures Limited, and Frobisher Mining Corporation, in co-operation with the Cobalt Smelting and Refinery Company, have completed negotiations for construction of the smelter.

He read a statement from the companies involved. It said the Quebec company has developed a method for treatment of cobalt ore at its pilot plant at Ottawa. No public financing will be sought in the development. Much equipment from the Cobalt Refinery Company will be used.

The latter company operated a smelter near Gillies Lake, two miles south of Cobalt from 1949 until May, 1950, when the plant was destroyed by fire. It is believed that the new smelter will be constructed on the same site.



POWER GIANTS — Hydro-electric power is one of the keys to Canada's industrial progress. In this striking photo giant generators in the Beauharnois power plant at Beauharnois, Que., 20 miles southwest of Montreal, dwarf a hefty employee, lower right. Twelve additional generators of 55,000 horsepower each are under construction and present plans call for a third stage to increase the installed capacity of Beauharnois to more than 2,000,000 horsepower. Turbines are run by a head of water from the St. Lawrence river through a canal 3,000 feet wide. This photo is by Malak of Ottawa.

Packers Union Gets 10-Cent Increase

BRANTFORD, May 8 (CP)—A new contract signed by representatives of Canada Packers Limited and the Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.), provides for a 10 cent hourly wage increase for all regular employees and six cents an hour increase for seasonal workers, it was announced Wednesday. The contract is retroactive to March 27.

Drys Win Vote

UXBRIDGE, May 8 (CP)—The drys won Wednesday night in a vote on the establishment of liquor outlets in this town 35 miles northeast of Toronto. Vote on establishment of liquor stores was 580 for and 525 against and, on brewers' retail stores, 586 for and 512 against. Both votes were short of the 60-per-cent majority required. In heavy polling, 1,105 of a possible 1,232 persons voted.

Law To Compensate Federal Workers

OTTAWA, May 8—(CP)—The government Wednesday introduced legislation to compensate federal workers contracting an industrial disease while working in laboratories.

Labor Minister Gregg, under whose department the legislation will operate, said it will involve mainly federal workers in laboratories in the five eastern provinces where there is no provincial recognition for the contraction of diseases in laboratories.

SEAWAY VICTIM—The old and historic village of Morrisburg, nestling on the shores of the St. Lawrence river, will lose about two-thirds of its total assessment area if plans proceed for early development of the St. Lawrence Seaway and power project. A farm two miles east of the eastern Ontario village was a battle-site in the war between Canada and the United States in 1812-14. Shown here is the main street of the village. It will be under water when the Seaway is built.

Army Operating World's Biggest Booking Office

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 8 —(AP) — The world's biggest booking office is not in the talent centres of New York and Hollywood. It's in Washington.

The head of this global entertainment agency is a round-faced, enthusiastic Air Force Colonel named Joseph Goetz. In Hollywood to help line up a movie premiere in Alaska, he told how his office dispatches talent to wherever U.S. troops are serving overseas.

The Agency bears the typically military title of Armed Forces Professional Entertainment Branch. Otherwise there is little resemblance to a governmental agency. Red tape is kept at a minimum.

"The branch was set up last June by Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defence for manpower and personnel," said Col. Goetz.

"She recognized the need for a unified agency to handle the entertainment needs for all the services overseas. And she didn't want any time wasted. I was at my job four weeks before my orders came through."

Perfect Harmony

To make it an all-service outfit, the Air Force Colonel was joined by a Colonel of the Army and a Lieutenant - Commander, representing the Navy and Marine Corps. All work in perfect harmony, Col. Goetz remarked.

"We divided our fields of operation into four parts: 1. Korea and the Far East; 2. Alaska; 3. Europe, including North Africa, Iceland and Greenland; and the Caribbean. Each division has a regular circuit, so that no area that needs entertainment is overlooked.

"The backbone of our operation is not composed of the big-name stars. It is the units of top dancers, jugglers, acrobats, magicians, singers and so forth. We always have 14 of these units throughout the world at one time. There are always three units in Korea, and we send out a new one every three weeks."

The entertainment branch has sent to Korea Jack Benny-Erroll Flynn troupe and those headed by Danny Kaye and Betty Hutton. Jennifer Jones and Audrey Totter went over on hand-shaking tours; not being entertainers, they perform by personal visits with the servicemen.

4 Complaints In Police Inquiry

KITCHENER, May 8 (CP)—Four complaints were heard Wednesday as an investigatioon into the affairs of the Waterloo township police department began. The hearing is being held in camera.

Jerry Linseman, Centreville garage man, testified for more than two hours, it was learned.

Joseph Inzie, Doon farmer, was heard earlier.

Witnesses who entered the council chamber where the township police committee is carrying out the investigation were headed by deputy reeve T. H. Ilsley. He was accompanied by Joseph H. Bauer, Lexington farmer, and Gordon Rieck, Breslau garage man.

BIG BUSINESS

Canada sold agricultural and vegetable products worth $263,000,000 to the United States in 1951, an increase of 49 per cent over 1950.

Churchill Names Young Scot Health Minister

LONDON, May 8 — (Reuters). —Prime Minister Churchill made a surprise reshuffle of his government Wednesday night, appointing a 39-year-old backbencher of the Conservative Party as Health Minister.

The new minister, responsible for administering the country's mammoth health service, is Iain MacLeod, Cambridge - educated Scot who was head aof the Conservative Research Department till he became an M.P. in 1950.

The Prime Minister switched Alan Lennox-Boyd, 48, Minister of State for the Colonies, to the post of Minister of Transport vacated Wednesday through ill-health by John Maclay.

Other changes:

The Marquess of Salisbury, 58, vacates the post of Lord Privy Seal, but remains Commonwealth Relations Secretary and Leader of the House of Lords.

Harry Crookshank, 58, becomes Lord Privy Seal, relinquishing the Health ministry.

Henry Leonard Hopkinson, 50, now Overseas Trade Secretary, becomes Minister of State for the Colonies.

Not In Cabinet

Lennox-Boyd and MacLeod will not be members of the Cabinet, but they will receive £4,000 a year as ministers of Cabinet rank.

Apart from, filling the vacant transport job, the main purpose of the reshuffle is to ease Crookshank's work. As Leader of the House of Commons he is faced with heavy tactical responsibilities because of government plans to push through controversial legislation such as denationalisation of road transport and steel.

A new Overseas Trade Secretary is still to be chosen.

Take Money At Par

NIAGARA FAALS, May 8 (CP) —George A. Wilson, president of the Ontario Hotel Association, Wednesday advised hotel men to take the United States dollar at par. He told the Greater Niagara Hotelmen's Association that Canadians should accept American money as worth 100 cents on the dollar to maintain the flow of tourist travel across the border.

Tulip Time

WEYBURN, Sask. —(CP)—The usually warm spring here was a boon to flower-growers. Police Magistrate D. J. Mitchell reported he had had a dozen tulips in bloom since late April.

Claxton Promises Have Recreation Centre In Tokyo

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP).—Defence Minister Claxton indicated Wednesday that a recreation centre will be established in Tokyo for use of Canadian troops on leave from Korea.

He told the Commons that Brig. W. J. Lawson, adjutant general, today had recommended the establishment of such a centre in Tokyo.

Mr. Claxton was replying to Clarence Gillis (C.C.F.-Cape Breton South), who asked if any representations had been made by service personnel or welfare organizations regarding better furlough facilities for Canadian troops on leave in Tokyo.

"Until today the only representation made in this connection was that made by Bill Boss, Canadian Press correspondent," said Mr. Claxton.

Mr. Boss now is en route to Korea after returning to Canada briefly last week to receive a national newspaper award for feature writing. While in Ottawa he chatted with Mr. Claxton and suggested that a recreation centre is necessary in Tokyo.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, May 8th—It's simple arithmetic to figure out how much time and money the new BVD NYLON SHIRTS can save you! Made of always-comfortable, always-goodlooking nylon tricot . . . with fused collars and cuffs that never wilt—BVD Nylon Shirts need no ironing. Just think! It takes me almost 15 minutes to iron a shirt. 15 minutes multiplied by 7 to 10 shirts a week equals almost 2 shirt-ironing hours a week! Then there's the money a BVD Nylon Shirt saves. If the laundry price is about 20c—your husband's $12.95 BVD Nylon Shirt is paid for in 52 days—with most of its life ahead of it! Yes, the new BVD Nylon Shirt in grey, blue, tan and white is a "bargain" you can't afford to miss!

Because "Meat Is King" of any meal—I like to treat my meats royally —to the richness of fresh lemon flavouring and garnishes. And of course I use SUNKIST LEMONS—the finest, juiciest grown. Wonderful in this recipe—

LEMON BUTTER FOR MEATS

2 tbsp. Sunkist fresh lemon juice
2 tbsp. butter
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. paprika
1 tbsp. parsley, finely chopped

Blend well. Serve on hot steak, chops or fish. An additional garnish of Sunkist lemon quarters provides more garnish, if desired. (Serves 4.)

Yes, with meat prices sky-high, you want to make sure your meat dishes are as good as they can be. And I know of no better way to add to their deliciousness than with Sunkist California Lemons.

A Beautiful May Day. Ever noticed how troubles seem to vanish on a bright, sunny day? Yes, Mr. Sun lightens and brightens our spirits . . . just as WINDSOR SALT brightens the flavour of our favourite foods. In the kitchen and at the table—Windsor Salt makes all the difference between "dull" and "bright"—makes every part of the meal more enjoyable. Try this:—When you bake your next pie, add a pinch of Windsor Salt to the pie crust. You'll find that it improves the flavour wonderfully. And be sure to add Windsor Salt when you're making biscuits or muffins, as well. It's always free-running. To brighten the flavour of food—I always buy Windsor.

It Peps Up Every Dish It Touches . . . and no wonder. For HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP is a delicious blend of rich, rosy, "Aristocrat" tomatoes, fragrant spices and Heinz own vinegar. Steaks, chops, stews and left-overs all taste twice as tempting when you add the zesty flavour of Heinz Tomato Ketchup. It's in constant demand in our house—I wouldn't dare be without a bottle of Heinz Ketchup—and an "extra" for good measure. And, speaking of extras—you get extra value for your money when you buy the big 13-ounce bottle of Heinz Tomato Ketchup. Just compare it with the 11-ounce bottle of some brands—and see how little extra you pay for Heinz quality.

It's A "Great Spot" For Moths . . . Yes, moths breed happily in a grease spot—so before you store your woollens for the summer . . . be sure to get out all moth-attracting grease spots with ENERGINE CLEANING FLUID. It's a "wonder-worker"—the best clothes and money-saver I know. For Energine not only gets rid of grease spots—quickly, easily and safely . . . it removes fresh paint, tar and chewing gum from fabrics of all kinds. And though Energine is so effective—it's absolutely safe . . . contains no acids nor caustics. Take my advice and put Energine on your shopping list today—at drug and department stores for as little as 25c.

Do You Panic when friend husband phones at about four o'clock, to say he is bringing a Very Important Person home for supper? Well, here's a tip . . . put out your finest silver and china, wear a charming smile . . . and serve a Jell-O Pudding for dessert. Whether plain or "fancied up" a bit, JELL-O PUDDINGS add a gay air to any company meal. And they can be prepared so quickly. Always keep a package on hand . . . and you'll never be caught "unawares." With four Jell-O Pudding flavours and three Jell-O Tapioca Pudding flavours, there's a Jell-O Pudding to please every taste. Jell-O Puddings are wonderfully economical . . . and so good for the kiddies! Jell-O Puddings cost you only about 3c a serving to prepare . . . yet Jell-O Puddings are nourishing, milk-rich desserts.

Something New And Beautiful has been added to home decorating. What's more, it stays that way for a long, long time. That's DOMOLITE — the famous vinylite plastic fabric that's so easy to sew. Want to join me in my Domolite "sewing bee"? I made two sets of kitchen and bathroom curtains last night. Quick as that! You see, Domolite needs no hemming for it won't fray. And it's so easy to care for. It cleans with a damp cloth—no ironing. It wears and wears—repels moisture, oil and dirt. Inexpensive, too! Ask for Domolite (made by Dominion Oilcloth and Linoleum Company) at department or variety stores everywhere. And write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. —for free illustrated literature on what you can make with Domolite.

Today I Saw My Home "as others see it"! In the bright May sunshine it certainly looked as if a beauty treatment was needed. Well, I won't be caught without sufficient funds during this year's Beautification Campaign. Thanks to Personal Planning, my finances are in good shape, despite all the high prices. This year, I can actually afford to paint up, clean up and plant up the way I've always wanted to. Yes, the BANK OF MONTREAL's Personal Planning system of money management showed me how to save—painlessly—for a rainy day or a brand-new paint job. Why don't you try it? You can really cut down your money and home-owning worries the Personal Planning way. Write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—for your free copy of "Personal Planning for Successful Homemakers".

Perfect Cooking Comes Easily when you have the perfect stove . . . the new '52 GURNEY Gas Range. Yes, cooking "mishaps" are rare indeed when you cook with a Gurney. Everything about it has been designed to make cooking a real pleasure and a certain success. So many wonderful features—including the Automatic Clock Control for carefree, automatic cooking. And then there's the [illegible] "Even-Heat" oven—only the beginning . . . to find out about all the cooking advantages of the new Gurney Gas Ranges, visit your Gurney dealer soon!

"A Day Well Begun" is a day full of fun!" That's what mother used to say when I was a youngster—so eager to get out of doors that I couldn't stop for breakfast. But a good breakfast is a "must" for growing children — that's why so many mothers give their children the benefit of a "CREAM OF WHEAT" treat in the morning. Once tasted, playtime is forgotten and busy spoons dig in. Yes, 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is so good—and good for you, too. Every [illegible] provides iron to build red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. It's jiffy-quick to make. Takes just 5 minutes of boiling to cook to smoo-oth deliciousness.

You Can't Blame Your Husband for liking white white shirts. And it's so easy to please him by keeping his shirts white with laundry Blue. Yes, Blue does the best job of all in keeping clothes from turning yellow. Just a swish or two of Blue in the final rinsing—that's all there is to it. And you'll be glad to know that laundry Blue is completely safe for the fine fabrics in your wash. Those smooth-as-silk sheets you got for your anniversary—the luncheon set that's your pride and joy . . . don't take chances—use safe-as-can-be Blue to keep them snow-white. Costs just a few pennies a month—that's budget-wise, isn't it?

P.S.—For the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S Blue.

"M-mmm! This Is Good!" . . . that's what your husband will say when you give him a cup of INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. You see, Instant Chase & Sanborn is the instant coffee made by real coffee people. Nearly a century of coffee experience makes this the best "instant" you've ever tasted. The flavour's there—and the body—and the real lift. What's more, Instant Chase & Sanborn is so handy to serve. Takes no longer to make than boiling the water—and it's as easy to make ten cups as one. You'll like what it does for your food budget, too . . . saves you up to 40c a pound compared with ground coffee! So take my tip and keep a jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn handy—always.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Canada's Fishing Grounds World's Most Extensive

New-caught freshness. Ay — there's the rub. No wonder our brother and sister Canadjans on the East and West coasts catch, cook, eat and love fish. It's fresh.

The frozen-process people are doing their utmost to land it in the "inland provinces in prime condition.— but still we hold back. Even when beef prices soared over the dollar mark we didn't resort to fish to any notable degree.

What's the trouble? Weren't we trained fishwise?

I often refer to Barb because she is a gal who defies convention. If she had discovered a new lush way to serve fish and guests were invited, that's what they would be served. Just because chicken and roast beef and ham and lamb are touted as guest fare she doesn't fall for it. I'll never forget the time she had a new timbal iron to experiment with. She turned out delicate little timbals and decided she'd have to try them on the gentry. What she did serve was Lobster Newburg in those delicious little timbals at this rather formal dinner and won everybody's hearts.

Or she might buy a whole Restigouche or Gaspe salmon, as the Nova Scotians do, instead of a Sunday roast, and steam it or bake it and serve it hot for Sunday dinner. She would put it to any number of uses when cold. It would have to fill the school sandwiches just as roast beef would, or be converted into some sort of hash, just as beef would, and it makes marvellous salads that beef could never attain to. See what I mean?

There is another fish special that can stand up to any kind of competition. It is

Special Baked Stuffed Fish

This requires a 3-lb. whole fish (I like whitefish or salmon trout), or 2 lbs. fish fillets. Clean the whole fish or wipe the fillets with a damp cloth. Sprinkle inside surface with 1 teaspoon salt. Make the stuffing: To 2 cups soft breadcrumbs add ¼ cup tomato juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter or bacon drippings, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning, ½ tablespoon each finely minced green onion and chopped sweet pickle. Mix well. Place fish on greased pan and stuff lightly. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. allowing 10 minutes per inch thickness of fish. Tomato juice may be omitted.

Halibut Or Salmon Steaks

Six halibut or salmon steaks (each one sufficient for a serving), 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons melted fat, 1 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice, chopped parsley. Wipe fish with damp cloth. Brush with melted butter or oil and season with the salt and pepper. Place on greased broiler pan 4 inches from heat in hot oven of 400 deg. Fahr. Allowing 10 minutes per inch thickness of fish, turn steaks once during the cooking. This turning is facilitated if pieces of aluminum foil or parchment paper are cut out the shape of the steaks and steaks are placed on them at the start. After turning brush with remaining butter or oil, sprinkle with lemon juice and finish cooking. Sprinkle chopped parley over fish, and garnish wi[illegible]mon wedges dipped in par[illegible]

Spencer Method For Fish Fillets

Two lbs. fish fillets, 1 cup milk, 2 teaspoons salt, ¾ cup fine dry breadcrumbs. Cut fillets in individual pieces, soak 3 minutes in salted milk. Drain and roll in dry breadcrumbs. Place fish on greased baking dish and dot with butter. Bake at 500 deg. Fahr., allowing 19 minutes per inch thickness. For a very large fish heat may be reduced towards end of cooking time.

Woman Pilot Western Instructor

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) — The new flying instructor for the Lethbridge Flying Club is a woman who holds commercial pilot's licences in four countries. She also holds the highest possible certification in Canada as an instructor in instrument flying and in aerobatics.

She is Miss Vera Strodl who came from England a short time ago.

On her arrival in Ottawa following her engagement by the flying club, she took her Department of Transport categorization tests and was given the highest certification.

She holds Canadian, British, American and Swedish commercial pilot's licences.

In England she flew fighters and bombers while with the Air Transport Auxiliary during the war. She still is a member of the Women's Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve. At various times she has piloted 90 different types of aircraft.

Miss Strodl, who embarked on her flying career at 16, will be an instructor for the R.C.A.F. instructor refresher course at Kenyon field in Lethbridge in September.

Bailieboro News

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. H. C. Howson of Bailieboro, assisted by Mrs. C. Pitts of Buffalo, entertained a number of friends at an afternoon tea when the trousseau and gifts of her daughter Betty Joan were displayed. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. C. Jewison. The gifts were shown by Mrs. Judson Pue of Lakefield. Those assisting in the tea room were Mrs. Russell Kidd, Mrs. Alex Watt, Mrs. H. Campbell, Mrs. W. Jones and Mrs. George Beebe.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford called on Mr. Sid Wallace of Precious Corners recently.

IN BALLET FESTIVAL—A broken bone in her right foot did not prevent Irene Apine of Halifax from performing in the Canadian Ballet Festival at Toronto. Miss Apine and her husband, Jury Gotshalks, director of the Gotshalks Ballet Company of Halifax, both danced leading roles in "The Vision." They are seen tieing ribbons to Miss Apine's ballet shoe which fitted over her heavily-bandaged foot.

Look To Church For Leaders

MILLBROOK, May 8—(ENS)—Tables were turned Tuesday evening at Bailieboro when 20 Anglican theological students heard the farmer's views on church and clergy from three district farmers.

Reg. Fallis, Millbrook, Clare Winslow, Ida, and Alfred Nelson of Bailieboro, told the students what the farmer expects of the rural church and the rural clergy.

Speaking on the rural church, Mr. Winslow said he felt church members could help the gradual drifting of rural people to cities by taking a greater interest in the problems and difficulties of their neighbors.

The church should be the centre of the community. A fellowship group, providing speakers on aspects of church and rural life, would be an excellent idea.

Mr. Nelson also deplored the drift from country to city. Church attendance was less regular today than 25 years ago, and he felt the church was needed to solve modern problems.

Mr. Fallis said that of all the vocations, the minister walked closest to God; next to the minister came the farmer. He must labor and have faith that God too will do his share.

Rural people, he said, expected their minister to preach the gospel and to know his people. A rector, he felt, should know the people of his parish by visiting them in their homes as well as seeing them in church. And a minister should go beyond those of his own church, and know everyone he could meet in the district.

In summing up, the Rev. A. A. Chote, of St. Thomas', Millbrook, said: "If Christianity doesn't begin with the individual, it doesn't begin." Whether a person decided to go to the city or to remain in a rural community was a personal issue to be settled by thought and prayer.

Havelock News

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Barton at Rush Point was the scene of a family gathering Sunday, when Mrs. Barton and Mr. Barton's brother, Mr. Carl Barton, of Campbellford, celebrated their birthdays. Those attending the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. William Hinds and Master Richard Royal, of Wellman's Corners; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barton and sons Francis, James, Robert and Joseph, of Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Menzies and infant daughter Linda, of Havelock; Mr. James Deline, of Lakefield.

Mr. Frank Ketchen and Mr. Clinton Ketchen, of South Bend, Indiana, and Mr. and Mrs. John Reynolds (May Ketchen), of Lasswade, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ketchen, on the occasion of their father's 79th birthday. They also visited other relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dance, of Colborne, were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ketchen.

Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dafoe were Mr. and Mrs. Edward King and daughters Josephine and Verna and Mr. Robert McMillan, of Yarker; Mr. C. Wheeler and Miss Frances Youmans, of Rockdale; Mr. W. H. Dafoe, Mrs. Arthur King, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence King and daughters Darlene and Evaline, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ellis and daughter Eleanor, and Mr. Roy Dafoe, of Belmont township.

COTTONS for casual living frequently take to cover-ups, sometimes prefer pleating, often have very full skirts. Fresh, clear colors are important—the lemon yellows, bright-to-deep pinks.

Denims, corded cottons, piques and seersuckers are kind of fabrics that most easily adapt themselves to these cottons. They're able to take it, able to come out of the tub asking for more.

Because crinolines are scarcely a part of casual summer living, designers have devised ways of making the full skirt stand out with no help from petticoats. Sometimes this is accomplished by the crispness of the fabric or perhaps it's done by quilting.

Sun dress (left) has a bodice that's elasticized for perfect fit. Skirt has controlled fullness and there's a brief jacket for cover-up against sun or breezes.

Designer Toni Owen cut into a Bates bedspread (right) to make this stiff, full skirt in an intricate straight-and-bias cut. In clear yellow or pink, it's paired with a simple sleeveless shirt that has a narrow collar.

Girls' Home Founder Is 'Granny' To 2,000 Babies

EDMONTON— (AP)— It isn't every woman who is privileged to be "granny" to 2,000 babies within 30 years but that's how Mrs. Mary Finlay, founder and director of Edmonton's Beulah home, like to think of herself.

Since the rustic, brown and white home was opened back in 1911, Mrs. Finlay has comforted hundreds of unmarried mothers.

"Many of my family have found here the first real home they have ever known," said Mrs. Finlay.

A big sister organization among the girls welcomes the newcomers and acquaints them with the surroundings. The friendly atmosphere of the home helps to win the confidence of the girls, most of whom are between 18 and 22 years old.

The young mother-to-be won't trust anyone at first, but with affection and understanding, she is soon ready to pick up the threads of her life again, Mrs. Finlay says. It is so much easier to help the girl who tells her parents.

"The girls learn that they must be patient with their parents, and after the initial shock, it is the parents who stand by them."

The home is kept up by the community chest, civic and provincial grants, and by many municipalities. Maternity hospital costs are paid by the government.

"Our family isn't as large as it used to be," said Mrs. Finlay. "The children are adopted so young now," that the mothers don't stay as long as before."

What's Right?

A man takes you out to dinner.

WRONG: Pay no attention to the cost in deciding what you will have.

RIGHT: Don't order the most expensive dinner on the menu or the least expensive. The first may be hard on his pocketbook and the second may be hard on his pride.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"Dad only gave us enough money to get into the movie, so we're taking this along!"

DOROTHY DIX

Begrudges Paragon Wife One Night Out A Month

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife is a fine woman who keeps a spotless house, is attractive and well groomed herself, and serves wonderful meals. Our children are clean, well - mannered and obedient; my clothes are always in repair and tidily arranged in drawers and closet. She is not extravagant and has never had a charge account. Still, I have one complaint. She likes to go out dancing or to a night club once a month. She claims it keeps her young to go out now and then. I have just spent quite a bit of money on a TV set and I think after looking at that four or five hours every night she gets enough entertainment. She says she's awfully tired of TV and likes to mix with people. I'm satisfied with TV. Why can't she be?

JOHN H.

ANSWER: I thought, while reading your letter, that it was a Utopian ideal of womanhood; never did I expect this perfect creature to be real. And then to have you find a flaw! John, John, how can you be so lacking in appreciation of your paragon? Just one of these virtues would satisfy most men. Here you have every perfection in one creature and you find fault!

To begrudge a fine wife the pleasure of one night's dancing a month is ingratitude at its worst. Once a week would not be too great a reward for the blessings you have. Wake up, son! Be thankful for your boons and show it.

TV Isn't Everything

TV is very nice in its place, but it cannot be expected to provide all a woman's—or man's—relaxation and entertainment.

The pleasures of human companionship, the thrill of dancing to "live" music, the satisfaction of sitting down to a meal without worrying about dishes piling up in the kitchen—these are simple forms of entertainment to which any woman is entitled. In fact, they'll even do a hard-working man some good. Nothing is so conducive to a sluggish mind as a constant diet of TV. Television taken in proper doses can be entertaining, educational, stimulating, but as a steady thing it can become very boring.

Take your wife out dancing one a month; in fact, take her out twice a month, and be humbly grateful for the blessings she has brought you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My problem is rather difficult to present. I'm 19 years old, have two sisters and a brother. A few months ago I had an argument with a relative, during which I was told that I am not a child of my mother and father. My parents do not know that I have head this story. They have always treated me with the same love my sisters and brother receive. I've never felt "left out."

Naturally I would like to know the true facts, and am afraid of hurting my parents by asking them. I can think of no other way to discover the truth.

Q. V.

ANSWER: Most definitely you should tell your father and mother what you heard, and let them set you straight. Most likely the story was made up to hurt your feelings. However, even if it is true, the fact that you have always been loved and cared for as tenderly as the rest of the family gives the assurance that you were taken for love.

If the situation is as presented by your spiteful relative, it should cause you no undue grief or worry. The important thing now is to stop brooding over it by yourself, and ascertain the truth. If you are a foster child, you should have been told long ago, but since the duty was neglected, your parents will be only too happy themselves to share the secret with you. Don't delay. Tell them what you've heard, and accept the truth gracefully.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married three years to a fine husband who does everything in his power to please me. One thing about him I can't understand is that he wants me to buy the type of dresses he likes. Since I am the one to wear them, I think I should get what I like.

SONYA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If your husband's choices are, on the whole, acceptable to you, why not humor his whim and let him continue as stylist? Many men fancy themselves as fashion experts and it does no harm to foster the illusion. Some of them actually are very good at selecting clothes; if your husband is one of them, his advice may well be followed.

Plans Hostess Tea

BENSFORT, May 8 (ENS). — The May meeting of the Bensfort Woman's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Stuart Thompson. The devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. W. Lackey and Mrs. W. Moncrief. A reading was given by Mrs. W. C. Dawson.

Mrs. Merton Thompson gave a reading on "Be Good To Yourself."

Plans were discussed for the hostess tea to be held on May 28. It was decided that two car loads of ladies would attend the convention at Wesley on Thursday. After the meeting a baking sale and plant sale was held.

Marks 78th Birthday

MARMORA, May 8 (ENS). — Fred Matthews of Deloro, who celebrated his 78th birthday on Friday, was tendered a dance and party at his home on Friday evening. Mr. Matthews has lived in this district for about 30 years, coming to Deloro from Toronto following his retirement from the C.P.R. with whom he was employed for many years as brakeman on a passenger train.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Benson, 398 George St. S., are home after spending a winter vacation in Florida.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Richardson have returned to their home in Bridgenorth after spending the winter in Florida and visiting with friends in Toronto.

✧ ✧ ✧

'38 Club members had an interesting meeting Wednesday evening at the Y.W.C.A. with Mrs. N. Gell as speaker, giving travel suggestions for the coming holiday season.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sackville, Maria St., have been spending several days in Toronto, Mrs. Sackville to visit her sister, Mrs. A. S. Russell, and Mr. Sackville to attend the spring meeting of the executive of the Council of the United Church of Canada.

✧ ✧ ✧

A golfing party at the Peterborough Golf Club was enjoyed Wednesday evening by the staff of the Bank of Montreal. Miss Marie Leahy, Mrs. Jack Sackville and Miss Esther Might were in charge of the arrangements. Manager Mr. Ford Warren presented prizes to the low score winners, Miss Patsy Scharf and Eric Baggs.

✧ ✧ ✧

Commencement exercises of the St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing will be held this Friday afternoon, commencing at three o'clock, in the residence auditorium. The 16 graduates will be addressed by the Rev. J. F. Coughlin. Guest soloists for the occasion will be Mrs. Stanley Northrop and Mrs. Leslie McLaren with Mrs. Wilson Craw accompanist, and Mr. Kevin Leahy will render a violin selection with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Leahy.

✧ ✧ ✧

Previous to her wedding, Mrs. Stuart Clark, the former Miss Pearl Trethewey, was entertained at the home of Mrs. O. Sugden, Aylmer St., when a number of friends presented a set of aluminum kitchenware. Mrs. K. Shadgett and her daughter Mrs. P. Elmhirst entertained at the former's home on Arndon Ave. at a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. E. Storey, Aylmer St., was hostess to nursing associates of the bride from Civic Hospital who tendered a miscellaneous shower.

Out-of-town guests attending the Clark-Trethewey wedding at George St. Church on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. M. Hunter Sr., Mr. Matthew Hunter, Miss Anne Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rev. Honey Speaks On China

A "missions night" was observed by the St. James Y.P.U. on Wednesday and they had as speaker the Rev. Floyd Honey, a missionary recently returned from China. Mr. Honey emphasized that the Christian church is still carrying on in China, though he believes it will have bad times yet and he asked that the Chinese Christians be remembered in prayers. He feels that the church will continue to grow there in spite of the Communists. The evening was concluded with singing the hymn "In Christ there is no east or west." Lunch was served in Wesley Hall.

Soloist Honors Mothers

Mark St. Baby Band mothers met in the church parlors Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. Guppy opened with a lovely thought for the month. Mrs. A. Worsencroft conducted the devotional period, opening with a poem and hymn. Scripture reading was by Mrs. P. MacFadden. Mrs. Mendell Braund of the Salvation Army was a guest and sang two selections chosen for Mother's Day. Her accompanist was Mrs. Eade. A poem, titled "Young Mothers," was read by Mrs. J. Southgate, and Mrs. A. Downer read a story, "Mother Points to Life and God." Mrs. W. Parnell also gave a reading. The social hour was spent pleasantly, with Mrs. Worsencroft in charge. Assisting her were Mrs. Southgate, Mrs. Parnell, Mrs. Downer, Mrs. B. Morwood and Mrs. McFadden.

Tribute To Mothers Theme

Star Class of George St. Church held a meeting Tuesday evening in the board room, conducted by president Mrs. C. Barton. Theme was a "Tribute to Mothers" and readings were given by Mrs. Ray Hetherington, Mrs. F. Barker, Mrs. W. Scott, Mrs. O. W. Smith, Mrs. G. Leeson and Mrs. E. Roseborough. A scripture selection was read by Miss Olive Day and prayer offered by Mrs. S. Thompson. Ray Turnbull and Paul Hetherington entertained the ladies with a clarinet solo. Mrs. R. Hancock gave a reading titled "Mother's Day address," and a poem "Prayer for Mother" was by Mrs. F. A. Hucks, accompanied by Miss Dorothy White on the piano. Mrs. C. McKenzie and Mrs. C. Bullock sang duets with Miss White accompanying. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. W. P. Hetherington and dainty refreshments were served by Miss Ila Sayers' group.

Surprise "Fashion Show"

Mr. and Mrs. Club members of George Street United Church enjoyed a tour through the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company on Wednesday night. After their return to the church, Mr. Stewart Bowman directed a devotional period. Mrs. Ernie Beatty then entertained with an amusing reading. Surprise of the evening was the "fashion show" with outstanding styles modelled by Mr. Bowman, Larry Seili, Ernie Beatty, Blake Trenham and Rea Kelcey. Mr. Stan Gilmore played background music, while Allan McDougall was the commentator.

Mr. Archie Townsend, vice-president, conducted business, concluding arrangements for the group's assistance at the fireside this Sunday evening. Mrs. Bowman's group served lunch.

Word To The Wise

Word to the wise should be sufficient,—

Smart Set Shop will have a sale of blouses this week-end. Those sheer nylon blouses that make you always look so freshly groomed, cool and appealing; that are so easy to care for and wear so well.

You'll notice the colors in these higher priced blouses are very dainty, and more becoming. There are varying shades of pink and of blue in the wide selection. They are beautifully made garments with fine tucking, and ruffle trim, lace trim and embroidered trim—short sleeves, long sleeves or Gibson Girl sleeves.

And another word—

Mr. Levine is slashing prices on all the pyjamas in stock at Smart Set Shop and putting them into two price groups at $1.98 and $2.98. These too are attractive "buys" for the coming season in cool prints and pastel solid colors. (Advt.)

THIS YEAR, the girl graduate can decide in advance just what kind of picture she'll make when she mounts the platform for her diploma.

Girl graduate (left), primping for her moment in the spotlight, wears a white dress with a future. Heavy white cotton lace is backed with taffeta, given a V-neckline and short puffed sleeves.

The look of the lace makes it stand out; so does the utter absence of any treatment that might detract from the line. Strict silhouette emphasizes a molded bodice and a very full skirt.

Baby dress (right) is trimmed in fine val lace. It's used to outline the bib effect and to trim the collar and lamp shade sleeves. Full skirt is belled out over a crinoline.

Eye-Catching Nonsense Adds To Summer Designs

PARIS, May 8—(AP)—Feminine fashions this summer will range from weird and wonderful to simple and unsophisticated.

Paris designers produced a lot of eye-catching nonsense but not serious new trends during the middle of the fashion season just finished.

The briefest sunsuits and bathing suits, bathing suit tops on dresses and slacks, and deeply rounded-out necklines make it look as if suntans will be popular. Sunlovers will be sure to approve the new styles, but as a sop for the lady who likes to keep a lily-white complexion there are also big cloche-shaped shady hats.

Three of the liveliest collections were Heim's, Schiaparelli's, and Hubert de Givenchy's.

Heim made his audience gasp with audacious two-piece bathing suits and transparent open-work lace dreses worn over bathing costumes. One model was draped in an abbreviated black siren sarong.

Walking-stick handbags, sunglasses clipping over the top of the head in a man-from-mars effect, witch doctor jewelry and towelling cloth dresses were some of the novelties adding sparkle to Schiaparelli's style parade.

She also showed strapless floor-length formals in glazed chintz, transparent plastic belts, and quilted chintz cocktail clothes.

Givenchy mixed an exciting style cocktail of frilly, old-fashioned crinoline skirts with up-to-date naughty neckline blouses.

He delved in the attic trunk for nostalgic fringed fichus (triangular shawls), rhinestone shoe-buckle, chignon covers and bows; and wall-paper printed chintz and cretonne. Like Patou, he made even slacks look ultra-feminine with all-over embroidery.

broderie Anglaise over layers of rustling green petticoats, its tiny waist held by a matching cummerbund, is a cotton outfit with a Bond Street price and label.

An elegant town dress by the queen's dressmaker, Hardy Amies, is in black poplin with hand-embroidered neckline. A patent belt nips in a nine-yard skirt floating over stiffened crinoline petticoats. Price, of this cotton ensemble is £70.

On the other hand, a lace-printed cotton sun-top dress with flaring skirt and tiny bolero costs only about £4. Its hour-glass silhouette would be smart on the Brighton parade or the Cote D'Azur.

For home dressmakers, the glut of cotton has brought down the price of seersucker, gingham, ribbed cotton and the finer sea island and Egyptian cottons. Most ranges between 5s. and 10s. a yard, but some come as cheaply as 3s.

A teen-ager contemplating her first trip abroad can find beach wear in gaily printed cottons for just under £5. A typical design is a topless swimsuit with bloomer foot, covered by decollete sun dress with swinging skirt and tiny bolero. Checked denim pinafore dresses costing under £2 can be worn as sun dresses, while addition of a dark cotton blouse makes them suited to many occasions.

Style Writers Praise Virtues Of Cotton Togs

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—(CP)—With the slump in Britain's cotton industry still causing anxiety, fashion writers are drawing attention to the varied summer styles available in many types of cotton fabrics.

Some writers emphasize that cotton, once relegated to the production of aprons and kitchen curtain materials, now is part of every royal wardrobe.

Princess Margaret wears cotton outfits to the races, the Queen bought some for the royal tour of Australia and New Zealand and the Duchess of Kent wore a cotton dress in a picture taken for her personal Christmas cards. The Countess of Harewood wore cotton for her official engagement picture and the sophisticated Duchess of Windsor likes up-to-date holiday styles in this fabric.

Retailers note that last year's average price for a cotton dress was just under £5. This year's figure for the same dress is £3 10s.

This, of course, is the price that interests the working girl and the housewife. For the royal family and others who can afford expensive clothes, cotton dresses come as high as £70 and up.

Ivy And Apple Blossoms At Trinity Maytime Tea

Another of the delightful Maytime Teas for which the Trinity Baby Band Mothers have made themselves famous in this city was held Wednesday afternoon. The arrangements, which included two tea rooms to eliminate waiting for the guests, were under the general convenership of Mrs. E. H. Wellman and co-convener Mrs. S. C. Phillips.

Ivy and apple blossoms were the keynotes in the background decorations with gay streamers and carnival-type canopies for the sale tables. Pretty nosegays were in the centre for each of the small tables and the tea table centrepiece was a bouquet of snapdragon, daffodils and tulips with lighted pencil tapers set in.

Decorating conveners were Mrs. E. Edmondson and Mrs. O. Jamieson with a committee of Mrs. T. Crites, Mrs. J. Gregg, Mrs. K. Barltrop and Mrs. B. Northey.

Hostesses in the tea room were Mrs. J. Skitch, Mrs. Wm. Swayne, Mrs. S. Phillips, Mrs. D. Murray, Mrs. V. Colling, Mrs. A. Purdon and Mrs. R. Scrutton.

Tea room conveners were Mrs. J. Stewart and Mrs. R. Bogle and those serving were Mrs. A. Smoke, Mrs. Wm. Messervey, Mrs. A. McGinn, Mrs. K. Gibson, Mrs. J. Fraser, Mrs. D. Aitken, Mrs. K. Kemp, Mrs. R. Huffman, Mrs. D. Irving, Mrs. Dean Cutmore, Mrs. B. Harrison, Mrs. T. Clark, Mrs. R. Bell, Mrs. R. Armstrong, Mrs. F. Stinson, Mrs. J. Pierce, Mrs. M. Elliott, Mrs. A. Butterworth, Mrs. F. Hambley and Mrs. H. Coon.

Pouring tea were presidents of other Mothers' groups in the city, Mrs. J. Wishart, Murray St. Church; Mrs. R. Parnell, George St.; Mrs. H. Guppy, Mark St.; and Mrs. C. Jones of St. James.

Replenishing of the plates and tea pots was done by Mrs. B. Till, Mrs. R. Kemp, Mrs. G. Kiff, Mrs. L. Brooks, Mrs. E. Malcolm, Mrs. N. Nesbitt, Mrs. A. Parker and Mrs. J. Sage.

Children's clothes were the main items for sale at the bazaar tables and they were of outstanding quality and workmanship, all made by the group members. Two and three piece sun outfits and little girls' print dresses were quickly sold. The conveners in charge were Mrs. K. Harrison and Mrs. A. Legon with Mrs. O. Jamieson, Mrs. B. Northey and Mrs. J. Johnston assisting.

The home baking table was convened by Mrs. K. Baritrop and her salesladies were Mrs. R. Seabrooke, Mrs. E. McWilliam, Mrs. W. G. Laird and Mrs. E. White. Candy table was under convenership of Mrs. R. McDonald and Mrs. D. Tanney with Mrs. H. Wilson and Mrs. G. Wallace assisting.

Mrs. G. Thompson and Mrs. T. Crites had a table in the hallway displaying "white elephants" and greeting cards for sale.

Receiving was president Mrs. W. B. Gordon, assisted by Mrs. D. B. Gordon, the honorary president and later by Mrs. E. H. Wellman, second vice-president in the absence of first vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Taylor.

Mrs. A. Thompson, who was in charge of tickets and advertising for the tea was at the treasurer's table.

LIEUT. NOLA JOAN SMITH, of the Salvation Army, whose engagement to Lieut. Wrayburn Whitesell, of Vancouver, B.C., is announced. The wedding will take place June 7 at the Salvation Army Temple, Peterborough. Lieut. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smith, of 1292 Clonsilla Ave.

Home and School Association News

HAVELOCK

HAVELOCK, May 8 (ENS) — Mrs. R. Parnell of Peterborough was guest spueaker and installed the officers of the Havelock Home and School Association at their meeting in the school on Monday night.

The following are the officers for 1952-53: president, Mrs. B. E. Johnson; vice-presidents, Mrs. D. Kirk and Mrs. J. Calnan; secretary, Mrs. H. Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. R. Sayers; executive members, Mrs. J. Wilde, Mrs. G. Whitney, Mrs. G. Hubbel, Mrs. H. Pollock and Mrs. Grenville Rutherford.

Mrs. Parnell spoke on the subject "The Aims and Ideals of the Home and School Association." The aims and ideals are the same today as when Mrs. A. C. Courtice organized the Association in 1916 Mrs. Parnell said, and the first annual convention in Toronto in 1920 was small in numbers compared with the hundreds that attend now. The Home and School Association, she said is not a crusade to reform the school but it is a school for parents and teachers with one major object, to know the child.

A leader should have three types of bones: a wishbone to visualize hopes and dream for success; a funny bone to laugh at mistakes and a backbone to continue when things go wrong.

We have a responsibility to our children, Mrs. Parnell said, to see that we have the right leaders and educated parents as well as teachers. No matter how serious world conditions may become our homes must be maintained and our children must be educated for future citizens, perhaps under conditions of some difficulty. "This is a challenge to Home and School members for as a local association you are one unit in an organization that is international in its scope, with a history we are proud of and a future of untold opportunity to work for the betterment of the children who are the citizens of tomorrow."

Mrs. Parnell was introduced by Mrs. F. McKay the program convenor and Mrs. W. J. Corneil thanked Mrs. Parnell on behalf of the association.

Mrs. George Wright sang "Open the Gates of the Temple" by request with Mrs. D. Kirk as accompanist. A duet was sung by Carol Ellis and Carol Rutherford with Mrs. R. Backus at the piano. Community singing was enjoyed. Mr. Linden's room won the attendance shield.

Mrs. B. E. Johnson presided for the opening exercises and the business session and thanked all those who had helped her when she took over the office of president last December and expressed the hope for future co-operation for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Johnson as delegate to the recent convention of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Association in Toronto gave a detailed report, the theme of which was "Parents are Teachers."

Reports were given from all departments of the local association for the past year. The auditor's report was presented by Mrs. R. Backus, the nominating report by Mrs. J. Calnan, the secretary's report by Mrs. D. Kirk, the treasurer's report by Mrs. H. Anderson; publicity and publications by Mrs. W. J. Corneil; health convenor by Mrs. J. Wilde; membership by Mrs. R. Sayers; social by Mrs. F. Chase and program by Mrs. F. McKay.

It was decided to hold an executive meeting in the school on May 12, to select any new convenors needed in the Association.

Billy Watson and Omar Corneil took up the collection. The social convenor Mrs. F. Chase and her hostesses served lunch.

Army Barracks Houses 400 Children

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., (CP)— A former army barracks, once unkindly termed a white elephant, has become one of Prince George's chief assets, a dormitory for about 400 students.

To the teen-agers from rural areas, the dormitory is a second home where they lead a happy, healthy existence while receiving secondary school education at the city's junior and senior high school.

The boys and girls who have lived there for varying periods during the last five years stand high in their classes, due perhaps to regular study periods.

Formerly an officers' mess, the interior corridors are painted in light creams and greens, and there is an atmosphere of cleanliness and comfort.

They are allowed a free hand in decoration and arrangement of their own rooms, shared by three occupants. Each pays $25 a month and deposits $5 on entry to cover any "wilful breakage". Operation costs are shared by the school board and the department of education.

"Mother" of the current family is Mrs. Elizabeth Yost, R.N., matron of the dormitory since it opened. She is always ready to advise on personal problems, take part in games, assist with lessons or to administer a reprimand.

Mrs. Yost's formula boils down to common sense, persuasion and keeping young with the young people.

The girls do most of the dishwashing themselves, she said. Each week she prepares a list assigning all jobs of cleaning, fetching kindling and other duties among the students.

"Everybody gets a turn and assigned tasks are completed promptly and cheerfully."

A recreation room is needed, but there is little prospect at present of getting one.

"The boys and girls here," she said, "made fine progress with their lessons and learn to live with other people. They learn to tolerate one another and to be patient. That will be useful to them all their lives."

Spirit Of The Small Church Evident At Grace W.A. Tea

In small churches such as the Grace United Church on Howden Ave. there is a precious spirit of comradeship and friendliness that is often missed by a larger congregation. A reminder of this came from the minister, the Rev. E. W. Rowland, who was sharing in the pleasure of the tea room at the W.A.'s Maytime tea Wednesday afternoon.

It is expected that building of a larger church will be commenced soon and the ladies are now hoping to divert some of their profits from the building fund to set aside a sum for equipping a kitchen in the new church. They now work in rather cramped quarters when serving food and long for space and modern equipment.

This tea was very successfully carried out and a crowd of friends were entertained satisfyingly. Decorations in the basement and tea room and for the bazaar were attractively done and lovely spring flowers were on each table.

The tea table bouquet was pink and white snapdragons flanked with white tapers and the setting was a white linen cloth and lace-edged doilies. The individual tables had centre bouquets of tulips and forsythia.

Mrs. G. Close and Mrs. E. Hotston filled the tea cups which were served by Mrs. H. Corner, Mrs. W. Gerow, Mrs. R. Wright, Mrs. N. Foster, Mrs. J. R. Hosker, and Mrs. A. J. Tyler.

Mrs. C. Wilson made the tea and Mrs. F. Marsden and Mrs. A. Partington replenished the plates while Mrs. B. Walker and Mrs. J. Ainslie replenished cups.

General convener of the tea arrangements was Mrs. Th... and she was assisted by Mrs. M. Beasley, Mrs. J. Grierson and Mrs. W. Page, Jr. Mrs. W. R. Harrison also assisted with the preparations.

President Mrs. Eric McKinstry received in the tea room, assisted by Mrs. E. W. Rowland, and Mrs. J. B. Jackson took tickets.

Near the door of the church was situated the "post office" table in charge of Mrs. D. Montgomery and she found ready sale for the parcels which had been mailed in by friends of the members. Mrs. W. McNutt had a table of greeting cards and stationery for sale.

The bazaar tables offered aprons, children's clothes and household gadgets with Mrs. W. Hargreaves, Mrs. J. Wassick, Mrs. K. Gash and Mrs. F. Horton in charge of sales. One home baking table was filled with delicious looking cakes and another with tarts, cookies and a quantity of tea biscuits. Salesladies were Mrs. H. McMahon, Mrs. J. Bailey, Mrs. H. Glover and Mrs. F. Garside.

World Needs Answered By Bible

SPRINGVILLE, May 8 (ENS)—The Rev. Edgerton Young of the Toronto branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society was guest speaker at Springville United Church on Sunday morning.

"The Bible today," he said, "provides a common ground for mutual understanding between the nations. Successful relationship is built on the premise, loving our neighbours next door or over in Korea."

The Bible was also a bond of unity, uniting the religious leaders of the dark ages even before the mass production made possible by the printing press.

The work of the Bible Society is still going on in China under Chinese Christian leadership.

Why has the Bible such power? Mr. Young said the answer is that it has the capacity to meet human needs — comfort, companionship, keeping our way clean.

The Bible has answers to the world's needs in 1,100 languages and dialects. Eight more translations are to be added next year. Even yet there are over 900 tribes of people who haven't even a portion of scripture written in their own dialect.

There are societies in the world to discredit religion but history shows that where the Bible has been suppressed or pushed aside, freedom has gone with it. There is a need for twenty-five million Bibles to be printed every year.

"If we don't go on creating new creatures in Christ Jesus," the speaker warned, "we will have to create bombs."

At the close of the service a special offering was received for the work of the Bible Society.

At the evening service in Fairmount Church, Mr. Young showed a sound film of the Bible in the home.

Clarence Johnston was re-elected president of the local branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society and Roger Hanbidge was elected secretary-treasurer.

BY-LAW NUMBER 5

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD VILLAGE OF HASTINGS

A BY-LAW TO AMEND BY-LAW NUMBER FOUR, PASSED ON THE 26TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1951.

The Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate Schools of the Village of Hastings hereby enacts as follows:

1. The fourth paragraph of the preamble to By-law Number Four is hereby Deleted, and the following paragraph substituted, and will now read as follows:

"AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the Village of Hastings is nil."

2. Paragraph Number 4 of the said By-law is amended by placing a period after the word "Secretary-Treasurer," in the third line of said paragraph and inserting as the beginning of the following sentence "The interest coupons attached to the debentures shall be signed by the Secretary-Treasurer," so that the said paragraph will now read as follows:

"The said debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Board and signed by the Chairman of the Board, or by some other person authorized by By-law to sign the same, and by the Secretary-Treasurer. The interest coupons attached to the debentures shall be signed by the Secretary-Treasurer and his signature thereon may be written, stamped, lithographed or engraved.

3. Paragraph Number 5 of the said By-law is hereby deleted and the following paragraph bearing the same number substituted and will now read as follows:

"Commencing in the year 1952 and during the twenty years, the currency of the debentures, the respective sums set forth in the said Schedule "A" hereto, shall be levied and collected annually by the special rate sufficient herefor over and above all other rates, in the same manner and from the like persons and property, by, from, upon or out of which other Separate Schools rates are levied, raised and collected, for the said period of twenty years. In each of the said twenty years, the currency of the said debentures, the Board shall, pursuant to the provisions of Section 70 of the Separate Schools Act, request the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Village of Hastings, that the said Municipal Council through its collector and other municipal officers cause to be levied in each such year upon the taxable property liable to pay same, all sums of money for rates or taxes imposed thereon in respect of Separate Schools.

4. That the following paragraph is hereby added and to form part of the said By-law as paragraph 5A:

"The said sum of $44,000 so borrowed and interest thereon, and the said debentures, shall be and the same are hereby made a charge upon the schoolhouse property and premises and on the real and personal property vested in the said Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the Village of Hastings and upon all the Separate School rates of the said Board to be hereinafter imposed, until the said debentures and each and every of them together with all interest thereon shall have been fully paid and satisfied."

5. Paragraph Number 8 of the said By-law is amended by striking out the words "the said debentures either in whole or in part" in the second line of the said paragraph and substitution for the same words "that portion of the said debentures which mature in the twentieth year" and by striking out the final sentence of the paragraph so that the said paragraph will now read as follows:

"The Board shall have the right, at its option, to redeem that portion of the said debentures which mature in the twentieth year on any date prior to maturity at the places and in the moneys in which the said debentures are expressed to be payable upon payment of the principal amount thereof together with interest accrued to the date of redemption and upon giving previous notice of said intention to redeem by advertising once in the Ontario Gazette and once in a daily newspaper of general provincial circulation, published in the City of Toronto, and once in a local newspaper, such notice to be advertised as aforesaid, at least thirty days before the date fixed for redemption. Notice of intention so to redeem shall also be sent post at least thirty days prior to the date set for such redemption to each person in whose name a debenture so to be redeemed is registered at the address shown in the Debenture Registry Book."

Read a First and Second Time, this 19th Day of April, 1952.

T. C. DALY,
Chairman.
JACK BRINKLOW,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Read a Third Time, and finally passed this 19th Day of April, 1952.

T. C. DALY,
Chairman.
JACK BRINKLOW,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Three Drowned

PIERREVILLE, Que., May 8—(CP).—Florent Laramee, 30, his wife, 28, and a two-year-old daughter were drowned in the St. Francis River Wednesday when their station wagon plunged into the river from a shore road. Authorities said Mrs. Laramee, who was driving, swerved to avoid hitting an oncoming car and lost control of her vehicle. Pierreville is about 70 miles east of Montreal.

OBITUARY

REGINALD HAROLD PAUL FARTHING

Reginald Harold Paul Farthing, 73, Keene, and formerly of Peterborough, died at his residence Wednesday following an illness of eight months.

Born in London, England, Mr. Farthing was the son of the late Frederick William Farthing and Priscilla Styles. He lived in Keene for the past nine month, going there from Peterborough.

While in Peterborough, Mr. Farthing was an employee of the Auburn Woolen mills and the Peterborough Lumber Co. He was a veteran of the First World War and was a member of the Canadian Legion and the Anglican church.

He leaves his wife, the former Elsie May Winters, six daughters, Mrs. Louis O'Coyne (Ruth), Mrs. Earl Hetherington (Cora), Mrs. Gordon Smith (Hilda), Mrs Harold Forsyth (Irene), Mrs. William Rogers (Grace), all of Peterborough, and Mrs. George Stoneburgh (Anneta), Keene; three sons, Arnott, Norman and Gordon, all of Peterborough; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Cronk, South Africa; Mrs. Harry Busheral, Australia; and three brothers, Horace and Oscar, both of London, England, and Cyril, South Africa.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Nesbett funeral home. The Rev. M. P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church will conduct the service assisted by Mapor D. Sharp of the Salvation Army. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Predicts Change In Technique Of Film-Making

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP) —W. Arthur Irwin, federal film commissioner, said today that the technique of motion picture production may be changed within the next 10 years.

Making his first appearance before a parliamentary committee, Mr. Irwin told Commons members investigating the National Film Board that "It is not impossible that within the next decade or even less, visual film images now recorded on celluloid may by recorded on magnetic tape."

"This one innovation alone would radically change the whole technique of motion picture production."

Rapidly - changing techniques were creating big problems and the borad had to handle its planning "with great care".

Another major problem was in the field of television "which inevitably will have a profound effect on motion picture activities both in respect to production techniques and distribution methods."

Low-Cost Films

There will be a great need a develop low-cost films, while still maintaining quality, and also a need to prevent possible duplication of expensive equipment between the film board and the Canadian Broadcastinng Corporation.

Mr. Irwin recalled that the Massey Commission on Arts had recommended increased distribution of film board films in Canada and other countries.

Some success had been achieved, but "rising costs continue to be a serious obstacle."

The Film Board, he added, has a role to play in Canadian life. With a relatively small population, Canada could achieve an "abiding national identity" only if Cadians continue to cherish the things they hold in common and be sympathetic to those things in which they differ . . ."

9 Houses Sold Before Started

Before Don E. Ephgrave recently broke ground for a further block of 14 houses at Park St. and Braidwood Ave., he had sold nine of them.

The location is the former site of Scott Lumber Co., and later Ventilating Shades. Mr. Ephgrave built 42 houses on the property last year. The present 14 will bring the total to 60, and there is still some other ground left.

These houses are of four, five and six rooms, of brick veneer, and modern dwelling construction throughout.

"As the figures indicate," Mr. Ephgrave said today, "there is still quite an active demand for that type of house."

Seven builders and contractors are planning to erect 50 houses in the subdivision immediately north of the city on which the council has options. The area is west of Hilliard St.

Details

Ross Thompson of Davis-Thompson Co. in a letter to the council Monday night provided the following detail of project information in the names of the [illegible] David Mitchell and Edward Mosier, each ten houses; John McCallum and Arnold Steele, six each; and John Hickson and Errol J. Hess, four each.

That communication was an earnest of the building of houses assured for this year as soon as options are exercised by the city.

Schneider - Alexander Limited own the largest section, 17 of the total of 25 acres. Its location is east of Hilliard St. to Barnardo and on the west side of Dumble Ave.

Queen Elizabeth school site was part of the block. It was bought for that suburban school section.

Aerial Census

OSLO — (CP)—The first aerial census of reindeer was undertaken recently in Eastern Norway, when photographers flying high over the Rendal mountains took many pictures. The experiment was pronounced a success.

Planners Aim Improve India At Conference

NEW DELHI, May 8 (Reuters)—A vast, U.S.-backed scheme to revolutionize substandard conditions in India took its first step Wednesday as Prime Minister Nehru opened a five-day co-ordination conference of 300 planners.

The U.S. will sink about $26,-600,000 this year into bringing improved farming, irrigation, health and sanitary methods to 55 rural communities occupied by 12,000,-000 villagers. India's share will be about $34,000,000.

By the end of 1952, all 55 projects, comprising about 17,500 villages, should be in operation. It is expected that capital investment will be stopped in three years, when each project should be able to maintain itself.

Keynote of the program will be to raise food production and eliminate disease by inter-village co-operation and planning.

Technical Assistance

America's share will include technicial assistance, deep well construction and provision of fertilizers and equipment. More than $3,000,000, provided by the Ford Foundation, will go to set up 30 agricultural training centres in the areas.

The vast majority of India's 310,-000,000 people live rural lives, and it has been estimated that one-third of them are undernourished. Lack of sanitary conditions and foul drinking water cause high incidence of disease.

Apart from the Ford Foundation's contribution, the Technical Co-operation Administration will provide the U.S. share, granting $8,500,000 directly to the project and supplying $15,000,000 in technical assistance, steel and well equipment and fertilizers during the first year.

Makes Appeal For Son's Return

AZTEC, N.M., May 8—(AP)—A Baptist minister today anxiously awaited a possible response to his appeal for the safe return of his missing three-year-old son.

The child, John R. Wade, disappeared from his home Sunday. He must be kept on a special diet.

Police aren't sure whether the child was kidnapped, drowned or lost.

"I'm going on with my church work. Our faith is in God," said the Rev. Anthem Wade.

Hundreds of searchers and five airplanes have combed this northwestern New Mexico area without finding the lad.

Wade has appealed by radio to anyone who may have the tot to "take good care of johnny."

Over a station in nearby Farmington Wednesday, the minister pleaded:

"We love Johnny and we want him back. He has an ellergy and must be kept on a special diet. He can't eat bacon, ham or any pork, green beans or corn. He can eat beef, fish and most other vegetables.

"If someone is holding him for ransom or for some other reason, please give him back or tell us what we can do to contact him."

Hope To Cut Down Rail Bush Fires

TORONTO, May 8 (CP).—The Board of Railway Commissioners and the Ontario lands department will co-operate in a project to cut down the number of forest fires caused by railway locomotives.

Lands Minister Scott said today in a statement that sparks from engines have been the greatest cause of bush fires so far this year.

Some 18 department forest protection surveyors will be appointed to inspect locomotive fire protection appliances.

Several supervisors now are attending a course at Port Arthur to study railway fire equipment. A similar course will open May 13 at North Bay.

Unseasonably dry weather throughout the province has been given part of the blame for the many small fires this season.

Begin Youth's Trial In Stabbing Case

TORONTO, May 8 (CP).—The trial of Ivor Hickman, 16, on a charge of attempted murder in the stabbing of schoolmate Carol Haddock started today.

The youth is accused of plunging a knife into the girl's back after an argument.

H. H. Bull, crown counsel, said he will try to establish that Hickman chased the girl through the [illegible] ning up with her and wounding her.

2 Brothers Drowned Off New York Pier

NEW YORK, May 8 (CP) —Two brothers drowned Wednesday when their mentally-retarded younger brother pushed one of them off a New York Bay pier in Brookyn.

Police said Joseph Fiore, 12, oushed 22-year-old Patrick Fiore into the water as they were fishing on the pier. Frank Fiore, 29, jumped in to save Patrick. Both were drowned.

Police said no action was taken against Joseph.

FIREMEN WORK to free Clinton Runston, 20, after he was buried to his chest under heavy concrete blocks when a wall collapsed while he was working on the foundation of a new building in Minneapolis. Runston had been on his new job only an hour when the accident happened. He was later reported in fair condition in hospital.

Work Of Committees Dramatized By W.M.S.

LAKEFIELD, May 8—(ENS)—Mrs. E. J. Millage was program convener when the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. H. Darling. A good attendance was present.

The text of the meeting was from John 3:16 and Mrs. W. H. Tonge led in prayer. The hymn, "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations," was read by Mrs. Millage, with accompanying music by Mrs. M. Kennedy.

A dramatization of the work done by literature secretaries and community friendship conveners was done by Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mrs. D. H. Charlton, Mrs. J. McKerchar, Mrs. H. J. Brown and Mrs. W. W Yale.

During the business period, presided over by the president, Mrs. P. H. Darling, it was decided to send the two quilts now on hand in the bale which will be shipped this month. The secretary's report and roll call was given by Mrs. Earl Orr and the treasurer, Mrs. J. McKerchar, reported $87.50 from the Easter thankoffering.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. McKerchar and Mrs. Millage.

Wants Friendship With Russians

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP) —Admiral Alan G. Kirk said Wednesday night the United States "aim should be to encourage the friendship and trust of the Russian peoples, who very well could be our greatest friend and ally in preventing war."

Kirk, former U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, spoke at the annual dinner of the Overseas Press Club of America at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Seven press club awards for excellence in presentation and interpretation of foreign news were presented at the dinner.

Two of the award winners now are prisoners of the Communists.

They are William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent imprisoned in Czechoslovakia, and Frank Noel, Associated Press photographer, now a prisoner of war of the Chinese Communists in Korea.

Oatis was named the winner of the $500 George Polk Memorial Award for "courage, integrity and enterprise above and beyond the call of duty."

Noel was cited for "the best picture reporting from abroad, judged from its interpretive quality."

Frances James Carter

The funeral for Francis James Carter, 514 Park St., who died Sunday was held Wednesday from the Nisbett funeral home.

The Rev. H. D. McCormack of St. James United Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Robert Rothwell, W. Nesbitt, W. Jewell, J. Roseborough, Lyle Quackenbush, Marcus Fowler. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Kicked By Horse?

TEHRAN, Iran, May 8 (AP)—Newspaper reports today say Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi was kicked by his horse on a hunting trip Tuesday in the mountains near Shiraz and suffered a two-inch cut in his right ankle. The injury was not serious.

Expect To Sign 6-Country Pact

PARIS, May 8 (AP) —The treaty setting up a six-country European army with West German troops in it will be initialed at 6 p.m. (1 p.m. E.D.T.) Friday, the foreign office announced today.

The army will have 40-odd divisions made up of troops from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Later in the month the foreign and finance ministers of these countries will meet in Paris to fill gaps in the treaty, such as how long it is to last, whether veto will be allowed in voting, and where to put the headquarters for the army.

Once completed and signed, the toughest job will still remain—getting the treaty approved by the parliaments of the six countries.

Jailed Three Months For Taking Bronze Bar

CHATHAM, May 8 — (CP) — Glen Randall, 24, whom Magistrate Ivan B. Craig said was a "small cog in a big organization," Wednesday was sentenced to three months definite and a year indefinite when convicted of stealing a $35 bronze casting bar and of converting $395.34 belonging to a transport firm for his own use.

Randall, a truck driver, said he was not involved in an organized theft ring of transport drivers and did not know of any such thing.

Earlier, he was remanded a week in custody and was advised to make a clean breast of any information he had. An investigation for Randall's former employer said the cartage firm has lost $3,000 in goods stolen from it since Jan. 1.

Magistrate Craig, in passing sentence, said:

"Despite what the accused says, I feel he's being used by higher-ups. I hate to see a young chap sacrifice himself for others . . . but it's all right with the court if you want to be a hero."

Chinese Subtlety Bars Door To West Missions

Chinese subtlety has made it almost impossible for western missionaries to continue living in China, the Rev. Floyd Honey told a district Y.P.U. meeting at St. James United Church Wednesday night.

Although the Communist regime has not come out against churches, it has ruled that each missionary must preach only within his church; he may not go outside its bounds in his evangelical efforts.

All United Church missionaries have left China, Mr. Honey siad, but he felt no fear of the church not continuing in China. Its strength was such that it should be able to carry on even without the presence of missionaries.

Mr. Honey said that the Communist government in China was not completely destructive in its approach. They have tried to do away with polygamy and introduced the custom of one man, one wife.

In addition, the government was attempting to bring women to the equivalent position of men in all levels of Chinese society.

To make it impossible for western missionaries to carry on, the Communists ruled that they might not receive pay from outside China. Because of the disastrous state of the Chinese economy, said Mr. Honey, the Chinese Christians could not afford to pay a missionary's salary.

In a fellowship hour following Mr. Honeyy's tolk, he made an appeal for volunteers for the United Church's summer caravan which does mission work in areas where there are no churches.

Bancroft Fines Net Court $253

BANCROFT, May 8 (ENS)—Five charges, the aftermath of a hit and run accident that caused considerable damage to the truck of Maurice Freymond of Hybla, on April 27th, were settled in the semi-monthly court of Magistrate R. C. Jackson of Napanee, for Bancroft and district on Wednesday afternoon.

McKinley Spence of Bancroft was found guilty of three separate charges, failing to remain at the scene of an accident, careless driving and having no drived's license. For this he paid a total of $55 and costs. On two charges, careless driving and having no driver's license, Douglas Birkett of Stirling paid a gross of $20 and costs.

Andy Syers of Bancroft was given the option of $75 and costs or ten days in jail for driving while ability was impaired by alcohol and an additional $10 and costs or five days in jail for not having a driver's license. He decided to take the jail terms.

Driving while ability was impaired by alcohol also cost Harry Bowers of Bancroft $40 and costs.

Jack Hillock of Toronto and Elvin Frederick of Combermere each paid $15 and costs for having liquor in a place other than a residence. Phil Scott of Maynooth paid $10 and costs for being intoxicated in a public place.

An incident that caused considerable commotion on the main street of Bancroft on April 19th was settled in Madoc court on Monday, April 21st, when Joshua Baumhour of Highland Grove received a two months' sentence for joy riding or taking a vehicle without the permission of the owner and an additional 10 days for drunk driving.

A total of $253 was collected. S. G. Robinson, Q.C. of Belleville, Assistant County Crown Attorney represented the Crown.

See World Situation Very Grave—Truman

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—President Truman, reflecting on world conditions on his 68th birthday, said today the international situation still is very grave, and that some people in the United States don't seem to realize it.

He ranged over the general situation in a press conference discussion.

Despite the difficulties he saw, he said he is still hopeful of ultimate peace.

And as for his birthday, he commented that he has had a most happy, and he guessed as full a life as any man of his age.

Once he leaves the White House Truman said with a grin, he is going to spend the next 10 years having a good time and doing just as he pleases.

Believes Douks Do Strip Act To Embarrass

VANCOUVER, May 8—(CP)—Why do Doukhobors strip in public?

The consultative committee on Doukhobors, in its 340-page report made public today, attempts to answer this perplexing question.

Alfred Shulman, resident psychiatrist at the Seton Institute, Baltimore, and a member of the committee, said in a chapter entitled "The personality characteristics and psychological problems of the Doukhobors:"

"The Doukhobor parent-child relationship may be characterized by the phrase 'the giving of conditional love.' The parent will continue to supply love on condition that the child is obedient. . .

"We have little information on their sexual experience, but the evidence would indicate that it is generally guilty and joyless . . . vast areas of possible satisfaction are denied to them, so that their lives are rendered barren and futile. . . They feel inferior. . . .

Hostile Feelings

"Although the direct manifestations of them are rare, hostile feelings characterize most of the Doukhobors to a marked degree. The various frustrations imposed upon them by the stress of community living and by the difficulties they have with the general population, feed and sustain this hostility. Basically, however, it arises out of the parent-child relationship. . .

"A . . . result of the repression of hostility is the eruption of hostile behavior in a disguised form . . . removing one's clothes is a remarkably effective device for making other people uncomfortable and angry. . .

"They need have no fear of retaliation in kind—no non-Doukhobor is ever going to take his clothes off in order to annoy a Doukhobor, and even if he did the effect would be simply ludicrous. . .

"No detailed plans need be made, no capable leader nor structured social organization is required; it is applicable to all situations and can be resorted to without any difficulty.

"One has only to take off a few clothes and the enemy is demoralized if not routed. As a hostile device it is simple and very effective. . ."

Sask. Election Held June 11

REGINA, May 8—(CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas announced Wednesday that the Saskatchewan general election will be held Wednesday, June 11. The C.C.F. government, first elected in 1944, will seek a third term.

The Saskatchewan vote will precede by one day the general election in British Columbia. Alberta also expects an election this summer.

The Lieutenant-Governor, W. J. Patterson, dissolved the 52-member legislature by proclamation. The standing at dissolution: C.C.F., 31; Liberals, 19; Independents, 2.

Premier Douglas said an early clean-up of spring farm work will allow farmers to pay attention to the election without jeopardising their livelihood.

The C.C.F. was catapulted to power in a 1944 election, winning 47 seats to the Liberals' five. In 1948 it was returned to office with a reduced majority—31 seats to the Liberals' 19.

LIMITING HIS SALES—Chicago, Ill., gas station attendant Peter Gaich, located only a few miles from some of the world's largest refineries, limits his gasoline sales to a 50 cent purchase per customer because of the oil industry strike. Many gasoline-powered buses in the city have been temporarily removed from service due to the fuel shortage.

"Quite A Wind" Slams Door On Boy's Head

It was quite a wind, commented seven-year-old Antoine Joore, 334 Dublin St., as he indicated the cut on his head caused by a garage door Tuesday evening.

'Toine' was playing with another boy after school when the strong wind blew the garage door shut, and a sharp edge struck his head, opening a cut that required several stitches to close.

He was given out-patient treatment at Civic Hospital and today was telling his schoolmates at St. Peter's School how it happened. As far as is known, "Toine" was the only person reported injured as a result of the stiff wind which stirred up clouds of dust all Tuesday afternoon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ubertus Joore.

Driver Fined $50 On Driving Count

Mrs. May Thompson, 50 McDonnel St., was convicted of careless driving and fined $15 and $19 costs in police court Wednesday.

The charge was laid after Mrs. Thompson who was driving east on McDonnel St., on the evening of December 1, 1951, struck Mrs. Monica Whaley, 335 McDonnel St., who was crossing the street.

Mrs. Whaley, an elderly lady, was in hospital for several months recovering from a compound fracture of her right leg and multiple bruises and cuts.

Evidence was heard on two occasions in April and Mrs. Whaley's evidence was taken at St. Joseph's Hospital.

After the defence evidence was completed on April 21, Magistrate W. R. Philp adjourned the case until today for judgment.

Gordon H. T. Farquharson who defended Mrs. Thompson based his argument for an acquittal on the grounds that Mrs. Whaley appeared in Mrs. Thompson's traffic lane so close in front of her car, that she had no opportunity to avoid hitting her and did everything she could to avoid the accident.

Magistrate Philp said that on the evidence of two independent witnesses, Vernon O'Donoghue, who was driving a car behind Mrs. Thompson and Walter Morgan who was standing on the north east curb of Downie and McDonnel Sts., when the accident occurred, he was registering a conviction.

Mrs. Thompson said that westbound traffic was approaching as she neared the intersection and that one car was passing another going west, when Mrs. Whaley stepped out from behind the last car in the line and directly into the path of her car. O'Donoghue, travelling behind said there was no eastbound traffic between him and Mrs. Thompson and no westbound traffic went by him until after Mrs. Whaley had been struck.

Another crown witness, Walter Morgan said he arrived at the corner when Mrs. Whaley was three-quarters of the way across the street. He saw the accused's car approaching but did not see any westbound traffic.

In his judgment, Magistrate Philp said he was also taking into consideration the position of the car, which stopped 40 feet beyond where Mrs. Whaley was found lying on the pavement.

Automobile Club To Help School Safety

After he addressed a meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Automobile Club Tuesday afternoon, Constable Don Mackay was assured of the club's support in getting the school safety patrol system rolling.

The club set up a three-man committee to assist Constable Mackay in the safety project and the club is purchasing safety films to be shown in schools.

One theatre has agreed to honor passes for Saturday afternoon shows which will be given to members of the patrol periodically. The automobile club is paying for the printing of these passes and also authorized the special committee to appropriate further money to promote the school safety scheme as it is needed.

Burnham Funeral Widely Attended

MILLBROOK, May 8—(ENS)—Funeral service for George E. Burnham, who died at his home on Saturday, was held Tuesday at St. Andrew's United Church. The church was filled almost to capacity with those wishing to pay their last respects. The session of the church, of which Mr. Burnham was a member, attended in a body, as did the J. B. Hall Masonic Lodge 145 and the local Oddfellow lodge. Before the service began W. Fred Fallis, senior elder of the church and Herbert Patten, Sunday school superintendent, stood at either end of the casket. The Millbrook stores were closed for an hour for the funeral service.

The service was conducted by the Rev. A. M. Butler of St. Andrew's, assisted by the Rev. A. A. Chote of St. Thomas' Anglican and the Rev. H. W. Heustin of Grace Presbyterian churches. Mr. Butler paid tribute to Mr. Burnham's long life filled with many interests, and to the way he had given himself tirelessly to the community. He spoke of his quiet, confident Christian character and of the profound respect in which he was held.

Active pall-bearers were all fellow Masons. They were: Henry Gray, presiding master, Stewart McGill, Ivan L. H. Gray, George Berry, J. R. Larmer and H. Kerr.

Honorary pall-bearers were: A. Jemison, T. A. Campbell, P. I. Bentley, H. Coombe, A. R. Payne and A. L. Sisco.

Burial was in Gardiner's cemetery, Millbrook.

Murray Twp. Pensioner Beaten At Home, Robbed

Man 76 Left Tied With Fence Wire Thieves Take $200

COBOURG, May 9. (ENS)—An elderly Murray township pensioner was beaten up and robbed of $200 by two men Thursday afternoon. William Ross, 76, whose home is near Wooler, is in Trenton hospital, suffering extensive bruises and shock. He has been unable so far to tell police a coherent story of what happened to him. Police know this much: two men entered Ross's home about 5 p.m., beat him up, robbed him of $200, and left him tied up, a potato sack over his head and his big toes bound together with heavy fence wire.

To make sure Ross wouldn't try to escape, the men removed his trousers.

Will Use Force To Free General Held By Red POW's

SEOUL, Korea, May 9. (AP)—Gen. James Van Fleet said tonight he will use force if necessary to rescue Brig-Gen. Francis Dodd from Communist prisoners of war who snatched the general at Koje Island prison camp. Van Fleet said he would not give in to the Reds' "unreasonable" demands for special privileges before they relase the prison-camp commander. The United States Eighth army commander made his statement after a flying trip to rebellious Koje, off the southern tip of Korea.

He was under orders from Gen. Matthew Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, "to use whatever force is necessary" to free Dodd without delay.

Dodd, 52, has been a prisoner since Wednesday, when North Korean P.O.W.s seized him at the gates of a compound.

Make Demands

Ridgway said the Communists were demanding "phones, permission to organize, writing paper and some other things" before they would release Dodd.

The army released only meagre details of the new rebellion at Koje and kept newspapermen from going there.

Van Fleet said "we have not yet been able to determine why the guards didn't rush in for

...when the ... ed off the coast, Juin ordered it fired on. The fighting lasted nearly three days. Juin's superior, Admiral Jean Darlan, switched sides and the general switched with him.

Juin was named chief of the French general staff in 1944. Three years alter he was sent to Morocco as French resident-general.

The welding of western Europe's military might into a single army against aggression moves a step nearer completion today.

Representatives of the six countries—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—meet at the French foreign ministry this afternoon to initial the almost-complete draft of a treaty uniting them in a European defence community.

The action signifies their agreement, after 15 months of negotiations, on most clauses of the treaty. The next step will be a meeting of the six countries' foreign ministers later this month to settle the remaining points of disagreement and sign the treaty.

High hurdles still will face the plan after that, before the projected one-uniform army of some 40 divisions can take the field under the military commander for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Marshal Juin To Command European Army

PARIS, May 9 (AP) — Marshal Juin of France will command the six-country European army, of French, German, Italian, the Netheralnds, Belgian and Luxembourg troops, it was announced today.

The 63-year-old Juin (which is pronounced in English something like "djoo-wan", with "a" as in "ran") was appointed commander of central European forces under the Atlantic Pact in the spring of 1951.

The appointment was made by General Eisenhower who fought a battle against the tough French general nine years ago.

...ized At Gate

An Eighth Army spokesman said Dodd and Lt.-Col. Wilbur Robert Raven were seized while standing at the gate of a prison compound talking to leaders of the 6,000 Communist prisoners.

"The gate was a wide one," the spokesman said. "Dodd was standing in the centre of the gate.

"When the prisoners grabbed him, it was an organized mob and he was swept inside.

"But Raven was standing beside a post of the gate. When the prisoners grabbed him, he seized the post, held on, and by fighting and kicking managed to free himself."

The army said Dodd has been treated well by the Reds. He communicated with guard posts outside the barbed wire stockade by army field telephone and couriered messages. He received American food while the North Koreans ate their usual bowls of rice — both passed through from outside.

Dodd relayed a Communist demand for 1,000 sheets of writing paper and a "hospital representative." The paper was stacked outside the gate. But Brig.-Gen. Charles F. Colson, newly named prison camp commander succeeding Dodd, allowed neither paper nor medic to pass through the gates.

Instead, Colson demanded the Reds release Dodd forthwith. The North Koreans ignored the demand.

Big Victory For Labor In UK Voting

Attlee Party Gains 656 Seats; In 19 British Cities

LONDON, May 9. (CP)—Jubilant Labor party leaders said today, on the basis of smashing new gains in week-long town and borough elections throughout Britain, that a second notice to quit has been served on the Conservative government.

The more important borough elections were held Thursday. Final results from all 391 boroughs ...ross 147.

Liberals: gained 12, lost 29—net loss 17.

Communists: failed to win a single seat.

The best indication of the trend was seen in the fact that in the balloting since Tuesday Labor has elected 1,689 of its 2,627 candidates for a victory percentage of 63.9. Conservatives have elected only 905 of their 2,063 candidates, or 43.9 per cent.

Not Complete

Twenty million Britons were eligible to vote in the election of 8,612 councilmen. Returns from the smaller town and rural council elections, which end Saturday, are not yet complete. But Labor has made striking gains in these, too.

So far they have wrested control of 21 borough councils and now control 94 of the 371 outside London. The Conservatives still control about three-fourths of the boroughs but their working majorities are far less.

Prime Minister Churchill, however, has given no indication he interprets the results that way. Although shaken, Conservative leaders say the Labor swing is a natural reaction to economy cuts

Wrong Soldier Got Credit, Officer Says

...from Korea identified as Cpl. Kenneth McCormond of Sudbury, the Canadian soldier who played dead on the battlefields as Chinese Reds rifled his clothing, bayoneted him, lit him on the head and outlined his body with bullets.

Mr. and Mrs. William Manktelow of Ajax heard Thursday through a Korean veteran at Hamilton that their son was the soldier whose nerve was the talk of his unit.

A letter from a Canadian officer in the base hospital at Kure, Japan, where Pte. Manktelow is recovering from wounds, said the CP story did a "serious injustice" to the private.

Not Near Area

The officer, whose name was withheld, said he knows Cpl. McCormond was not near the area when the action took place. He said Pte. Manktelow—"the lad to whom the described incident happened"—got a nasty hole in his thigh from the base plug of one of his own grenades which the Chinese threw back at him.

In a letter to home from hospital at Kure, Pte. Manktelow has not mentioned his ordeal. He told his parents he was not seriously wounded and hoped to be home soon.

A letter signed Pte. Joe O'Toole, of Ajax, and written to a relative there said Pte. Manktelow played dead for five hours before a Canadian patrol found him and brought him back to U.N. lines.

Two Men Killed As Train Demolishes Car

WOODSTOCK, May 9 (CP) — Michael Schreiber and Marcello Suevi, Blenheim township farmers, were killed today when their automobile was struck by a passenger train at a level crossing six miles east of here.

It is believed the car was towing a trailer carrying a power saw.

Car, trailer and saw were smashed and bits of wreckage were strewn along the side of the track for 85 yards.

Ross Willsie, 15, of nearby Creditville, said that shortly before the accident he was riding his bicycle along the road and suddenly heard a "big bang."

In Thousands of Pieces

"I looked up and saw thousands of pieces of car being thrown far along the track," he said. "I went over to the crossing and saw two bodies lying in the ditch. I ran back to the house and told Mom and she telephoned for an ambulance."

The boy said the engine of the car was still steaming when he went to the crossing.

The bodies were taken to a funeral home in Princeton, a few miles away, where they were identified.

Ed McHardy of Brantford, train engineer, said the whistle of the train had been blowing for the crossing. Charles Bortlwick of London, Ont., conductor, said he did not see the car on the crossing.

Police said the crossing is unprotected by signals. Visibility was good at the time of the accident.

It appeared from marks at the scene that the car had almost cleared the crossing when it was struck.

Dr. H. C. McCaul, coroner, said an inquest will be held.

Report New Atomic Gun Accurate And Devastating

NEW YORK, May 9. (AP)—An atomic gun developed by the United States army was described Thursday night as an accurate and devastating weapon, providing field commanders with tremendous "finger-tip" fire power—and heralding a new era in the wage of war.

The description of the first U.S. atomic artillery weapon—a gun that can "hit its target under any weather conditions and give ground troops the kind of devastating close support never before available in warfare"—came from Army Secretary Frank Pace.

Pace said the new weapon "is essentially an artillery piece—but with immeasurably greater power than any artillery hitherto known."

"Such atomic weapons," he added, eventually bring "significant changes" in the army's traditional mission of closing with and destroying an enemy.

Pace's claims for the weapon came in a speech before a meeting of the National Wool Manufacturers' Association.

The weapon has been tested by the army with non-atomic ammunition, but official specifications of the gun remained a secret until Thursday night.

Highly Mobile

It weighs about 75 tons, but is highly mobile and is carried on a platform suspended between two engine cabs at its front and rear.

It can travel at a speed of about 35 miles an hour on highways—and it can cross bridges "which army engineers are already trained to build for present heavy divisional equipment."

It can travel cross-country. It can fit into a landing ship designed for amphibious operations. And it can fire with accuracy "comparable to conventional artillery, and tests indicate it is much more accurate at long ranges."

Pace also said that in addition to "tactical" atomic bombs being developed for use by aircraft, the U.S. also is developing atomic artillery which can outrange the ...

This development, he explained, involves "guided missiles and rockets to receive atomic warheads."

Despite the building of new weapons of destruction, the army secretary foresaw a continuing need for "many of our current conventional weapons."

Urges Prisoners Build New Jail

TORONTO, May 9 (CP) —John Foote reforms minister, Thursday urged that prison material and prison labor be used in construction of a new jail between Toronto and Hamilton.

"The chaps in jail, the non-productive, non-taxpayers, should build the new jail as part of their rehabilitation training, to save the taxpayers money," Mr. Foote told a grand jury investigating Toronto jail conditions.

Use of prison inmates and materials, such as bricks and lumber, would provide a jail "at a greatly reduced cost to the public," he said.

The jury called Mr. Foote to discuss the province's position in the proposed new jail. He assured it that Ontario's contribution to such a jail—designed to relieve overcrowding in Toronto and Hamilton jails—would be generous.

"We are ready, any time the city is ready, to give a capital grant," he said.

600 "Sick" Employees Fired By City Manager

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 9 (AP).—More than 600 "sick" employees of this city, were fired today by the city manager, under a state law prohibiting strikes by public workers.

City manager Harold Cheek said the workers were conducting an illegal strike and "all those who failed to appear for work today ... employees of this ...

Gov't Ask Extension Of Emergency Act

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP)—The government is asking another year's extension of key sections of the Emergency Powers Act though it has made relatively minor use of its sweeping provisions since the post-Korea mobilization. They are due to expire at the end of May.

The Act confers sweeping powers for controlling the economy, mobilizing resources and taking other steps to meet emergencies.

Among the more notable orders based on the Emergency Powers Act are the ban on imports of meat because of Saskatchewan's foot-and-mouth outbreak and security regulations for Great Lakes seamen.

Mice Drive Golfers Off Calgary Links

CALGARY, May 9—(CP)—Calgary cats are becoming hollow-eyed and edgy at the mere mention of mice.

On the links golfers spend more time killing mice than they do hitting the ball. Women golfers have just about deserted the courses.

In the northern and eastern sections of Calgary, mice are everywhere. They bred by the millions in the country last winter under piles of grain left over in the field from the fall harvest. They were driven toward the city when harvesting resumed a couple of weeks ago.

Planes Forced To Cut Flights

DENVER, May 9 (AP).—Scarcity of high-octane aviation gasoline today ranked as the most serious effect of the countrywide oil strike which began nine days ago.

There seemed little chance for immediate settlement. A possibility the strike may be extended was voiced in Denver by O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International Union (C.I.O.)

The major hope seems to be ... stabilization board and representatives of 22 striking A.F.L., C.I.O. and independent union and management of the refineries and pipelines.

The pinch on aviation fuel has been widely felt. Air France announced flights will be cut by 50 per cent unless the quota for trans-Atlantic carriers is increased. The line has 20 flights weekly. Trans-Canada Air Lines reduced schedules of about 40 daily flights between Canada and New York, Boston, Cleveland, Chicago and Seattle.

Held For Trying Smuggle Aliens

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 9—(AP)—George B. Steele, 36, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was in Erie county jail today in default of $1,000 bail awaiting trial on a two-count indictment charging that he attempted to smuggle two Italian nationals into the United States.

Steele pleaded innocent when araigned on the indictment Thursday before Federal Judge John Knight.

Immigration authorities said Steele was arrested earlier this week at the Whirlpool Rapids bridge in Niagara Falls. They said he was trying to cross from Canada with two Italians in the trunk of his automobile.

Three other Italians have been picked up by border patrol officers during the past week, allegedly as they were trying to ... Canada in this area.

3 Girls Reach School In Tipsy Condition

TORONTO, May 9. (CP)—Two 14-year-old girls and a 15-year-old girl appeared in juvenile court today after they were taken from a public school Thursday in what police described as an intoxicated condition.

Police said the three drank almost the entire contents of a bottle of wine during their lunch hour. They obtained the bottle at recess period from a 16-year-old girl who is being sought together with an east-end bootlegger believed to have supplied her with three bottles of wine.

After the three returned to their classes in what police described as ... principal called police.

Baby-Sitter Jailed 10 Years

TORONTO, May 9 (CP).—Diane Bound, 22-year-old baby-sitter, today was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment for manslaughter in the death of Susan Kellough, three.

The bludgeoned body of Susan, one of the Bound girl's two charges, was found Feb. 1 tied spread-eagled in a crib.

Exonerate Nurse In Poison Case

TORONTO, May 9—(CP)—An air force nursing sister who gave ... old airwoman was exonerated by a coroner's jury Thursday night. The R.C.A.F. was blamed for letting her handle dangerous drugs and medicines.

Nursing Sister Roberta McQuade told the five-man jury she thought she was administering some harmless medicine to LAW. Lottie Macura of Alonsa, Man., who died a few hours later.

The incident took place April 18 at the R.C.A.F.'s No. 1 supply depot in suburban Weston.

The jury found that the airwoman had met her death accidentally and attached no blame to Nursing Sister McQuade. It found the station's medical room "very carelessly operated."

Malan's Bill To Change Law Approved In Principle

CAPETOWN, ... — Prime Minister Daniel Malan's bill to alter South Africa's constitution and keep the courts from killing his white supremacy program won approval in principle Thursday night.

The House of Assembly, controlled by Malan's Nationalist supporters, gave the bill second reading by a vote of 79 to 65 after a bitter 30-hour debate marked by insults and threats as well as arguments and appeals.

The bill now goes to committee of the whole house for clause-by-clause consideration. Malan's majority is strong enough to prevent changes, and the measure now is certain of final passage.

Specifically, the legislation will create a parliamentary high court to decide constitutional issues in place of the appeals court, South Africa's present highest tribunal.

Malan's admitted purpose is to clear the way for passage of laws which will trim the voting rights of about 50,000 persons of mixed blood in Cape Province. They would be confined to separate electoral lists, barred from voting for general candidates in elections.

The Nationalist Prime Minister pushed his voting law through parliament once before. The appeals court threw it out last March 20 on ground it violated the constitution.

Another clause of the constitution threatened with repeal after parliament takes judicial power is the guara...e that English remain as ... official language, along with Afrikaans. Afrikaans, derived from Dutch, is the language of the Boers who make up about 60 per cent of South Africa's white minority and dominate Malan's party.

Johannes Strydom, minister of lands, told the house he thinks English will disappear, leaving Afrikaans as the living tongue. He denied wanting to suppress it, however, and said he thought it would fade away gradually.

Tension is growing as the bill proceeds through the house. The supressed non-white majority of South Africa's population has threatened nation-wide disobedience of racial laws. They already are barred from skilled jobs and their ownership of property is restricted.

Hint Deadlock In Wheat Talks

LONDON, May 9 (Reuters) — Representatives of ... including Canada, meeting to discuss renewal of the international wheat agreement under which most of the world's exportable wheat is sold, have reached a deadlock on quantities and prices, it was reported today.

A usually reliable source said there are the crux of the present discussions, the conference will be adjourned shortly. The present agreement expires July 31, 1953, and some 160 experts have been meeting to discuss its continuation.

The four exporting countries—Canada, United States, Australia and France—all want higher price for their wheat. They are not agreed on a figure but want something more than $2 a bushel, the source said.

The present maximum price under the agreement is $1.80 a bushel, and the free market price about $2.40.

Many importing countries—particularly Britain, the largest buyer under the agreement—are strongly opposed to a higher price.

... With Japanese Gov't

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) —Canada joined the United States and Japan today in signing the first treaty Japan has made since achieving her sovereignity April 28. It will be submitted to parliament for approval.

The North Pacific Fisheries Treaty brings Japan into association with the other two countries in co-operative measures preserve and perpetuate fish stocks of the north Pacific.

The treaty, negotiated last year, recognizes the freedom of the high seas but all three countries agree to co-operate in conservation measures. The North American wanted that commitment because of Japan's pre-war depredations in Pacific fisheries. Under the treaty Japan agrees to keep her fishermen out of certain waters in the northeast Pacific.

The treaty was signed in Tokyo with Arthur Menzies, head of Canada's new embassy there, signing for Canada.

East Germany Planning Raise Army Of 350,000

BERLIN, May 9 (AP) —East German government circles reported today their Communist regime is speeding plans to raise an army of more than 350,000 men. Already, informants said, it is calling back fully-trained veterans of the People's Police—the army nucleus—to swell the present 60,000-man ranks to 150,000.

The tempo of the Soviet-zone armament quickened at once after high East German officials said they will need to defend East Germany from a threat of civil war they see in the western plan to arm West German forces for the proposed European army.

Among other steps reported under way were:

1. Drafting of a "defence law" to establish a volunteer army and authorize conscription of all able-bodied men for military training.

2. A recruiting campaign directed mainly at the Communist Free German Youth and security guards at plants and factories.

3. A Soviet plan to expand the East German cabinet by adding a defence minister, with speculation the post may go to Wilhelm Zaisser, Red veteran of the Spanish civil war, or former Gen. Friedrich Von Paulus, captured with his German army at Stalingrad.

4. Planning for a 25-division army with each division containing about 15,000 men armed with artillery, tanks, and anti-aircraft guns.

5. Full development of the Soviet zone into a tightly-Communized state like Hungary or Czechoslovakia.

Queen Receives Diplomatic Corps

LONDON, May 9 (AP) —The Queen, hatless and dresed in black, received the heads of London's diplomatic corps for the first time today in Buckingham Palace ceremony.

The diplomats, headed by Brazilian ambassader J. J. Moniz De Aracao as dean of the corps, presented their credentials to the Queen. All had been previously accredited to the late King George VI. Diplomats appointed and accredited since the Queen's acession were not present.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh shook hands with each diplomat after the ceremony. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden represented the government.

Papers Get Picture Of "Flying Saucer"

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 9 (Reuters)—Newspapers printed pictures today of a "flying saucer."

Press photographers who happened to have cameras ready caught five shots of the object at low altitude yesterday.

The pictures showed a round object in the air over Barra Da Tijuca, a Rio suburb.

The pictures will be sent to the United States Air Force general staff at Washington for examination.

Crerar Laments Inadequate Army At Big Reunion

TORONTO, May 9 — (CP).— A boisterous re-union of wartime army officers cheered Gen. H. D. G. Crerar Thursday night when he lamented the status of Canada's army of today as a "shop window" force inadequate to face major war.

The retired former commander of the First Canadian Army struck that sombre note at a dinner which drew more than 600 officer veterans to honor him on the seventh anniversary of VE-Day, culmination of a war in which it was said his troops never once got an order to retreat.

Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of today's army of 50,000 men, sat with a non-committal face as his old wartime chief was cheered from all sides in regretting that although "we have a display of quite attractive samples in our military 'shop window,' there is practically nothing behind that window display."

24 Generals

Twenty-four Generals, some retired, some till in service, dozens of Brigadiers and Colonels, scores of Majors and Captains, people who came all the way from Vancouver to Halifax but mainly from Ontario, turned Toronto's Royal York Hotel into a temporary military headquarters for the dinner.

It was the biggest reunion of brass since the war and its informalities—reminiscing, tale-telling and repeated nostalgic routing of the enemy—went on far into the night. They called it Exercise Elbow One and its details were elaborate with reminders of war years. There were huge replicas of divisional and corps patches and route signs, movies of the fighting, pictures of overseas scenes, "Herbie" cartoons by Bing Coughlin.

Gen. Crerar in his speech struck the reminiscent tone which keynoted this whole night, but he did move into serious ground once and that was when he made references which recalled his calls for compulsory training in the past. This time he went so far as to say he is greatly worried because even with compulsory training it would be nearly the end of 1953 before Canada would be ready for major war.

The implication was that even the growth of the Army since Korea started, early doubling its size and creating four new Brigades, has not changed Gen. Crerar's mind.

Increase Ceiling Price

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)— Substantial increases in ceiling prices on a long list of food items may be approved by the government within the next few days. Price-control officials said today the increases, ranging from one to several cents a package, will probably apply to such things as concentrated coffee, dry cereals, crackers, canned fruits, vegetables and soups, tuna and salmon and some canned meats.

Missing 4 Months Trapper Safe

EDMONTON, May 9 — (CP). — Four months ago veteran trapper Jack Knox left his isolated northern cabin mushing a six-dog team toward Fort Reliance, N.W.T., some 120 air miles to the west. Thursday he walked into the fort, hale and hearty despite his 60 years and explained his disappearance.

Knox, object of an unsuccessful one-week search by the R.C.A.F. after he was reported missing on March 29, said it was simply a case of mistaking landmarks in heavy, blowing snow and taking the wrong route.

The trapper arrived without his dogs. He killed and ate four when he ran short of food. The other two sighted a deer about a week ago, and took after it, never to come back.

Knox followed the usual route when he set out from his camp for Fort Reliance, on the northern shore of Great Slave Lake, about 650 air miles northeast of Edmonton.

Three days out of camp a blizzard came up and reduced visibility. He reached a break in a ridge, and, believing it to be the turnoff point, headed southwest for Burbank Lake. Deep snow slowed his progress to only a mile a day.

Finally Knox realized he was heading in the wrong direction. He figured his new course and reached Fort Reliance safely.

and other measures made necessary by the plight of the country when they took over the government. They predict a reversal of the trend when the effect of their policies become evident.

In addition to the 19 towns in which new Labor councils will take wins—one of them the Midland's industrial metropolis of Birmingham.

Be Wiped Out

There a Conservative majority of 35 was slashed to two, and that will almost certainly be wiped out in forthcoming aldermanic elections.

In Manchester [illegible] lives lost six seats, largest party but losing full control of the city council.

Labor's most striking successes were in the cotton towns of Lancashire, where the textile slump has caused unemployment. Five towns there — Preston, Bolton, Bootle, Eccles and Widnes—have gone over to Labor, and Conservatives' majority in many others have dwindled.

But Labor's successes were not confined to industrial areas. In some traditional Conservative fortresses Labor obtained a foothold for the first time.

Three big towns which swung to Labor control were the Yorkshire wool centre of Bradford, the southern port of Bristol and the heavy industrial Midland town of Wolverhampton.

In two industrial cities, Nottingham and Leicester, Labor gains brought dead heats.

The Liberals won control of Mossley and became the biggest party at Haslingden, both Lancashire cotton centres.

Slayer Spurns Priest In Death Cell

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., May 9 —(CP)—Stolidly defiant, Stanley Buckowski spurned the attentions of a priest, lawyers and the prison warden as he awaited death in the San Quentin gas chamber today at 10 a.m. PDT (1 p.m. EDT).

The moody, 27-year-old self-confessed killer of four persons—three of them Toronto residents—lay silently on his cot. He broke his silence only to snarl at those who offered him help in his last hours.

SAN QUENTIN, —(AP)—A sullen killer, Stanley Buckowski, 27, was executed at San Quentin prison today.

"You dog, what do you want now?" was the greeting Warden Harley O. Teets said he got on visiting Buckowski's death-row cell.

Teets said he wanted to inform the sallow-faced Canadian that a prison chaplain would visit him.

Refuses Priest

"I want no part of him," Buckowski said.

"But remember, Stan, you're a Roman Catholic. You should talk to Father (Daniel) McAlister," Teets urged.

"He's just plain ornery," Teets said, reporting that prison guards had to force Buckowski to take a bath.

Buckowski, who was born in Winnipeg and grew up in Toronto, was sentenced to death for murdering an 82-year-old woman who surprised him while he was robbing her home in Los Angeles February, 1950.

Buckowski shot and killed Mrs. Helen Edmunds after he brushed off his 25-year-old wife, Jean, and told her "to take a walk around [illegible] were tried for [illegible] She was acquitted.

A policewoman testified at the [illegible] after their arrest: "I knew my husband was going to break into the house. When he came out he told me he had had to shoot a man. I didn't know until later it was an old woman who was killed."

The court set the date of execution for Nov. 16, 1951. But a month before, Buckowski won a temporary stay of execution pending an appeal to the supreme court of the United States on the ground that a judicial error had been committed at his trial.

While his appeal was up before the high tribunal Buckowski confessed to the Toronto murders of Alfred Layng and Robert and Gloria McKay in 1949. The three murders had remained unsolved for two years.

He made his confession to prison authorities and Ontario police and Crown Attorney William Gibson who made a special trip to California.

Loses Appeal

BERLIN, May 9 (Reuters) — Wolfgieg Hedler, extreme rightist West German federal legislator, Thursday lost an appeal against a nine-month prison sentence for slandering the men who carried out the July, 1944, bomb attempt on Hitler's life. Hedler in election speeches in North Germany had called the plotters "traitors to the fatherland."

Ask Government To Boost Vet Increases

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — The Canadian Legion, spokesman for some 300,000 war veterans, appealed to the government today to boost proposed increases in war veterans' allowances by $10 a month for a single person and $30 a month for a married recipient.

Capt. Alfred Watts of Vancouver, Legion president, told the Commons Veterans' Committee that Legion branches feel the government's proposals "are not great enough."

Heading a delegation he suggested:

1. The basic rates for war veterans allowances be raised to $60 a month for a single person, from the current $40 and $120 for a married recipient from the current $70. The government wants to raise the rates to $50 for a single man and $90 for those who are married.

2. Ceilings on maximum permissible income for an allowance recipient be raised to $1,200 for single and $2,000 for married men, instead of the government's proposed $720 and $1,200, respectively.

3. Additional allowances for the war veterans' children. When both parents are living, these children get not assistance other than family allowances, Capt. Watts said.

On the whole, the Legion found that the government's proposed changes to the veterans legislation current setup, but they found some flaws, too.

The brief said:

"The Canadian Legion feels that a retrograde step has been taken in proposing the reduction in permissible income from other sources to $120 a year for both single and married veterans instead of the previous $125 and $250. An increase, not a reduction, seems indicated."

Ridgway called the seizure of Dodd a "flagrant and fundamental defiance of United Nations authority." He said:

"I have authorized and directed General Van Fleet to take whatever action is necessary and to use whatever force is necessary to recover General Dodd."

Ridgway issued the orders on his final visit to Korea before leaving the Far East to take command of N.A.T.O. forces in Europe.

Campbellford pastor Elected 1952 Presbytery Chairman

ROSENEATH, May 9 (ENS).—The Rev. J. G. A. Whitehorne, Campbellford, pastor of the Seymour charge, was elected chairman of the Cobourg Presbytery at their annual meeting held in the Roseneath United Church on Wednesday, with an attendance of upwards of 50 ministers and laymen.

The election of officers was conducted by the Rev. B. K. Cronk, Port Hope. The scrutineers were Bob Sherwin and Ira Cummings, two divinity students. Other officers elected were: past chairman, the Rev. B. K. Cronk, Port Hope; chairman, the Rev. J. G. A. Whitehorne, Campbellford; secretary, the Rev. R. C. White, Roseneath; treasurer, the Rev. D. M. Smith, Campbellford; president of Laymen's Association, Fred Hempstead, Cobourg; auditors, the Rev. J. G. A. Whitehorne and the Rev. A. Suyers.

The meeting began with a worship service conducted by the Rev. H. J. Robbins, Grafton, with Mrs. Flex McMillan as pianist. Mr. Cronk, presbytery chairman, presided over the business period with Mr. White, Roseneath, as secretary.

The Rev. P. J. Hommersen, Brighton, presented a report on home missions, missionary education and overseas missions.

The Rev. Floyd Honey, recently returned from missionary work in China, was the guest speaker at the morning session and chose as his subject "The Situation in China Today." In part the speaker said: "There is a native Chinese Christian church in China today and is still functioning, even if all missionaries are withdrawn and a Communist government in power."

The members of the W.M.S. of Roseneath United Church catered to a dinner for the members of the presbytery. The Rev. Arthur Kewlie, of the United Church headquarters, Toronto, was the after dinner speaker and presented an illustrated lecture on stewardship, stressing sharing with others the opportunities given in the church. "Your time, talent and positions are given to do with as you wish. Label your first item in your budget for the church, worship God, share yourself and what you have with God and your fellow-men." The speaker was introduced and thanked by the Rev. J. G. A. Whitehorne.

Reports were presented by the chairmen of the many committees of the presbytery. Dr. D. M. Smith, Campbellford, presented the financial statement.

Mr. Honey gave a brief address during the afternoon session on the "Youth Caravan."

Plans were made for the next regular meeting to be held at Smithfield. Votes of thanks were tendered the ladies for the dinner, the Rev. R. C. White and the board of stewards of Roseneath United church for their hospitality.

The Sunday school class was composed of 2 year olds. About 20 were present, and the teacher was reviewing the past Sunday's lesson. She asked "Do any of you remember who St. Matthew was?"
No answer.
"Well, does anyone remember ..."
Still, there was no answer.
"Surely some of you must remember who Peter was?"
The little faces were full of interest, but the room remained quiet. Finally a tiny voice from the back of the room. "I fink he was a wabbit."

A Friend To Children

May we suggest that every Public School child in Peterborough be told that Dr. Maria Montessori died last Tuesday? It is unlikely that they will have heard her name, but Dr. Montessori was their good friend all the same, for it is upon her theories and experience that a great part of all modern elementary teaching in founded. She was an Italian lady, of good family, and the first woman of her race to take a degree as a doctor of medicine. She interested herself chiefly in psychiatry and in the training of feeble-minded children, until she worked out some educational theories concerning normal children. These she put into practice in a school which she founded in 1907.

* * *

Her ideas were revolutionary at the time. She thought that children were naturally inquisitive, and would learn more if they were permitted to use their own judgement than if they were set to a rigid course of study. She believed that children are not naturally untidy, but have their own sense of order. She believed that children should dress and wash themselves as soon as they could possibly do so. She believed that naughtiness was a sign of inner disturbance rather than of innate sinfulness. She believed that children sleep too much, because their parents want to get them out of the way [illegible] Montessori was young.

* * *

Many of her ideas have undergone revision during the years. Many of her theories of punishment seem odd now. (One of these was sitting a child on a chair which was then struck lightly on the under-side with a hammer.) But her basic idea, that children have good minds and should be allowed to use them in school, has not been successfully contradicted. Her ideas, in some form, are to be found in virtually every modern educational system. She was a great woman, a great friend to children, and children should know about her.

What Is The NATO Army?

Everybody knows who is its commander-in-chief, and who is to replace him, but what actually is the military force which General Eisenhower commands, and which General Ridgway will soon take over at SHAPE?

It is made up of land, sea and air forces of fourteen allied nations: U.S.A., Britain, France, Canada, Greece, Turkey, Belgium, Luxembourg, Denmark, Portugal, Italy, Norway, The Netherlands and Iceland. Not all of them have men fielded in western Europe, but all have standing armies, reserves, and sea and air ships which are to be pooled in an emergency under the supreme command. The goal for this year was given in a statement issued at the Lisbon conference earlier in the year:

"The NATO nations agreed to provide approximately fifty divisions in appropriate conditions of combat readiness and 4,000 operational aircraft in Western Europe, as well as strong naval forces."

General Eisenhower does not believe it practical, effective or possible to outnumber or even match the men whom Russia is fielding behind the Iron Curtain. The NATO figures on the strength aimed at this year agree with the General's thesis. The General wants to have a [illegible] small

Mr. Lovett [illegible] American cabinet told Congress in March something of the nature of these reserve forces, which should hearten the critics who believe NATO plans are too small this year, and the force too weak.

"I have previously stated [illegible] somewhat more than half of these divisions will be combat ready, while the remainder will be reserve divisions. A reserve division on the continental pattern differs from our American concept of the nature of a reserve division. The continental reserve division has its organization complete, although most of its personnel continue in normal civilian jobs. The reservists live in the vicinity of their unit assembly points. Each man has his mobilization assignment. He knows exactly where to go to draw his individual equipment and just where to take his place in a gun squad, tank crew, or rifle platoon. It is the place he has already been trained to fill. Long-term officers and technicians maintain the equipment and the units have periodic training exercises.

"A division of this type, which can be mobilized in twenty-four to seventy-two hours, is almost as ready for action as is the front-line division maintained at full strength. Some reserve divisions will not be ready that quickly. They will require a little more time for unit training. But in every case, a reserve division must have most of the major equipment available, as well as a reservoir of trained combat soldiers and specialists."

A European Defence Community is being created, to include West Germany, which will come into very close association with the North Atlantic Treaty nations. Western European countries are expected to man the land defences chiefly themselves, with material and monetary help from nations like the U.S.A., Britain and Canada, which will also provide planes and pilots.

How Lucky To Be Private

Captain R. E. Ryder, V.C., a Conservative member of the British House of Commons, is anxious to find a name other than "private" for the lowest rank in the British army. He asks for something "more in tune with the times." If he means that the word "private" and all that it connotes is out of tune with the times, we are forced to agree, but more shame on the times! However, the name "private" has been made glorious by many a brave man, and we should be sorry to see the army—Britain's or our own—give it up.

The word "private" as applied to a soldier means "not holding office" and implies that the man is responsible for nobody but himself. But we think it has another, very important meaning. Surely it means that, even though he is one among ten thousand, he is still an individual, with all of his personality left to him which is compatible with the discharge of his duties. This is a fine thing, and the word which implies it should not be lightly set aside.

The term "GI" has become very popular in the U.S.A., but we do not like it so well as "private," for GI means General Issue—a term which suggests a sameness, a lack of individuality, which might be considered insulting. Indeed, it means the exact opposite of "private," though the two words are applied to the same sort of soldier.

If it is in tune with the times to suggest that soldiers without office are as readily replaced as other pieces of army equipment, the times need re-tuning. It is better to think of such men as "pricates"—free men who have put on uni-

Why Cuffs?

The Windsor Star, in pensive mood, asks why men wear cuffs on their trousers? It can see no good in them. It suggests that they are a fad. It sneers at cuffs.

This suggests to us that the Star must be edited by some gentleman of extreme youth. We recall very well when only young men wore cuffs—or "turn-ups", as they were then called—on their trousers, and men whose trousers were not so adorned were regarded as fogies. The style arose very shortly before the First Great War; some young bloods took to turning up the ends of their trousers so that they would not become muddy or dusty; the fad caught on, and after the War tailors began to make all trousers in that way, although there are still men who have trousers without cuffs, and all formal dress—morning and evening—has cuffless trousers.

It was not until after the First Great War that the front-and-back crease in trousers became the fashion; before that trousers were creased at the sides, and until the day of his death George V wore his that way, and without cuffs.

There can be few tailors living capable of cutting a pair of trousers in the style of 1910, when they were accommodated to the shape of the leg, and were not simply tubular, as they are now. Such trousers simply could not be creased in the modern style; the braid on the sides of dress trousers is a reminder of the older style of creasing.

Some men have ignored changes in fashion; we used to know a gentleman at Ottawa who wore side-creased trousers without cuffs, who had a special buttonhole in his waistcoat for his watch-chain, and whose overcoat always had silk facings. He was old-fashioned, but he looked a good deal better than his more fashionable contemporaries, for his clothes had style—a quality very rare at BURNHAM TREE BRANCHES GO: Last Saturday the death occurred of two men of a family prominently connected with Peterborough's development. The one man died in Toronto, the other in Millbrook. The former was Professor Maitland Crease Boswell, chemist for forty years on the staff of the University of Toronto who has been credited with the discovery in 1922 of a new chemical reaction which could be used in making dyestuffs from coal tar. Professor Boswell owned a 50-acre farm near Pickering which became the village of Ajax. He died at the age of 72.

He was the youngest son of John Snowden Boswell, real estate and insurance man in Peterborough, and mother was Elizabeth Burnham, only daughter of Elias Burnham, first Peterborough solicitor, town councillor for forty years, and a principal landowner in Peterborough. Professor Boswell was therefore grandson of Elias Burnham. His father had oversight of the Elias Burnham estate, valued at Elias' death (in 1890 at the age of eighty) at $150,000.

J. S. Boswell and the children of Elias created the first residential sub-division in Peterborough, naming the avenues for the family: Boswell, for J. S. Boswell and his wife; Maitland for Professor Maitland C. Boswell their son, now deceased; Elias for the old man, etc. (I discussed this branch of the Burnham family in several articles last summer.)

The other Burnham to die on the same day, last Saturday, was George E. Burnham, Millbrook merchant. He died at the age of 80, and was the son of Dr. Elias Burnham, and Elizabeth Susanna Leary. Dr. Elias Burnham was the eldest son of Elias Burnham, and was thus a brother of Professor Boswell's mother. George E. Burnham was a brother of Mrs. Edmund Ball of Millbrook, the only daughter of Dr. Elias. Her given name 'Pearl' was given to the Pearl Avenue in the Elias Burnham residential subdivision. George E. Burnham, the Millbrook merchant for more than fifty years, who died last Saturday, was long prominent in the affairs of Millbrook, social, municipal and fraternal.

Thus two grandsons of Elias Burnham died last Saturday—a coincidence which warrants the attention I have given it here.

DEAR ALPHA: Wil[illegible]

ANSWER: The art of using a divining-rod for discovering something hidden is an ancient one, and I am the last person to scoff at old arts merely because modern men cannot produce scientific evidence to explain or prove them. For thousands of years the Chinese used to dry the skins of toads, grind them into powder, and use this superstitiously for several kinds of 'curing'. It was just a grubby and nasty old Chinese medicine man's witchery, of no value at all—western science thought, until it was discovered that dried toad held adrenalin. So modern doctors are back to the ancient Chinese, using toad powder to assist ailing hearts. Far be it from me to disparage the water finders and their rods, the only professional dowsers left in modern times.

MOST DOWSERS use a forked hazel twig which, twisting in their hands, leads them by its directing power to the place where a boring for a well should be made. There is widespread faith in the power of the diviner, and if I were sinking a well I would hire a diviner (as station CHEX did when it sank a well at its broadcasting plant south of the city). Perhaps I would hit water anyway, without a diviner, if I went down deep enough—CHEX had to burrow more than a hundred feet, I believe. The scoffers say that a diviner has got to be fifty per cent successful anyway, by the laws of averages, that there is always water if you dig deep enough, and that the only way to know whether you will get water where you dig is to dig, or to get geophysicists to make scientific soundings (by setting off detonations, etc.) Geophysicists are employed by mining companies looking for ore bodies and oil wells. But to hire one for finding water would be as expensive as digging ten wells.

Some persons who have the gift for divining water do not use, or need not use hazel rods, or any other kind: their hands, or even an iron bar on them, will dip down to the spot where water lies.

Whether you employ a dowser or not is a matter of belief. As I have said, I would. The cost is small. So I would get a diviner—being sufficiently superstitious not to turn down (at small cost) any help he might possibly give in finding water. A cousin of mine living on the top of a hill in Ireland had never been able to get water, except from the valley below. He hired a good diviner, and sank two wells where the diviner told him, and has had a pereptual supply of water ever since.

MY DEAR ALPHA: Did you perchance no[illegible] the Thursday before Good Friday. I quote from their report in the paper that "Monday to Thursday money" was discussed. Pray, Sir, what is the relationship, if any, of Monday to Thursday money to an account in the Examiner many months ago, about a French bathroom fixture: a D-Day to B-Day item?

ANSWER: Isn't Bidet the name of a former French foreign minister? Ah, no: there's water in it: it's Bidault (eau—catch it?) And Maunday Thursday, the day before Good Friday when alms are traditionally distributed by a royal almoner, must be just as foreign to even quite learned ladies. Between flushing water and the ceremonial washing of the feet of poor people (the origin of Maunday Thursday), I find your question quite funny.

CAPTAIN RUBIDGE's Granddaughter: On April 15th, Mrs. Margaret Lambe, widow of A. B. Lambe died in Windsor. A funeral service was held in Peterborough, where Mrs. Lambe had lived most of her life (going to Windsor only a couple of years ago) and she was buried in Little Lake cemetery on the 18th. Mrs. Lambe was a granddaughter of "Captain" Charles Rubidge, after whom Rubidge Street was named.

I wrote about Captain Rubidge several years ago in this column—getting some of the information from Mrs. Lambe. He had been a lieutenant in the Royal Navy serving during the Napoleonic Wars, but not, I believe, at Trafalgar with Nelson. When he retired after the wars he was offered land, as so many other British veterans were offered, in Upper Canada. He was in Cobourg in 1819, and got his "estate" in Otonabee township. This was before the Irish immigration and the settlement of Peterborough. He became first postmaster of Otonabee, later the registrar of Peterborough County, and died in 1873 at the age of 86. Mrs. Lambe is survived by a daughter, Miss Laura M. R. Lambe of Windsor.

FOR THE RECORD: Brief Victorian pillars. A brief glimpse into an ornamental past was given two days ago in remodelling the front of the old Dickson dry-goods store, second south from Hunter on the west side of George. (The Dickson business is one of many old-established retail firms which have fled the street owing to high rentals.) The windows, door, and window shelf had been removed, exposing in their solitary dignity the old street-front pillars of wood—rather graceful, pleasantly surmounted and branching over the doorway. While these had always been in the store front, they were not as clearly revealed. Hopes that the remodellers would have incorporated them in the new store front were dashed. This morning steel girders were there, the pillars gone.

Russia And The Straits

By BIP PARES

Ever since Catherine the Great secured the northern Black Sea coast for Russia by finally driving out the Turks, Russian statesmen have looked to the Bosphorus and Dardanelles Straits not only as a means of egress into the Mediterranean for their own shipping, but also as the key to their Black Sea defences centred on Odessa.

S[illegible] last [illegible]n has made great strides in ex[illegible]ng and consolidating its interest in the Danube basin and the Black Sea coastline. Effective control of Bulgaria and Rumania was essential for this purpose. But since Marshal Tito ruined the Kremlin's hopes of a direct passage to the Adriatic and the Mediterranean via Yugoslavia and Albania, the Soviet Union has turned with increased urgency to creating and developing its own enclaves or colonies in Bulgaria and Rumania.

New Port

The chief works have been the cutting of the Danube-Black Sea canal and the development of the great new port of Midia, across the mouth of the new canal from Constanza.

The canal has itself come to form the effective boundary between the Soviet Union and Rumania proper. At the same time the Bulgarian part of the Dobruja has been effectively cut off from the main Bulgarian economy and is being run as a Russian colony centred on the important port of Varna, renamed Stalin, and the inland city of Dobric, renamed Tolbukhin after the victorious Red Army Marshal.

The map by Bip Pares shows graphically how far the Kremlin has gone towards realizing the traditional ambitions of the Czars for control of the Lower Danube and the adjacent coastline, in a general expansion towards the Straits.—(Map Copyrighted)

Constructive Speech In Commons

(WINDSOR STAR)

THAT speech in the Commons by Lt.-Col. Dave Croll, Toronto-Spadina, on lack of mortgage money for housing, was one of the most constructive delivered in many a day. It would be very unwise to regard it as only captious criticism of lending organizations.

Col. Croll was complaining of sufficient money not being made available, on feasible terms, to permit people in this country to be as decently housed as they should be. Amid the tremendous developments which have occurred in the post- war period, attempts to provide sufficient [illegible]

[illegible] governments for lack of successful action, and they are to blame for not intervening effectively. But why should governments have to step into a field where private enterprise should be able to meet the needs? That is where Col. Croll gets down to fundamental thinking, and his thoughts deserve the contemplation of all of us who believe in private enterprise.

It's easy to rant and rave about governments infringing on fields of private enterprise, in industry, business or commerce. And it is easy to criticize governments and the high taxes because of the widening scope of their activities.

Such criticism, however, is superficial unless we ask ourselves why governments have entered such fields. If we are honest with ourselves, we will admit it is usually because a majority of the people believe it is necessary for governments so to do . . .

Socialization, nationalization, seizure of industries, etc., ordinarily come only after private enterprise has failed to carry out its obligations and responsibilities. Railways in Canada were nationalized into the C.N.R. when they went bankrupt and couldn't continue service. The Hydro-E[illegible]

[illegible] day when industry could accept as its only responsibility that of making profits and paying dividends. True, a few believers in that laissez-faire system remain, but they are economic dinosaurs, the relics of another age. The modern conception of private enterprise is that it owes a duty to the people who support it, to the nation which provides its scope and opportunities. It has a public trust.

If it reneges on that public trust, then people prevail upon governments to intervene and take over. That is the point Col. Croll was getting across, and the present housing impasse was an apt illustration of it.

C. C. F. Changes Horses

(Saskatoon Star-Phoenix)

Mr. Douglas's speech the other night promising a $75 millions road program and a $50 millions power development looked very much like the opening of the election campaign that is expected in June. Certainly, it gave ample evidence that the C.C.F. party has mounted a new charger for the next campaign. The party is no longer the champion of the dispossessed, the dispenser of social security to all who think they need a helping hand. It is, rather, the party of economic development and expansion, or so it would present itself to the electorate. The campaign horses that have carried the C.C.F. party to victory in the last two elections have been retired to pasture and this new, dashing mount of development and expansion has been brought out of the stable for this occasion.

This new emphasis is in keeping with the times. The vast majority of Saskatchewan people are as prosperous now as they have ever been. They hope to be even more prosperous when oil is discovered and uranium mines developed. The need for social security is slight. The prospect of paying for more of it even smaller. Our best hope to keep these good conditions lies in the discovery and development of new wealth. We are in a mood to listen to great plans for expansion and to be not too critical about the practicality of some of the dreams offered us.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The words of the Preacher, the son of David, king in Jerusalem. (Eccl. 1: 1.)

I made me great works; I builded me houses; I planted me vineyards . . . I gathered me also silver and gold, and the peculiar treasure of kings and of the provinces: I gat me man singers and women singers, and the delights of the sons of men, as musical instruments, and that of all sorts. So I was great, and increased more than all that were before me in Jerusalem: also my wisdom remained with me . . . Then I looked on all the work that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do: and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun . . .

Yea, I halted all my labour which I had taken under the sun: because I should leave it unto the man that shall be after me. And who knoweth whether he shall be a wise man or a fool yet shall he have rule over all my labour wherein I have laboured, and wherein I have shewed myself wise under the sun. This is also vanity. Therefore I went about to cause my heart to despair of all the labour which I took under the sun. For there is a man whose labour is in wisdom; and in knowledge, and in equity . . .

For God giveth to a man that is good in his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy. (Eccl. 2: 4, 8, 9, 11, 18-21, 26.)

When wisdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleasant unto thy soul: discretion shall reserve thee, understanding shall keep thee. (Prov. 2: 10, 11.)

Josephine Baker Refuses Film Offers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 9—(AP)—Josephine Baker, playing her first night club run in Hollywood, is accepting the applause of the movie crowd but refusing their film offers.

The Negro entertainer is reported mulling an offer to film her life story. But she has turned down many other film opportunities. The reason: She was wanted merely for specialty numbers in musicals.

"I don't like to use the term egotistically," she remarked, "but in France I was a star in movies. I played the leading role in many pictures. One of my partners was Gabin—Jean Gabin. I do not intend to do specialties in pictures here.

"I don't want the same thing to happen to me as happened to Lena Horne. She was limited to doing musical numbers. And the numbers were cut out of the pictures when the pictures played in the south. I think Lena Horne should be starred, and I think some day she will be.

"I have a very good feeling about Hollywood. I think it is growing up. I think the time is coming when the movie industry will be making films starring colored artists.

Should Take Lead

"Hollywood should do this. After all, it is the motion picture capital of the world. It should take the lead in understanding between the races. Besides, it would be good business. Think of the audience of colored people throughout the world—500 or 600 million! I think the studios would more than make up whatever loss they might suffer in the south. And I think the day is coming when the south will go for such pictures, too."

In recent years, there have been only two all-Negro pictures made by major studios. In 1942, M.G.M. made "Cabin in the Sky" with Ethel Waters and Eddie (Rochester) Anderson. In 1943, 20th Fox put out "Stormy Weather," a musical starring Lena Horne and Bill Robinson.

"But I don't argue that pictures should have all-colored casts," Miss Baker continued. "I merely say that when a story calls for somebody colored, it should be played by a colored person.

"In Hollywood, when the Queen of Sheba is portrayed, she is shown as a blue-eyed blonde. Now Queen of Sheba was certainly not blue-eyed and she was no blonde. Also, Cleopatra is shown as light-skinned and blue-eyed. Even though the custom then was to paint the face white Cleopatra was dark-skinned and she couldn't have had blue eyes."

Living Cost Drop Illusion Drew Says

LONDON, Ont., May 9 (CP) — "Fractional" drops in the cost-of-living index are the result of the federal government's "disastrous meddling with the agricultural affairs" of Canada, George Drew said Thursday night.

In a speech at the annual meeting of the Western Ontario Progressive Conservative Association, the leader of the Opposition said the Liberal [illegible] that inflation has really been licked," he said. "Just because of a fractional change in the cost of living."

These changes, though welcome, were nevertheless small. They were created by the prices of beef and other farm products being forced down by foot-and-mouth disease and loss of our export market."

Senate Committee To Make Inquiry

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — The Senate Thursday established a committee to investigate publication and distribution of indecent literature.

Senator J. J. Doone (L-New Brunswick), sponsor of the motion for a special investigation, said drastic action is needed to clean up objectionable publications and pictures.

The committee will examine sources of obscene literature; their means and extent of distribution; responsibility for their entry and transmission; and whether present laws are sufficient to curb such publications.

Warn Dodgers Watch Language

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP). — Brooklyn Dodgers have been warned by president Warren Giles of the National League to stop their jockeying from the bench, it was learned today.

Wm. Flint Prexy As Six In Lasses' League

Six teams comprise the Girls' Softball League this season: Lindsay, Belleville, Cobourg, Marines, Burtol's and Ashby's. This was settled as entries closed last night at the re-organization meeting in the Y.M. It was the first time in years that two oldtime local teams, Westclox and C.G.E., did not enter this circuit, and it was the first time for Belleville to appear in the loop.

Bill Flint was returned as president for 1952, with Jack Cridland vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Bennett secretary and Mabel Gillen treasurer. Umpires are to apply at once in writing to Wm. Flint at 47 Park St. South.

It is expected that the schedule will be a double one with games in Peterborough going as twin bills on Mondays and Wednesdays in the Bowl. There will also be games in Lindsay, Cobourg and Belleville. The schedule opens on May 26 here with Marines playing Ashby's, followed by Lindsay vs. Burtol's. On May 28 here, Burtol's meet Marines, and Lindsay plays Ashby's, while the same night sees Cobourg at Belleville. On May 30, Ashby's go to Cobourg. Games here start at seven. The schedule will be drawn up shortly.

Jack Simpson, manager of Fergus Thistles senior lacrosse team, said Thursday in Toronto he will present the club's case concerning player Don Campbell to the Ontario Lacrosse Association executive. The O.L.A. ruled Wednesday night that Campbell belonged to Owen Sound. Simpson claims his club signed Campbell before the May 1 residence rule deadline and the rule would prohibit Campbell from going to Owen Sound.

Vancouver's Point Grey Golf and Country Club will be the scene of the 1954 Canadian open, club officials announced Thursday. The tournament likely will be held in August after the British Empire games in Vancouver.

Manager Paul Richards of Chicago White Sox said Thursday in Boston that he had been fined $100 for pushing umpire Charley Berry in last Sunday's doubleheader against New York Yankees. Pitcher Saul Rogovin drew a $50 fine for blasts at the umpire.

John Jockey Owens, accused of swindling horse bettors of $6,100 by saying he knew "fixed" races to bet on, was convicted at Los Angeles Thursday of enough counts of grand theft and bookmaking to send him to prison for 157 years. He will be sentenced May 22.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

No pro wrestling show here next week. The merry matadors won't be back in Peterborough till next October or November. This is a winter town on the grappling circuit and crowds fall off fast as nice weather arrives. So, the big fellows who wrestle for money will swing to some of the summer centres for future shows. Places like Oshawa, Belleville and maybe Lindsay, where Toar Morgan lives. He is likely to promote some mat shows there. The last card here saw a slim turnou[illegible] and the pros can't operate on that kind of gate. But, no doubt, they'll be back at the Brock Arena in the autumn and strutting their stuff before hefty crowds again.

A highlight of the wrestling season locally was the visit of Jack Dempsey last winter as referee. That packed 'em in and the old Manassa Mauler proved popular with all. Yukon Eric frequently stayed here several days around one of his performances, working out at the "Y." A local barber told us he had quite a job of clipping that 22-inch neck. Hans Hermann's wife came down from Toronto for all the German's shows, as did Athol Layton's girl friend when the big Englishman was on the card. The matmen work pretty regularly from city to city, taking a month off in the summer and again at Christmas. They wrestle frequently but are well paid for it.

Golf at the Kawartha

President Tom Glover will be officially opening the men's season at the Kawartha Golf Club on May 17. The ladies start next week, too, and the business girls. There's been a lot of play already at the fine links lying just west of the city. With the course in good shape, this early start is okay with the many members who impatiently sat through a long winter and dreamed of teeing off once again. Lex Robson, after 12 years a pro here, starts another busy season and is as enthusiastic now as when he first came to the club. One of Ontario's top professionals, Lex keeps busy enough at Kawartha so that he finds little time to participate in outside tourneys now.

St. Kitts' scribe is peeved because Toronto's senior lacrosse club has invited some of their juniors to play up Toronto way this semester. He says his city produces the finest junior players in Canada, though this is hardly borne out in view of the recent record of Peterborough and Mimico. He takes a side swipe, too, at the Peterborough setup for last year going after St. Catharines' players, saying that this city has done absolutely nothing for the promotion of minor lacrosse. Come, come, chum, get your facts straight. We have a better minor setup working here the past few years than you have! Another year will likely see St. Kitts seeking players from Peterborough.

Senior baseball prospects have open workouts in Riverside Park [illegible] date. Sord Snape of the local junior entry in the Lakeshore League phoned us to say he was going to fold up his team because several of his key players were being taken by the seniors, and that the juniors were crowded off the Riverside diamond last night by the seniors. We advised him to stay in there till this could be straightened out as we definitely wouldn't like to see the junior club withdrawn. Wurra, wurra, wurra.

The six-team Girls' Softball League will open play here May 26 with Marines vs. Ashby's, and Lindsay vs. Burtol's. The latter meets Marines on May 28 as Lindsay goes against Ashby's, and Cobourg treks to Belleville. Then on May 30, Ashby's are at Cobourg. Rest of the double schedule will be announced shortly. Local twin bills at the Bowl on Mondays and Wednesdays, commencing at seven. So, it's three city teams and three from out of town, first time Belleville has been in this setup. And first time in many years that Westclox and C.G.E. are out. Umps should apply now in writing to President Bill Flint at 47 Park St. south. Jack Cridland is vice-prexy, Mrs. Wm. Bennett, secretary, and Mabel Gillen treasurer. This lasses' circuit sounds promising.

East City Gets Exhibition Over Lindsay

LINDSAY, May 9 (ENS) —Peterborough East City and Lindsay Combines gave softball its earliest start in years here last night as Red Sullivan's visitors hung on to take a 7-6 win in an abbreviated exhibition game before 400 fans.

The visitors took advantage of typical early season play of the locals to build up a 6-0 lead in the first four frames as Terry Woods threw no-hit ball. A bunt and a scratchy single followed up by a circuit slash by Jack Richards to put Lindsay back in the ball game in the fifth. Sullivan almost handed the game to Combines as he tried to warm up the chilled crowd with a brief but comical relief appearance in the sixth. Bus McDougall hit a two-run homer off the Boston Bruin rookie before Woods came back to end the game. Jack Keene a right hander from Orillia and Haddie Eakins [illegible] pound duties for [illegible]

Perry of King Edward School (top) and a direct one-point landing on his head by Ken Jonhston of Prince of Wales were all in the fun for swimmers at the 13th annual public school swim meet Thursday night. Perry finished out of the running in the 14 years and over 40-yard back stroke. Johnston with his flip won the best diver award presented by Cliff McInroy and Stan McBride.

[illegible] Woods each banged a pair. Lindsay managed four hits off Woods who fanned seven It was the first start for Combines who will represent the town in the Peterborough City League this summer.

Danny Boy Scores His Second Victory

YONKERS, N. Y., May 9 (AP) —Danny Boy Dalyum scored his second victory in four starts at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night taking the $3,660 Concourse trot when Blitzen Up, who was leading went into a break 10 feet from the wire.

Driven by Dick Williams, the winner covered the mile in 2:07 and paid $7.60, $3.70 and $3.00 across the board.

Blitzen Up took second and Virginia Flow finished third.

Indians Humble Champs Whipping Yankees 12-5

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

A month ago it was said Cleveland Indians couldn't capture the pennant until they learned how to win at Yankee Stadium. Well, they seem to learn fast. Not since 1947 had the Indians swept a series in New York Yankees' home park until they humbled the world champs Thursday, 12-5 for a third straight.

The Yankee Stadium jinx, the Vic Raschi hex, the Eddie Lopat whammy all went out the window in this first New York-Cleveland series of the season.

Raschi got his lumps Wednesday and Lopat his Thursday when the Tribe's new cleanup man, Ray Boone, struck the big blow of the game, a three-run homer in the fifth.

Bobby Feller was the winning pitcher as the Tribe finished its baseball, still a very effective hurler with the Cleveland Indians didn't hesitate a moment as he replied.

"That's evident, isn't it? They don't have that left-handed power any more. Sure, they miss Joe DiMaggio. But they also miss those left-handed long-ball hitters who used to murder you in Yankee Stadium. Yogi Berra, who can reach the seats, probably will help but he is not enough."

Feller, who's been facing the Yanks on and off since 1936, registered his 29th win over them against 33 losses when he beat the New Yorkers 12-5 Thursday.

"Understand," Feller explained, "I'm not being critical of the Yankees. They're a good club. They have good pitching, a fine defence and lots of speed. It's just that the team doesn't have those long ball hitters any more. The kind that made the Yankees famous as the Bronx Bombers.

Helps Southpaws

"Just look at the Yankee teams I faced in the old days. Lou Gehrig, DiMaggio, Bill Dickey, Tommy Henrich, Charlie Keller, Joe Gordon, George Selkirk, Red Rolfe and Frank Crosetti.

"Except for DiMaggio, who used to belt me pretty good, I never had too much trouble with the right-handed power hitters. It was those southpaws who used to murder me. Guys like Henrich and Keller. Even the mediocre left-handed hitters gave me more trouble than the good right-handed hitters. The park is so constructed, it helps the southpaws and hurts the righthanders."

Thinks Yanks Missing Joe DiMaggio

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP). — Bob Feller, who has pitched against the New York Yankees more times than any active hurler, appeared to be the logical person to ask the ques[illegible] one the rest of the way—a ninth-inning homer by Gene Woodling.

Following Red Sox

Winging home after his successful tour, the Indians are only 18 percentage points behind the leading Boston Red Sox.

Chicago White Sox salvaged the finale at Boston, 4-2, on Saul Rogovin's five-hit pitching. Ed Stewart's two-run homer off loser Ray Scarborough in the seventh was the crusher, ending the White Sox's six-game losing streak.

Big Jim Rivera, St. Louis Browns' slumping rookie flash, snapped out of it with a ninth-inning home run that beat Philadelphia, 9-8. Rivera, benched for weak hitting, got into the game just in time to make a sensational catch in the sixth—then, with old Satchel Paige flim-flamming the Athletics, Rivera reached Carl Scheib for the winner. Paige, fourth Browns' pitcher, allowed only one run and two hits in four innings.

Washington Senators struggled 11 innings to a 4-4 deadlock with Detroit Tigers in a "suspended game" that will be completed May 31. Play was halted after the 11th to let the Tigers catch a train for home and a date with Chicago this afternoon.

Giants Triumph

Dave Koslo continued his mastery over St. Louis Cardinals as New York Giants tightened the National League race with a 3-0 win. The defending champs now are only 28 percentage points behind Brooklyn Dodgers who were idle yesterday.

The surging Giants rushed through their first western trip with a glittering 9-1 record. They have won 13 of their last 15 games.

Koslo has won nine in a row against St. Louis over a three-year span.

Stan Musial, who went hitless against Koslo last year in 17 trips, had a pair of doubles. It wasn't enough to save Gerry Staley from his first defeat after winning five in a row.

Willard Marshall tripled with the bases loaded and singled home a fourth run in the Boston Braves' 6-4 triumph over Chicago Cubs.

Ottawa Edges Royals 6-5 Behind Bishop

By The Associated Press.

If Ottawa Athletics had two more operatives like Charlie Bishop and John Metkovich, they probably wouldn't be in last place in the International League.

In fact, the league-leading Montreal Royals, doubtless are wondering just why the A's are in the cellar. Bishop went all the way Thursday night to chalk up his third triumph in setting down the Royals, 6-5, while Metkovich stroked a three-run homer, his fourth of the season.

The A's have won only five games thus far, and three of them are credited to Bishop. The game actually was decided in the bottom of the ninth when Jack Conway hit a two-run single.

The Royals lost no ground to the second-place Syracuse Chiefs, who also took a beating. Vern Fear of the Springfield Cubs set the Chiefs down with two hits to take a 4-1 decision. Springfield was no great shakes at the bat, either, collecting only three singles.

Aided By Wildness

They were aided by wildness on the part of Al Holloman, who dropped his first game in six starts. He yielded a wild pitch and a single in the first, walked three and was tapped for a single in the second, then wild pitched three runs across.

Aided by two home runs by Lou Morton and another by Bobby Rhawn, Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Rochester Red Wings 8-5. The Wings went ahead in the fourth but couldn't hold their lead. Lou Ortiz accounted for two of their runs with a one-on home run.

Buffalo Bisons slaughtered Baltimore Orioles, 10-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Milt Jordan. Jocko Thompson hurled creditably for the home forces for seven innings, allowing three runs, but blew up in the eighth, when he was blasted for home runs by Dave Jaska and Jack Phillips.

Grads Coach Percy Page Will Retire

EDMONTON, May 9 (CP). — J. Percy Page, the man who coached Edmonton Commercial Grads to four world basketball championships, has announced his retirement.

Mr. Page celebrates his 65th birthday ext Wednesday and at the end of June will retire after 40 years continuous service with the Edmonton Public School Board.

Back in 1914, a group of high school girls wanted to start playing a new game called basketball. They asked their teacher if he could coach them.

"Well, I'll give it a try," Mr. Page said and the Grads were born. In 25 years they played 522 games, won 502 of them, travelled more than 125,000 miles and took the official world championship at four Olympic games.

Mr. Page is known primarily for his basketball coaching career but he also has gained recognition in the fields of education and politics.

Dual Citizenship

Born in Rochester, N. Y., of Canadian parents, Mr. Page enjoys the distinction of dual citizenship in Canada and the United States. He was raised at Bronte, Ont., attending junior high school at Oakville and graduating as a gold medallist from the Collegiate Institute at Hamilton.

In 1912, while acting as commercial master at the St. Thomas Collegiate Institute, Mr. Page was invited to come to Edmonton to introduce commercial training into the city high school system.

With his retirement next month Mr. Page will have earned the honor of holding the record of continuous service in the city high school system.

Mr. Page is the author of a school book entitled "Practical Office Training" and his students have won more high-speed shorthand awards over the last seven years than those of any commercial high school of similar size in Canada.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary intermediates of the School Softball League took a 14-11 win yesterday over Central on the former's grounds in a neat tussle. Central got three runs each in the first two innings, one next time up and four in the fourth; while Q.M. tallied one in the first, seven in a big second stanza three next heat, two in the fourth and one more in the fifth. Armstrong, Findlay and McInroy were best for Central, with Haig, Hendry and Goodfellow standouts for the winners.

Central: Lang, Findlay, Tetlock, Sorrie, Bolton, Simpson, Armstrong, McInroy, Hayman, Dunford, Dinsdale, Barber.

Q.M.: Dunn, Jobbitt, Wilson, Hendry, Brown, Haig, Clarke, Goodfellow, McArthur, Bignell, Foy, Dec.

Umpire, C. Bullock.

Mrs. H. E. Connolly

The funeral for Mrs. Henry E. Connolly, the former Sarah Mabel Arthurs, 585 King St., who died Monday was held Thursday at All Saints' Anglican Church.

W.I. Plans To Canvass For School

WESTWOOD, May 9 (ENS) — The Westwood United Church Woman's Missionary Society met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. W. Sargent for their May meeting.

It was decided to make a canvass of all church members for contributions to the new Training School for leaders, and committees were appointed to take charge.

An invitation was received from the Hastings' Evening Auxiliary to attend a service in the Hastings United Church on May 13 to hear an address by the Rev. W. H. Tonge of Lakefield.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Clysdale.

Mrs. E. Sargent took charge of the worship service. The Rev. N. Cole led in prayer and readings were given by Mrs. J. Clysdale, Mrs. H. S. Neilson, Mrs. A. Wood and Mrs. W. Breckenridge.

It's the extra that Counts!

6-Week Strike Settled In U.S.

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 9—(AP)—A six-week strike of A.F.L. printers which halted publication of Rockford's two daily newspapers for the last two weeks was settled Thursday night. Plans were made immediately to resume publication today.

Agreement on the new contract—the chief issue in the printers' walkout—was between the International Typographical Union and the Rockford Consolidated Newspapers, Inc., publishers of the Morning Star and the afternoon Register-Republic.

The publishing company also reached agreement with the American Newspaper Guild (C.I.O.), which was not involved in the I.T.U. dispute.

Local units of the I.T.U. and the A.N.G. ratified the agreements at separate sessions Thursday night. The I.T.U. approved the contract by a vote of 63 to 2, and the Guild by unanimous vote.

Joseph Rhoden, I.T.U. International [illegible] matter of an editorial nature, as columnists, women's [illegible] pression of opinion or feature matter of any type."

Setting Pattern

He said he thought the new contract "will go a long way toward setting a pattern within the newspaper industry," and called it a "very satisfactory agreement."

Teletypesetter is a manual type control over linecasting machines.

Rhoden said the principals "agreed further that no tape from outside the composing room will be used to bring about a reduction of the (work) force. This m[illegible] that all mailed tape is out, and that even the wire service tape cannot be used to the extent of bringing about a reduction in the force." He added: "The competent standard for teletype perforators within the plant was lowered from 375 to 350 lines per hour."

He said the contract also included a wage increase "including the maximum permissible under the wage stabilization board regulations," and a "picket line clause that gives our men the right to refuse to cross picket lines of any of the other six unions in the plant who may be involved in an authorized strike or lockout."

Presentations Made To Y.P.U. Play Cast

ROSENEATH, May 9 (ENS). — The presentation of gifts to the members and director of the play presented by Roseneath Y.P.U., was the highlight of their May meeting held on Wednesday eevning at the home of Mrs. Delbert Varcoe. Gifts of chinaware were presented to the director, Mrs. Earl Waldie, and the ladies of the play cast, Mrs. Harold Mouncey and Miss Mary Ekuce. Leather belts were presented to the men, Neil Adams and John Winkworth. Verbal appreciation was expressed to the players by the Rev. R. C. White, and the presentation was made by Miss Adele Varcoe on behalf of the Y.P.U. members.

The play, "Hanging Uncle Henry," won first place at the drama festival held at Coldsprings on Apriu 30, when the Cobourg Presbytery Y.P.U. Drama Festival was held.

The president, Neil Adams, presided. A report of the provincial conference held in Guelph was presented by the delegates, Neil Adams and Adele Varcoe.

Haldimand, Alnwick TeachersHaveMeeting

ROSENEATH, May 9 (ENS) — Twenty-five teachers attended a get-together at Fenella school on Monday when the teachers of Alnwick and North Haldimand schools were hosts to the teachers of South Haldimand schools.

Mrs. W. I. Montgomery, teacher of Fenella school welcomed the guests and as president of the association conducted the business period. Miss Doris Robins was secretary.

Detailed plans were made for the annual field day to be held on June 11 on Roseneath Agricultural Society grounds.

Mrs. Arthur Luffman, Baltimore, was guest speaker and gave an interesting address on "Folk Schools." The guest artist was Miss Bernice Curtis, Baltimore, who delighted the audience with folk dancing.

At the conclusion of the meeting the guests, with their hosts, were invited to the nearby home of the president, Mrs. Montgomery where refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Driver Thrown Out Of Car

LINDSAY, May 9 — A 44-year-old Peterborough man escaped injuries Wednesday night when his car went out of control near Lindsay and he was thrown clear out on the highway. Damage to the car was estimated at $1,400.

Dalton Walter Way, O'Carrol St., was approaching the curve south of Riverside cemetery on Highway 7, when his car went out of control. The car left the road at the east end of the curve and proceeded along the gravel surface of the Y, where the highway turns left. It struck and severed a signpost and continued along the west shoulder of curve and rolled completely over three times. The car then skidded on its top to the inside of the curve where it rolled to its wheels again and stopped about eigth feet from the pavement on the shoulder.

Way was thrown clear and landed in a sitting position in the centre of the pavement.

Dr. J. C. Arnold of Lindsay, who was driving west reached the scene almost immediately as did [illegible] Lindsay public

Blames Carnations

MENTON, France, May 9 (AP) — An official report Thursday listed the growing of carnations as a major cause of landslides which caused 11 deaths here April 24. The report said landowners uprooted so many olive trees to make room for the flowers that the earth was not held together propertly.

Reunited Family

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9 (AP) —An 11-year-old Polish boy, separated from his parents when the Nazis occupied Poland seven years ago, was reunited with them here Thursday. Sturdy and tanned, Eliezer Lewin stepped from a plane into a joyous exchange of kisses, embraces and tears. The parents reached Louisville in 1949 after leaving a displaced persons camp in Germany. Although fearing their son was dead, they searched for him through world-wide organizations and found him in a farming country in Israel.

New Union Agreement Halts Strike Plan

TORONTO, May 9—(CP)—An agreement reached Thursday between union and management negotiators may have averted a strike at the Moffat Stove and Refrigerator plant in suburban Weston.

Details of the agreement, drawn up with the aid of Chief Conciliation Officer Louis Fine, are subject to ratification by members of United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) at the plant.

Some 350 workers were seeking an increase of 20 cents an hour to bring the starting rate to $1.27½-an-hour.

PRINCELY SQUARE DANCE — Prince Takahito Mikasa, youngest brother of the Emperor of Japan, learns a new square dance step from Pfc. Nick B. Nazzareto, of Fresno, Calif., during a Japanese-American dance at a Yokohamo recreation centre. The prince, who is rated by G.I.'s as a "very good dancer," has for his partner, Shigeko Hojima, of Yokohama.

Reword Pledge Of Abstinence

TORONTO, May 9 (CP)—A reworded pledge of total abstinence, which the United Church of Canada will urge its members to sign, will be presented at the church's general council meeting in Hamilton next September.

The announcement was made Wednesday during a meeting of the executive of the general council under the Rt. Rev. C. M. Nicholson, moderator, of Halifax.

The Rev. James R. Mutchmor of Toronto said the number of persons convicted of drunkenness in Toronto during the first four months of this year was down 18½ per cent as compared with the same period last year. He said the United Church had had something to do with the decline and also praised the work of the Roman Catholic Church in this feild.

The Rev. Gordon A. Sisco of Toronto, secretary of the church, was appointed United Church representative to the 164th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in New York.

Woman Disgusted At Work In Cemetery

TORONTO, May 9 (CP)—In an old cemetery sold for use as an industrial cite, workmen digging up the burial plots Thursday were reported to have thrown bones and skulls into a box for burial later in a common grave.

A woman member of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church in suburban Scarboro, which sold the burying ground, said she watched the digging operation and saw no effort made to attach names to the bodies of 73 former members of the congregation buried there.

She said the scene was "'revolting, the most degrading thing you could imagine" with dogs and children running over the sacred ground and people making jokes about "old bones."

Finds Russians Hard Masters

By WILLIAM L. RYAN,
AP Foreign News Analyst

Sirens shrill, traffic and pedestrians scatter.

A car screeches to a halt opposite the State bank building on Bucharest's Kisselev Street. Three sentinels snap to attention.

Escort cars, crammed with bodyguards, pull up behind the green sedan, as a guard opens the door.

Grim and unsmiling, the hammer jawed first lady of Romanian Communism steps out and walks rapidly into the building.

Ana Pauker, for all her new riches—her four cars, her lavish villa, her legion of personal bodyguards and attendants—

... how many more are there? How much longer will she last in the place of power she has held since the Russians obligingly evicted the Monarchy?

Under Surveillance

The Russions have been watching her. Even the defence minister, Gen. Emil Bodnares, a Ukrainian whom she has considered her ally—how long would he remain her friend if she should lose the confidence of Moscow? And there are rumors . . . .

It was a close squeeze with Vasile Luca. The finance minister had a thirst for power. Even Bodnares had feared him. For Ana it was fortunate Luca's recent currency reform caused so much chaos in the country. It gave her a lever. She and Bodnares had him fired as finance minister and vice-premier. They put in a less ambitious man, Dimitru Petrescu, former president of the State Supply Commission.

Luca, at 54, had felt he was going places. But as finance minister, he ran into trouble last January. He decreed that old lei were to be exchanged at rates ranging all the way up to 400 old for one new, on a sliding scale. At the same time prices were reduced.

Russian Control

The currency reform evidently had been dictated by Moscow bosses who sit in on the Romanian Communist government. Each Romanian ministry has a Soviet "counsellor". He has more power than the minister.

The Russians also direct the army. They have taken over the country's youth, too. The young workers union is a mass organization of the Communists to control youth. Only its members can hope for higher education.

The Russians are pushing the Romanian Communists into a speed-up of collectivizing farms

Fail To Overthrow Petticoat Government

BISHOP'S ICHINGTON, Warwickshire, England, May 9 (Reuters) — Man's attempt to overthrow the "petticoat government" of this picturesque village has flopped.

The 900 villagers have re-elected the six housewives who, with one lone male, have ruled the parish council for three years.

The election took place this week along with similar ballots throughout the country for local councillors.

Council chairman Mrs. Edith Chappel-Hyam again topped the poll with 290 votes.

The only change on the council was the male member. Blacksmith Fred Marlow lost his seat to farm contractor Frank Moore.

DeSoto FIREDOME 8

NEW IN SO MANY WAYS..

... IN POWER, PICKUP AND PERFORMANCE

You'll thrill to the surging power of the mighty new 160 h.p. FireDome engine ... it's of the new-design V-8 type which has won acclaim and set performance and economy records in one short year. Its flashing get-away and its smooth, efficient performance in all speed ranges are breathtaking.

With the addition of Fluid-Torque Drive accelerating ability is more than doubled and the result is truly sensational.*

... IN EFFICIENCY AND DURABILITY

The key to FireDome 8 efficiency is a radically different combustion chamber — shaped like a dome. This unique design enables the fuel to burn uniformly and completely. There is less surface through which heat energy can be lost ... more of the energy is converted into power. No competitive engine produces as much power per cubic inch displacement as the FireDome 8!

Because this powerful DeSoto FireDome V-8 engine is seldom pressed to capacity — it does not have to work so hard as ordinary engines. Therefore, it does not wear as fast.

... IN STYLE, COMFORT AND SAFETY

The DeSoto FireDome 8 combines distinctive styling, functional body design, co-ordinated springing, the amazing new Oriflow shock absorbers and DeSoto's famous "Tip-Toe" shift to give you the smoothest, safest ride you've ever experienced.

For the ultimate in driving comfort, the new DeSoto FireDome 8 is available with Power Steering which does 88% of the work of steering for you ... makes parking child's play ... increases driver control ... reduces driver fatigue to a minimum.* DeSoto Power Brakes are super-safe; they give surer, easier, safer braking ... and they require considerably less pedal pressure.*

Arrange now, with your Dodge-DeSoto dealer, for a demonstration ride.

*Optional, in production, at extra cost.

Announcing Canadian National's NEW simplified Interline Ticket

We've done something about Interline tickets! They were often so long as to create the impression they were sold by the yard ... and they were bulky and awkward to handle in proportion to their length.

But today, on Canadian National, that's a thing of the past. For your Interline journey now you receive a compact ticket in convenient book form, wallet size, in its own attractive cover. The new coupons or tickets are pages in this handy book, and when they are all collected you retain the cover on which is a complete record of your route and the fare paid.

Canadian National's new Interline ticket was adopted for your convenience. We hope it adds to the pleasure of your travels.

Farm Produce Prices Dimmed By Lack of Definite Information . . Ontario Hereford Breeders' Field Day June 7 at Birdsall . . Jersey Breeders Set For Richmond Hill Trip . . Hides and Wool in Price Slump . . Farms Need Rain.

Sheep are grazing on green knolls these sunny afternoons, their lambs gamboling around and through the flock.

They have an ancient and timeless semblance, as integral to the rural scene as the fields of pasture. They inspired the parable of the shepherd and provided the garment on which lots were cast nineteen centuries ago. Wool and its weaving created England's wealth and commercial reputation through the medieval centuries and later. Sheep have been man's food and clothing immemorially. They offer testimony of reality in the greatest story ever told.

So the lambs of the flock skip and play in another spring, and to the public so numerous on country roads in this motor age they are just simple sheep. And likewise in their market value.

Demand Sharpened

In the last few years, farmers began to appraise them more highly than for nearly a generation. Leicesters, Southdowns and the black-faced breeds, as wool prices soared to new modern peaks.

Only a year ago, men were investing in breeding stock, and sheep owners were not easily persuaded to part with their rams and ewes. Since then they have been caught up in the recession of agricultural values as reflected in the markets and in the demand from the textile industry.

Top grade wool produced hereabouts brought $1.20 in May last year. Today, the comparable price is around 40 cents a pound.

David McEwen, London, Ont., RR 4, said the other day the record high of 1951 was $1.30, but the price offered producers recently was between 25 and 30 cents a pound. A director of the Canadian Wool Growers' Co-Operative, he estimated that the value should be around 60 cents. Those figures indicate another phase of the unsettled conditions in the present market of Ontario farm products.

From one source it was pointed out that the New Zealand season closed last Saturday with no surplus of wool. Countries generally were consistently in the market. It was also said that the Argentine had a big wool clip, posing a question of its possible effect.

So much attention has been necessarily directed to the markets of other farm products in the last six months, or more, cattle, hogs, dairy products, for instance, that little has been said about the grim declines in the prices of hides and wool.

Tumble In Hides

Harry Jopling of Peterborough said yesterday that country hides that brought 30 cents a year ago were down to six cents.

"At that time we'd have buyers around nearly every week," Mr. Jopling said. "In contrast, I haven't seen a buyer of hides in the last four or five months."

In western Ontario, hides that were 37c a pound last year, have recently been quoted at seven and eight cents; and lighter hides, most of which, Mr. Jopling said, pass through the packinghouse channels, are down from 42c to 11 cents.

The 80-pound hide that was worth $32 a year ago, yields are farmer only $4.80 today.

From the same source it was said that fats, tallow and grease have likewises lumped from 17 to four cents a pound.

W. K. Riddell, Middlesex agricultural representative, commented that these decreases meant a very considerable loss of income to farmers.

Disillusioning Effort

Generally, it appears, the price of hides are about one-quarter of what they brought last year. In many sections of Ontario, farmers are completing the second spraying of their cattle in their sustained campaign against warble flies and their damage to beef hides, and the loss caused in returns from both beef and dairy cattle.

It is a job that has been well done and over a larger expanse of rural territory than ever, and at negligible cost, but it must be deeply disappointing to farmers that their effort in improving production conditions has been timed by circumstance in such a turn of marketing reverses.

The war on warbles was undertaken to reduce loss of milk in the dairy herds from the gadding of cattle seeking escape from the nuisance flies, loss of beef weight from the same cause, and reduced value of hides from the holes the warbles left in their carcass meandering.

ONTARIO NEEDS RAIN

Spring seeding has been completed in most of the counties of the province as indicated in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This review compiles the observations and reports from agricultural representatives of the Department.

Some dairy herds are on grass in western Ontario. Pasturage needs a warm rain, a comment that is heard even from urban wisdom along the streets.

Simcoe North: "Most sheep flocks are on pasture. Stable-fed steers and heifers are not being rushed to market. Between now and June farmers do not intend to market animals that are carrying reasonable finish . . ."

Frost Delays Growth

Wellington: "Frosts the last few nights (up to Tuesday) have retarded growth of hay and pasture. Many cattle feeders are making plans to carry their stockers over on grass with hopes the markets will clear."

Some planting of potatoes is reported in Dufferin. Weanling pigs averaged $5 a head at Perth community sales. In that county: "three cheese factories ceased operation last week as storage space was taken up."

Essex is preparing the land for corn and soybean planting. Some corn and sugar beets have been sown in Kent.

Lambton: "Large areas of old pasture land have been plowed this spring, and will be planted to corn and soybeans. Plowing is being done on some farms that have been used as pasture lands for twenty or thirty years."

Fruit Trees Bloom

Welland: "Vegetable growers have set out lettuce and cabbage. Sweet cherries and early peaches have a fairly heavy bloom. There is very little demand for farm labor."

Pigs sold recently in Prince Edward at $3 to $10. Leeds: "Farmers report practically no sale for purebred dairy bulls, breeding swine or young pigs. A good lamb crop is reported."

Glengarry: "There have been enquiries for advice on emergency crops which could be used for swine feeding to reduce the amount of grain required to develop market hogs."

Grenville: "Quite a number of farmers, nearing retiring age, are considering the holding of dispersal sales this summer or fall. Prices of horses are stronger."

Prescott: "A decline in hog production is anticipated. Many cheese factories are still remaining closed."

Renfrew: "Despite the reduction in the use of horses, two farm residents in the county were accidentally killed by horses last week . . . Most farmers finished before May 1."

Nearly every county mentions the need of rain to promote growth of grass and seeding.

RICHMOND HILL TRIP

Tickets are $2.30 for the bus trip of Peterborough District Jersey Breeders' Club to Richmond Hill spring fair Saturday, May 24.

York county Jersey Breeders' parish show is one of the sections of the show. Bus leaves King St. terminal at 8 a.m. Tickets may be obtained from Roger Hanbidge, secretary, Bruce Sargent and Harry Young; and also at the office of the Department of Agriculture. The executive is requesting that tickets be bought not later than May 21.

✦ ✦ ✦

SOYBEAN PLANT

Ontario produced last year 4,367,000 bushels of soybeans as compared with 180,000 bushels in 1941. Revenue to farmers in 1951 amounted to $12,000,000.

This development is stressed in a report that Victory Mills, Limited, has bought 83 acres of property at Chatham for storage elevators and a modern solvent plant for the extraction of the vegetable oil of which soybeans is an important source.

Victory Mills is a subsidiary of Canadian Breweries, Limited, of which E. P. Taylor is chairman of the board. The new elevators will hold a million bushels. They loom as an indication of the rapid growth of Canada's soybean industry under the emergency conditions of the Second World War. Prior to that period, Canada was one of the world's largest importers per capita of vegetable oils.

The Toronto soybean plant was begun in 1944, completed the following year at a cost of $2,500,000, and now on the basis of replacement cost is appraised at close to 14 million dollars.

Obviously, that news from Chatham points to the further domestic expansion of the vegetable oil industry which has been overclouding the dairy farms of Ontario. The herd owners are not likely to wring any cheer out of the expanding brewery interest in the cereals, barley and beans.

✦ ✦ ✦

CALGARY PRICE ITEMS

Top price for a team of heavy horses at the Calgary sale last week was $420. They were a pair of roan geldings. In one afternoon 202 head of heavy draughts sold for a total of $16,737.50, or an average of $82.80. Several teams sold for around the $300 mark. Lowest priced animals were destined for Calgary horse processing plants.

Calgary Herald of May 2 said: "Decision of the federal government to support meat prices in Alberta will save cattle producers and feeders from possible ruin. Banks were also in danger of losing heavily because of large advances to individual producers, feeders and feeder organizations."

"As soon as word was received that the government was prepared to purchase 600 pound carcasses, there was an immediate rush by packer buyers for heavy steers, and the price increased to a maximum of $2 per one hundred pounds on the local market. Producers were warned by commission agents against flooding the market.

Cattle bought as replacement stuff up to 32c a pound last fall have been on heavy feed for months. With dropping market values, losses in some cases were disastrous.

"One of the south's largest feedlot operators was reported to have lost $250,000 as a result in the drop in cattle prices, and he was facing possible ruin with nearly 3,000 heavy steers on feed when the price support program was announced."

✦ ✦ ✦

ORDERLY MARKETING

W. P. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner, comments in a recent circular letter: "Farmers have responded admirably to the advice and urging of orderly marketing of beef cattle. In view of all the possibilities and uncertainties, it is my opinion that the producer who recognizes the fact that orderly marketing tends to create price stability is playing the safest role."

Only in the week of April 21 was marketing at Toronto heavier than the demand.

Mr. Watson said the federal government was powerless to cope with the beef surplus developing in this country from the embargo imposed by the United States since the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in western Canada.

"If the ban remains in effect after September, Canadian cattlemen will be faced with a greater crisis than at present."

✦ ✦ ✦

ODDS AND ENDS

U.S. Department of Agriculture recently bought 12,000,000 pounds of pork to help divert "temporary burdensome surpluses" from the country's meat market. The pork will be given to the Government-sponsored school lunch program . . Some one said: "Old implement dealers never die, they just trade away" . . J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, grew up as a boy at Kendal, a rural hamlet in Durham county . . . An argument consists of two people each trying to get in the last word first . . .

✦ ✦ ✦

HOGS MAJOR PROBLEM

Hogs present the biggest farm marketing problem in Canada today, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal Minister of Agriculture said in his talk to the Tweed Chamber of Commerce Monday. As the result of last year's high price, pork products would be increased approximately 33 per cent this year.

The Minister said every storage plant was full of pork, and in an effort to take care of the additional surplus pork was being put into cans.

(The Department recently sent Lou Pearsall and George Paterson of Ottawa to Britain in an effort to sell accumulating pork. It is understood that they arrived home this week, but there has been no report yet as to results of their trip.)

To his Tweed audience, Mr. Gardiner said the North American farm produce market was the highest priced in the world. Britain could buy cheese from New Zealand at slightly more than 20c a pound, and Australian cheese at 19c. Butter from those countries cost her 36c a pound.

✦ ✦ ✦

DURHAM STUDENTS

In the spring term examinations at Kemptville Agricultural School, Francis Jose, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jose of Newcastle, won first place honors with an average of 85.4 per cent. In second place was David Craig, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Craig, Bowmanville, R.R. 5, with 84.5 per cent in a class of 34 students. They will complete the two-year agricultural course next year.

Mr. Jose won the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson gold medal awarded to the first year student ranking highest in general proficiency in the agricultural class. They are graduates of Ed. A. Summers junior clubs.

MEETING MONDAY

Directors of Peterborough Shorthorn Breeders' Club will be held at F. C. Paterson's office Monday, May 12 at 8 p.m.

Representatives of Lakefield Fair will be present to discuss the possibility of including a Shorthorn show in its program. Another topic is the prospect of a sale later on.

Something special is required to merit this cheek-to-cheek attention from lovely Phyll Serjeant and this perky calf has it for she is the millionth Holstein heifer registered in Canada. Owned by Theodore Young, Paris, Ont., she is appropriately named Oceola Miss Million. The first Holstein arrived in Canada in 1881 and the 500,000th heifer was registered in 1941.

Millionth Holstein Heifer Registered At Paris, Ont.

An important milestone in the annals of animal husbandry in Canada has been reached with the registration of the millionth purebred Holstein heifer. She is appropriately named Oceola Miss Million and is owned by Theodore Young, Paris, Ont.

The first Holstein was imported in 1881 and the 500,000th female registered in 1941. More than twice as many Holsteins were registered last year as all other dairy breeds combined.

"Miss Million" is the result of an up-to-date breeding program for she is an artificially bred calf. Her sire, Montvic Emile Lochinvar, is one of the battery of bulls owned by the Oxford District Cattle Breeding Association, Woodstock, Ont. and he has a total of 2,441 registered progeny. Her dam has twice qualified in the Record of Performance for production testing operated by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. She made 609 lbs. fat from 15,666 lbs. milk as a two-year-old and came back with 700 lbs. fat from 18,567 lbs. milk as a three-year-old. Both records were made on twice-a-day milking.

"Miss Million" as a symbol of the progress of the dairy industry in Canada has a lot to live up to.

Hereford Field Day June 7 At Birdsall

Ontario Hereford Breeders have accepted the invitation of Col. F. E. Birdsall to hold their annual field day at his home Rice Lake on Saturday, June 7.

The local executive has been communicating with Robert McCubbin, M.P., parliamentary secretary to Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, inviting him as a farmer in the district of London, Ont., to attend this provincial event as speaker in the afternoon program. It is understood that Mr. McCubbin has tentatively accepted.

The field day at Birdsall overlooking the east end of Rice Lake will follow the sale on Friday, June 6 arranged by the Eastern Ontario Hereford Breeders.

The sale begins at 1.30 p.m., and there will be a Hereford show at 11 a.m. Other details of the twin affairs will be announced later.

William S. O'Neill of Denfield will be auctioneer of the consignment sale at Peterborough Exhibition (Morrow) Park.

FERGUSON SUIT AGAINST FORD SETTLED!

On April 9, 1952, the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York entered a final judgment, with the consent of all parties, which ended four years of litigation between Harry Ferguson, Inc., and Ford Motor Company and others. It was ordered and adjudged that:

1. The sum of $9,250,000 shall be paid to Harry Ferguson, Inc., as royalties on Patents Nos. 1,916,945; 2,118,180; 2,223,002 and 2,486,257.
2. Ford Motor Company shall not manufacture after December 31, 1952, such tractors, and Dearborn Motors Corporation shall not sell any such tractors manufactured after December 31, 1952, as have
   (a) a pump having a valve on its suction side, as for example in the present Ford 8N tractor, arranged to be automatically controlled in accordance with the draft of an implement, or
   (b) a pump for a hydraulically operated draft control system for implement control and a power take-off shaft, both driven by the lay shaft of the transmission, as for example in the present Ford 8N tractor, or
   (c) a coupling mechanism on the upper portion of the centre housing, of the form employed in Ford 8N tractors manufactured prior to November 22, 1949; and Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation must affix a notice on any long coupling pins, manufactured by them, to the effect that the pin is sold only for replacement on 8N tractors made by Ford prior to November 22, 1949. This notice will continue to be affixed until October 25, 1966.
3. The Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation shall have a period of time, expiring not later than December 31, 1952, in which to make these changes.
4. All other claims and counter claims are dismissed and withdrawn on the merits.

A copy of the consent judgment is available to anyone interested in reading it.

This settlement between Harry Ferguson, Inc., and The Ford Motor Company resolves the issues. The inventions in their entirety with which this action was concerned will be found only in the Ferguson Tractor and in the Ferguson System in the future.

Now, indeed, the Ferguson with the one and only complete Ferguson System is the tractor that meets more of the needs of more of the farmers more of the time. This can be proved to you at a demonstration on your own farm. Such a demonstration can be quickly arranged by telephone. Won't you call us about it?

Candy Business Surge Relieves Milk Surplus

An expected surge of milk, flowing into a problem of disposal, has not developed at Silverwood Dairies—yet.

"The reason is," Mr. J. E. Weir, manager, told the Examiner, "that we have been using in our plant 30 per cent more milk than we did a year ago.

"There has been a big demand from the chocolate bar people. They are having a big year, from all accounts, and they have been taking so much condensed milk for bars and other candy that we have not had any problem so far this season in keeping clear of a surplus."

April was more favorable than usual for ice cream demand. In brief, dairy business has been quite satisfactory. Fluid sales have been holding up well.

"But, when the dairy cows are all out in pasture again," Mr. Weir remarked, but did not finish what sounded like the preamble to an apprehension.

FACTORIES OPERATING

All but one of the cheese factories in Northumberland and Peterborough were in production this week, W. P. Moore of Campbellford, dairy instructor, said yesterday. The volume of milk is not up to average even for the first week of May. Nights have been too cool, and growth of grass is retarded.

WINNIPEG BALLET—Gusty humor of the Winnipeg Balet's "Shooting of Dan McGrew" is one of the highlights of the fourth annual Canadian Ballet Festival held this week in Toronto. Robert Service's poem has been put into what critic Herbert Whittaker of the Globe and Mail described as a "sort of musical comedy ballet," by Gweneth Lloyd, to Eric Wild's score. The result "is bouncy, funny and burlesque."

Advises Early Planting Of Potatoes, About May 24

Early planting of potatoes pays well. In fact the main crop of potatoes can profitably be planted as soon as the land is ready, states R. E. Goodin, Assistant Director of the Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

He agrees that May 24th has long been considered the "day to plant spuds", but hastens to add that this no longer holds. Two advantages may be gained by earlier planting—increased yields and improved quality.

Experiments on the relation between the date of planting and the yield of graded potatoes harvested indicate that early planting really paid well. A difference of one month in the time of planting made an average difference of about one hundred bushels per acre in the yield of No. 1 grade potatoes, with the earlier planting giving the top results.

Quality is the second factor which makes it advantageous to plant the potato crop as soon as the land is ready. Early planting gives the crop the opportunity to mature naturally and this leads to better quality. Late planted potatoes, harvested before maturity, bruise easily, do not stand up well in storage and have a tendency to be soggy when cooked. This, says Mr. Goodin, means they are not the type of potatoes which build a market.

On the matter of quality he also emphasizes the importance of growing varieties which will be white in colour and mealy in texture when cooked. Such potatoes grown to maturity and well graded, will give good returns to the producer and maintain consumer interest in the product. Add to this the increased yield to be expected from early planting and the importance of this practice is obvious.

Ask Blessing On Farm Work

By MRS. ROWLAND SCOTT

Special inter - denominational Church services for farmers were held on Sunday, May 4th at Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, R.R. 1, Peterborough, and in the Baptist Churches at Norwood and Indian River. The guest speaker was Rev. W. A. Young, B.S.A., chaplain at the O.A.C., Guelph.

About 170 people attended the Gilmour service, where the front of the Church was adorned with spring flowers and an interesting display of field and garden seeds. Portions of Scripture dealing with the Creation and the parable of the sewer were read by Burrit Mann and Milton Clark. Music was rendered by the choir and Mr. James Johnston, soloist. In the prayers the pastor asked God's blessing on the soil, seed, implements and workers that all might be used to His glory. Large congregations were present at Norwood and Indian River.

Rev. Mr. Young pointed out that "Agriculture is the oldest and noblest of all the professions"; also that God sent His only Son to be raised in the country. He illustrated from the New Testament Jesus' love of nature. "Our farms do not belong to us," said Mr. Young, "but to God. That title deed which you hold allows you not to do as you like with the soil but to till it and make it fruitful in accord with God's laws. The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof."

Turning to the parable of the sower, Rev. Mr. Young mentioned four types of people. There are those who will have nothing to do with God and His claims upon them, those who turn to Christianity as an easy way out but are offended when they find that it is instead a definite discipline, those who crowd their lives with worthless things and leave no room or time for that which is of real value; and those who hear God's word, understand it and seek to put it into practice. It is these latter who will at the last be found profitable and who will themselves profit by being gathered into God's Kingdom.

Urge Canada Abolish Drug Duties

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP)—Two party leaders Thursday urged in the Commons that Canada abolish import duties on new drugs being developed for the treatment of lengthy heart and other diseases, particularly new Vitamin E concentrates.

They drew an immediate reply from a government spokesman that the matter is constantly under review; that concessions have already been made and that more exemptions may be forthcoming.

The plea came first from Solon Low, Social Credit leader, as the Commons considered resolutions to implement tariff and tax changes made in the 1952-53 budget presented April 8.

He obtained support from M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) and from John Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge).

Mr. Blackmore said that the government's tax policy for the common man is "close to criminal" and said he knows of people who "have to give up their loved ones" because they haven't the money to buy high-priced drugs.

Taken Off List

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said substitute blood plasma, aureomycin, streptomycin and vitamins of high concentrations are among drugs recently taken off the duty list by Canada.

"The minister is giving continual study of these requests and as the opportunity offers the list of drug exemptions is extended," he said.

The request for drug exemptions was one of many demands for lowering of taxes and tariffs made by members. These ranged from abolishing tariffs on books and hearing aids, made by R. R. Knight (CCF-Saskatoon) to a request by C. A. Cannon (L-Magdalen Islands) for sales tax exemption for fishermen's gear.

C. E. Johnston (SC-Bow River) said parliament should make manufacturers pass on tax reductions through lower prices. However, Mr. Sinclair said there is no chance. No agreements had been made with the industries concerned to pass on tax reductions.

Mr. Knowles said some way should be found to reimburse those who had paid the special excise tax on stoves, refrigerators and washing machines in the last year. The tax now is repealed.

Members approved all the resolutions necesary to give effect to budgetary changes except those dealing with income-tax revisions.

Mr. Sinclair introduced an amendment to the tariff schedule making duty free all tires and tubes use as replacements on farm machinery. Previously only those used as replacements on internal combustion tractors could enter duty free.

Cattle Prices Hold Steady During Week

TORONTO, May 9 — (CP). — Cattle prices held steady this week at the Ontario Stockyards. Calves jumped 50 cents to $1 on top grades. Sheep and lambs were steady while sows gained $3 and hogs were unchanged.

Cattle receipts totalled 7,000, with a good cleanup reported. Trading opened uneven Monday, but steadied on Tuesday for the week. Choice steers were at $25-$25.50, with a few tops bringing $25.85 and $26. Good steers sold at $24-$25 while mediums sold downward to $22. Good heifers sold at $24 with a few upward to $24.50. Choice fed yearlings brought $25-$26, with a few at $26.50; and medium fed yearlings downward to $23. Good cows sold mostly $20-$21 while heifery cows made $22, and common cows downward to $16. Canners were selling at $13. Good heavy bulls were at $19-$21 with light butcher bulls upward to $24. Stockers were selling at $22.50-$25 for medium to good quality.

Calf receipts were at 1,300. Good to choice veals sold at $24-$26.50, a few tops at $27. Common to medium calves were from $15-$23 with a few downward to $12.

Hog receipts totalled 4,300. Prices were at $26 for Grade-A, with sows $14 dressed.

Sheep and lamb receipts totalled 150. Good feed-lot lambs sold at $30-$31.

A few spring lambs sold from $32-$40. Medium to good light sheep were at $16-$22 and culls downward to $9.

SPEAKS TO Y'S MEN

John Moes, formerly of Amsterdam, Holland, now of Peterborough, spoke to his fellow club members, the Y's Men, Thursday night on his home land. He spoke on dykes, windmills, wooden shoes and bulbs, telling the importance and uses of each.

NAMED COUNCILLOR

G. D. Carruthers, M.E.I.C. who is general manager and designing engineer of Wallace, Carruthers and Associates, Toronto, and chairman of the Toronto branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada has been elected a councillor of the Canadian Institute. Mr. Carruthers was born in Millbrook.

TEACH AT KENNER

Four teachers now on the staff at P.C.V.S. will join the staff, now being formed, at Kenner Collegiate. The transferees are Mrs. H. D. Warner, Arnold J. Noftall, John A. Culis, and G. N. Johnston. These changes were approved Thursday night by the Board of Education.

NEW SCHOOL PATROL

Three school safety patrols from Sacred Heart School went into operation at George and Westcott; Lake and Aylmer and Lake and Park Sts., at 1 p.m. today. This is the second school to be changed over to the student patrol scheme being organized by constable Don MacKay. Prince of Wales is the next school constable Mackay will be training.

APPROVE PROMOTION

On recommendation of Police Chief John Thompson, the police commission Thursday approved the promotion of four constables. Constable Edward Patterson, who joined the force in April, 1950, was raised to the rank of second class constable, while constables Arthur Beardsmore, Wilfred Perry and Cecil Bowyer, who joined the department in April, 1951, were promoted to the rank of third class constables.

HISTORY SPECIALIST

Miss Verna W. Burgess of the P.C.V.S. teaching staff Thursday night was named the new head of the history department by the Board of Education. She succeeds Dr. Eldon P. Ray who has been appointed principal of Kenner Collegiate. Miss Burgess is a history specialist, receiving an Honor Arts degree at Queen's University. Principal C. S. Browne gave her an unusually high recommendation. "She is a history specialist and eminently qualified for the position," said Mr. Browne.

NAMED GRAND PRELATE

A native of Peterborough has received honor at the hand of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Oklahoma. The Rev. Richard Allen Lewis, of McAlester, Oklahoma, was named Grand Prelate of the Order in Oklahoma and a member of the Grand Commander's Committee on Patriotic Activities, at the Annual Grand Conclave held in Tulsa, May 4-6. The Rev. Mr. Lewis, Rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, McAlester Okla. is the elder son of the late William A. Lewis and Mrs. Ada Lewis of 191 Rubidge St. and brother of Don G. Lewis of the same address. He was born in Peterborough in 1901 and is a graduate of Peterborough Collegiate Institute.

MAY MOON FULL

The May moon is at full strength tonight, and if the sky is clear at midnight should be brilliant. Companion nearer the meridian at that hour is the planet Mars in its burnished splendor. It is easily recognized by its faintly ruddy glow. Mars is now shining its brightest this year. The Twins are over toward the western horizon. Arcturus at midnight is just north of Mars. Only a few stragglers of the winter constellations are visible in the early evening. Antares in Scorpio is far down in the south, recognizable by a similarity to Mars in seeming color. Mars is only 52,000,000 miles distant from George St. these nights.

Police Commission Hires Lawyer To Defend Constable

A Toronto lawyer is being engaged by the police commission to defend Constable Douglas Farthing in a $10,000 damage suit for false arrest. The writ was filed by Glen R. Tate, 24-year-old insurance agent, through his solicitor, John C. Currelly on April 18.

Thursday the police commission passed a resolution authorizing Arthur Macdonald, Q.C., of Toronto to act for Constable Farthing in the action which resulted from Tate being arrested on a charge of attempted breaking and entering January 29.

The charge was dismissed in police court February 12 and Tate is claiming $10,000 for "annoyance, disgrace, and loss of time and earnings and credit and reputation as a result of being falsely imprisoned without proper cause," by Constable Farthing.

"We have to back up our constables when they act in good faith," commented Mayor Hugh Waddell, "and on reading the police report, I am convinced he acted in good faith."

The commission is assuming responsibility for the costs of defending Constable Farthing "down to and including the trial." Police commission secretary E. A. Outram was also instructed to inform Constable Farthing that Mr. Macdonald had been engaged with his consent, to act on his behalf.

Police Urge City To Curb Sale Of Firecrackers

Sale of firecrackers, believed responsible for at least two fires this spring, may be restricted in the city if council acts on a suggestion of the police commission.

A letter from Police Chief John Thompson prompted discussion of the firecracker problem at Thursday's meeting of the commission.

"The season for firecrackers has arrived," stated the chief's letter, "and a suggestion from the commission regarding the prohibiting of the sale of fireworks until one week before May 24 would be appreciated."

Several awnings have been damaged, and they are a general nuisance to the public, Chief Thompson's letter continued. "By-laws regulating the sale of firecrackers are in force in many cities and in many cities they are banned entirely."

Chief Thompson was present when the letter was tabled and added a few comments. Men from the Fire Marshall's office have been investigating the recent Exhibition Grounds fire, supposedly started by firecrackers, he said. "Wednesday night a window was broken in a workhouse on Lansdowne St., where Borden's new building is being built and firecrackers were thrown inside which burned some of the construction company's records."

"There has been an awful upsurge of the problem this year," interjected Mayor Hugh Waddell. "I know council would be delighted to co-operate."

Magistrate W. R. Philp then dictated a motion, seconded by Mayor Waddell, that secretary E. A. Outram write a letter to council "drawing council's attention to the free sale of firecrackers and the chief's report and that council might well take some action to limit their sale."

Students Lose Saturday Holiday

Schoolchildren in Peterborough are out of luck this year so far as getting a special May 24th holiday is concerned.

May 24 falls on a Saturday this year, which is a school holiday in any case. Neither the Separate School Board nor the Board of Education is going to declare a special holiday.

There was some talk that Monday, the 26th, would be celebrated and the children could have the day off. But Thursday night the Board of Education took only about two minutes to make up its mind on behalf of the 4,558 schoolchildren under its care. And the answer was "no."

Today officials of the Separate School Board said there would not be any holiday for the 1,800 children in their charge.

It's not just a spoil-sport attitude. Both boards are paid grants by the Department of Education on the basis of pupil attendance. By declaring a holiday the Board of Education alone would lose in the neighborhood of $300.

To be strictly legal, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, pointed out, only the legislature can declare an official holiday. The exception is if the city council declare a civic holiday, and that won't happen.

Better luck next year, kiddies!

3 Arrested Not Local Burglars

Three Toronto men arrested Thursday night in connection with a recent Belleville break-in were not involved in the $12,000 Austin jewelry store robbery here, Toronto police said today.

James Barker, Clayton Cox and John Thompson, all of Toronto, were nabbed by police in downtown Toronto who kept a car under observation for some time.

None of the articles recovered in their homes, valued at $3,000, which are believed to have been stolen from a Belleville store were watches.

Down On Business

The trio are being held on shopbreaking charges.

Detective Sergeant Bud Clarke and Constable Douglas Farthing went to Toronto on other police business today, but when asked if there was any connection between the two Peterborough officers going to Toronto and the arrest of the three men, the Toronto police department said there was none and that they left for Peterborough at noon.

Camera For Us Only Say Police

A money saving suggestion by alderman T. D. Miller that city assessment commissioner J. E. Davis be allowed to use the police camera was quashed by the police commission Thursday afternoon.

Keeping a close clutch on the city's purse strings, mill conscious alderman Miller, chairman of the finance committee balked at the city having to buy Mr. Davis a new camera to take pictures of property because he believed the police camera should be available.

Quotes Act

When alderman Miller pressed the point, Identification Sgt., William Aggas quoted the Police Act that the camera cannot be loaned under any circumstances. The camera, costing $485, must be available to the police department 24 hours a day, according to the act.

After discussing the matter which was referred to the commission by council Monday night, the commission instructed secretary E. A. Outram to inform council it would not be feasible to use the police photographic equipment but the commission will consider the matter of using the police printing and developing equipment to process the pictures taken of properties in the city.

Mr. Outram pointed out this would amount to a substantial saving because "we have very expensive and elaborate printing and developing equipment which is being used to a minimum."

Central School Swimmers Carry Home Championship

Two firsts and a second in the relay events at the 13th annual public school swimming meet sent The Examiner trophy, emblematic of the city championship, back to Central school Thursday night after a lapse of a year. The relay points placed Central 14 points ahead of last year's champions, Queen Mary school.

The championship and The Examiner trophy have spent practically all their years at Central school since the meet was started in 1940. Central has triumphed six times.

For a while Thursday night the Queen Alexandra school team managed to hold a slim lead but gave way in the intermediate and inter-school relays, the last events.

Central totalled 53½ points, mostly in the intermediate and senior swim. Queen Mary placed second with 39 points, Queen Alexandra third with 37 and Prince of Wales fourth with 27½ points. King Edward, King George, Confederation, and the Combines (Grove, Queen Elizabeth and May's schools) were out of the running.

Central Loses Out

When it came to winning the Examiner's three individual junior, intermediate and senior cups, Central school didn't place. Its teams in the intermediate and senior placed second.

Prince of Wales school's senior swimmers led the way in the senior class edging Central for the cup with 13 points; Central had 12. Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra followed up with four points each.

Queen Mary school grabbed the top honors in the intermediate bracket with 16 points, closely followed by Central with 14 points. This was the western school's second successive triumph for the trophy.

In winning the junior trophy for the second time Queen Alexandra easily outdistanced all other contestants, racking up 24 points out of a possible 24.

Broke Records

Queen Mary school swimmers led in the record-breaking department. The intermediate relay team set a new record of 1:54.8 minutes for the 160-yard swim. Jim Goodfellow, David Pryde, Jim Hendry and Ken Ruttan clipped almost a second off the old mark of 1:55.4 minutes set last year by Central school.

Queen Mary's David Pryde with the fast time of 28.6 seconds broke the record for the 13 years and under back stroke events. The previous record of 29 seconds was made by Gordon Buck of Queen Alexandra school in 1945.

Queen Mary school's divers bested the efforts of other school dives to win the Cliff McInroy-Stan McBride trophy. Bill Dorrington, L. Weaver and Ross Dobbin were their leading divers for the cup.

But the best diver award, also presented by McInroy and McBride, well-known swimmers and divers, was won by Ken Johnston of Price of Wales school. Johnston last year placed second but this year with three neat dives won the senior event and also the special award.

The swimming trophies and crests, were presented by Gordon Dobbin, Y.M.C.A. swim committee, and the diving trophies by McBride and McInroy. Gordon Minty, coach of the Y.M.C.A. swimming club, and Fraser Wade, physical director, conducted the meet.

(1) Interschool medley relay—120 yards—Central, Queen Alexandra and Prince of Wales (tied for second).
(2) 11 years and under—40 yards—free style—Michael Triggs (QA), Peter Wood (QA), Ron Sinclair (QM), Bob Pope (KE).
(3) 13 years and under—40 yards—back stroke—David Pryde (QM), Jim Brooks (C), Ed Warner (KE).
(4) 14 years and over—40 yards—breast stroke—Terry Reid (PR), Bill Macklin (QA), C. Craymor (C), Tom Curf (PR).

Citizens Ask Help To Destroy Caterpillars

Citizens are getting a bit worked up these days about the caterpillar menace and in an effort to eradicate the situation are appealing to the city for help.

Albert Brooks of 282 Woodbine Ave., called for assistance this morning. He was referred from the Health Department to Parks Department where a spokesman said that considerable money had been lopped off their budget; they were therefore unable to do anything about it.

Asking Mayor Hugh Waddell his personal opinion on the matter he said that he thought such menaces on private property were the responsibility of property owners. In his opinion caterpillars come under the same class of pest as potato beetles, a private problem.

However, His Worship did say that there is a certain responsibility for pest control on city property and that such cases would be attended to as they came up.

Youth Changes Mind Pleads Not Guilty

An Aylmer St. youth who pleaded guilty to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol was allowed to change his mind in police court Thursday.

Roy E. Mullen, Jr., 19, of 95 Aylmer St., pleaded guilty to the charge, and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw offered no evidence on a second charge against Mullen of careless driving.

The arresting officer, Constable Arthur Beardsmore, was not available at the time and Magistrate W. R. Philp said other cases could be proceeded with until he arrived.

Then W. J. Arthur Fair appeared. He said he was representing Mullen and the court agreed to having the guilty plea withdrawn. A not guilty plea was then entered and the charge of driving while impaired was adjourned.

Mystery Returns

A streak of white mystery appeared again in the skies over Peterborough today shortly before noon and it was reported immediately. It has been suggested previously that the streaks, forming slowly in a straight line across the sky from no apparent source, were really vapor trails left by high flying jet aircraft. But obviously many were not satisfied with this explanation and the streaks are still a deep mystery.

Two Businesses Burned Out Back On Street

Within a year of the $500,000 Zachs fire which cost the lives of four fighters last May 19, two of the three businesses which were burned out have obtained new frontages on George St.

Next Friday, one day before the first anniversary of the disastrous blaze, Agnew-Surpass will open a new store in the premises formerly occupied by Dixon's dry goods, manager W. J. Moorehead said today.

Temporary quarters were obtained on Simcoe St., after the fire and the Simcoe St. store will remain open until alterations at the new location are completed.

Ed Riley's Men's Wear re-opened on Simcoe St., a month after the fire, and by the middle of June Mr. Riley expects to open a modern new store on the east side of George St. The store, previously occupied by Fitzpatrick and Geraghty, is being renovated and until the job is completed, Mr. Riley will continue doing business at his present location.

Tip Top Tailors, the third business destroyed by the May 19 fire have no immediate plans for moving from their "temporary quarters," on Water St., a spokesman for the firm informed the Examiner.

Dogs A Nuisance Inspector Plans Action

Dogs running loose are creating a nuisance by upsetting garbage cans and tearing up gardens, Humane Society Inspector Bruce Menzies said today. Seven dog owners have been charged so far this week and Mr. Menzies said he is going to crack down on dog owners who permit their pets to run at large. From now on, they can expect to be charged instead of warned he said. The usual fine for the offence is $3 and $2.50 costs.

Board Stuck, Member Puts In Bid

Trustees Trying To Decide On Huffman Tender

Peterborough's Board of Education is now wrestling with its conscience as it tries to resolve the legal and moral aspects of a problem of its own creation.

The problem, simply stated, is this: Should a trustee, who is also a member of the committee awarding a construction contract, make a tender on that contract?

Specifically, Charles H. Huffman, elected this year as a trustee, is a shareholder of the construction firm of Charles H. Huffman Ltd., that tendered with three other firms on the new Ashburnham public school.

To complicate matters, the bid of Huffman Ltd. was accepted Tuesday night by the accommodation committee of the Board. A motion to recommend the Huffman Ltd., bid of $209,862—lowest of four bids for the construction of the 10-room school—passed unanimously.

But afterwards the members of the committee fell to wondering if they had done the right thing.

Apparently they decided they didn't because when the committee report was read at the May meeting of the Board Thursday night, G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the accommodation committee, refused to move for the adoption of the report. Several other trustees also spoke out against the principle of a trustee accepting a contract.

Arthur Pitchford suggested that Mr. Huffman should resign.

Mr. Huffman, who is a member of the accommodation committee, asked the chairman's permission to leave the board room while the matter was discussed.

All trustees who spoke against awarding the contract to Huffman Ltd. emphasized that they cast no reflection on Mr. Huffman's honesty but they doubted the ethics of his position, if not the legality.

Referred To Solicitor

The upshot of the discussion was that the accommodation committee's recommendation was held in

A. R. T. Hailey Elected Engineer Council

A. R. T Hailey, 759 Devon St., was today elected a councillor of the Engineering Institute of Canada at the annual meeting being held in Vancouver.

Mr. Hailey is an engineer in the motor and generator engineering division of the Canadian General Electric Company in Peterborough. He is a member of the Peterborough Branch of the Institute.

Born in Vancouver he attended the University of British Columbia where he received his B.A. Sc. degree in electrical engineering in 1941. Upon graduation he accepted employment with the CGE in Peterborough in the test course.

In 1942 he was appointed a design engineer in what is now the motor and generator division, Peterborough Works and has since then been closely associated with the design of d-c rotating machinery and synchronous motors and generators.

Mr. Hailey joined the Institute as a junior in 1942. He served as chairman of the Junior Section of the Peterborough Branch in 1943 and was secretary treasurer of the branch in 1946 and this year he is chairman of the branch.

He is also secretary - treasurer for 1952 of the Canadian General Electric Test Alumni Association.

Clerk, Treasurer Attend Conference

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9 (ENS) —J. F. McGregor and Eldon M. Ibey, clerk and treasurer respectively of this town, have been delegated to attend the conference to be held by the Department of Municipal Affairs for town officials at Cobourg on June 13.

Council decided to send these two officials to the conference when the matter came up at the meeting of the Campbellford council this week.

Producers Refuse To Sell Cheeses

STRATFORD, May 9 (CP) — Producers Thursday refused to sell some 9,000 cheeses at 23 cents a pound, the best price offered to them at a Western Ontario cheese exchange session here.

The cheese was held over for reboarding at the next meeting here, scheduled May 13.

Many of the producers said they would not come back. Others expressed dissatisfaction and criticized their headquarters in Belleville. Some suggested direct selling to the buyers.

Under current regulations cheese is sold through exchange boards with the buyers sending the total cheque to Ontario Cheese Producers' Association headquarters in Belleville which takes 1-6 of a cent checkoff and sends the rest to the producer.

Town Asks County To Improve Road

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9 (ENS) —Campbellford has passed a resolution asking Counties' Council to improve the road from Campbellford to the Hastings-Warkworth road.

A copy of the resolution will be passed to the councils of both Percy and Seymour townships, asking them to endorse it, which they undoubtedly will.

Town Takes Over Sewage Pipe

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9 (ENS) —A local resident, Frank Garneau, interviewed the town council at its regular meeting here this week regarding the connecting of his sewer to a 12 inch drain, that is at present owned by the High School Area Board. Mr. Garneau said the ground on which he is building a new home is too low to allow him to connect with the town sewer that passes his house.

The drain in question was originally built by the Campbellford High School Board when the school was built and has been down for about 20 years. Three or four other residents are connected to the drain, which was installed only to drain the high school roof and gymnasium, but only because the sewer passes through their property.

Although the drain originally belonged to the high school, it passed into the hands of the High School Area Board when Campbellford was forced to enter the area more than a year ago.

Maintenance Costs

Members of the local board were present at the meeting, and said they thought the High School Area Board would be glad to turn the drain over to the town so that it could become part of the regular sewer system. There were many arguments against this, however, the main one being that probably anybody would be glad to get rid of a 20 year old sewer if they could get someone else to keep it maintained.

In a polled vote, the town council passed a resolution to enter into an agreement with the Area Board (provided the necessary casements can be located) to take over the drain and add it to the town's present collection of sewers. Councillors Macmillan, Maybee and Reeve Ralph J. Locke voted 'Nay' to the resolution, but it was carried by a majority vote.

Russians Reduced To Claiming Proverbs

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., May 9 (Reuters)—Russia Thursday added to its list of "firsts" the claim that it originated the proverb "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

Jakob Malik, Soviet representative, told a U.N. committee that this was "an old Russian proverb," Jules Moch of France pointed out that the proverb had been used by the French Fablist La Fontaine, who had borrowed it from the Greek author Aesop.

All Saints' Anglican Church Evolved From Mission For Southend 50 Yrs. Ago

Fifty years ago, All Saints' church was set aside as a separate parish in the Anglican Church in Peterborough. Until then, it had served as a mission.

On Sunday, May 11, the church will mark its 50th anniversary of serving the parishioners of the south ward, for it was that section the original parishioners were drawn from.

Work in the parish began in 1875 under the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, rector of Peterborough. Under him was the Rev. W. C. Allen as curate. There is no clear picture of the early work achieved in the special work in the south ward, but Mr. Allen's diary of 1876 provides a few brief sketches of what went on.

"Feb. 27th (Sunday)—Raw day—poor congregation at St. John's and at Mission School. Sunday school at Mission very good.

"Feb. 28th (Monday)—Visited in English Settlement.

"Mar. 5th (Sunday)—Lower School Mission in great state of disorder.

"Mar. 8th (Wednesday)—Preached in evening to a very good congregation in Mission St. House."

So, apparently, both services and Sunday school were conducted in the mission in 1876. A small red brick building on Dalhousie St. near Rubidge St. was used for a meeting place.

Enlarge Sunday School

By 1882, Mr. Beck conceived the idea of a more extensive Sunday [illegible] to serve the "religiously uncared for" children of the neighborhood. First superintendent was W. H. Sherwood, and several of the teachers were: Mrs. Archer, Miss Rubidge, Miss Barlee, and Mrs. Sherwood.

The history of the church tells that "it became necessary to remove from the Mission building on Dalhousie street . . . and the . . . School Board very kindly allowed the use of one of the rooms of the South Ward School for the use of the Sunnday School."

A Miss Chamberlen donated a property on the corner of Bethune and Dalhousie Sts. and it was converted into a school room, used until the present building was built in 1891.

Services were held there, conducted by Herbert Hammond, then a lay reader at St. John's.

"During the summer of 1890," says a press report of the time, "the idea of the erection of a mission building assumed concrete shape and work was vigorously set afoot. Miss Chamberlen, with the consent of the other legatees of the Chamberlen estate, exchanged the old site for the . . one upon which the present Church of All Saints' is situated. The church was opened by a service, at which the Bishop of the Diocese preached, on the 22nd of January, 1891."

Still A Mission

At this time, All Saints' was not regarded as a separate parish, but still as a mission. The Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of Peterborough, chose the Rev. W. M. Loucks as curate in charge.

Communion vessels, still in use, were dedicated and used for the first time on June 4, 1893. On October 8, a new organ was dedicated.

Next minister at All Saints, was the Rev. E. W. Pickford, who came in 1894. He was succeeded by the Rev. B. C. H. Andrews in 1895, and the Rev. Carl S. Smith succeeded Mr. Andrews that same year.

In 1896 the Rev. W. L. Armitage became curate, and he stayed until 1904, two years after the separation of the parish.

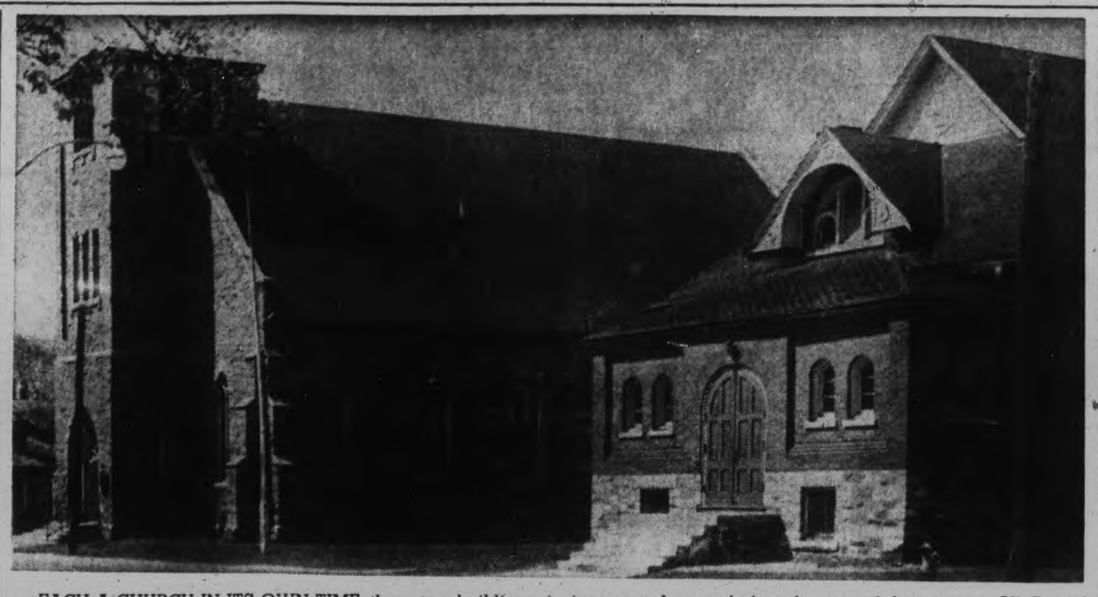
For 17 years the original church served the parish, eventually becoming too small for the congregation. As early as 1908 a movement was started to provide a larger building. Early subscriptions to the building fund were so generous that the wardens went ahead with the plans.

Cornerstone

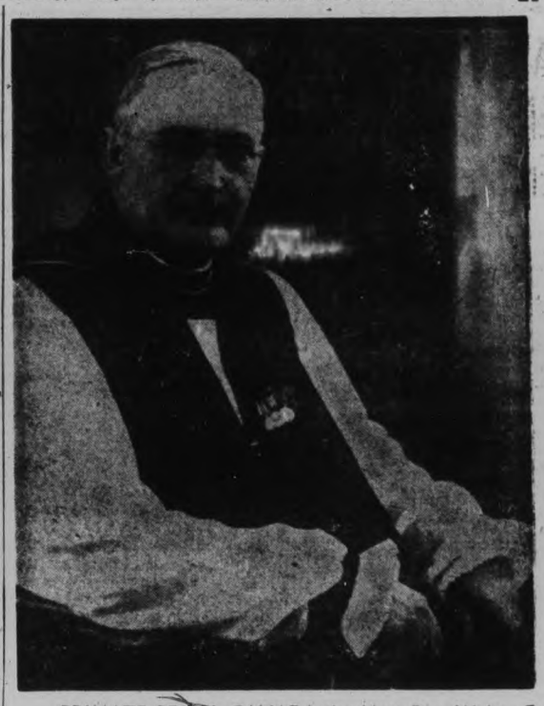
On July 13, 1908, the cornerstone was laid by Judge Hardy of Lindsay, with Masonic observance. Little more than a year later, the new church was opened for worship. Bishop Sweeney of Toronto officiated at the opening service, assisted by Canon Davidson and the pastor, the Rev. H. R. Trumpour.

Mr. Trumpour had in 1908 succeeded the Rev. W. S. Major, who served as rector for four years after Dean W. L. Armitage left the parish. Mr. Trumpour was followed in 1912 by the Rev. R. B. Grobb, who left in 1924, to be succeeded by Canon J. D. Paterson, who spent 16 years as rector of the parish.

The Rev. W. A. Filer was rector for seven years, until 1947, when the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite, one of the parish's best-liked rectors, was named to All Saints'. Mr. Kibblewhite died unexpectedly in 1951, and was succeeded by the present rector, the Rev. Maurice P. Poole.



EACH A CHURCH IN ITS OWN TIME, these two buildings next week will be the centre of activity for All Saints' parish, as it celebrates its 50th anniversary. Although it was a mission several years before the turn of the century, All Saints' did not become a separate parish until 1902. At Right is the Sunday school hall, formerly the church, and the present church is at Left.—Examiner Staff Photo.



PRIMATE OF ALL CANADA the Most Rev. Walter F. Barfoot will be in Peterborough during the weekend to help All Saints' Anglican Church celebrate its 50th anniversary.

Bird Takes Letter

OSHAWA, May 9. (CP) — Mrs. Frank Fleury said on Thursday she saw a starling lift the metal flap of a house mail box with its head and take out a letter. The bird flew away with the letter but was forced to drop it because of a strong breeze. Mrs. J. R. Johnson, owner of the letter, blamed the bird for recently taking a letter announcing the arrival of her cousin. The cousin arrived but the letter never did.

Primate W. F. Barfoot To Take Part In Anniversary

Guest of honor at the 50th anniversary service at All Saints' Anglican Church on May 11 will be the Most Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Archbishop of Edmonton and Primate of All Canada.

Parish communion will be celebrated at 8 a.m. by the archbishop, and he will give the sermon at the special anniversary service at 11 a.m. Archbishop Barfoot will pay a special visit in the afternoon to the Sunday school.

Speaker at the anniversary candle light service to be held at 7 p.m. will be the Very Rev. C. E. Riley, Dean of Toronto.

Anniversary Banquet

On Saturday evening, a 50th anniversary banquet will be held, and again the guest of honor will be Archbishop Barfoot. Other guests will include former rectors of the church, Canon J. D. Paterson and the Rev. W. A. Filer. R. J. Bolton will give a brief resume of the parish's history.

On Monday Boy Scouts and Cubs of the church will stage a special display of their activities, and Tuesday evening there will be held a joint meeting of Chi Rho and the A.Y.P.A.

Girls of the Junior W.A. will hold their anniversary meeting Wednesday afternoon, and Wednesday evening the senior W.A. will stage a pageant on missions and "the last 50 years with W.A."

Tea Thursday

Thursday afternoon an anniversary tea will be held, sponsored by various women's groups in the church.

Anniversary choral recital will be held Friday evening and will be presented by St. George's Cathedral choir of boys and men from Kingston. This choir has made recent trips to Quebec City, Montreal, Watertown, N.Y., and Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Closing anniversary services will be held Sunday, May 18. The Rev. N. R. Burke of Christ Church, Deer Park, Toronto, will speak at the 11 a.m. service and the Rev. T. J. Finlay, rector of St. John's Church, Ottawa, will speak at the 7 p.m. service.

86-Foot Beams Delivered For Met Opera

Tremendous props of operatic art and its ineffable illusion trundled off from the yards of Timber Structures of Canada, High St., early this morning in what the truck crew believed to be a transport-trailer record along No. 2 Highway.

Fabricated beams of British Columbia fir, 86 feet the longest, were on their cautious way to the Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, to be set up as the massive stage frame for Rise Stevens of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York in her title role of Carmen .

That is only one aspect of the purpose of Timber Structurcs' cumbrous and rather hazardous expendition that started away from the plant at 5.30 o'clock today. Carmen is only one of the four operas the Metropolitan stars will present from Monday to Thursday night May 26 to 29. The others are Aida, Rigoletto, and La Boheme, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Toronto.

They are erecting the skeleton stage front as it will be seen by the audience of more than 12,000 people on each of the four nights. The load this morning comprised two fabricated beams 86 feet long by nine inches thick and 24 inches in width; plus four beams 82 feet long and of the other dimensions. They weigh about 2½ tons each.

Set Up Stage

The company also has the responsibility of setting them up as the frontal frame of the temporary stage. They have to be erected and secured in position, and surmounted by a Timber Structures arch whose highest point will be 117 feet above the floor level in the red section of seats at the north end of the big rink.

When the timbered frame is in place, the decorators take over with curtains and lateral hangings which will largely convey the appearance and effect of theatre.

So, while the Timber Structures' employees were fabricating these tall beams, they were also forming the frame in which Patrice Munsel will sing her roles in Rioletto and La Boheme, Jan Peerce will appear as Rodolfo in La Boheme with Miss Munsel as Musetta. And so on.

Fritz Reiner will conduct the Metropolitan orchestra. He was a visitor to Toronto years ago with the Cleveland orchestra.

Highways Permission

Permission had to be obtained from the Ontario Department of Highways to transport the big sticks. From discussions it was understood that this was probably the longest truck-trailer to venture along No. 28 and No. 2.

The load was tightly placed on the trailer late Thursday afternoon for the expedition. Bert Rowe was at the wheel of Timber Structures truck as they took off from the yard at daybreak today, with a pilot car ahead, another bringing up the rear, and W. C. Buckham in charge of the convoy.

Concern was felt in anticipation of the sharp curves at Bewdley and another one at Bowmanville. The crew halted this morning at the east entrance of Toronto and was taking off again at 2 a.m. Saturday morning to negotiate the rest of the trip to the Gardens.

Loading the beams was just another yard job for the Hyster machine that picked them up at the centre of the length and lowered them on the long trailer. Total length of truck and trailer appeared to be about 110 feet on the road.

Don Peirson at Timber Structures told The Examiner Thursday that the fabricated beams of fir will have served their purpose after the last act of Verdi's Rigoletto Thursday, May 29. They are then salvaged by the company.

Incidentally Toronto Rotary has reported the operas have been a sell out, particularly for Aida and Carmen. Possibly there will be standing room offered. The stage, 40 ft. by 100 ft., is at the north end of the Gardens. An enormous curtain is being made to cover the stage front.

BUNYAN-SIZED LAMINATED STAGE TIMBERS for the Rotary-sponsored Metropolitan Opera presentation at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, in the near future, left Peterborough today at 5:30 a.m. Six "sticks" weighing from two to two and one-half tons each and 86 feet long are shown being loaded on an extended tractor-trailer in the mill yard on Thursday afternoon. The timbers are said to be the longest ever fabricated but not the heaviest.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

New Deadline

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The State Department says a new deadline of May 24 has been agreed upon by the international conference on German debts for submission of claims to German enemy property. Americans with claims to property in Canada, Belgium, Denmark, Luxembourg and the Netherlands, which was seized or blocked as German enemy property were urged to submit them promptly to the State Department.

$100,000 Blaze

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 9 (AP)—Damage estimate at $100,000 was caused in four warehouses here Thursday night by fire and a gasoline explosion. Fire chief John A. Slattery said the cause of the fire was undetermined. It began in a warehouse owned by the Flower City Carting Company, and gasoline in truck tanks exploded shortly afterward.

Township To Demand Compensation Paid

WINDSOR, May 9 (CP)—Sandwich East township will demand compensation if the federal government passes legislation limiting the heights of buildings in the vicinity of Windsor Airport Reeve Barry E. Atkinson said today.

The suburban township wasn't "going to be kicked around without reasonable compensation from the government," said the reeve.

Transport Minister Chevrier Thursday introduced a bill into the Commons which would limit the heights of all construction within 13,000 feet of the centre of an airport.

Shouldn't Try Remold Indians

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—White men should not try to remold the American Indian into their own image, author Oliver La Farge said Thursday night.

Up to a point, assimilation is inevitable, he told the opening session of a three-day Institute of American Indian Assimilation. But the white man's task is to help the Indian make proper choices. Each group must be free to accept or reject those parts of the other's culture which are not suitable, he contended.

La Farge is president of the Association of American Indian Affairs, which is sponsoring the institute. Attending are Indian leaders from 12 states, and representatives of religious, mission and other groups which work with them.

"Cultural assimilation must be exactly as voluntary as physical assimilation," he said, and each can gain some benefits from the other.

"Indians are keenly aware of themselves as Indians," he said. "They take pride in being Indian."

Japanese Police Given Control

TOKYO, May 9 (AP).—Kyodo News Agency reported today Japanese civil police have tentative jurisdiction over all United Nations military personnel in Japan —except Americans—until an agreement is worked out.

A Kyodo dispatch from Kure said police of that city were so notified by the Japanese attorney-general's office.

A foreign office source said provisions for a U.N. agreement covering all foreign troops in Japan, other than American garrison forces, now is being drafted. It would cover Canadian, British, French, Filipino or any other U.N. troops who may be in Japan for training or recreation.

A separate agreement reached betwen Japan and the U.S. before the treaty, provides that U.S. troops remain under U.S. jurisdiction in criminal cases.

Kyodo said Kure police have arrested several British soldiers whom they turned over to British Commonwealth authorities since April 28 when the peace treaty went into effect. Kure is headquarters for Commonwealth forces in Japan and Korea.

Mrs. Domenico Ronco

The Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant celebrated requiem mass today at Sacred Heart Church for Mrs. Domenico Ronco, who died Wednesday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Anthony Thompson, R.R. 5, Peterborough. Previous to coming to Peterborough 47 years ago she lived in Italy.

Dr. Grant recited the graveside prayers at St. Peter's cemetery. Pallbearers were: Fred Pepe, Frank Marino, Joseph Ronco, Dominic Ronco, Patrick Fernicola, and James DiPinta.

Australian Imports Reduced By 20%

CANBERRA, May 9 (Reuters).—The Australian government today announced a 20 per cent reduction in its spending on goods from dollar sources, including Canada.

"It is not practicable to apply a percentage cut to each licence (covering the import of specific goods) so some licences will be issued unchanged, some reduced and some cancelled," said Customs Minister Neil O'Sullivan.

The dollar-import program has been under review since March 20 when the government suspended all import licences.

Last year Australia spent £70,000,000 Australian ($156,800,000) on dollar imports, mostly from the United States. The new restrictions will reduce this spending by about $3,600,000.

O'Sullivan said the government had set a ceiling on the value of new dollar import licences to be authorized between now and Sept. 30.

He said the need for saving dollars was linked with general dollar deficiency of the sterling area.

Paper Magnate Fighting One-Man Battle

LONDON, May 9 (Reuters) — David Coupar Thomson, Scots newspaper magnate fighting a one-man battle against Britain's powerful trade unions, carried the dispute into the courts today as the government decided to intervene.

Thomson, 87, publishes daily papers, a Sunday newspaper, and several popular women's magazines, children's comics and boys' fiction papers circulating throughout Britain.

Since the general strike in 1926 he has refused to employ trade unionists. Now the trade union movement in Britain is fighting to make him change his policy following a strike sparked by secret unionists among his printing employees.

Took Court Action

Thomson today took court action against six trade union leaders, including Arthur Deakin, general secretary of the Transport and General Workers, the biggest union in the country.

The Judge made an order against all the union men except one, restraining them from taking any steps till next Tuesday to cut off Thomson's supply of newsprint and other goods.

A lawyer appearing for the firm said the union leaders had stopped newsprint suplies since the end of last month by conduct which amounts both to criminal and actionable conspiracy."

In the Commons today Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton announced he will set up a court of inquiry to report on the causes of the dispute.

Would Prevent Homes Being Built In Flood Zone

VANCOUVER, May 9 (CP) — Restrictive legislation to keep new homes from the flood-plane of rivers was advocated here today by J. B. Carswell of Vancouver.

Mr. Carswell, a consulting engineer, told the Engineering Institute of Canada convention of reconstruction problems following Fraser River flood of 1948 and the Winnipeg flood of 1950.

Homes were being built closer and closer to river banks "for all the world like truant children sneaking down to forbidden waters," and there was no authority to halt the "dangerous march."

Mr. Carswell recommended that an inspector of dikes have an over-riding authority on the issuance of building permits in all areas where danger of flooding exists.

"In Winnipeg itself, the last flood very effectively defined the good land from the bad, and so far no government action has taken place.

Different Story

'We Canadian people are as a general rule very humane and very sympathetic when we approach the problems of rehabilitation of flood victims," said Mr. Carswell. "We go all out to help the poor fellow who has suffered."

However, if a certain group of citizens were wilfully improvident in their settlemen., it was questionable if anyone should step in to their aid.

"It would seem necessary to legislate against repetition of calls on the generosity of the average Canadian. If we don't, the worn will undoubtedly turn, and John Doe will get cynical and tired of bailing out the other fellow, which would be in itself a fundamental tragedy."

Building-permit control, he said would not be difficult in rural districts, but expensive city property and suburban property presented another problem.

"The minute we create the new authority entailing, as it must, a definition of the areas in which the inspector operates, we cast a cloud on the titles of large areas of quasi-valuable land. This is going to meet with frantic opposition from the landed interests.

"But we, both as engineers and as tax-paying citizens, should fight to overcome this opposition.

'The average young Canadian about to build his first home would welcome the (flood) information, and on the other end of the line we would stop dead many a land sale bordering on the fraudulent."

Movies Here To Stay

HOLLYWOOD, May 9 (AP) — A movie magnate promised theatre men Thursday that television will never take the place of movies and sex. Film executive Dore Schary assured the council of motion picture organizations that movies are here to stay. "I don't believe that singing commercials, quiz shows and 20-year-old potboilers will ever take the place of movies and other healthy diversions — including sex," he said.

"I fear there is a real risk of an extension of the dispute which might seriously inconvenience the public and interfere with the supply of news,' he said.

UPSTREAM—A rainbow trout is caught at the height of its leap to clear the six-foot Nicholson Dam near Alliston, 40 miles northwest of Toronto, in a remarkable action photo by William Foote of the Toronto Telegram. Considerable patience and skill by the photographer was needed to snap the fish as it made its way to breeding grounds on the upper reaches of the Nottawasaga river. It is a scene duplicated each spring on Canada's rivers as fish fight their way upstream to spawn.

Rath Named To School Board

LAKEFIELD, May 9—(ENS)—T. E. Rath was appointed to the Lakefield District High School Board for the balance of the year 1952, to fill the vacancy made by the death of E. W. Bailey. At this week's meeting of the Public School Board held in the school, Chairman A. G. Buchanan and Trustees Dr. R. H. Campbell, Ralph Jackman, Ralph Millage and the Rev. W. B. Walker were present.

The resignation of Miss June Galway was accepted with regret by the board.

Four applications were received for positions vacant on the staff, and after some discussion, it was decided to have Miss Jessie Haddow come to Lakefield for a personal interview.

A survey will be made of the boundaries of the Public School property, north of Ermatinger St., and corner posts will be set in cement.

Principal E. G. Sloan reported attendance for the month of April as 294 pupils, with an average attendance of 274.5; percentage attendance was 94.59, with five pupils being transfered to other schools and two coming to Lakefield.

The finance committee recommended payment of bills totalling $50.13.

Mrs. J. Collins Heads C.W.L.

HASTINGS, May 9—(ENS) — The Hastings subdivision of the Catholic Women's League held its annual meeting in the school auditorium with the retiring president, Mrs. M. Herr, in the chair.

Mrs. F. Cooney gave a resume of the year's activities outlining the work accomplished in the various fields.

The treasurer's report given by Miss Mary Hannick, indicated a successful year in their financial endeavours. An invitation was extended to all members to attend the Diocesan convention to be held at Parry Sound on June 4.

Election of officers was then held, and the new executive for the coming year is as follows:

President, Mrs. Jos. Collins, first vice, Mrs. Lou English, second vice president Mrs. D. Walsh, third Mrs. F. Barry; recording secretary Mrs. M. A. O. Shea; corresponding secretary Mrs. F. Coveney; treasurer, Mrs. J. Powers; councillors Mrs. J. Crowley, Mrs. C. Lynch, Mrs. J. Clancy, Mrs. E. Clancy, Mrs. L. Keogan, Mrs. J. Clearly, Mrs. W. Quinlan, Mrs. A. Sullivan, Miss M. Hanneck, Mrs. J. Doherty.

ANIMAL LONGEVITY

The elephant has the longest life span among mammals, often living to more than 100 years of age.

Activities In House

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Thursday arrangements which he thinks "will turn out to be satisfactory" are being made for the disposal of meat surpluses resulting from the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak. He gave no details of the proposed arrangements.

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP)—A total of $735,134 was paid Trans-Canada Air Lines by the defence department for trips made by Canadian army officers between Jan. 1, 1951, and March 31, 1952, it was disclosed Thursday in a return tabled in the Commons.

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — The Federal cabinet passed 6,874 orders-in-council in 1951 and has passed 2,592 so far this year, it was disclosed Thursday in a return tabled in the Commons.

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — R. R. Knight (C.C.F. - Saskatoon) Thursday night appealed for a reduction in tariffs on books imported into Canada, particularly educational books. He was supported by Rodney Adamson (PC-York West).

HIGHEST COURT

Supreme judicial authority for England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland is the British House of Lords.

To Men Appointed To Research Council

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP)—Dr. T. Thorvaldson, Dean Emeritus of Graduate Studies at the University of Saskatchewan, and Dr. W. H. Watson, head of the University of Toronto's department of physics, have been appointed new members of the National Research Council, it was announced today.

Their three-year terms started April 1, 1952.

Two other members who have served one term have been appointed for further three-year terms. They are Dr. J. H. L. Johnstone, of Halifax, and Brig. F. C. Wallace, of Oshawa and Georgetown, Ont.

Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, who recently resigned as president of the council, has been reappointed as a member of the council's honorary advisory council. Dr. Mackenzie left the council to head the new Crown company, Atomic Energy of Canada Limited.

Cornwall Man Guilty Of Dangerous Driving

OTTAWA, May 9 — (CP) — Edgar Servais, of Cornwall, Thursday was remanded in custody for sentence Monday after he was found guilty on a charge of dangerous driving.

Servais was charged following a crash July 3 last which involved his automobile and a stationary Colonial Coach Lines bus near Vernon, 20 miles southeast of Ottawa.

Four persons in the car were injured, including Servais.

Sent To Reformatory

WINDSOR, May 9—(CP)—Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven Thursday night sentenced Thornton Prest, 32, to 12 months in reformatory after a Supreme Court jury found him guilty of manslaughter in the death Feb. 10 of Earl Joseph Leboeuf, 32, of Windsor. Prest admitted he struck Leboeuf shortly before his death. He said it had been done in self-defence.

Abbott Defends Budget Tax Decision

KITCHENER, May 9 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott Thursday night defended his decision not to make medical expenses 100 per cent deductible for income tax purposes.

He said in a Waterloo North by-election speech that no expense which is an ordinary expense should be entirely deductible from a person's income.

He was speaking on behalf of Norman C. Schneider, Liberal candidte seeking the seat left vacant when the former member, Louis Breithaupt, was made Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

Designs Best Crest

MONTREAL, May 9—(CP)—Flt.-Sgt. C. Holmes, of Ottawa, stationed at the Chatham, N.B., R.C.A.F. base, was announced Thursday as the winner of a cash award for designing a crest for the recently established Air Defence Command at nearby St. Hubert. The crest comprises a bird hovering on guard over the portion of the earth depicting Canada. The design will be used as the basis for the Air Defence Command crest.

Montreal Takes Honors With Ballet Performance

TORONTO, May 9 (CP)—Montreal Thursday night took the honors of the Canadian Ballet Festival in a program divided with Vancouver.

The Elizabeth Leese Ballet of Montreal with "Lady From The Sea" was the hit of this fourth night. The Montreal Ballet presented "Ballet Regal," an interpretation of Grieg's piano concerto in A minor.

The Ballet Production Club of Vancouver showed "Serenade" and another Vancouver group, Le Ballet Concert, "Colonnade."

Hugh Thomson of The Toronto Daily Star said the performanre of "Lady From The Sea" was the "most satisfying of the session." He added: "the music and choreography fitted hand-in-glove style."

Herbert Whittaker of The Globe and Mail said: "in the central role, Miss Leese proved herself a dance actress of considerable stature."

Of "Colonnade," Rose Macdonald of The Telegram said: "The setting challenged the interest but the intent of the ballet, danced to Debussy's Sacred and Profane Dances, was elusive." Mr. Whittaker said: "Calvin Von Reinhold and Miss (Kay) Armstrong restored the balance somewhat in their pas de deux."

Comments Varied

"Ballet Regal" designed in commemoration of the visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Canada provoked varied comments.

Mr. Whittaker found it "a stage full of posturing regality and flourishing trumpets" but Miss Macdonald said: "Costumes and symbols used with great taste made this ballet a great spectacle."

Mr. Thomson said: "This was more pageant than ballet."

In the Ballet Production Club's "Serenade," to the music of Mozart's Eine Kleine Nachtmusik, Miss Macdonald said of a young Chinese-Canadian, Denise Quan: "(her) dancing shone with an effulgent grace beyond any of the other promising young people."

The 61 survivors of the Hobson, which sank with 176 on board after colliding with the Wasp, were aboard the carried as it limped into New York for repairs.

Cobourg Public School Building Starts In Summer

COBOURG, May 9—(ENS)—Work on the $288,000 east end public school will not start until well into the summer, it was revealed at the regular meeting of the Public School Board.

Plans have been drawn up and submitted to the Municipal Board for approval and after this has been obtained, the working plans will be drawn up for the information of those tendering on the job.

Resignations of two teachers have made vacant the teaching jobs in the junior grades. The school board has dealt with the question of teachers' salaries but final disposition was left to the teachers' committee which will set up the rules.

J. W. Burtt, chairman of the committee on salaries, said that the salary standards should not be based solely on service but should include qualifications as well, in considering the minimum salaries for new teachers. The question of bonus for each year of experience should not be limited to six years. It was pointed out that the problem was to see to it that starting salaries do not come up to that of teachers who have been on the staff for some years.

The old schedule of a starting minimum, the board agreed, should be upped considerably. The old schedule is $1,800, with $50 for each year of experience and a $200 annual increase until the maximum is reached in the case of women.

Music Festival

Principal Grant Sine told the board that two bus loads of pupils from the school would be going to Campbellford on May 19 to take part in the music festival and there would be 75 students in the two choirs which will represent the Cobourg public school in the festival.

Police games for public school children will be held on June 4 in Cobourg under the sponsorship of the R.C.M.P. and Corporal Charles Holman, of the R.C.M.P., was at the public school Wednesday to tell the students about the sports day. Boys 14 and under from this district will form several teams and others will be brought in from points outside the district.

Geologist Keeps Diamond World Guessing

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

LONDON, May 9 — (AP)—Dr. John Toburn Williamson, Canadian geologist who keeps a hoard of diamonds worth fortunes, was offering some of his gems for sale in London today.

But on the open market there were "just a few, worth possibly £500,000," it was said in the diamond trade.

So there still was uncertainty whether Dr. Williamson, who is in Africa, was determined to be become a large-scale competitor of the Diamond Sales Corporation, which for half a century has controlled the quantities of diamond the world might buy, and the prices it paid. Its tight regulation kept prices stable and made diamonds an excellent investment. Dr. Williamson is a native of Montreal and was educated at McGill.

A contract obliging Dr. Williamson to sell his diamonds through the sales corporation expired Jan. 1, and for some months he sold little of the production of his Mwadui Diamond Mine near Shinyanga in Tanganyika, East Africa. Now the first substantial quantities of his diamonds have been received, not by brokers in the trade, but by the Standard Bank of South Africa in London, which has instructions to show them to customers.

Don't Know Plans

"We don't know Dr. Williamson's plans, and could hazard no estimate of the value of the shipment we have received," said a bank official.

Dr. Williamson's personal and business friends here had no definite information but believed he has started selling some of the gems he has been hoarding in a strong room at the Mwadui Mine.

Dr. Williamson, 45-year-old bachelor and geologist, discovered the Mwadui mine in 1940. Deposits were so rich that soon he was producing 1/10 of the diamonds of the world markets and financiers called him "potentially the richest man on earth."

Brewer's Warehouse To Buy Town Land

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9 (ENS)—The Brewer's Warehousing Company has accepted the offer of Campbellford to sell the two lots on the north-west corner of Doxsee Avenue and Market Street, and have deposited a cheque with Clerk J. F. McGregor to bind the bargain.

There was some controversy a few weeks ago over the sale of these two lots. The Campbellford Public Utilities Commission wanted the lots, with a view to ultimately constructing a hydro substation on them. The Commission held a joint meeting with council regarding the lots, but there was little the town could do in the matter, due to the fact they had already offered the lots for sale to the Brewer's Warehousing Company.

It has not yet been announced when work on the building will begin, but it is expected to start soon.

Boost Wheat Exports

OTTAWA, May 9 — (CP) — Canada boosted her wheat exports to 169,800,000 bushels in the first eight months of the current crop year, a 67-per-cent gain over the 101,400,000 bushels in the same period a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reports. The big gain in exports was sparked partly by shrinking world supplies at a time when Canada's own stocks were bountiful.

Soil Conference

ST. THOMAS, May 9—(CP)—Agricultural representatives from eight counties discussed soil improvement and land use here Thursday. Their findings will be presented at a regional conference at Ridgetown. Counties represented were Essex, Kent, Lambton, Middlesex, Oxford, Norfolk, Elgin and Brant.

Rust Costly Item

VANCOUVER, May 9—(CP)—Rust takes $275,000,000 out of the Canadian economy each year. This "direct" loss was estimated Thursday by Bruce Levelton, of the British Columbia Research Council in an address to the annual meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada. "Over-design of equipment to take care of corrosion results in the needless loss of appreciable tonnages of metal each year," he said.

CRITICAL PERIOD

Statistics in the United States show that most divorces occur in the middle of the fourth year of marriage.

MARKS BIRTHDAY—President Truman is shown on the eve of his 68th birthday (May 8). When asked by reporters how he felt, he replied, "I feel 28."

A rule for the times...

Judge by the quality, the value...not only the price tag

In these days of uncertain values, here's a simple rule of good buying that will never let you down. Invest only in that product which assures you of the most service for the most years.

When choosing a washer today, consider—not only how much it costs—but how long and how well it will serve you. A saving of fifteen dollars now—spread over the years—is but a few cents a week.

So before you spend your money, remember—price-tags can change from day to day but true economy is proven by the years. Buy value, buy quality—and the years will prove you right!

Features that make washday easier...

When judged in terms of work-saving, time-saving ease, the G-E Washer gives you what you're really looking for . . . the "Daily Dipper" which fits inside your regular washer, ideal for those small, frequent washes . . . the G-E Activator that gets clothes really clean—dipping, flexing and gently scrubbing each piece individually . . . the "instinctive" wringer that stops at the slightest pull . . . the adjustable Timer that eliminates the risk of "overtime" washing and needless wear to the clothes. You're assured of many years of completely dependable service when you choose G-E!

Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: I am a constant reader and enjoy all your recipes, especially the Unbaked Fruit Cake. I have tried to find out how to make a pie crust of graham crackers and what kind of filling I could use for such a pie
H. C.

ANSWER:

Graham Cracker Crust

Roll graham crackers as finely as possible—enough to make 1 cup. To them add ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Cream into this mixture 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine and when well blended add 2 tablespoons egg white, borrowed from the eggs in the filling. Line a 9-inch buttered pie plate with this crumb mixture pressing it firmly and evenly to the plate, and making top edge straight. Bake about 5 or 6 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr.

"Chiffon" fillings are used usually for this type of crust. A good one is Pumpkin Chiffon Filling: 1 tablespoon plain gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup brown sugar firmly packed, 3 eggs, yolks and whites separated; ½ cup milk, 1½ cups canned strained pumpkin, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon each ginger and salt, ½ or ¼ teaspoon allspice, 3 tablespoons sugar. Soak the gelatine in the cold water for 5 minutes. Mix together the sugar, egg yolks, milk, pumpkin, spices and salt in top of double boiler, and stir over boiling water until thickened—about 10 minutes. Remove from heat and add soaked gelatine, stirring until it is dissolved. Chill this until it begins to set. Beat the egg whites until quite stiff gradually adding the 3 tablespoons sugar as you beat. Fold this meringue into the slightly congealed pumpkin mixture. Pour into the baked pie shell and chill until set.

If you would like Black Bottom Pie (a chocolate chiffon filling) or Caramel Nut Chiffon filling, let me know, repeating your question.

QUESTION: I am enclosing a recipe for ragout de pattes as I believe one of your readers was inquiring for a French Ragout...
R. E. D.

Ragout De Pattes

(Pig's Feet in Brown Sauce)
Contributed by R. E. D.

Two or 3 pounds cut up pig's hocks, 2 cloves of garlic (optional), salt to taste, ½ teaspoon each pepper and cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 4 tablespoons drippings or any fat or shortening, boiling water, 1 cup finely chopped onions, 2 tablespoons fat, ¾ cup browned flour (see below), cold water. Stuff each piece of meat with a bit of garlic. Roll the meat in mixed salt, pepper and spices until each piece is well coated. Fry till quite brown in the 4 tablespoons melted fat. When meat is brown, add enough boiling water to cover. Simmer, covered, until meat is almost falling from bones,—about 2 or 3 hours. Half an hour before finished add the onions fried in the 2 tablespoons fat. In the last 10 minutes add the browned flour mixed with enough cold water to obtain a smooth paste. The finished dish must be thick and dark brown.

To use Pressure Cooker: Brown the meat, add the browned flour and onions, mix well, cover with 6 cups water and close pressure cooker. Cook 60 minutes.

Farine Grille (browned flour)

A standby in Quebec kitchens. Place 4 to 6 cups hard-wheat flour in large baking pan. Bake in oven of 375 deg. Fahr. until brown, stirring 2 or 3 times. It should have the color of dark caramel. Cool and put through sieve and store in covered jar. to use Farine Grillee as a thickening for your favorite stews, mix the required quantity with enough cold water to obtain a smooth, thin paste. Try it when thickening gravy instead of white flour. The color and flavor are both made richer by the browned flour.

ANSWER: Thank you, R.E.D., for this interesting and useful recipe.

SOUR STOMACH?

When a hearty meal gives you heartburn, sour stomach, flatulence—take a Digestif Rennie Tablet. Quick-acting RENNIES contain antacid ingredients which help relieve indigestion fast. Individually-wrapped, easy to carry in purse or pocket. Try RENNIES for fast relief—25c. 3

REACH FOR A RENNIE

PRESENT FASHION FOR SHEERS gives special interest to nylon ninons, voiles and nets, for although these materials look flimsy and delicate, they are as durable as many much heavier fabrics. At left, a filmy grey marquisette evening dress. Rose-pink taffeta provides the foundation, and applique flowers are scattered over the full skirt. The delightful, swirling evening gown at right is of blue-green iridescent nylon chiffon, light and lovely, and closely shirred over the bodice.

W.I. Given Convention Reports

HARWOOD, May 9 (ENS)—The hostess for the May meeting of the W.I. was Mrs. Clarence Cooke and the meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. R. E. Drope.

The Institute accepted the invitation to the Homemaker's Club in Alderville next week, and about two carloads will go. It was moved that the building to be used for a museum be moved up nearer the hall, and windows purchased for same.

Mrs. Frank Stevens, leader of the Girls' (Nimble Needles) Club, asked the 10 girls to display their dresses, Mrs. Stevens gave a running commentary on each mannequin. Each girl was presented with a silver spoon, and the two leaders, Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Drope, were each presented with a cup and saucer.

Marilyn Robson presented a demonstration entitled, 'Color for You.' Mrs. Glenn Hogg gave a reading. Then Mrs. J. R. Meggs and Mrs. Alfred Crick, gave alternative addresses on their trip to MacDonald College, Guelph, last week. Both ladies spoke three times each, alternating the various activities that took place at the conference.

After the meeting Mrs. R. E. Drope auctioned plants and shrubs and sales totalled $18.00. The hostess, Mrs. Cooke, and group, served refreshments.

Have Special Mothers' Program

Mrs. Donald Whyte was guest speaker at the meeting of Trinity Women's Federation on Wednesday evening, her topic being "Children in the happy home." Mrs. Whyte spent the early years of her married life in Churchill, Manitoba, and spoke of her experiences while living in this remote area. She stressed the importance of a mother's responsibility to her children and emphasized how the children pattern their lives from their home environment. "Few realize just what influence home life has on the child" she remarked. The sacrifices and sufferings necessary to fulfill the role of motherhood were also outlined. Mrs. Whyte was introduced by Mrs. Grace Northey. Devotions were on the theme "Motherhood" and were led by Mrs. W. H. Magee and her group. The origin of "Mother's Day" was related by Mrs. W. R. Philp with appropriate scripture passages read by Mrs. E. G. Harron. Prayer was offered by Mrs. J. H. Moebus. Miss Mignon Mayneord was the guest artist and she chose "Mother Machree" and "Poppyland" for her whistling solos. A vote of thanks to her and Mrs. Whyte was offered by Mrs. Herron. President Mrs. D. Hamilton conducted a lively business discussion, after which a social half hour was enjoyed and the serving of refreshments by those in charge.

Friends Shower Dutch Couple To Wed May 18

HAVELOCK, May 9—(ENS)—Friends of Miss Ytje Hoekstra and her fiance, Mr. John DeJong, of Roseneath, held a social evening in their honor Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Melville, on behalf of the gathering, presented the couple with a 66-piece set of dishes and a sum of money, while Mrs. Harry Pollock, president of the Havelock Women's Institute, made the presentation of a large aluminum roaster. The many other gifts they received included a quilt, pillows, pillow cases, tablecloth, knives and forks, and a crystal vase with sterling silver trimming.

Miss Hoekstra and Mr. DeJong replied, thanking theirfriends.

Miss Hoekstra came at Canada from Holland in May, 1951, coming to Havelock last July while Mr. DeJong has been here for more than four years. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. DeJong, live on a farm in the Roseneath district. Their marriage is the result of a romance which began when they attended school in Holland. Miss Hoekstra is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hoekstra, of Katlyk, Holland.

Mrs. John Beatty sang "A Perfect Day" with Mrs. W. M. Platt as accompanist. A flower contest and a spelling game conducted by Mrs. Fred McKenie was won by Mrs. Beatty and Mr. DeJong respectively and a fish contest conducted by Mrs. Platt was won by Mrs. R. G. Newman.

Communty singing was enjoyed with Mrs .Beatty at the piano.

CHILE'S FIRST LADY, Senora Rosa Markmann De Gonzalez Videla (left), wife of the president of Chile, accompanied by her daughter, Senora Rosita Gonzalez De Claro, arrived in the United States by air today. Chosen as "Mother of the World," she is enroute to New York to receive an award from the International Committee of the American Mothers' Committee.

Wed. Club Bowler Wins Watch For Season High

Wednesday Senior Ladies' Bowling Club concluded a successful season by holding their banquet Thursday evening in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., with about 40 members present. A very impressive memorial service for departed members was conducted by Rev. Kenneth Stewart of Wesley Church, and Mr. Douglas, chairman of Peterborough Presbytery, dispensed the communion. Mrs. H. Turner and Mrs. W. Hepburn rendered a duet.

Dinner was served the delegates by Wesley W.A.

Ear-Piercing Among Males

LONDON—(CP)—A new waiting line has suddenly blossomed out in queue-infested Britain, with young men crowding out their girl friends for appointments with an ear-piercer.

Alexander Gordon, a specialist in ear-piercing, says more male clients are finding their way into his clinic in one week than in any previous 12-months' period he has been in the business.

But the new crop is different. The men insist on having one ear only pierced..

Gordon attributes not only the boom but the new male style to the growing popularity of square-dancing.

"Apparently a really well-dressed square dancer wears one earring only" he said.

But the much heavier rush of women customers has puzzled him. Gordon says he normally gets about three women clients a week. Within the last month, however, he has pierced more than 300 women's ears.

"I can give no reason for the sudden rush unless it is that the Queen recently had her ears pierced," he said. "Or it may be that the longer, heavier ear-rings that are coming into fashion cannot be comfortably worn with the usual screw or clip fitting."

Told Important Mission Is To Prevent Alcoholics

Annual W.C.T.U. convention for Peterborough and Northumberland counties was held Wednesday in the Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church with more than 50 delegates present from Camborne, Plainville, Peterborough and Smith Unions. President Mrs. W. D. Wilson presided. Theme was "Christ our hope."

Peterborough Union was in charge of the opening worship service with Mrs. Austin Poast, Mrs. G. Hewitt and Mrs. N Stockdale taking part.

Speaker, the Rev W. A. Hunnisett of Fred Victor Mission, Toronto, based his address on experiences in connection with the work of the Mission. "I am here to stir up pure minds by way of rememberance," he said. I have spent my whole life in the mission field and the most imoprtant feature of all is to prevent alcoholics or drunkenness. This work must begin at home. If every woman was a 'white ribboner' there would not be so much degration

"People do not make use of their franchise, the use of the voting and casting a ballot in the ballot box. The reason why there is an open Sunday in Toronto is that there were not enough church people got out to vote.

Boys and girls who come from homes where liquor is used are often the strongest against it. There has never been a child from the Fred Victor Mission in juvenile court in the past seven years."

"We may all be allergic to alcohol but as long as we leave it alone, we won't know anything about it. People will become alcoholics if they drink enough. Any man or woman who never touched alcohol is a potential alcoholic. Ontario spent one third of the whole liquor bill of Canada last year Mr. Hunnisett stated

"On booze, 342 million dollars was spent while only 60 millions was spent on religion." This address was illustrated with several articles pertaining to the liquor traffic.

Prizes of books for written examinations were presented by the convener, Mrs. Ames of Gore's Landing.

Mrs. W. W. Yale gave the report of the poster contest as follows:

Grades 7, 8, 9—1 Anne Whitehouse, Queen Alexandra; 2 Anna Northey, S.S. 4 Smith; 3 Art Carl, Prince of Wales, Peterborough.

Grades 5-6—1 Marion Johnston, Grove School; 2 Bonita Gibson, S.S. 4 Smith; 3 Carol Hollingsworth and Lynda Touchburn, S.S. No. 3 Smith.

Grades 3, 4.—1 Marilyn Tighe S.S No. 3 Smith; 2 Carol Wyatt, S.S. No. 3, Smith; 3 Douglas Townsend, King George, Peterborough.

Grades 1-2—1 Robert Kennedy, 2 Linda Ford, 3 Ronnie Ford all of Camborne.

Prizes for Scientific temperance went to Jim McMullin, S.S. 2, Smith; John Sanderson, S.S. 3 Smith; Fred McGregor, S.S. 3 Smith; Carol Hollingsworth, S.S. 3 Smith; Ann Freeman, S.S. 3 Smith; Joanne Montieth, S.S. 3 Smith; Evelyn Whetung, Lakefield; Laird King, Plainville.

Officers were installed by the Rev. D. R. Morris of Bridgenorth as follows:

Past president, Mrs. J. Gordon Mann; president, Mrs. W D. Wilson Smith; secretary, Mrs Frank Westington, Plainville, corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Alton, Peterborough; L.T.L., Mrs. Max Archer, Smith; Y.T.C., Mrs. Wesley Bell, Smith; peace and international relations, Mrs. W. D. Wilson, Smith; little White ribboners, Mrs. Earl Joice, Plainville; scientific temperance in day school, Mrs. Reg. McMullen, Smith; medal contest, Mrs. Roland Scott, Smith, evangelistic and christian stewardship, Mrs. E. Lean, Camborne; flower mission, Miss Clara King, Plainville; Lord's Day Law and legislation, Mrs. G. Lacey, Camborne; press, Mrs. Harold Lewis, Smith; publicity and social, Mrs. G. Atchison, Peterborough; temperance in Sunday schools, Mrs. M. Ames, Gore's Landing; world and Canadian missions, Mrs. Milton Clark, Smith.

The Rev. Wm. Leaton of the hostess church extended a cordial welcome to delegates.

Mrs. Elmer Milburn, treasurer reported that the four unions had raised a total of $203.20; expenses $167.30 with a balance on hand of $35.99. Mrs. A. J. Throop reported 140 children wrote on the scientific temperance examinations and nine boys and girls received county prizes. The various departmental reports showed that progress had been made during the past year.

Mrs. W. W. Yale, Mrs. M. F. Ames, and Mrs. Throop were appointed the committee to judge the posters. Report of the nominating committee was presented by Mrs. Frank Westington. The convention will be held in Peterborough next year.

Mrs. W. W. Yale led in the noon tide prayer. A memorial service was taken by Camborne Union when flowers were placed in memory of six deceased members.

Smith Union served a bountiful dinner in the church Sunday school hall. Afternoon worship was taken by Plainville Union

A pleasing interlude was a duet "Beside Still Waters" beautifully rendered by Mrs. D Bruce Gordon and Mrs. H. A. Mitchell of Peterborough with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. Y. Kenny.

Smart Pattern In 'Guards Parade'

LONDON —(CP)— The first of the Coronation year dress materials are coming off the looms, promising a bright touch of color for next year's festivities.

Would-be favorites are "Guards Parade," a pattern showing soldiers marching past the Tower of London and Windsor Castle. "Olde England" is a vivid portrayal of all the Royal castles set in colored squares.

If you are wondering what next year's most important color will be, Norman Hartnell, designer to the Queen and the Queen Mother says: "All shades of green, from mignonette to olive." The Queen wore many pretty shades of green on the Royal tour of Canada.

Another prophecy on popular coronation colors is: "Everything from the glinting gold of dry champagne to burnished bronze."

DOROTHY DIX

Willing Hand Needed In Farmer's Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a boy who has lived on a farm all his life. He knows farming from start to finish, but I have lived in the city and my life has been comparatively easy. I would like to know my obligation as a farmer's wife.

BERTIE

ANSWER: The wife of a farmer has essentially the same obligation as any other wife. Maintain a happy, comfortable home, keep your husband contented, raise healthy pleasant children. All of which could be expanded to fill volumes, but it covers the essentials. Your life on a farm will be quite different from what it was in the city, but with modern conveniences available almost everywhere, it will not be the drudgery it was a generation ago. You will learn many new crafts, and discover talents you never knew you had.

The important factor to remember in embarking on a new life is to approach it with enthusiasm, curiosity, and a determination to make the best of whatever conditions prevail. If conditions on your own farm aren't all you'd Make friends in the community, let yourself be known as a willing worker for the good of others and your success as a farmer's wife is assured. Good luck to you!

✧ ✧ ✧

Love Or Friendship?

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl 23 and fo with a very nice boy. When he's around it seems I love him, but when he is away I don't think of him at all. Do you think this is love or friendship?

MATTIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Most assuredly it isn't love! There's no forgetting when Dan Cupid really hits his mark. Just accept the boy as a good friend and don't try to make anything more of your emotion.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend is making my life miserable. He doesn't want me to have any friends at all, either boys or girls. I love him very much, but am in a state of perpetual nervousness every time a friend calls me, or stops to talk to me on the street. I've even had to give up visiting everyone I know.

K. S. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your boy friend is a victim of pathological jealousy, and a future with him holds no happiness or peace for you. No man makes so poor a husband as the perpetually suspicious character. Every move you make will be cause for close questioning—and the answers will not be believed. You will never be able to have friends; in fact, you'll probably become estranged from your own family because hubby's jealously will put all sorts of interpretations on every innocent visit they make.

Be warned! Don't continue your friendship with this boy.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a girl of 19 and work in a store with six ladies aged from 22 to about 42. A few of these girls call the 42-year-old "Mom". She is very nice, looks much younger than her years, and it seems to me very bad manners for them to address her so familiarly. She doesn't like it herself, but is afraid of hurting their feelings.

GRACE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is a deplorable breach of good manners to use so familiar a form of address to a business associate. Perhaps you could call your co-workers' attention to the fact that their informality is downright disrespectful, and perhaps they'll stop.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a high-school freshman with a sister a year younger than I. The other night, having an excess of homework, I offered to pay her for copying some of it for me. She acepted the money, but later returned it. Then I discovered that she had taken it back. I feel that since she gave it to me once, I am entitled to it. My mother agrees with my sister, but I think the money is mine.

BETTY LOU

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your sense of righteousness seems to be headed in the wrong direction. Your problem is not primarily one of who owns the money, but of "Who should have done the homework?" Since it was your work, your sister should not have been asked, nor should she have agreed, to do it for you If there was more work than you could handle, the honest thing to do was tell your teachers frankly that the homework was too much.

As for the money, since you had promised it to your sister for work done, she is entitled to it no matter at what ppint she decided to take it.

To avoid further entanglements of this sort, do your own homework!

Lakefield I.O.D.E. See Film

LAKEFIELD, May 9—(ENS)—Members of the Catherine Parr Traill Chapter, I.O.D.E., viewed a most interesting and instructive film sponsored by the Canadian Cancer Society on Monday evening when Mrs. J. A. Arnott was hostess for the May meeting.

The film was shown by Mrs. Gordon Langhorne of Peterborough, and commentaries on it were made by Mrs. Maurice Holt, also of Peterborough. The visitors were introduced by Mrs. Arnott and thanked by Mrs. J. O. Huddart for their contribution to the evening's program.

During her talk Mrs. Holt made an appeal for used white cotton, linen or flannelette to be used for making cancer dressings.

The regent, Mrs. Kenneth Lichty, presided for the meeting and it was decided to hold a garden fair on June 21 in the park at Memorial Hall if the weather is fine, if not, in the Hall.

Mrs. Arnott was named general convener and others are: Home baking, Mrs. J. O. Huddart, Mrs. T. W. Chaplin and Mrs. G. Winder-Smith; candy booth, Mrs. B. Q. Dench, and Mrs. L. Quackenbush; tea tables, Mrs. A. W. Newson and Mrs. S. Henderson; white elephant table, Mrs. William O'Brien; tickets and publicity, Mrs. Kenneth Morris.

A splendid paper on New Zealand was given by Empire study convener Mrs. James Brown.

It was decided to send a special treat to the inmates of the Old Peoples' Home, and Mrs. McKerchar and Mrs. Morris were appointed a committee to make arrangements.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Earl Orr and Mrs. E. H Northey.

Joel, Becky and Steven, Miss Jean Thomas, all of Peterborough; Mr. Donald Adams of Roseneath and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Metcalfe and Janice.

6—In Memoriam

DEGEN—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Mary Degen, who passed away one year ago today, May 9, 1951.
They say time heals all sorrows,
And helps us to forget,
But time, so far, has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it is to lose you
None will ever know.
—Sadly missed by daughter, Mrs. Youden and family.

DEGEN—In loving memory of my dear mother, who passed away May 9, 1951.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.
—Sadly missed by her daughter, Mrs. Blake Collins (Vera).

DELAIRE—In loving memory of a dear mother, Assetta DeLaire (Bolton), who passed away seven years ago, May 9th, 1945.
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
A wonderful memory to leave behind.
—Always remembered by Madeline, Lionel and family, and June.

SMITH—In loving memory of Sidney Ernest Smith, who passed away one year ago.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind.
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Always remembered by Mother, Dad, and family.

WEST—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Lois Amelia (Braund) West, who passed away (Mother's Day), May 9, 1948, in Phoenix, Arizona.
Our thoughts wander as daylight fades
To the land of long ago.
And memory paints the scenes of old
In the gold of the twilight glow.
We seem to see in the soft dim light,
A face we loved the best;
We think of her when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.
—Fondly remembered by her husband Chris and daughters Marilyn and Shirley.

Warns Generals

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 9 (AP)—Dario Carioca said Thursday Brazil's war minister has warned generals throughout the country to beware of Communists in the army. The paper said the minister, Ciro Espirito Santo Cardoso, sent a private note to the generals saying that Communist infiltration in the army has been proven by recent investigations and asking commanders to "maintain most rigorous vigilance to avoid any surprises from wherever they may come."

Court Told Farm Act Just Shortcut

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada was told today that 1949 legislation on interprovincial marketing of farm products takes a "shortcut" through the constitution.

The argument was advanced by Senator J. W. de B. Farris in challenging validity of marketing schemes set up under the Federal Argicultural Products Marketing Act. Judgment was reserved.

Senator Farris said the legislation—purporting to give provincial boards power to regulate interprovincial trade—is in conflict wi htthe federal nature of Canada's constitution.

The Vancouver senator, acting for H. B. Willis, Inc., nominal defendant in the test case, said that if parliament could confer such powers on a provincial board, then the provinces could confer similar powers on a federal body.

That would result in something being achieved which parliament itself has not the right to do.

No Need For Shortcut

"There is no reason to take this shortcut past the constitution," he said.

He contended the same effect could be obtained validly by the federal government through taking a group of men appointed by the provincial government and constituting them as a separate federal board.

In the specific case before the court — involving a marketing board set up by Prince Edward Island—Senator Farris said parliament was simply trying to add federal powers to a provincial board.

He thought the method he proposed would be ample to meet the requirements of regulating trade in a province's farm products, both within and outside a province.

Today's argument came on the third day of a hearing before the court on an appeal from the Prince Edward Island supreme court, which last January held the marketing legislation invalid.

The P.E.I. Potato Marketing Board is appealing, supported by the Federal government and those of New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Board Stuck

abeyance until after the Board received legal advice from its solicitor, T. J. Carley, Q.C.

There is little doubt but that Mr. Huffman is on solid legal ground. And Mr. Huffman said he had already been assured of this by his solicitor. Still, the Board members wanted to make sure.

Frank Jobbitt said: "This will clarify the matter in the minds of the public and ensure them that we are acting in a just and upright manner."

Mr. Huffman was not at the accommodation committee meeting Tuesday night; he absented himself during the discussion at the Board meeting Thursday night, and he made no comment when he later returned to the meeting.

Asked by the Examiner today for his point of view, he said:

"Our firm tendered on this job in good faith, without receiving any advantages whatsoever. Before making this decision we received legal and other advice that our position was quite ethical.

"I'd like to state as a member of the Board that I've refrained from any discussion on this matter while it was before the committee or the Board. My actions have been, and will be, morally correct."

(Section 56 of the Municipal Act specifically mentions those who are disqualified from doing business with a corporation.

"A person having himself or by or with or through another, an interest in any contract with the corporation" . . . is disqualified. But disqualification does not apply to a person by reason only "of his being an shareholder in an incorporated company having dealing or a contract with the corporation". As Charles H. Huffman Ltd. is a limited company Mr Huffman is just a shareholder.

(There are also some relevant sections in the School Acts but they are not believed to carry the same legal weight as this section of the Municipal Act.)

"I'm not sure of the meaning of the Act," said Mr. Jobbitt. "Granted Mr. Huffman is in a limited company which, on the face of it, allows him to tender on Board work . . . but I doubt if it's wise to make a decision until we've received an interpretation from our own solicitor, Mr. Carley. We shouldn't approve of this until we are quite sure in our own minds that everything is clear and above board."

Chairman W. B. Gordon agreed that it would be a good idea to get a legal opinion.

The motion was made by Mr. Jobbitt and seconded by Dr. Ralph Honey and discussion began.

"It's important to get the school underway," said Dr. Honey. "How long a delay is likely"?

Mr. Gordon said he thought the Board could get an opinion in time for a special meeting early next week, perhaps Monday night.

"I regret that I can't support this recommendation," said G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the accommodation committee. "I believe it's not a legal but a moral issue. I don't think a member of the Board, also a member of the accommodation committee, should accept a contract whereby he'll receive any remuneration."

Stanley R. Adamson, another member of the accommodation Committee, said they might have been well advised to have got the legal opinion in the first place.

"I had grave doubts about it after Tuesday's meeting," he said.

Mr. Adamson said he thought the whole matter went beyond legalities and was a moral issue.

"I'm sure Mr. Huffman would see that an excellent job was done . . . but I think it it incompatible for a member of this Board and a member of the accommodation committee to accept a contract."

". . . On the theory that no man can serve two masters," interjected Mr. Gordon.

Dr. Honey thought that it might be a bit unfair to apply so strict a ruling to a trustee.

"I'm wondering if a Board member should be discriminated against while rendering a public service as a publicly-elected member," he said.

"He'd be in a unique position—both receiving and giving orders," said Mr. Adamson.

"Remember, Mr. Huffman was almost drafted on nomination night for the Board of Education," said Mrs. Paige Rowell. "I don't see that the citizens of Peterborough should be asked to pay another $8,000 just because Mr. Huffman is a member of this Board."

Mr. Adamson said he couldn't agree. "Mr. Huffman has had distinct advantages while sitting on this committee. . . After all Mr. Eastwood and Mr. Mortlock aren't going to bid in the future if somebody else has a preferred position . . . Mr. Huffman has been a tower of strength in planning this school. . . but it has resulted in a very complex situation. Perhaps only Mr. Huffman has the answer."

Mr. Gordon suugested that the trustees take a long view of things and decide on a course of action that would be to the ultimate advantage of the Board of Education and the ratepayers.

"There is an election every year and the electors have an opportunity of expressing their opinion," said Mrs. Rowell.

Mr. Gordon said he wasn't thinking about who was going to be elected but he didn't want to take any action that would discourage future tenders.

"This will clarify the matter in the minds of the public and ensure them that we are acting in a just and upright manner," said Mr. Jobbitt, referring to the motion.

"If I were Mr. Huffman"s place I couldn't reconcile this stand with my conception of public service," said Mr. Pitchford. "If he wants this business I think the kindest advice to him would be to resign."

"This Board has no right to ask him to resign," said Mrs. Rowell: "Mr. Huffman was elected by the people."

"Oh no, that decision would be up to Mr. Huffman," said Mr. Gordon.

The motion to let the committee recommendation stand over until legal advice is obtained was put to the vote and passed without dissent.

Cheese Producers Refuse Accept Bid

BELLEVILLE, May 9 (CP) — Because cheese factory salesmen refused the price offered at a sale last night, 4,655 boxes of cheese put up for auction under auspices of the Belleville Cheese Exchange went unsold.

One buyer offered to buy all the cheese at 23¾ cents a pound. His bid was turned down, as was that of another would-be purchaser who raised the offer by one-sixteenth of a cent for a selection bid.

A similar situation arose last night at Stratford where producers refused a price of 23 cents a pound and 9,000 cheese were left unsold.

Summer Residents Of Sandy Point Protest Garbage Dump Location

Smith township council directed Thursday that the tax collector was to continue collection of 1951 taxes. He was authorized to take any action necessary to secure these arrears.

A delegation of summer residents of the Sandy Point area registered strong protest at the action of the township in locating a garbage dump on lot 41, con. 18. As a result of the protest, Council decided to close the dump.

Herb Payne, owner of the Pines dance pavilion, asked permission to hold Sunday midnight dances when the Monday is a public holiday. Council decided to make a decision at the next meeting, and in the meantime to find out the public reaction to this request.

As there was no objection to the closing of the road on registered plan No. 49, the necessary bylaw was passed. This will have to be approved by the County Council at its June session.

For the rest of the year, the monthly meetings of the Council will be held on the first Tuesday in the month.

Canada Ahead Of U.S. In Civil Defence—Briton

LONDON, May 9 (CP).—Sir John Hodsoll, Britain's No. 1 expert on the subject, said today he rates Canada ahead of the United States in civil defence.

Back from a visit to Canada where he watched a rehearsal of defence services, Sir John said much progress has been made in the last two years.

"They are rapidly catching up on our organization," said the head of Britain's civil defence services. "The Americans on the other hand are more apathetic."

He said he hopes to see an exchange system for civil defence instruction arranged between Canada and the U.S.

T. H. MacMurray

The funeral for Thomas Henry MacMurray, 195 Auburn St., who died Monday was held Thursday from the Kaye funeral home.

Major D. Sharp of the Salvation Army conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Thomas, Robert and William MacMurray, all sons of the deceased, Harold Friar, William Taylor and Mathew David. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Plan For Year Art Exhibits

A few of the art exhibits that will be appearing in the Peterborough Public Library during the 1952-53 season were announced today by William Graff, librarian.

Mr. Graf has just returned from a meeting of the Art Gallery Curators of Ontario held in London, Ont., this week.

The season's exhibits will include an exhibition from Nova Scotia, a Mexican Print exhibit, an exhibit of young contemporary Ontario painters, an exhibit of Modern Abstracts and Non-Objectives and a Liturgical Arts exhibit.

The Peterborough Library is one of a group of libraries and art museums in six Ontario centres that make a joint arrangements for art exhibits.

This cooperative arrangement has been in operation for four years with each of the six libraries and museums paying an equal share of the costs of transportation. Each is allowed to keep an exhibit for one month.

Under this system the Peterborough library has been able to display approximately 18 exhibits, averaging about five a year.

The exhibits are complemented in the Peterborough library by about seven local exhibits a year as well as other exhibits arranged through the National Art Gallery at Ottawa and the Toronto Art Gallery.

The libraries and art museums in the cooperative arrangement are Oshawa, London, Hart House, University of Toronto; Windsor, Hamilton and Peterborough.

Personnel Men Tour C.G.E. Plant

Some 22 members of the Peterborough Personnel Association toured the plant of the Canadian General Electric Co. Thursday evening.

Welcomed by Bob Hardy, the personnel men were shown about the plant in a tour that was organized and conducted by Ivan McGowan, with the help of other C.G.E. staff men.

Works manager, Roy T. Bogle, spoke on Canadian industrial development and union relations.

He said that 90 per cent. of the capital that would be invested in Canada this year would be Canadian. Mr. Bogle believed that the St. Lawrence seaway was vitally necessary if Canada were to advance industrially.

El. Thompson thanked the speaker and expressed the association's appreciation of the tour. Leonard Woodman, president of the association, presided during the meeting.

Convict Father Of 18 For False Statement

SAULT STE. MARIE, May 9 — (CP).—A 44-year-old father of 18 children, who the defence counsel said was "too ignorant to deceive the courts," Thursday was convicted of making false statements on a farm improvements loan act in October, 1950.

Ernest Bishop was placed on a suspended sentence on a charge of defrauding the Bank of Nova Scotia out of $375.

The manager of the bank said Bishop listed over $4,000 worth of farm land, animal stock and farm equipment when he obtained the loan. Police were called in when he failed to repay the loan and they testified there was no farm, livestock or equipment.

Five Escape Serious Injury As Aircraft Crashes In Lake

"PHOOEY ON THE PARKS DEPARTMENT," thinks little Linda Faskin, aged one year," a Mother's Day posy is where you find it, even in Confederation Square." She could not resist the picking possibilities while passing the rows and rows of beautiful blooms. The short-stemmed flowers are just the sort of job a girl can sit down to. Two Toronto Men Slightly Hurt In Pigeon L. Crash

Four Toronto people and their Peterborough pilot escaped serious injury Friday night when their amphibious aircraft crashed in Pigeon Lake, four miles south of Bobcaygeon. Given brief treatment in Civic Hospital early today were Louis Cadesky, 50, Toronto broker, who has an estate in Harvey township, and Carl Millard, 38, one of the passengers. Mr. Cadesky suffered head injuries and Mr. Millard has a broken right arm. After their injuries were looked after the two men returned to Toronto by car.

Dunlop Mathias, Peterborough pilot, and a Toronto man and woman, both unidentified, were shaken up.

The aircraft hit a log, bounced three times, and landed on its side.

Murray Whetung, an employee on the Cadesky estate, heard the plane strike the water a quarter of a mile out on the lake as it came in for a landing. He rushed out of the boathouse where he was working and set out in a motor-boat for the scene.

Rescued All

"When I got there the plane was half submerged," he said. "Some of the people were still on the airplane and some were in the water. I gathered them up as I came to them; I got them all."

Whetung said the $25,000 plane was already half submerged when he got there. Later it sank, settling in 30 feet of water.

"All of them were calm," said Whetung.

Cadesky had invited the party up for the weekend to his Harvey township estate. The plane ride from Toronto was uneventful until they came in for the landing, about 8.30 p.m. Friday.

Cadesky Owned Plane

The twin-engined amphibious plane is owned by Cadesky. He has only had the plane two or three weeks. The place where it sank in the water has been marked by a buoy.

The two other Toronto guests are resting at Cadesky's winter home on the estate.

Red Border Guards Turn Back Allied Road Patrols

BERLIN, May 10. (AP)—Russian guards barred regular Allied military patrols today from the 110-mile Autobahn carrying Allied traffic through the Soviet zone of Germany between Berlin and the Allied zones. Regular truck and private vehicle traffic continued to roll ahead as usual, with only the normal stack-up of truckers at each entry where fussy Soviet guards check their papers and cargoes. Border guards at Helmstedt, at the British zone end of the super-highway, and at Babelsberg, on the Berlin end, abruptly turned back the patrols after checking their papers.

The guards gave no reason for their action.

"They didn't tell us our documents were not in order," said one of the soldiers who was turned back. He said the Russians did not display a "tough" attitude, but merely handed back the papers and refused entry.

Courtesy Patrols

The British and Americans maintain the military patrols along this sole highway link between Berlin and the west as a courtesy aid to motorists in trouble and to keep them on the right road.

Allied use of Autobahn is prescribed in four-power agreements like that of setting of corridors for air transports to follow to and from Berlin.

Traffic is not allowed to stray from the prescribed route.

The incident gave Berlin another case of Soviet jitters. There was immediate speculation whether the action might be a forerunner of more serious Soviet attitudes.

Cautious Reaction

The immediate Allied reaction was cautious although one British official said he regarded the Soviet move as only "another needling job."

An American officer declined to speculate whether the move was a prelude to something bigger. He said the western commandants in Berlin would take up the matter.

Another Allied officer said he had heard the Russians were planning to require new documents for the patrols and were clamping down until they are issued.

POW's Release U.S. General After Three Days

SEOUL, Korea, May 10 (AP) — The United States Eighth Army announced tonight that Brig.-Gen. Francis Dodd has been released—in good health and good spirits—by Communist prisoners of war on Koje island.

Dodd, former commander of prison camps on the island, was seized by Red prisoners Wednesday as he conferred with them at the gate of compound 76.

An Eighth Army statement said the general's release came after a meeting of Communist rigleaders of the compound.

The meeting of Communist P.O.W. leaders came after Gen. James Van Fleet, U.S. army commander, made it clear he was preparing to use force if the general was not released unharmed.

Terms worked out at the conference were not disclosed.

Dodd will be flown here tomorrow and will hold a press conference. An army spokesman said also that correspondents will be allowed to visit Koje tomorrow. The island is 30 miles off the south-eastern tip of Korea.

Dodd will spend the night with Brig.-Gen Charles Colson, appointed commander of the Koje camps the day after Dodd was seized.

Dragged In Compound

Dodd was dragged inside Compound 76 where 6,000 North Korean diehard Communists are held. He and another officer, Lt.-Col. Robert Haven, were standing by the main gate, talking with leaders of the prisoners.

The pair evidently had been lured there by the Communists for a conference.

Suddenly, Red P.O.W.s grabbed Dodd. Raven managed to fight his way clear and escaped

For three days the Reds held Dodd prisoner, meanwhile negotiating with him for settlement of grievances.

American meals were passed in to the general and he was allowed free use of the compound telephone.

Granted Demands

Saturday morning the army said it granted some of the demands—"minor requests" which included use of a telephone, writing paper and admittance of prisoner leaders from other compounds on the island. Approximately 80,000 Reds are held on the island. Most of them are among the 70,000 prisoners who have said they will return to Communism.

Koje was the scene of two bloody earlier riots.

February 18, a batch of Reds rioted and 75 prisoners were killed and 135 wounded as U.S. troops opened fire to stop it. One U.S. soldier was killed and 38 wounded. Dodd was named commander two days later. Another riot erupted March 13. Twelve prisoners were killed and 26 wounded.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, on the eve of his departure for Europe, issued a blast at the kidnapping Friday. He ordered Van Fleet to use "whatever force is necessary" to get Dodd out.

North Korean General Nam Il, at the Panmunjom truce talks, charged the U.N. was preparing "another massacre" on the island.

Pacific Vets Unite

MANILA, May 10 (AP)—The Philippine Veterans Legion today sought to form a southeast Asian federation of Pacific war veterans. Delegates from Thailand, Formosa, South Korea, Indonesia and Australia were attending the legion's annual convention which opened Friday at the mountain resort of Baguio.

Bachelor Farmers Should Wed—MP

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP). — James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, suggested in the Commons Friday that bachelor farmers could save a lot of tax money if they married housekeepers.

Mr. Sinclair, married with four daughters, said income tax rates are heavily weighted against bachelors. But they had a better ability to pay than men with wives and families. It was desirable "that most bachelors settle down to a happy married life" and the present taxation system gave that encouragement.

"Perhaps," he said, "bachelor farmers in the end will marry their housekeepers and enjoy the benefits both socially and through the tax return of marriage."

The question of bachelor farmers was brought up by Robert Fair (S.C.-Battle River) who thought they should be allowed to deduct the wages of their housekeepers as a farm expense.

Wandering Hubbie

LOS ANGELES, May 10 (CP)—Harold Menjou, 40, adopted son of actor Adolphe Menjou was pictured as a wandering husband by his wife, Ororina, 29, who won a divorce Friday. She testified that when she found him on one occasion with a scantily-clad feminine companion, he told her: "It's a husband's privilege to take a weekend off when he pleases."

Group Fears Reds May Gain Edge In Rubber

OTTAWA, May 10—(CP)—The International Rubber Study Group Friday ended secret weeklong sessions without reaching any immediate decisions on critical issues of stabilized prices and assured markets.

Spokesmen for rubber-producing countries said this indecision may give Communists an edge in South-East Asia. But a British spokesman said his country is "determined" that the area "will not fall into the hands of the Communists."

As an apparent compromise, the 18-country group agreed to set up a special committee to meet in London next July and consider:

1. Whether it is possible to work out a plan to prevent "burdensome surpluses or serious shortages" of rubber and whether such measures are "necessary and practicable."

2. Drafts of any agreements which may be required to implement these proposals.

The committee delegates would report back to the study group as "quickly as possible." The group will not meet as a whole until its next annual conference in 1953 and it appeared unlikely that there would be any immediate solution to problems of the rubber producers.

Australians In Korea Fly 10,000th Sortie

SEOUL, Korea, May 10 (AP)—The R.A.A.F. 77th Squadron today flew its 10,000th sortie in the Korean War.

In 20 months of operations, the Australian squadron has wrought much damage behind Communist lines and claimed destruction of three Red MIG-15s, probably destroyed another, and damaged four.

The 10,000th sortie was led by the unit's commanding officer, Wing Commander R. T. Susans. The flight attacked supply buildings in the Yonan area, destroying six.

U.S. Congress Criticizes Handling Of Steel Crisis

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—Congressional resentment over government handling of the steel wage-price crisis simmered today but there were no immediate indications that lawmakers planned to do anything about it. On the steel front itself, industry, government, and the C.I.O. United Steelworkers were to file briefs with the Supreme Court today on legality of President Truman's seizure of the steel industry. Arguments before the court are scheduled for Monday.

Two House of Representatives Committees looking into the steel matter recessed their investigatoins Friday on an angry but inconclusive note:

The House Armed Services Committee left the fate of an anti-strike bill up in the air, with representative Paul Kilday (Dem. Tex.), accusing the Truman administration of staging a "sit-down" strike against the bill by declining to furish witnesses from the labor and justice departments.

Release Witness

The House Labor Committee released Nathan P. Feinsinger, chairman of the embattled Wage Stabilization Board — which one legislator said was stacked in favor of labor—after three consecutive days of grilling examination on the board's controversial recommendation for a 26-cent-an-hour wage increase package and the union shop. The group calls in industry members of the board starting Monday.

As Feinsinger was excused late yesterday a bristling attack on what he called an apparent labor bias of the six public members. All, he asserted, "have been mixed up in the labor movement."

Barden said that in "every single case that comes up with the union shop in it—bingo, you recommend the union shop."

A union shop agreement compels employees to join the union or lose their jobs with the company.

Strong Denials

Barden's remarks drew strong denials from Feinsinger, who said the board was bound to consider the union shop whenever it was an issue in any dispute certified to it.

$750,000 Blaze Destroys School

PICTON, May 10 — (CP) — A $750,000 fire swept through Picton collegiate early today.

Believed to have started in the upper part of the three-storey brick building at 4:45 a.m., it was first noticed by Mrs. Frank McKee who lives nearby.

Mrs. McKee said she thought she heard a car, looked out of her window and saw the entire roof aflame. Picton fire department answered her alarm. Later firefighters from the Royal Canadian School of Artillery arrived, together with men from Bloomfield fire department five miles away.

A dance was held in the school last night.

Insurance of the 45-year-old building was increased from $95,000 to $400,000 within the last four months. The school board will meet today to discuss temporary quarters for the 315 students.

Picton is 26 miles southeast of Belleville.

Gardiner Tells House F-M Members To Meet

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Friday he believes one more meeting will be held by the Commons Committee on Agriculture, investigating the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan.

He was replying to Earl Catherwood (P.C., Haldimand) who asked for comment on reports that the committee will not meet again.

Mr. Gardiner said the meeting had been adjourned because it was felt that too much time was being taken up in committee for the work accomplished. The meetings tied up a large number of department officials who were under as much pressure as during the years of the war.

F-M Scourge Hits Severe Blow At UK Economy

LONDON, May 10 (CP)—Foot-and-mouth disease has struck a severe blow at Britain's vital livestock industry at a time the country can ill afford to sacrifice a morsel of meat.

Scourge, similar to the epidemic that hit Saskatchewan farmers this spring, has had three results:

1. Precautionary slaughter of more than 30,000 animals, involving heavy financial loss.

2. Far-reaching quarantine restrictions.

3. The threat of a possible cut in the meagre family ration unless the disease is stamped out quickly.

The current weekly meat allowance for each person is one shilling, two pence worth.

Confined at first to a small area in southeastern England, the present outbreak has spread until today practically the whole of Britain is affected either by contamination or isolation orders.

Some research officials say fully 90 per cent of the fresh outbreaks can be traced to imported carcasses, chilled or frozen. Others lay the blame on migratory birds bringing the disease from infected regions on the Continent. Germany, France, Denmark and the Netherlands have been particularly hard hit.

U.S. Medals Awarded

PRETORIA, South Africa, May 10 (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Waldman J. Gallman today presented 19 U.S. decorations to South African airmen who have been fighting with U.N. forces in Korea. Two awards went to relatives of pilots killed in action.

Canada Cuts All Flying To Save Fuel

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP).—Canada has ordered a sharp curtailment of civilian and military flying because of the oil industry strike in the United States.

Production Minister Howe made the announcement in the Commons Friday. He said high-octane aviation fuel has been declared an essential material and suppliers have been ordered to deliver only 65 per cent of April purchases during the 28-day period from May 6. The Canadian move follows similar U.S. action.

Carry On Schedules

The minister said that with the conservation measures it should be possible to maintain reduced airline schedules indefinitely. Other gasoline users are not cut and it is not expected they will be seriously affected.

At the same time Transport Minister Chevrier ordered civilian aviation to reduce unnecessary flying in an effort to save 1,000,000 gallons of high-octane fuel in the month. Trans-Canada Airlines cancelled 16 flights Friday and Canadian Pacific Airlines said all second sections of its regular flights are being discontinued. This is about 30 per cent of C.P.A. traffic.

The R.C.A.F. curtailed flying too, though it has enough high-octane fuel for several weeks. Jet squadrons—a number of F-86 Sabre squadrons now are in training—are not expected to be affected since they use low-grade kerosene fuel.

Mr. Howe's announcement was the highlight of a quiet Commons sitting devoted mostly to consideration of a resolution to give effect to tax and tariff changes made in the budget.

Stratford Board Freed Of Teachers' Blacklist

STRATFORD, May 10—(CP)—The Stratford Board of Education is no longer on the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation blacklist, it was disclosed Friday.

A joint announcement by representatives of the board and federation said teachers and the board have reached agreement on salaries, granting an eight-per-cent increase on the basis of 1951 salaries, and raising maximum levels $400.

Under the new maximum, non-specialists' salaries reach the top at $4,900, specialists $5,100 and heads of departments $5,300.

Negotiations have been carried on for some months. A few weeks ago the board was blacklisted by the federation—that is, no teacher could take a job with the Stratford board and still receive the support of the federation.

Welsh Bachelor Seeking Bride

MONTREAL, May 10 (CP)—An 81-year-old bachelor from Wales who mixes and drinks his own special elixir of life is on his way to Canada. He hopes to find a bride.

That's the advance dope today on Joe Carey, native of Aberystwyth, Wales, who says he has been a bachelor long-enough and wants to settle down. He's due on the Empress of France Tuesday night.

The last time Joe visited Canada, four years ago, he won a jitterbug contest. He visited an 83-year-old sister in Calgary, a 79-year-old brother in California and a 77-year-old sister in Edmonton.

Here's Joe's elixir of life: Three tablespoons of sulphur, two tablespoons of cream of tartar, half a teaspoon of saltpetre. Mix 'em up in a quart of boiling water. Drink a wineglass full before breakfast every day.

U.S., Britain Ask World Save Gasoline

LONDON, May 10 — (CP) — Britain and the United States joined today in a world-wide appeal to restrict the consumption of aviation gasoline, the fuel ministry announced.

The appeal has been sent to all countries and "it is therefore expected that civil aviation will shortly be subject to restrictions on a world-wide basis," the announcement said.

The action is the result of the U.S. oil strike.

Britain's nationalized airlines will cut consumption of aviation fuel by 30 per cent, beginning Monday. The R.A.F. has abandoned all squadron training here and abroad to conserve dwindling gasoline stocks. Jet aircraft, which use kerosene as fuel, are exempted.

Most of Britain's high octane aviation gasoline is imported from the U.S.

£9,000 Gold Bar

Poses Problem For U. N. Legal Experts

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 10 (Reuters).—United Nations legal experts are grappling with the problem of a gold bar worth more than £9,000. It is now lying in a Montreal vault—without an owner.

The bar constituted a fund collected by various governments before the war to build a "press house" for the former League of Nations Correspondents Association.

The club was never built. When war came, the League of Nations folded up, the Correspondents Association members were scattered all over the world, and the gold bar remained in a Swiss bank.

After the war the bar was transferred to this side of the Atlantic by the United Nations, as part of the assets of the old League of Nations. Why it was taken to Canada is not clear but at that time considerable European gold was being transferred to Montreal banks.

It now has been found that there are not enough surviving members of the old Correspondents Association to make it legally possible for them to claim the bar.

Some survivors have nevertheless claimed that the money belongs to them and should be distributed among the remaining members.

Meanwhile two new correspondents associations have been formed around the United Nations, one in Geneva and one at headquarters here. They both also claim a share of the gold, as successors to the former League of Nations Association.

The money cannot be returned to the countries which contributed it because several of them, such as Romania, now are behind the iron curtain.

The chief legal counsellor of the United Nations, A. H. Feller, has deputized a French lawyer member of his staff, Anthony Leriche, to clarify this legal tangle.

The gold bar was worth some 80,000 Swiss francs when it began life. It now has increased in value to 109,000 francs—£9,090 at current prices, owing it to the rise in the price of gold.

The association originally placed its funds in a gold bar to eliminate the effects of currency fluctuations and restrictions.

Ontario Ready To Quit Rent Controls—M.P.P.

TORONTO, May 10 (CP). — Gordon Macodrum (P.C.-Leeds) chairman of the provincial rents committee, told the Toronto Property Owners' Association Friday night that the Ontario government feels it should get out of rent control.

"Rents are a local matter," he said. "Every municipality should be given a chance to say if they want rent controls."

If any city council requests the province to withdraw the rental controls from its area, I am satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt, that within a few days of our committee's next meeting on June 9, those districts will have decontrolled rents."

Monkey See

HONG KONG, May 10. — (AP)—China's Communists, like their Russian mentors, are unearthing some "firsts" of their own. Turns out a Chinese knew all about the hypotenuse long before Pythagoras. Communist newspapers say a fellow named Shang Kao figured the square of the hypotenuse was equal to the sum of the squares of the other two sides 500 years before Pythagoras.

U.S. GENERAL FRANCIS T. DODD, held hostage for three days by Communist prisoners at a P.O.W. camp on Koje Island, off Korea, was released today, shortly after minor concessions had been made to the prisoners. In this photo, Gen. Dodd (left) is shown examining a flail the prisoners used to intimidate non-Red inmates who did not want to be returned to the Communists. With Gen. Dodd is Maj. James N. Stevenson.

Canada Will Sell N.Z. Meats In States' Markets

OTTAWA, May 10. (CP)—Canada has found a way to get around the United States embargo against Canadian cattle and meat—use New Zealand products. Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced Friday in the Commons a barter arrangement involving Canada, the United Kingdom and New Zealand. Under the agreement Canada will send fresh beef and pork — about 40,000,000 pounds this year—to the United Kingdom. Similar quantities of frozen beef and pork Britain has ordered from New Zealand will be credited to Canada for sale in the United States.

The agreement is an emergency move to dispose of surplus meat as result of the United States embargo imposed after an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in south Saskatchewan. Canada likely will lose money on the deal.

It will cover approximately 30,000,000 pounds of beef and about 10,000,000 of pork. The arrangement is for this year only, but Canada hopes the U.S. market will be restored before the year is over.

Under U.S. law the agriculture secretary can lift the ban 60 days after he is satisfied that the Canadian outbreak is eradicated.

Complicated Barter

The barter deal is complicated and requires a lot of bookkeeping. Canada will ship meat to Britain and receive a slip of paper saying she owns a similar quantity of New Zealand meat. Britain will pay New Zealand for the meat at normal contract prices.

New Zealand will sell the meat in the U.S. and hand the proceeds to Canada. The price structure in the U.S. is a lot higher than in Britain and it is likely the New Zealand meat will fetch a higher price than in Britain. Considering this, Canada likely will apportion a share of any difference between the U.S. and British price to New Zealand.

Advantage For U.K.

Britain may get some advantage, too, though the complicated move may upset meat-delivery plans. Since Canada is closer geographically to Britain than New Zealand she will get meat a lot faster and in large quantities during the summer shipping season.

As for Canada, the move, said Mr. Gardiner, wil help maintain beef floor prices and, of course, "relieve" a beef surplus. But it still will be desirable, he added, that farmers who have unfinished cattle on farms keep them on grass and off markets as long as possible.

Meanwhile, beef shipments to Montreal have started to roll, freezer space on ships has been booked and Mr. Gardiner said he anticipates an early and speedy start in overseas movements.

Engineer Sees Atom Transport

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP).—Possible atomic developments in the field of transportation were seen Friday night by N. R. Crump of Montreal, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"It is quite within the realms of possibility that within our time atomic engines may prove practicable and economical for commercial transportation," Mr. Crump said in address to the 66th annual meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

The days of the pioneer developer are not over, he said.

"The glamorous days of spanning a continent and laying rails through the Rocky Mountains may be gone, but the search for quicker, safer and more comfortable and more economical means of transportation continues."

Church League Boys Hold Closing Banquet

Peterborough Boys Work Board completed its hockey season Friday night with a bean feed for the boys who played in the church league.

Eighteen churches of the city were represented by the 180 boys who were present at St. James' United Church. After supper Bill McFarlan of the Y.M.C.A. had a lively sing-song ready. Chairman Merv Williamson introduced Rev. H. C. Douglas who in turn introduced Rev. Robert Dargan, speaker of the evening.

The Midget Cup won by George St. United was presented by C. Corbett, representing the Sunday Schools.

Bantam Cup, won by Grace United, was presented by Alex Sinclair, recreational commissioner; and the Pee-Wee Cup won by Grace United was presented by Robert Peebles representing the Boys Work Board.

Pioneer Passes

REGINA — (CP)—One of the pioneers of the Regina plains, Mrs. Marion McDougall, died at age 86. She came from Scotland in 1865 and later settled on a homestead south of Craven. Her husband died some years ago and she is survived by four sons.

New Jap Envoy

TOKYO, May 10 (CP) — The newspaper Asahi indicates today that Sadao Iguchi, vice foreign minister, will be Japan's first post-war ambassador to Canada. Asahi says Premier Yoshida's cabinet has approved the apointment as well as other ambassadors to Britain, France and the United States.

SHIPWRECK SURVIVORS—These Nova Scotia fishermen, snatched from heavy seas by the British freighter Birmingham City, show signs of exposure and grief as they recuperate aboard the rescue ship. Eugene and Calvin Roy of Port Mouton took to their dory with their 14-year-old cousin Leonard Roy when their fishing boat was swamped. Leonard died of exposure during the two-day ordeal and was buried at sea.

Failed To Test Pilot's Ability

As navigator-co-pilot of the North Continent Airlines plane of Burbank, Calif., which safely crash-landed on the outskirts of Cobourg on Dec. 20, Edward T. O'Leary of Los Angeles testified on Friday that he became a co-pilot on a non-scheduled airline without test of his ability to fly a plane.

This evidence came out at a hearing by the Civil Aeronautics Board in Los Angeles on revocation of North American Airlines' authority to operate. The hearing had to do with a lafer plane crash of the same lines on April 18 in which 29 were killed.

O'Leary said he was discharged from the U.S. Air Force in December, 1951, made three trips as an observer with the Robin Lines and was hired as co-pilot. He was given a pilot's test by Charles Rector, flying director who flew the disabled Cobourg plane back to California for repairs. Two days following his test O'Leary was navigator of the plane which crash-landed near Cobourg during a heavy snow storm while en route between Kansas City and Newark, N. J.

Church Scores Arena Wedding

TORONTO, May 10. (CP)—A wedding performed April 24 before a crowd at a hillbilly show in an arena here is criticized in the current issue of the Observer, official organ of the United Church of Canada, as "irreverent, tawdry and out of keeping with the traditions and practices of our faith."

Rev. W. J. Johnston, minister of Eglinton Avenue United Church and a former president of the church's Toronto Conference, officiated at the ceremony in which Lorette Desormeau, 28-year-old divorcee, was married to Fred Roden, 46. About 2,500 persons paid $1.50 each to hear the mountain music and see the wedding as an added attraction.

The editorial said in part:

"We in Canada have read news items describing similar weddings in other places. We brushed them off as vulgar, cheap and degrading. They just could not happen here. Well, here they are. And now that the start has been made, our ministers can look forward to pressure from other brides and grooms or promoters."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, May 10 (CP) — Prices of coarse grain futures were irregular and showed an easier tone in dull trading Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The market reflected hesitation in U.S. grain and other commodity markets.

Overnight loadings of wheat for export included 315,000 bushels for the United Kingdom and 265,000 for Belgium. Prices of Class 2 and I.W.A. wheat were up ⅜ of a cent.

Head-on Crash Kills 2 Near Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, May 10 — (CP)—Two men were killed early today in a head-on automobile collision about five miles north of here.

They were John N. Soltys, 22, of 20 Mortimer St., Toronto, and Allen Mehwa, 25, of Stevensville, near Welland.

The accident occurred on the Queen Elizabeth Way near the Lions Creek road.

Mehwa was found dead in the wreckage of his car. Soltys was dead on arrival at hospital here.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m. EDT May 10.

Synopsis:

The rain that earlier threatened Southern Ontario has amounted to very little. However, there are indications on the early morning weather chart of a storm development in Tennessee which quite probably will bring thunderstorms and considerable rain through Southern Ontario tonight and Sunday morning.

Not much change in temperatures is expected but cloudy skies and strong winds following the rain will make Sunday feel quite cool.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday:

Niagara, Georgian Bay, Western Lake Ontario regions; Toronto, Hamilton cities:

Cloudy today and Sunday with a few sunny intervals today. Showers or thundershowers tonight and Sunday morning. Not much change in temperature. Winds light becoming northeast 20 tonight. Low tonight and high Sunday at St. Catharines, Hamilton and Toronto 50 and 60, Muskoka 45 and 55.

Summary for Sunday: Cloudy, morning rain.

Eastern Lake Ontario, Haliburton regions:

Cloudy today and Sunday with a few sunny intervals today. Showers or thundershowers beginning after midnight and ending late Sunday afternoon. Little change in temperature. Winds light today, northeast 20 Sunday. Low tonight and high Sunday at Trenton 50 and 60, Killaloe 45 and 55.

Summary for Sunday: Rain.

To Clean Up Books

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Congressional investigations of radio and television programs and books, magazines and comic books may be ordered next week to clean up over-emphasis on sex and crime where it exists. Resolutions calling for the probes have been approved by the House Rules Committee and given the go-ahead by the House of Representatives leadership for a vote next week.

U.S. Congress

In the House Armed Services Committee, the first Congressional effort to produce anti-strike legislation appeared to have bogged down.

But the committee members still searched for a means of preventing work stoppage in defence critical industries, and will call next week for expert advice from labor, management and the administration.

The committee recessed yesterday after three days of hearings on a strongly-opposed measure by Representative Howard W. Smith (Dem.-Va.)

This bill, amending the Draft Act, would require the government to seek an 80-day injunction against a strike affecting national security. Both the industry and labor organization involved would be placed in indefinite receivership at the end of 80 days, if there was no settlement. Work stoppages then would be illegal.

Ike Won't Campaign

OSLO, May 10 (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower said Friday night that if the people like Ike for president "they will know where to find me"—but repeated that he has no intention of campaigning for the Republican nomination. Oslo was Eisenhower's last stop on the Scandinavian leg of his farewell tour as Supreme Allied Commander. His assignment ends June 1 and he plans to return to the United States then to be available if he is nominated by the Republican convention in July.

N.Z. To Fall Short In U.S. Beef Shipment

WELLINGTON, N.Z., May 10.—(Reuters)—J. Evans, manager of the meat producers' board, said today shipments of beef to the United States under the new Anglo-Canadian-New Zealand agreement will probably fall short of their target.

He said export of beef to Britain has been halted in an effort to build up stocks for the U.S.

Evans added that the board is awaiting clarification of what classes of beef are required by the U.S.

It is emphasized that diversion of both beef and pork to the U.S. will be only a small proportion of New Zealand's meat exports. Cold storage warehouses here still are full of lamb awaiting shipment to Britain.

Week's Trading Strong As Curbs Lifted On Credit

By DICK BAIDEN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian investors and business men greeted Finance Minister Abbott's suspension Tuesday of consumer credit restrictions with enthusiasm tempered with caution.

Movements of individual issues this week on Toronto's stock market reflected the investor's attitude. Companies which stood to gain most by the suspension—Ford, Industrial Acceptance, Kelvinator, Simpson's, Easy Washer and Beatty—jumped for early gains ranging to more than $3.

The brightened outlook, coupled with a moderate New York advance, spread throughout the industrial section and continued most of Wednesday.

After a more considered appraisal, however, investors seemed to change their minds. Ford and Industrial Acceptance led the trend with a steady recession from their Tuesday highs. By the week's end they had lost most of their advance.

Businessmen reacted similarly. Automobile manufacturers, household appliance dealers and finance companies predicted sharply increased business immediately following the announcement.

Later it became apparent that only larger companies—those which maintained their own finance companies—would be apt to benefit quickly. Most businesses, since the Federal government had requested banks to curtail credit, would not have the capital necessary to back low down payment, long-term purchasing.

Act As Brake

Professional observers said the impression that smaller businesses would not benefit as rapidly as expected would act as a brake on business generally. This opinion, they said, was reflected by the later caution of stock market investing.

Despite this caution, however, and sporadic selling sprees, the Toronto market closed accumulated enough strength during the week to push the Exchange's indices to the level of mid-April. Industrials, base metals and western oils posted gains ranging to more than five points while golds added slightly less than a point.

New York made little headway in early trading Monday, slipped in mid-session but recovered by the close. Prices edged higher in quiet trading Tuesday and continued upward Wednesday. Late selling cut gains Thursday and prices showed little trend yesterday.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed Industrials up 5.61 at 317.67 golds up .97 at 88.88, base metals up 3.41 at 185.06 and western oils up 3.76 at 148.44.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .10 at 29.93, utilities up .8 at 84.4, industrials up 4.09 at 198.1, combined up 3.5 at 160.2, papers up 39.20 at 698.14 and golds up 1.04 at 66.85.

In New York, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed $2.40 to $102.50.

No Arrests Made In Robbery Case

COBOURG, May 10 (ENS) — No arrests have been made yet in connection with the robbery with violence of William Ross, 76, of Murray township. Two men on Thursday evening after drawing a sack over the old man's head, taking his pants from him to hinder his escape, and wiring his big toes together with fence wire, stole around $200. Mr. Ross managed to summon aid and was taken to Trenton hospital where, apart from shock, he is uninjured. Provincial police of Belleville picked up two Murray township residents on suspicion that they were the wanted pair but after questioning them, released them.

Expansion Program Campaign Under Way

Dr. M. J. Moher of Lakefield, general chairman and deanery canvassing leader in the Roman Catholic diocesan expansion program that is being conducted in the diocese of Peterborough this week, has reported that the program is well under way.

The plan of this effort is to provide a fund for the increasing needs of the city and district, particularly in schools, and homes for orphans at St. Vincent's and the elderly people at the House of Providence.

Police Arrest Blonde On Desertion Charge

TOLEDO, O., May 10 (AP) — Toledo police arrested Pte. Doris Reffitt, 23, blonde and pretty, on a charge of deserting the Marine Corps. "I didn't have any trouble quitting my job to join the Marines," she told police, "and I don't see why everybody is making such a fuss because I quit the Marines." She joined the Marines after a spat with her boy friend, she explained. On St. Patrick's Day she and her boy friend made up, she said, so she just decided to go back to him.

Cut Payments

WASHINGTON, May 10 (CP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board Friday cut air mail payments for Northwest Airlines, Inc. on its domestic routes and between the United States and Canadian terminals. The board established 53 cents a ton mile and a fair and reasonable temporary rate. Board spokesman said the rate has ranged up to $1.20 a ton mile. He estimated the new rate would yield $1,300,000 in 1952.

Winnipeg Ballet Praised As Best Of Canada Festival

TORONTO, May 10 (CP)—The Winnipeg Ballet Company and a capacity house combined to make Friday evening's performance—the sixth of eight—the best-received yet at the fourth annual Canadian Ballet Festival.

The Winnipeg production of "Ballet Premier" received 10 curtain calls and brought raves from the critics. The same show was given in a command performance before the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh during their Canadian tour last autumn.

A Toronto group, the New Dance Theatre, presented "Heroes of Our Times," a narative of the modern American scene while "Sigh No More My Ladies" was offered by the Ballet Production Club of Vancouver.

"Design" by the Toronto ballet group was another abstract theme while Gotshalks' Halifax ballet group closed the program with a bright and lively production entitled "Fiesta en Sevilla" on a Spanish theme with music supplied by traditional Bizet compositions.

Herbert Whitaker of the Toronto Globe and Mail described the Winnipeg production as "a most heartening sight, one which symbolizes the achievement of ballet in this country.

"It was a full-length, beautifully-executed and boldly-designed work. It emerges as fresh, strong and theatrically vigorous ballet."

Mr. Whitaker praised Arnold Spohr and his work in the production. Mr. Spohr was the choreographer as well as dancing the major role along with Jean Stoneham and Viola Busday.

Rose Macdonald of the Toronto Telegram praised the Halifax group for its lively "Fiesta En Sevilla" composed of a series of stylized Spanish dances without story integration.

She said: "Its bright spirit and determined gaiety gave much pleasure. This is the first time this ballet has been seen on a festival program and in outstanding comparison to the sensitivity and old-fashioned grace of some themes."

Miss Macdonald singled out Irene Apine who danced "with such spirit and apparent ease on a broken foot."

The festival closes tonight after four matinee productions and five evening presentations.

Morrisburg Ponders Future Under St. Lawrence Scheme

MORRISBURG, Ont.—(CP)—The 1,800 residents of this river-front view with mixed feelings the impending St. Lawrence Seaway and power project.

It is a colossus whose shadow during the last few years has blighted the town's expansion and whose reality will flood out two-thirds of Morrisburg's most valuable property.

On the other hand, it will bring blessings to both Canada and the United States and open up the possibility of a new town, well planned, with an economic future far brighter than its past.

"Morrisburg as a community wants the seaway," Reeve George Beavers said in an interview. "But we can't help feeling that we are in the centre of everything connected with the project. We believe ourselves to be the sacrificial area."

The town, some 25 miles upriver from Cornwall, still isn't sure exactly how much of its property will be flooded. But it is worried about what compensation will be paid.

"As we see it, the benefits of this project will go to millions of people, both Canadian and American," said Reeve Beavers. "Surely some guarantee can be given that adequate compensation will be available to those who have to suffer so that progress can continue."

Most reliable information is that the town will lose its main shopping district and business section, many large old homes, five small industries and two public schools.

Williamsburg township, which contains Morrisburg, has two public schools, two churches and neighboring cemeteries in the Seaway's path. One of the churches serves the oldest congregation in Upper Canada, dating back to 1784.

Growth Hindered

During recent years, the prospect of Morrisburg's fate if the seaway went through has deterred normal expansion. Town officials say that if population growth had followed other centres, there would be about 3,?0 residents instead of the actual 1,878.

No new major industries have been established. Several industries inquired but apparently were frightened away by the possibility of being flooded out of existence.

The town thought of establishing district schools to serve rural areas as well as the town, but was advised by the Ontario government to delay the progressive step until the seaway picture became more clear.

The heart of the town's public utilities system, including the water pumping station, is in the area to be flooded. Williamsburg township fears it may have to change the drainage system in the southern part of the township if the St. Lawrence project goes through, raising the water level 38 feet.

But the town feels it has a bright future, if it survives its change of life. Officials hope to see it relocated and remodelled according to the most modern planning and oning methods.

Fred H. Broder former reeve and now chairman of the local seaway committee, is one of many looking to the future. His group would like to see Ottawa's federal district commission extended to embrace Morrisburg, to help maintain its natural beauty spots.

"Morrisburg is the natural port for Ottawa," Mr. Broder said. "It is the closest community on the St. Lawrence to the capital. It is also the closest port to areas as far back as North Bay. It could become a great port for the north."

Plant Many Trees To Boost Fishing

CALGARY—(CP)—Planting trees to conserve game fish is one of the projects of the Calgary Fish and Game Association.

The committee has planted 10,000 willow trees in the last three years around Lac Des Arcs near Exshaw, 60 miles west of Calgary, and they aim to plant more in the near future.

The idea is to prevent sand from drifting across the lake. It was through the efforts of the committee that the lake was opened for fishing.

The committee has also spent considerable time and effort in blasting a channel through to the lake to insure a constant supply of fresh water, thereby reducing the annual winter killing of fish through lack of oxygen.

U.N. Command Rejects Claim Of 'Massacre'

MUNSAN, Korea, May 10 (AP) —The United Nations command today rejected a Red accusation that the Allies plan a "massacre" of Red prisoners on Koje Island to rescue Brig.-Gen. Francis T. Dodd, a hostage of the prisoners.

In Tokyo, the supreme U.N. commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, angrily told a press conference the kidnapping "is a situation of the Communists' own creation. There is no telling to what extent they will build up this incident" and "it may very well affect the Korean truce talks."

In the Panmunjon truce session, North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, referred to two Red-inspired riots at Koje previously and declared "yet another massacre will be carried out against the bare-handed captured personnel of our side. This is not to be tolerated."

Joy Replies

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior U.N. command delegate, replied:

"The U.N. command has always attempted to exercise humane methods. Some of these captured personnel have taken advantage of these humane policies, has instigated riots and violence among themselves and now have seized the camp commander whom they are holding hostage. The U.N. command will take whatever measures are necessary to eliminate this intolerable situation and restore control over prisoner of war compounds."

Only one minute of the 12-minute session Saturday was devoted to actual peace talks, tightly deadlocked over the issue of prisoner repatriation. No progress was reported but another meeting was scheduled for Sunday at 11 a.m. (10 p.m. today EDT).

The prisoner issue is bogged down over the Allied stand that no prisoner be forcibly repatriated. Only 70,000 of 169,000 Red prisoners held by the Allies have expressed a desire to return to Communist territory. The Reds want all their prisoners returned whether they want to back or not.

Toronto Costs Rise By .4 Statistics Show

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP) — The cost of living in six of nine major cities declined between March 1 and April 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

The index at Toronto rose 0.4 points to 184.8 and at Vancouver advanced 0.1 points to 192.3. Halifax remained unchanged at 177.8.

Indices for Montreal, Vancouver, St. John's, Saint John, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton dropped

The index for St. John's, Nfld., is based on June, 1951, equalling 100 and the others on August, 1939, equalling 100.

Advance in the index at Toronto mainly reflected higher newspaper rates which outweighed slightly lower food prices. The increase in Vancouver was due to a firmer food index which was supported by a substantial advance in potatoes.

A slight increase in the food index at Halifax balanced decreases in clothing and home furnishings. Strength in the food series reflected regional firmness for eggs coupled with a substantial advance in potatoes.

For other centres continued weakness in foods, notably meats and eggs, was mainly responsible for the decline in the total indices. Clothing and home furnishings and services also were lower at most centres.

Montreal still has the highest index among Canadian cities, 193.8 compared with 195.4 at March 1. Vancouver is second with an index figure of 192.3 compared with 192.2 a month earlier.

Following are the figures for the other four cities at April 1 with March figures in brackets: St. John's, 103.8 (104.0); Saint John, 186.8 (187.0); Winnipeg 181.9 (182.0) Saskatoon, 183.7 (185.6); Edmonton 180.0 (181.2).

20 Canadians Enter Contest

By MURIEL NARRAWAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — (CP)—Nearly 3,000 applicants from 52 countries, including 20 from Canada, have entered their names in a world-wide sculpture competition organized in London.

With prize money totalling £11,500, payable in any currency, applications poured in at such a pace that the March closing date was extended to June 1.

The theme of the competition is "the unknown political prisoner," chosen to commemorate the "unknown men and women who in our time have given their lives or their liberty to the cause of human freedom." All forms of expression are acceptable—realistic, symbolic, expressionistic or abstract.

Original entries will be judged in, or close to, the country concerned.

No previous competition of this kind has been so international. Names have already been received from most parts of the world, including two from South Korea.

After local judgment, 80 selected maquettes—models of the intended sculpture—will be sent to London for exhibition in the Tate Gallery early in 1953. Each of these entries will bring the owners a prize of £25.

Rich Grand Prize

After that, eight "honorable mentions" receive £250 and a final four get £1,000 each. Time is then given to the four sculptors to execute their work in its final form. With amounts won down the line, the grand prize winner will wind up with a total of £4,525.

The winning sculpture becomes the property of the Institute of Contemporary Arts here, who organized the competion, and will be installed on "some site of world-wide importance."

Entrants will compete against such well-known figures as Britain's Henry Moore, France's Andre Bloc and the American, William Movey. The 20 Canadians so far entered are:

From Toronto—William Firth, William Greenwood, Robert Norgate, Sheila Wherry, Alan Jarvis, Jacobine Jones, Frances Loring, Donald Stewart;

From Montreal—Lewis Archambault, Julien Herbert, Adrian Vilandre, Anne Kahane, Alice Nolin;

And Lilias Farley, Whitehorse, Y.T.; Revor Glucksman and Robert Martin Hume, both of Vancouver; Francois Soucy, Quebec; Robert Roussil, Verdun, Que.; Albert Weir, McKellar, Ont.; E. Wyn Wood, Toronto.

Swede Praises Korean Courage

CALGARY—(CP)—Twenty-seven year-old Ingvar Jarnald was impressed by oriental stoicism in his six months in Korea as a volunteer hospital worker.

Jarnald, now a technician for an oil exploration company, told of one patient who had nearly every bone in her body broken but made no complaint.

The young technician and his 27-year-old wife, Ingrid, were in a party of 148 Swedes who volunteered to give medical assistance in Korea. The former Swedish Red Cross worker was an x-ray technician and his wife a bacteriologist.

He said he is glad to be in Canada but hopes to see much of the world.

"If more people could travel and get to know each other, peace would not be so far away," said Jarnald whose pretty blonde wife was the cover girl on the Oct. 9, 1950, issue of Life magazine.

"But," he added, "I don't think the Western world should try to force its way of life onto the east."

Jarnald commented that the Far East has a completely different concept of life from the west and for that reason it would be impossible to successfully teach orientals to live as westerners do.

Know your hospital - know your doctor Better
"I'll help you get well..."

"Yes, I play a part every day in helping folks get well at our hospital. Of course, I'm not a doctor — I'm Jim of the maintenance department.

"Most people think that doctors and nurses are the only ones that enter into the care of our patients — and they are the most important. But I'm one of a lot of people around our hospital who help the doctors and nurses by providing comfort and service from behind the scenes. There are chefs, X-ray and laboratory technicians, laundry workers, stationary engineers, medical records people, office workers, nurses aides, orderlies and many others. Patients seldom see any of us but we are all part of the hospital team.

"On an average, there are three of us employees on hospital payrolls for every two patients. Today, we work only eight hours a day the same as our friends in industry, which means that, in providing the necessary round-the-clock patient service at today's higher wages, hospitals are under greater expense than ever before."

Our public hospitals are guardians of the people's health, serving communities night and day — year in and year out.

Sending The Prisoners Back

Apparently the Korean truce is blocked by the U.N. position that it will not force 62,000 Red prisoners to go back to North Korea and China who do not want to be sent back. All told, the U.N. Allies hold 132,000 Red prisoners. Some 70,000 are willing to be repatriated if there is a truce, but the rest, it is said, would prefer death or continued imprisonment to being returned to the Communist fold. Mr. Anthony Eden, speaking for Britain; Mr. William C. Foster, American deputy secretary for defence speaking for the United States, and Mr. L. B. Pearson, speaking for Canada, say that a Korean truce must not be bought at the sacrifice of these 62,000.

* * *

According to the Geneva Convention (an international agreement to improve the conditions of wounded soldiers and prisoners of war) the prisoners must not be suborned into their captors' service, and should be returned to their home lands after the war has ended. But the Convention does not provide for those who refuse to be repatriated. To send the 62,000 unwilling prisoners back into the Communist camp would be inhuman. As repatriations of prisoners in Anglo-American-French hands (of Czechs, Poles, Bulgarians, Russians and others) showed after the last war, those sent back against their wishes were put into labour camps, prisons or to death in the homelands. To conclude an armistice on terms which send 62,000 North Koreans and Chinese into chains or to face firing squads, would violate a higher code than the Geneva Convention.

* * *

The Chinese, North Koreans and Russians seem to have only the word of their enemies in Korea that 62,000 of their troops do not want to return. More proof than that would be needed to convince the Red rulers that this is a true situation. Could not some thoroughly impartial survey be made by countries not directly involved, to prove to the Reds that the United States and its co-belligerents in Korea are not cooking their figures and extorting false professions of democratic faith from true-blue Communist prisoners. Let an investigating committee of Indians, Finns and Czechs prove the facts. Then the Red world would know that the U.N. nations in Korea are not deliberately blocking the truce. The fact is that the United States and allied nations have made as many concessions as they dare and as their humanity permits.

Even Russia Co-operates

Next Wednesday in Brussels an international conference is being convened. There is nothing new about international conferences or their being held in Brussels, but the remarkable thing is that this conference—of which little public notice will be taken although its deliberations affect the daily lives of ordinary people everywhere in the world—this international conference really works. Representatives from almost every nation on earth attend, they get down to business, reach agreements and go home, a good job done. The conference is the thirteenth Congress of the Universal Postal Union, which has been in continuous existence since 1874.

Before 1874 the sending of mail from one country to another, especially through a third or several other countries, was complicated, slow, uncertain, costs were almost unpredictable and usually large. Before 1874, if one wished to send a letter from Canada to Switzerland and [illegible] France, when the French would exact whatever carrying charges they could, and to Switzerland, where again the Swiss would require payment for transit and delivery. At each frontier the article or letter would be held up for examination, pricing and taxing. Countries negotiated their own agreements with other countries in the hope of easing the difficulties of communication and delivery, but these were cumbersome.

Heinrich von Stepan, first Director of Posts of the North German Federation and Postmaster General Blair of the United States were the originators and organizers of the first Congress at Berne, at which the Universal Postal Union was formed to make the world "one single postal territory for the reciprocal exchange of correspondence." Order came out of the previous chaos by adopting the simple principle that the first thing to be aimed at was not piles of tariff receipts but ready and quick communication, which was of more benefit, economically and culturally to a country, than postal profits.

Thus, the practice was established of each country keeping the postal money it charged, and the country of destination keeping the revenue from the letter of reply. It was presumed that most letters got replies and that in the long run, there would thus be a rough balancing of accounts. Paying for transit through intermediary countries was solved by the payment of annual lump sums by the despatching country. The lump payment is reassessed every three years according to rates set by the Union and on the basis of statistical data.

Canada joined the Postal Union at the second Congress held in Paris in 1874, and has been an active member since. The Canadian delegation to Brussels is headed by the Deputy Postmaster-General, W. J. Turnbull. Canada is in a special position geographically and politically, so not all her international postal agreements are within the framework of the Union.

Since 1872 Canada has had postal conventions with the United States, necessary because of the close business and social relations between the two countries. It is by reason of these conventions that the domestic postage between Canada and the States is at the same rate. As a member of the British Commonwealth, Canada has special arrangements with Britain and the other Dominions, and letters pass from Canada to any place in the Commonwealth at the same rate as if addressed to a point within Canada. Since 1931 Canada has also belonged to the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain, established in 1921, which maintains an office in Montevideo serving a similar purpose as the permanent office in Berne of the Universal Postal Union. The Postal Union of the Americas, which is within the framework of the Universal Union, provides that mail of all North and South American nations and Spain be transported across their territories free of any charge.

Canada has an independent parcel-post relationship with other countries of the world. The reason for this is that Canada is a transit country, from Atlantic to Pacific. It would impose an unfair expense on this country if she agreed to carry parcel post of all countries free across her 3,000 miles.

The Universal Postal Union is little affected by wars, rumours of wars, cold wars, and East-West fissures. It is a truly successful international agency, and successful because, first, it is not political, and secondly, its work is demonstrably necessary to the welfare and pleasure of nations. When U.N. can be proved equally essential, it too will become successful. Russia is sending delegates to Brussels next Wednesday, the movement of mail between "East and West" continues normally, and there is no doubt that all the customary international requirements are being met by Russia and other countries inside the Iron Curtain.

Ten Thousand Trilliums

Wordsworth wandering lonely as a cloud, suddenly came upon

"A host of golden daffodils;
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze . . .
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance."

He could not but be gay "in such jocund company." So could no person fail in delight to see now in this district's woods, hosts of trilliums, thousands of them gleaming white among their green leafery, lifting their heads above the bracken of winter. There seems to be an unusually profuse growth this year, a really memorable display, to

"flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude."

as did Wordsworth's daffodils, when he was lying on his couch in a vacant or pensive mood. So can these lovely hosts of trilliums come into the mind's eye in after months, to fill the heart with pleasure.

It is a temptation to pick them, and why not? Our wild flowers are ravaged by careless adults as well as children, who rip them up stem [illegible] them from places. But if there are [illegible] roots of these perennials, and not taking every red one to be seen. In most woods the red trilliums are scarce.

Gatherers of wildflowers are pests when they pick ruthlessly, allow the blooms to wilt before they get home, or strew them along the roadside, forgetful of them. They are pleasant people when they solicitously pick a few for refreshing the table, to delight a patient in a sick bed, or to give to a person too old in years to wander himself in the woods and enjoy the flowers in their natural habitat.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A Torontonian complains that used tea-bags are often hurled from office windows, which is as quaint a way of calling attention to Toronto's strongly British sympathies as any we have heard.

A psychologists says that the best way to hold a job is to develop a pleasing personaltiy. Though we know several people without a crumb of personality who have held jobs for years simply by doing them well.

BIBLIOMANIA

People Of A Paris Tourists By-Pass

THE BOTTLE ORGAN, by Rene Masson (Ambassador Books).

RENE MASSON, is a post-war French novelist. His first novel in English translation "Sicily Street" had success in England because of its power but not for its pleasantness. This second Masson novel to be Englished is also strong stuff. It has been translated like the first by Constantine FitzGibbon, with faithfulness to the style, as well as to the word, I imagine from its readability. I have not seen 'L'Orgue a Bouteilles' in French. Colloquial French is translated into colloquial English, reminding a Canadian reader of London rather than Paris.

A bottle organ is a kind of zylophone made of suspended bottles. Eight of them are filled to varying degrees with liquid so as to give off when struck, the eight notes of the diatonic scale. The chapter headings continue the suggestions of the book's name—Do, Re, Mi etc. This titling is justified by the principal people in the story. They are all connected with Tin Pan Alley of Paris.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANYONE WHO LOVES PARIS beyond her tourist edifices and haunts will find this novel absorbing, and, if he is well acquainted with that city, it will recall scenes, people, accents and smells. Hardly once does it enter one of the grand boulevards.

It is the story of people centred around a Tin Pan Alley bistro called the Batifol, and the mediocre establishment of a hack publisher of popular songs and agent for vaudeville entertainers, Petale, a pansy of a man.

It is the story of the Poseur family, who live by the rue des Vinaigriers, and of the related Letoffe family, also on the ragged edges of Tin Pan Alley. It is the story of Antoinette Poseur's young love for Jojo, hack singer, aged 30, was has an 'American chin'.

"This was the tragedy of them all, of all these young people who might come to Petale's: they had no youth. They might be young in years, but they were old in heart. Even the ones who had never yet had a job singing in the interval of a suburban cinema or disturbing the concentration of the domino players in some provincial cafe; even they had been deflowered in their struggle for life. Theirs was the daily agony with its inescapable truths: man must earn his bread by the sweat of his armpits; man cannot live by air alone.

"Maybe their spiritual buttocks had grown so tender that the slightest kick of adversity left a wound: in compensation all their other sensibilities had become hardened, calloused. Jojo sang on, bereft of illusions".

(Jojo was having an audition at Petale's with a big, old successful woman who operated music halls). "At least he should have been able to express the enormous sentimental anguish which he felt so cruelly, there beside the piano with its candle-holders full of cigarette butts, freshly shaved, his eyes rivetted on the mink-coated statue of success; but he could hear his own voice and he knew that he expressed nothing save indifference."

◇ ◇ ◇

THE WRITER BELONGS to the reportorial school of nose-picking realism. He has read his Joyce, but his stream-of-conciousness is not deep.

The Paris life he deals with is disheartening. For none of the Alley characters is there any real hope of rising above squalor, thin rations and poverty, except through day-dreams. The novel rings so strongly of intimate truth, that one might wonder how or why the author himself can reach the considerable fame (and material rewards) which these two novels must bring him. The fact is, of course, that M. Masson does not belong to Tin Pan Alley nor to its literary counterpart. He is an artist, not a hack or a person in whom the artistic impulse has been snuffed out.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE STORY HE TELLS has this underlying truth which a North American can see, which the author does not say. In France today, as in England today, there is no longer the economic room for frittering parasites. For a century England and France were fat enough to provide at least a living for tens of thousands of mediocre people catering to the amusements: minor painters, minor writers, minor singers; all basically unproductive. Now, like the middle classes themselves, they are being forced to earn their bread by the sweat of their armpits. Most of the characters in this book, like Antoinette and Jojo, should go to work in a factory or on a farm. France and England can no longer afford to carry them. Of course, if they had gone to a factory or a farm, the story of physical and artistic squalor and minor tragedy could not have been written.

THE OFFSHORE LIGHT, by Pamela Frankau, (Heinemann—British Book Service)

THIS IS ONE OF THOSE very rare stories [illegible] written, not out as a psychological study of a diplomat who has found [illegible] duties beyond the limits of his emotional capacity and seeks escape in a world of phantoms.

The book commences with the arrival of Brooke Alder, a famous American statesman and multi-millionaire at the home of one of his old college friends in the South of France. He is almost self-invited and asks for a week-end of their hospitality, but in the meantime the United States ambassador in Paris has informed the host, Howard Rey, that he fears Alder is on the verge of a nervous breakdown and if possible he would like an American psychologist living near the Reys to have a chance to observe him.

To all outward appearances Alder is in perfect health; he seems engrossed in some reports he is writing and a timid English typist is called in to help him with these. The reports, however, turn out to be something very different indeed and when the hostess, who has come to dislike her guest very much, delves into these and is discovered, she then finds that she has precipitated them all into a maelstrom of evil.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE REACTION of the different types to the character of Brooke Alder is extremely cleverly done. His effect on the typist, who in her own small way also seeks escape, and on his hostess, who is perfectly capable of dealing with life as it comes and enjoys doing so, is a key to the mentality of Alder. Some stages of the book bring to mind that very much loved American Ambassador to England who endured the whole war there only to take his own life in exhaustion afterwards.

Pamela Frankau has contributed to the women's magazines in England for many years, so that a book as mature and philosophical as this comes as a very pleasant surprise.

CONSERVATION IN CANADA, by O. M. McConkey (J. M. Dent & Sons)

WE ARE PLEASED TO NOTE here this statistical and comprehensive synthesis of conservation measures in Canada, by Dr. O. M. McConkey, professor of field husbandry at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. The subject is agitating many persons today and it is good to have an authoritative, though sketchy, summary of what is being done, and what needs to be done. It is a kind of introductory manual on conservation in Canada.

The two hundred page book results partly from studies Dr. McConkey made when serving professionally with U.N. organizations. For instance, after the war he spent [illegible] in. The world is strewn with tragedies which are the results of man's short-sighted exploitation . . . Fortunately, man has now much of the practical knowledge gained from experience and science to enable him to increase many of the renewable resources . . . Much of the damage to the soil, forest and water resources of the world can be rectified".

◇ ◇ ◇

THE CHAPTERS are brief, and cover a great range: climate, wind erosion, flood control, pollution, farm ponds, strip cropping, marshland, wild life, etc. The finest and most thorough account of the whole situation in Ontario is contained in the notable Report of the Select Committee of the Ontario Legislature, (the "Thomas" Report) published nearly two years ago. Dr. McConkey spreads his net wider, over the whole of Canada. While less detailed and impressive, his survey is a skilled compression and a topical guide.

The [illegible] book is illustrated.

Hostelling Across Canada

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

UNLESS a pun is intended, it is accurate to say that Canada is not a nation of hostellers. Many readers may, in fact, be mildly astonished to learn from a letter appearing on this page of the existence of a Canadian Youth Hostel Association and of the operation of hostels in many parts of this country.

Yet the youth hostel movement in Canada is almost as old as that in Britain. In 1934, only four years after the establishment of youth hostels in England and Wales, two Alberta school teachers, Mary and Catherine Barclay, organized the first Canadian youth hostel group at Calgary. By 1938, a chain of 10 hostels, stretching across the foothills to Banff, was available to hikers and cyclists, and hostellers in Quebec, Ontario, British Columbia and the Maritimes were joined with the Alberta group in a national organization. At the present time, the Canadian Youth Hostel Association maintains hostels in five regions—the Maritimes, St. Lawrence, Great Lakes, Mountain and Pacific coast. A national council with offices in Toronto coordinates the association's activities and publishes quarterly a handbook, "The Haversack." A C.Y.H.A. membership card entitles the holder to use hostels in 23 other countries of Europe, Africa, North America and Asia.

But hostelling has never taken hold in this country as it has in Europe. Because theirs is a vast country, Canadians tend to think of distance in terms of the speed of cars, trains and airplanes. The idea of spending a holiday on a bicycle or afoot would not occur to many Canadians and if it did, probably would appal them. Yet those who have been introduced to hostelling seem to have enormous enthusiasm for it. Being inexpensive and wholesome, both physically and mentally, providing pleasant companionship, and allowing for a leisurely enjoyment of new places and scenes, hostelling seems to have all the requisites of a happy holiday. And the Gatineau country would seem to be an ideal area in which to establish a chain of hostels.

Unpublished Opera by Haydn Is Found

(UNESCO)

The complete score of an unpublished opera by Haydn is reported to have been found in the Hungarian castle of the Esterhazy family, where the composer was chapel master for 40 years. A comic opera in two acts called "Disappointed Infidelity," it appears to have been performed only once, in honour of the Empress Maria Theresa.

Polygraphic Encyclopaedia

(UNESCO)

Latest addition to the Polygraphic Encyclopaedia—which is being published, volume by volume, in Rome over a number of years—is a monograph on methods for preserving and restoring books. When complete, the encyclopaedia will be in 13 sections (each of several volumes) dealing with historical, technical, artistic and commercial aspects of printing and books and graphic arts of all kinds.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

When Mordecai perceived all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sack cloth with ashes, and went out into the midst of the city, and cried with a loud and a bitter cry. . . . Then called Esther for Hatach, one of the king's chamberlains, whom he had appointed to attend upon her; and gave him a commandment to Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was. . . . And Mordecai told him of all that had happened unto him, and of the sum of money that Haman had promised to pay to the king's treasuries for the Jews, to destroy them. Also he gave him the copy of the writing of the decree that was given at Shushan to destroy them, to shew it unto Esther, and to declare it unto her, and to charge her that she should go in unto the king, to make supplication unto him, and to make request before him for her people. . . .

Again Esther spake unto Hatach, and gave him commandment unto Mordecai; all the king's servants, and the people of the king's provinces, do know, that whosoever, whether man or woman, shall come unto the king into the inner court, who is not called, there is one law of his to put him to death, except such to whom the king shall hold out the golden sceptre, that he may live; but I have not been called to come in unto the king these thirty days. . . . Then Mordecai commanded to answer Esther, Think not with thyself that thou shalt escape in the king's house, more than all the Jews. For if thou altogether holdest thy peace at this time, then shall there enlargement and deliverance arise to the Jews from another place; but thou and thy father's house shall be destroyed: and who knoweth whether thou art to come to the kingdom for such a time as this?

Then Esther bade him return Mordecai this answer, Go, gather together all the Jews that are present at Shushan, and fast ye for me, and neither eat nor drink three days, spare even night or day: I also and [illegible] maidens will fast likewise; and so will I [illegible] unto the king, which is not according to [illegible] law: and if I perish, I perish. (Esth. 4: 1, 5 [illegible] 8, 10, 11, 13-16.)

The little man scratched his head. "I don't know. When I joined the queue outside I though it was for cigarettes!"

The $64 Question

(Montreal Star)

A fair illustration of the value of the timely question is furnished by the matter of the Defence Department's serving forks.

Some time ago, Mr. Macdonnell's eye was caught by an item in the estimates concerning the purchase of 63,000 of these kitchen utensils. The number seemed large to him. Why were so many needed?

It turns out that they weren't. The order has been reduced to 14,500. The forks are not expensive, costing but 49 cents apiece [illegible] saving has been made [illegible] out little savings are no less worthwhile because the budget is big. It pays to ask questions.

Recent weather has been so fine that the government lads who are running the annual spring 'lunge rodeo had to work day and night to take the hatchery spawn. It came and ended with a rush and well over four million eggs were taken. The nets are now wound on the drying racks to end another successful season.

Slim and I missed the usual show at the traps but went down to Deer Lake Hatchery on Wednesday to watch artificial incubation. We timed our arrival nicely, in fact, half an hour after the first eggs had hatched. From the beaker racks of eggs in various stages of life to enamel hand basins filled with thousands of hair-like fry the whole operation was really something to see. A detailed account of Slim's impressions appear today on our second front section.

Hatchery manager Henry Jackson was delighted with the large spawn this season and promised to produce a minimum of 4,000,000 fry for release into the Kawarthas. That adds up to a lot of future fun for fishermen and already you can faintly hear the clink of tourist dollars in district cash registers.

Skeptics say this artificial propogation is a waste of money. If they would open their eyes to the fast-dropping water levels that are now destroying natural hatches by the billion-egg lots, they would change their tune in a hurry. If no attempt were made to save and hatch 'lunge eggs artificially our finest tourist attraction, and money-maker, would have gone the way of all herring, years ago.

Graftonites are lamenting the amount of publicity their famous Rainbow Trout streams are getting in the Shelter Valley area. I predicted last weekend that furriners would arrive that way to fish shoulder-to-shoulder. It was much worse than that, according to our reporter. They arrived last Friday night and pitched tents for the weekend. It was no use casting, so the story went, for each flip hauled up half a dozen poles. Getting so a chap cannot report favorably about any place within a 100 miles of Peterborough without hordes of fishermen moving in for the kill. I mean kill . .

The caterpillar curse has started in the Kawarthas. Experts have warned us as early as mid-winter that this year is going to be a humdinger. Judging by the festoons of webs on roadside small wild fruit trees we can expect the worst. A lumberman friend told me on his travels throughout the County that nests appeared to be most prevalent along highway and byway ditches. He thought spraying at this time—providing a mixture that did not kill the underbrush was used—might be the answer to considerable control.

Principal Bertha Long of Curve Lake Indian Reservation School is certainly doing her part. In a three-day contest to see how many nests pupils could bring to the school to be destroyed, the total reached the staggering figure of 1,900. This is the best application of practical conservation I've noted for many a moon by any group.

Rucksackless Camping Straps

Porcupines are getting in their spring salt licks, or chewing, fishing-Fireman Henry Nokes tells me. Last weekend on a successful lake speckle fishing trip in Haliburton County he left a new Norwegian rucksack under his canoe all night. When he went to slip into the straps in the morning there weren't any. The porkies had gnawed them off as clean as a whistle. Looks like weary fishermen in those parts will have to ride herd all night over their gear with a club.

Other mounds comparable in size and general layout are located in such far-off places as Scotland and in the Ohio Valley. If you are interested in history older than pre-paleface days, keep your eyes skinned for more news on these interesting works, come July-August.

Lake speckle fishermen had a right good time of it down in the Land O' Lakes country, especially Weslamakoon and Green Lakes, on opening day. East Lake Fronters from Belleville and Trenton make this area their stamping grounds. To the early birds went the largest and most fish. Two conservation officers, while keeping their eyes on the general fishing scene, took some nice Lake Trout, it was reported; they shaffled them from the shallow sand bars.

Biggest party of lake trout fishermen will try their skills in Sucker Lake, north end of Peterborough County, on May 16, one day after opening date in these parts. They are the 16 members of the Catchacome Hunt Club. Will tales be forthcoming Vince Eastwood?

Dogs and gardens in most free-wheeling communities just don't mix. After hours spent digging and seeding to turn around and find somebody's "Sport" rolling in the dirt with abandon is enough to make most home owners give up the thing altogether. The pestilence goes on in perennial flower beds, too, when some pooch follows behind as you spread bone meal and eats the stuff with gusto. An electric fence with a steel plate to stand on might be just the thing to discourage the general stopping place by our rose bushes.

PETERBOROUGH TRULY A CITY OF MANY TREES

City Has $6,800 Yearly Tree Budget, Laws Against Planting Poplar, Willow

By DON SWAIN

Visitors seeing Peterborough for the first time, often comment on the attractiveness of the city's many tree-lined streets and wooded parks.

Seen from Armour Hill in autumn, the city is a carnival of color, as thousands of maples, elms, birch and other varieties take on their bright fall colors.

In spring, just as the trees are beginning to leaf out is perhaps the best time to look over the city from Armour Hill and observe what a large part of the city appears to be blanketed with trees.

Most people appreciate trees for their beauty. They consider their appearance and the cooling shade they provide in summer are an asset to the community. However, a few regardo trees as nothing more than a nuisance.

Complaints Against Trees

For years now, one man has been urging the parks department to remove a row of trees surrounding his property. Why? Because he is tired of raking up leaves every fall Being told that he probably rakes as many leaves from his neighbors' trees as his own, has failed to satisfy him and he complains periodically that they should be cut down.

Utilities Manager Ross Dobbin admits that trees often give the commission trouble when their branches get mixed up in overhead wires, but he says he would not go along with the idea of some of his men who claim "the only way to trim a tree is to cut it down."

City Council recognizes the value of trees and has protected trees on city property ever since 1915, when a by-law was passed "for the protection, removal and planting of trees in the city."

500 A Year

For many years, Council had a tendency to trim the tree budget to a minimum. Recently, however, councils have been more tree conscious, and Parks Superintendent Armar Butcher has a budget of $6,800 this year to trim, plant and care for trees, and the Utilities Commission spends an average of $1,000 annually in trimming and removing trees.

Each year, the Parks Department plants about 500 trees, principally maples. A few birch are planted annually, to give variety, and some pines and spruce are also planted in park areas.

There is a good reason why more maples are planted than any other kind of tree. Their roots do not plug up sewers as much as other varieties.

Seven Trees Prohibited

The by-law dealing with trees prohibits the planting of silver maples, poplar, Balm of Gilead, cotton trees, willows, catalpa and mountain ash.

Trees along streets and on the boulevards cannot be planted more than 25 feet apart and all trees on city property are under the supervision of the Parks Department. No trees on city property can be planted, removed, or injured in any way without council approval. Although there are few prosecutions for violating the by-law, it provides that any one convicted of an infraction of the by-law which includes, tieing a horse to a tree, is liable to a penalty of $50 fine and court costs or a jail sentence of not more than six months in default of payment.

Although there are many thousands of trees throughout the city's streets and in the various parks, ceremonial tree planting does not appear to have been a very popular way of marking important events.

Last fall, just prior to the opening of the new city hall, Mayor Max Swanston and members of the city council formally turned the sods for the planting of maple saplings around the new city buildings, but there are few recorded references to trees with a background of historical significance.

Famous Big Trees

Perhaps one of the most unusual legends concerning a tree is that of the origin of a stately elm that towered nearly a hundred feet in the air on a lot presently occupied by Loblaw's groceteria. According to relatives still living in the city, Mrs. Lily McKee, daughter of blacksmith John English planted the tree from a seed taken from the crop of a pigeon. The tree thrived from the time it was planted nearly a century ago now; and was a familiar landmark until it was removed in the mid thirties.

Another tree which had a legend surrounding it was cut down in November, 1949. The giant elm, said to be more than 100 feet tall may have been planted on Robinson St., to commemorate Confederation in 1867.

"Oldest Tree"

The stump of the old tree which Bob Graham, 115 Robinson St., maintains was "the oldest tree in Ashburnham," is nearly four feet across at the base. There are 72 rings on a block of the tree which is now doing service as a butcher's block in Montgomery Bros. store, across from where it was cut down. The tree was removed in the fall of 1949 hen a nearby homeowner began to fear the aging elm would crash to earth, bringing his house with it.

According to some old timers, the tree was used as a bench marker for the surveying of Ashburnham. Although the tree was not old enough to have been used for the original survey, it is possible that the legend grew from its being used at a later date, in spite of the opinion of one land surveyor in the city who discredits the story entirely.

Keeping the thousands of trees in the city trimmed and well looked after is an in-between-seasons job for men of the parks department. After the parks are closed, and before the rinks start in the winter, tree crews swing into action. Again in the spring, after the rinks re closed for the season and before parks can be raked and cleaned up, the men get a chance to remove dead wood, sagging branches and dangerous trees that show signs of being rotten in the trunk or limbs and liable to fall down.

The department trims about 2,000 each year and removes about 150. In so far as possible, a new tree is planted when an old one is removed. Because of their all-round advantages of shade, appearance, and lack of difficulty with roots getting into sewers, its an odds on chance that a sapling replacing an old tree that has been removed will be a sugar maple.

Sugar Maple Favored

Of the $6,800 tree budget, about $1,000 is spent each year on replanting. The city buys most of the sugar maples and birch which are planted each year from the farm of Arthur Botts near Apsley.

Then years ago, council was only appropriating about $400 for trees. As a result, there were not enough funds to take proper care of them and even with the greatly increased amount earmarked for trees now, it will still take four or five years to overcome the backlog of neglect before all trees in the city will be in first class shape according to parks superintendent Armar Butucher.

The increased amount of money being spent on trees, is an indication that city dwellers are becomng more "tree conscious". As they watch the forest disappear in the surrounding country, urban residents particularly of Peterborough, have become increasingly aware of the importance of taking care of trees already growing in the city and also of making sure that new trees are planted annually to cast their shade over future generations.

How To Control Rose Aphids; Hints For Spring Borders

By HENRY PREE, (NEA)

Gardening would be much more fun if we did not have to combat those tiny sucking insects called aphids. In many gardens they are pest number one and once they put a good curl in the leaves or get down into the heads of flowers they are hard to control.

They are particularly fond of roses, deforming both new flower buds and leaf growth. The life history of aphids is so complicated that even the experts are stumped [illegible] to [illegible] ing is importa[illegible] only to kill [illegible] more bu[illegible] to avoid killing their natural enemies such as ladybird beetles and aphid lions. There is no set time to spray for aphids. Just watch for them and spray when you see them.

Aphid control is not difficult if you do not let them get ahead of you. The old reliable Black Leaf 40 spray is always effective. However, the recently introduced lindane is said to give better results. Bear in mind that the insects must be hit with the chemical to kill them.

Many dahlia fanciers believe that the better dahlias are grown from cuttings—an easy method to try. The tubers are planted in flats of sandy soil and barely covered. When the new shoots have grown a few inches above the ground cut off a few of them just below a joint.

Place these cuttings in a mixture of sand and peat moss or vermiculite. Keep the rooting mixture moist. Shade the cuttings at first but when they start to grow give them all the sunlight possible.

Spring planting of border perennials in heavy clay soils is preferred over autumn planting as the plants avoid the hazard of rotting in wet soil and heaving due al alternate freezing and thawing during the winter.

The old gardener suggests consideration of the following and [illegible] wh[illegible] effective spr[illegible] urges planting in a well-drained, deeply dug, enriched soil.

HEMEROCALLIS (day lily). The day lily is a fine addition to any garden. It is remarkable not only for the length and color range of its bloom, but for its resistance to cold and drought.

SHASTA DAISY Marconi. This is the largest of the double Shasta daisies. The pure white, four-inch flowers have fringed petals. It is near the top of the list for long bloom. Bushy, sometimes it grows more than three feet high.

ASTER FRIKARTI. Just a mention here, because this lavender-blue flower aster is far from a stranger. But not to include it would be a serious omission.

CAMPANULA Poscharaskyana. Bell Flower. Long blooming and easy to grow, this perennial appears on almost every preferred list. From spreading mats of heart-shaped foliage, it sends out sprays of starry blue flowers during summer and fall. Cut it back after first bloom.

CERATOSTIGMA plumbaginoides, Plumbago Larpentiae. This eight to 10-inch perennial has deep blue flowers in late summer and fall. The bronzy green leaves turn rich red in fall. Excellent edger, ground cover, in sun or light shade.

Tattered Tigers Lose Longest A.L. Ball Game

DETROIT, May 10 (AP)—The tattered Tigers from Detroit may own a new record in frustration today.

The cellar-dwelling Bengals have played eight hours and 10 minutes in the last two games — mighty long hours for baseball players.

But what's worse, the Tigers don't have a victory to show for all that labor.

That eight hours and 10 minutes could be a record for two successive games by one team. There's nothing in the record book to cover that category but there aren't many games like 'em.

The Tigers came within 21 minutes Friday of the longest game ever played in the American League. They lost to Chicago White Sox 8-5 in a 16-inning game that covered four hours and 27 minutes.

The day before they battled for three hours and 43 minutes in Washington. The game ended in a 4-4 tie and will have to be played over from the start.

Friday's defeat was the fifth straight, not counting the tie game, for the Tigers—the only club that's never finished in last place.

Some sources report tension is building up in the front offices at Briggs Stadium over the Tigers' cellar occupancy. The same newspaper sources say some changes may be made if the losing ways continue.

'Way Back

The Tigers have played only 19 games that count in the standings and are already four behind the seventh place Philadelphia Athletics. And Manager Red Rolfe's lads are 9½ games behind the leading Cleveland Indians.

Only 2,857 fans — one of the smaller crowds in Briggs Stadium history—showed up in 59-degree weather to watch the White Sox pound loser Hal White and six other pitchers for 19 hits and the Tigers shell winner Harry Dorish and three other fellows for 18 hits.

In all, 34 players had been used and the lights had been turned on when Minnie Minoso tripled with two out in the 16th inning to score Dorish from second and Nellie Fox from first. Eddie Robinson followed with a single to score Minoso.

Shortstop Johnny Lipon was the goat. He bobbled Dorish's grounder and all the 16th inning runs went into the book as unearned.

N.Y. Commission Calls IBC Licence Hearing

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission Friday called a hearing to determine if the International Boxing Club should lose its licence for acts detrimental to the best interests of boxing.

Originally slated for May 16, the hearing was set back 45 days to late June on the I.B.C.'s plea for an indefinite postponement. The multi-branched I.B.C. already is involved in three anti-trust suits pending in district courts.

Chairman Bob Christenberry said in a letter to the I.B.C. that the hearing would consider charges that the I.B.C. dominates and controls champions and leading boxers, important New York arena, radio and television rights and has alliances with other promoters contrary to the best interests of boxing.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Three softball leagues will make regular use of the Ashburnham Bowl and its floodlights this summer. The Girls' League is back again but with just two nights, Monday and Wednesdays, for their twin bills. Men's circuit goes once more on Tuesdays and Thursdays in double-headers. Newcomers are teams of the Civic League on Friday and Saturday evenings in two games a night, twilight and floodlight. The girls pay five bucks a night for use of the lights, while the two male loops must pay $10 a night for the arcs, payment to be made weekly to the city treasurer. Girls have a P.W.S.U. affiliation while the men's City League is tied in with the O.A.S.A. Civic is an independent setup.

Gord Snape informed us again that he is withdrawing his junior baseball entry in the Lakeshore League. Because several of his players are trying out with the senior Petes. The senior executive has gone on record as being against taking eligible juniors up at the expense of the junior club, but Gord refuses to reconsider his stand. He maintains it is the principle involved—a system which encourages young players to seek a club which might pay more money. Feels these juniors let him and the club down by going after senior berths. He definitely will not carry-on and, unless someone else acts quickly to take over the team, we won't have any junior ball this summer. But we're still hopeful.

Why Do They Come Up?

London scribes bemoans the fact that there is no limit now on U.S. imports in the Intercounty League. Says: "With most teams in minor pro baseball across the line scrambling for players, we find it difficult to understand why so many of the Yanks come up here to play. We cannot understand how these fellows, if they are good, can get releases in the U.S. to play in the Intercounty." The inference is that there are plenty of homebrews as good as most of these American imports, and the latter cost a lot of money. More, likely, than they can make at home. Gil McDougald of the Yanks played Class "C" ball five years ago for $1,000 a season, and later got but $1,700 in Class "B"!

* * * * * *

We've had some good imports in ball, hockey, lacrosse and football here, but we've had a lot of lemons, too. And we've had some great athletes born and raised in Peterborough, chaps better than any import you could bring in. Oshawa Merchants, who go all out for U.S. ballplayers, try out some three dozen each year in order to settle for 10 or 12. Yet our club, comparatively free of imports, beat them regularly last year, though we lost to 'em in playoffs. Yes, some imports in sports are okay, but they should be scrutinized carefully and not overpaid, nor should capable home performers be overlooked. Faraway pastures always look greener.

Apply For Refs' Jobs

Applicants for jobs as senior O.L.A. referees this year are: Marlowe Woods, Jack Shropshire, Pat Depippo, Billy Fitzgerald, Jack Williams, George Cleverley, Rusty White, Bill Curran, Lou Vipond, Joe Murphy, Mickey McDonald, Roy Morton and Sandy Milne. Most of 'em former star gutted-stick performers. But where's Piper Bain? We well recall when Depippo came here for senior "B" under the name of Mitchell. Over a season, Murphy and Vipond usually prove most popular with local lacrosse fans, though few refs can maintain much popularity in this rugged sport. However, they're well paid and there's no scarcity of applicants for the work.

There's some talk lately of Fred Dufton retiring from the grid scene in Cobourg, home of the Galloping Ghosts of O.R.F.U. intermediate fame. That would be bad news, indeed, for Cobourg—and for other clubs in the football group comes autumn. The Ghosts always come up with a strong squad and Fred is the prime mover behind the scenes as manager of the club. Hamilton would like in this year along with Peterborough, Cobourg, Oshawa and possibly Orillia, though the latter are doubtful starters at present. Why mention football so early? Well, the group meeting is the first week of June when the $200 bond must be posted and clubs have to declare themselves.

Hastings Team Given Jackets

HASTINGS, May 10—(ENS)—The Hastings hockey team were the guests of honor at a banquet held in the Royal Hotel. J. S. Stevenson was master of ceremonies.

Reeve C. S. Howse was called on and congratulated the boys on their splendid hockey. M. A. O'Shea, for the rink board, H. G. Fairman, manager of the minor hockey league, told some amusing incidents of the boys when they first started out. F. S. Crate spoke a few words for the rink board executive and J. Lynch for the council.

Mr. Elmer Richardson introduced Jack Baker, of Madoc, the guest speaker. Mr. Baker spoke on "History of the T.V.L.," which was formed in 1906 and was comprised of Madoc, Marmora, Tweed, Campbellford, Norwood, Havelock and Hastings. He gave great praise to Sheeney Stevenson as one of the great originals and spoke of his interest in our local boys.

Bill Shannon, of Marmora, was the first president and games were played from Wellington to Lakefield, a distance of 150 miles.

Walter Peck, manager, thanked the boys for their support. Mr. Stevenson then asked manager Peck and coach Joe Jones to present the jackets to the team.

The team is as follows: Rocky Batley, Red Hill, John Peterson, Ross Nichols, Don Parsons, Allen Taylor, Paul Stevenson, Jim Morrow, Ken Oliver, Bill Huard, Will Blake, Ted White, Jerry Jeffs, Chesty Herrington, Vern Calby, Ron Isaacs and stick boy George Bond.

Hill Gail, the Kentucky Derby winner who many experts thought ... greater heights in ... trainer Ben Jones of Calumet Farm announced yesterday at Louisville, Ky., that Hill Gail has a superficial growth on the left front ankle. It will have to be burned out with an electric needle.

Jones said this will keep the horse out of racing for several months.

The injury showed up after last Saturday's derby win when Hill Gail sped in near-record time around the 1¼-mile track at Louisville.

The Washington-Detroit American League baseball game on Thursday, called after 11 innings with the score 4-4 to permit the Tigers to catch a train, is not a suspended game and must be replayed, Will Harridge, league president, announced yesterday. The new A. L. rule says a game which has passed the nine-inning mark and is called because of darkness, light failure or to allow a team to catch a train, must be replayed. If the game has not gone nine innings and has gone 4½, the game is suspended.

Nine United States women, including the entire Curtis Cup team, have entered the British women's golf championship, the ladies golf union announced yesterday in London. The tournament will be played at Troon, Scotland, June 16-20.

Dave Sands, British Empire and Australian middleweight champion, retained both titles last night by knocking out Al Bourke in Melbourne in the fifth round.

Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts, fullback with Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football Union last year, has been picked up for the waiver price by Ottawa Rough Riders, president Jim McCaffery announced last night at Ottawa.

Manchester United, British soccer champions, yesterday defeated a select New Jersey team 4-0 before a crowd of 9,000 fans at Kearney, N. J.

Joe Coleman Hot As Ottawas Take Red Wings

By The Associated Press

It may be back to the majors soon for veteran right hander Joe Coleman, a stalwart for the Philadelphia Athletics until a sore arm shoved him down to their Ottawa farm.

After three losses in the International League, the 29-year-old Coleman pitched his first complete game of the season Friday night and defeated Rochester Red Wings, 8-2, on four hits.

For the first time in three years he looked like the pitcher who won 14 games for the Athletics in 1948 and 13 the year after. Joe had an 0-5 record in 1950 and 1-6 last season.

Coleman received good support, particularly from Jack Littrell, making his first appearance since he was optioned to Ottawa by the A's, who slammed out a brace of doubles and drove in four runs.

Royals Edge Leafs

Meanwhile Montreal Royals clung to first place in the standings by edging Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-3, in 11 innings. With the score tied 2-2, Montreal pushed across two runs in the 11th to give Art Fabbro his third win of the year. Toronto added a run in their half of the inning but it was too little and too late.

The Royals thus maintained a four-game advantage over Buffalo Bisons and the Syracuse Chiefs, tied with identical 13-10 records. The Bisons whipped the Chiefs, 2-1, with pitcher Dave Birrer winning his own game on a single in the ninth that scored the decisive run.

In the other game Springfield Cubs downed Baltimore Orioles, 3-2, choking off a ninth-inning rally with a double play. Alan Ihde was credited with his first victory although he was relieved in the ninth.

Juvenile Baseball Opens In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10 — (ENS). — The juvenile baseball season got under way on Friday afternoon with an exhibition game between the Seymour East squad and a team from Petherick's Corners and Rylstone district. The game was played on the Rylstone diamond before a good crowd.

Winning pitcher was Denton Meiklejohn who turned in a good exhibition of ball.

Jim Baker pitched for the Seymour lads, who, although they lost by a 12 to 10 score, put on a good exhibition of ball.

Fred Fry coached the winners, while Provincial Constable Donald W. Erskine of Campbellford coached Seymour. Constable Erskine is well known locally for his efforts to promote sports among the younger set and is held in high esteem by the youngsters. The absence of juvenile crime in the district is a tribute to the officer's efforts. The Seymour East youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 16, proudly call themselves "The O.P.P. Team."

Hugh Outram Senior Champ As PCVS Athletes Compete In Track Meet

P.C.V.S. students called time out in their school studies and turned their attention to athletics Friday afternoon when the annual track and field competitions were held at Morrow Park. Again this year the student body was grouped into four houses or squads and for these groups they entered events, the points counting both for individual honors and squad championships.

Four Firsts

Long distance runner Hugh Outram rapped up four firsts with his feats on the track to win the senior boys' championship with 23 points. He chalked up firsts in the 220-yard, 440-yard, half-mile and mile, adding a second in the 100-yard run.

Byron Young, senior football quarterback up with 19 points for second place and Ron Hooper with 17 points for third.

Basketball player, Bob Allan, romped to the junior boys' title, also with 23 points and four firsts. He topped other competitors in the hop, step and jump, and outran opposition in the 100, 200 and 440 yard events, adding also a second place.

The keenly contested bantam events finally went to Earl Lackey with 19 points, followed closely by Bob Keeting with 13 points and John Boorman with 11. Lackey placed first in the 75-yard and 100-yard events, the broad jump, second in the hop, step and jump, and third for the final point.

Squad Two Wins

Squad two swept the boys' team competitions totalling 96 points, while squad one placed second with 55. Squad three won the senior honors, squad two the junior, and squad four the bantam.

Outstanding basketball player, Marg Clark, easily won the senior girls', 17 years and over, title when she worked through the six events for 21 points. Her closest competitor was another basketball player, Janet Estlick, with nine points.

A third basketball player, this time Maureen Fletcher, won the junior girls' title when she edged out Marg Dodson. Fletcher totalled 15 points while the athletic Dobson scored 13.

As in the boys' bantam section the girls' youngest group, 14 years and under, was closely contested before Dorothy Watkins finally won out. By winning 13 points she won the honors, scoring three more than Elaine Grant, who was second.

The squad championship for the girls went to squad one with a total of 75 points. Squad one also won honors in th senior and junior sections, giving way to squad two in the bantam.

The boys could compete in running events including the 75, 100, 320, 440, ½-mile, mile, high jump, running broad jump, pole vault, discus, shot putt and javelin. The girls' events included runs of 50 and 75 yards, standing and high jumps, softball throw and shuttle relay.

The best results were in the junior boys' section. There Jim Drury in the high jump went up 5 feet 2⅛ inches, while Bob Allen in the hop, step and jump went 34 feet 3 inches. Allen turned in a good time of 26.8 seconds in the 220-yard event, finishing with a bad cramp, which will probably keep him out of the district finals.

The result causing the most talk was the junior mile. There Eric Jackson on Friday night was timed at 5:13.8 minutes, five seconds less than miler Hugh Outram, the senior winner.

An outstanding senior result was the discus where Jim Hendry recorded a distance of 106 feet.

Prides Of St. Louis Fizzle In Bids So Far; Vinegar Bent For 8-3 Loss

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

The expected prides of St. Louis—rookies Jim Rivera and Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell—have fizzled so far in their bids for Major League stardom. Touted during spring training as the probable rookies of the year in the American and National Leagues, both have flashed too rarely the form that made them standouts in the minors. Rivera, 29-year-old outfielder of the Browns, has collected only 13 hits in 66 trips for a meagre .197 average. Rivera has ridden the bench of late but was let out Thursday and came through with a game-winning homer against Philadelphia.

Mizell, the gangling lefthander of the Cardinals, has been the victim of the "big inning." The youngster, hailed as a "left-handed Dizzy Dean," sails along in fine style, then suddenly seems to lose his stuff. He blew up again Friday night, losing his third game against one victory as Cincinnati beat St. Louis, 8-3.

Reds In Hand

The kid had the Reds eating out of his hand until the seventh inning when he blew sky-high and was tagged for seven runs. Joe Adcock ruined Mizell with a three-run homer. The rally wiped out a 2-0 St. Louis lead. Rookie catcher Les Fusselman socked his first major league homer in the Card seventh.

The triumph enabled the Reds to take over third place from Chicago. The Cubs' scheduled game with Pittsburgh was postponed because of cold weather. The remaining National League clubs were idle.

Cleveland Indians took over first place in the American League from Boston Red Sox without lifting a bat. The Indians, rained out, moved a half-game ahead as the Sox dropped a 7-4 decision to New York Yankees.

Veterans Johnny Sain and Bobby Hogue, former Boston Brave stablemates, teamed up to stop the Red Sox. Sain drove in three runs on a homer and double before he left at the end of the seventh inning when he was struck on the right kneecap by a liner from the bat of Billy Goodman. The victory ended a three-game New York losing streak.

Win In 16

Chicago White Sox won the longest game of the season as they defeated Detroit Tigers, 8-5, in 16 innings at Detroit. Minnie Minoso tripled home two runs in the 16th and scored the third on Ed Robinson's single. The three runs were unearned as they were set up by Johnny Lipon's error.

Harry Dorish, who took over in the eighth for Chicago, was the winner and Hal White, the sixth of seven Tiger pitchers to see duty, the loser.

Little Bobby Shantz pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to a 9-3 victory over the Washington Senators in the only American League night game.

Undue Strictness Did Much To Hurt Sunday Observance

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

One who grew up, as probably many of my readers did, in an environment of strict observance of Sunday as a special day of religion for the religious, and a day of rest for all, may well ask, "What has happened to Sunday?"

Listening late Sunday night to the news of the day on one of the leading networks, I am impressed with the increasing amount of radio news given over to the reporting of baseball, football, basketball and hockey scores.

I speak without prejudice against sports as such for I once captained a winning football team. But I cite the matter of Sunday sports as a striking example of what has happened to the day. So far as I know wrestling matches and prize fights are still taboo on Sundays; but there is no knowing for how long that may be.

In Canada, where I spent the first half of my life, the observance of Sunday was more general and much stricter than in the United States, which we realized was approaching what we called "the Continental Sunday."

There was no Sunday newspaper in Canada and so far as I know there is none today, a late Saturday evening paper taking its place. During the eleven years that I lived in "Toronto the Good" businesses of every kind were closed up tight.

Those who have grown up under present and prevailing Sunday conditions can have no conception of an old-fashioned Sunday. It is my own judgment that undue strictness has had much to do with the reaction that has gone so far the other way.

In my own experience Sunday was never a dull day. In families like my own the day was a religious day, and its observance as a day of rest was sincere and honest, with no subterfuge in behind-the-scenes labor.

But among others there was considerable insincerity and hypocrisy. When churchmen opposed the running of street cars on Sunday in Toronto, where I was living at the time, a real factor in deciding the issue was the opposition of wealthy members of downtown churches who could enjoy being driven to church by their coachmen.

The great extreme to which the non-observance of Sunday has gone in many communities is evident in the fact that Monday has become for many a day of listless reaction from the excessive activities of one kind or another the day before.

In contrast one recalls the strength and freshness with which most people used to come to their tasks on Monday morning from a Sunday well spent in worship and rest.

Socially, we probably cannot turn back the clock, but individuals would be wise to recover something of those values of Sunday, which our fathers knew, and regret having lost.

Millions Of Muskies Crack Eggs At Hatchery Have 29 Inches Yet To Go

By JIM ENGLISH

Muskies by the million, but not a bite in a basinful. That's the picture at the Deer Lake maskinonge hatchery this week. By the weekend or shortly after, more than 4,000,000 fry will be wiggling in the hatchery troughs. It's the best year the hatchery has ever had for rearing maskinonge, says superintendent Henry Jackson. In the annual muskie-stripping in the Kawarthas, more eggs were taken and the weather was just right.

Crucial Time

It was a crucial time when Outdoor Editor Nick Nickeis and I arrived at the hatchery this week. The first 150,000 fry were just cracking their shells in white enamel basins.

Deer Lake Hatchery, operated by the Department of Lands and Forests, is about nine miles north of Highway 7 and 31 miles east of Peterborough. The hatchery, with its four rearing ponds and two buildings, is located in a crook of the Deer River, just south of Deer Lake.

One of the buildings contains Henry Jackson's office, and the troughs in which the fry will spend their first 10 days of active life. The second holds nets and other gear used in trapping male and female muskies to strip them of their milt and roe.

The four rearing ponds are to the west of the hatchery buildings in a line that runs close to north and south. Biggest of the ponds is at the north, and the other three, roughly the same size, are terraced at lower levels than the large one.

Signs aplenty are posted along the gravel road that leads north from Highway 7 to the hatchery, and that gives the visitor glimpses at times of the rushing Deer River. Incidentally, bass and pickerel fishing is said to be good in the river.

Henry Jackson met us at the main hatchery building and led

Medical Officer Resigns Job At Schools

The resignation of Dr. Hiram Wright, medical officer for the Board of Education, has been officially accepted by the Board. Dr. Wright will carry on till June 30.

In his letter he gave no reason for his decision.

Mrs. Blake Bell, chairman of the accommodation committee, introduced a motion that Dr. Wright be asked to carry on until the Board reaches some decision—pro or con—on whether it will amalgamate its health services with the Board of Health.

She was supported in this motion by Mrs. Paige Rowell but the two women trustees were defeated four-to-two in a vote.

Mrs. Bell pointed out that there was likelihood of some agreement betwen the two Boards and she thought Dr. Wright might carry on until the matter was decided.

(Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterborough medical officer of health, said he would be glad to have Dr. Wright as an assistant should the health services be amalgamated. He said this at a meeting with the health committee Monday night when the perennial subject of amalgamation was broached again.)

Agreeing with Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Rowell said that a new medical officer for the schools might be employed for only a few months if there were an early agreement on amalgamation. Because of this she would like to see Dr. Wright stay on.

Should Accept It

Dr. Ralph Honey said that as the resignation had been handed in the Board should accept it.

"This way it frees us both," he said.

G. Wilson Craw said he favored amalgamation as long as he could be assured that the children would get as good medical care as before, but he said he doubted if the Board of Health had the funds this year to carry on.

". . . unless we pay them the money," he added.

Chairman W. B. Gordon couldn't recall Dr. Kelly explaining how this year's operations would be financed. He also said that the Board shouldn't waste time if they want to hire another medical officer of health.

Special Tulips Give Bright Splash Of Color

The 2,500 tulip bulbs sent to Peterborough from Holland last fall are now providing a galaxy of color in city parks.

An early double bloom variety are out in all their glory in Victoria Park. And the Darwin tulips which were planted in the middle of the park beds are expected to be out any time.

The tulips in Confederation Park are of the Parrot variety in four colors — yellow, red, mauve and blue.

These tulips are blooming in all the city parks except Jackson and are expected to last for another two weeks.

Engineer Scores Government On Seaway Plan

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP) — Dr. J. G. G. Kerry of Port Hope, Ont., said yesterday the federal government made its biggest mistake on the St. Lawrence seaway when it "throttled" the engineers' last big survey.

"It was stopped before they even started it," said Dr. Kerry in an interview.

The engineers were told they were to study only work improvements up to a certain limit.

"This happened to be a depth of 30 feet. All beyond that they were not allowed to investigate."

Dr. Kerry, who was honored with an honorary life membership in the Engineering Institute of Canada in convention here, said another big problem was ice formation.

"It is one of the biggest problems in the building and running the seaway successfully. It is something that has never been studied officially in a broad way."

The 85-year-old consulting engineer and an authority on the proposed seaway, said he had been working on the river "on and off" for 65 years.

Suggests Police Take Photos

In suggesting co-operation between the police department and the city's assessment department for economy in camera work and cost, Ald. T. D. Miller said he did not propose interference with the rules and requirements of the police.

The police department is equipped with a camera and photographic facilities which are provided for use in obtaining pictures of accidents and in other police investigations.

"The police department has the experience, the equipment and also an automobile," Ald. Miller said. "The city's assessment department has no means of photography."

Ald. Miller said he appreciated the fact that Chief Thompson's staff needed a camera in emergencies.

"The two departments are close together at the City Hall, and it appeared to me when Assessment Commissioner Davis asked for a camera for his department, that the occasional pictures he wanted might be provided by the police.

"There is no urgency in getting pictures for assessment purposes, and it occurred to me that the police could take photographs for Mr. Davis at times convenient to them. That is how I saw it in suggesting that we approach the police department. They have a car at their disposal and radio communication with the other facilities, and I don't think we would have many requests for pictures in the course of a year."

And, Ald. Miller added, it would save the council the expense of buying a camera for the assessment commissioner.

Hunter St. Property For Insurance Bldg.

With the intention of erecting an office building for his general insurance business, Charles J. Ray has bought the C. W. Holland property at 85 Hunter St. west, opposite Sheridan St.

The Holland house is set back at the rear of the lot. Adjacent near the street line is a building used by G. H. Hutchinson & Son, tinsmiths. Years ago it was a blacksmith shop. Mr. Holland purchased his property from the late James Brown, at one time market clerk. He remains in occupation of the premises until the end of July.

It is understood that Mr. Ray has only a general plan at present of securing his own insurance office accommodation. The location is central only a few steps east of Queen St.

Bev Goulding To Head New Dep't

Physical Education Recommended As New Department

G. B. (Bev) Goulding, popular sports-minded teacher on the P.C.V.S. staff, has been appointed head of the newly-formed Department of Physical Education. The creation of the new department and the appointment of Mr. Gcuiding were made by the Board of Education after recommendations were received from both K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, and Principal C. S. Browne.

In fact, if not in name, Mr. Goulding has been in charge of physical education at P.C.V.S. for a number of years. He now finds it a full-time job, though at one time he taught Grade 10 Latin as well.

Came Here In 1944

Since Mr. Goulding came to the P.C.V.S. eight years ago the school has won 14 championships in football and basketball. They include four senior and three junior C.O.S.S.A. football championships, and in basketball the record of winners includes one senior and two junior C.O.S.S.A. teams, a juvenile team that won the O.A.B.A. and C.A.B.A. honors (emblematic of Ontario and Canadian championships, respectively), and two midget O.A.B.A. championships.

Mr. Wightman said that there are Departments of English, History, Classics, and so on, but the effect of physical training on students of that age is of equal importance, at least.

"It accustoms them (i.e., the students) to work and live with others," he said.

When Miss Sexton of the Department of Physical Education met the gymnasium last fall she commented on the small amount of gymnasium space alloted the girls. It is divided two-thirds for the boys and one-third for the girls.

Share Space, Time

At that time she suggested that if there were a departmental head he could see that the space was divided on a fairer basis.

"I'd like to see a more equal division of gym time," agreed Mrs. Paige Rowell.

Mr. Browne said that if one teacher looked after the Department of Physical Education and Health there could be a saving of money. Gymnasium equipment would be better looked after and there would be more care in purchasing.

Other duties for the department head would be arranging and supervising inter-school athletic competitions, supervision and training of assistant coaches for all school teams, and arranging for the annual field day.

Appointing a special department for physical education and health is a comparatively new idea in educational circles, says Mr. Goulding. It is making headway in Toronto and in progressive schools throughout the province.

Mr. Goulding came originally from Toronto. He taught in Bowmanville for three years before coming here eight years ago. He is married and has two children—David 4 and Nancy 2.

Youngster, 5 Hit By Truck

On her way home from kindergarten late Friday afternoon, five-year-old Judy Berwick of 70 Montgomery St. was knocked down by a truck and suffered bruises and flesh burns.

The little girl left kindergarten at King Edward School, walked to Lansdowne St., and tried to dart across the road, just east of Lock St. A west-bound half-ton truck, driven by Arthur McLaren, of 733 Payne St., struck her and knocked her through the air for about 10 feet.

She received bruised knees, brush burns on her cheeks and one ear. Her mother, Mrs. Earl Berwick, took her to the Clinic where she received medical treatment.

Her mother told The Examiner today that she is "still pretty sore," but is coming along fine.

Sgt. C. J. McGillen investigated.

Drought?

The fine warm dry spring that citizens in the city have been enjoying, may be about to backfire. There has been little rain and pastures and fields in which crops are beginning to grow are drying up and weathermen are beginning to use that dreaded word "drought."

Response Slow But Good To Kenner Fund

The response of contributors to the Kenner Memorial Fund appeal, launched last week, is "really grand," says secretary-treasurer Arthur Pitchford. "The amounts each person is sending are higher than we had expected on the average." But, he added, "the mass results" are disappointing. Contributions have been coming in very slowly.

Cheques and letters have come from as far away as Vancouver.

Miss Mabel Thickson, Bowmanville, sending a substantial donation, wrote: "In 1906 I first enrolled in the old P.C.I. and I transferred in 1908 to the new school, so it is many years since my school days but I still have happy memories of Dr. Kenner, both as a teacher and principal."

A resident of Anson House, enclosing two dollars, recalls the time of Mr. Fessenden, James McCaig, Miss Spence and Mr. Fife as teachers, and the "happy memories of that period of time" at P.C.I.

The Kenner Memorial Fund Committee had hoped, Mr. Pitchford says, for a big and immediate response when the subscription lists were opened last week. Instead, the response has been slow and from relatively few people.

"We hope that ex-students will not delay any further in sending in their donations to the Collegiate."

More than 2,000 letters have been sent out to ex-students, beginning with the most recent. Classes before 1926 may not yet have received theirs.

Board To Buy 5 Acres In Smith Twp.

City-Owned Property Will Come Into City With Annexation

Anticipating the need for future schoolroom accommodation in the north end of the city, the Board of Education have approved the purchase of five acres of land, recently bought by the city, adjoining Queen Elizabeth School.

The city has offered to sell the land for approximately $1,000 an acre.

Both the tract of land and Queen Elizabeth School are now in Smith township, but the city has announced it will annex this area (north of Dumble Ave.).

"The city purchased land east of the school and they are going to subdivide it this summer and sell it for building lots," said G. Wilson Craw, chairman of accommodation. "They set aside five acres for the addition to the Queen Elizabeth grounds.

"The committee felt that if building is done in the north end of the city it should be at Queen Elizabeth, not at Queen Alexandra which is old and unsuitable."

Mr. Craw said the committee were not altogether satisfied with the area as shown in the preliminary sketch, but they felt that, subject to alterations, the city's offer should be accepted.

One part of the five acres is a swamp and high tension hydro wires cross another portion of the land.

Queen Elizabeth will probably be part of the city public school system in 1953

Board Appoints 7 New Teachers

The Board of Education have confirmed the appointment of seven new teachers for city schools and they have accepted the resignations of five others.

Two of the appointments are for Kenner Collegiate whose principal, Dr. Eldon Ray, is now building up a staff. They are Winnifred Barlow who will teach a commercial option and Anne Morrison who will be in charge of girls' physical training. Miss Morrison will also teach other subjects.

Miss Margaret Winters has been hired to teach home economics at P.C.V.S.

Public school appointees are Barbara Thurston, Joyce Grills, Glen Hagerman and Howard Hempstead.

J. E. R. Munro, principal of Queen Alexandra School for 2½ years, is resigning in October. The Board of Education received his resignation with regret. G. Wilson Craw paid tribute to Mr. Munro's teaching ability and his many years of service.

Others resigning are Donald Lawless, leaving the public school staff for a position on the staff of the University of Toronto schools; Norman Boyle, leaving P.C.V.S. to head the Commercial Department at Goderich Collegiate; and Misses Olive Parrington and Eva Dafoe, leaving the public school staff.

Concrete Or Sand Base Used In Laying Of Brick Terrace

Walks and terraces may be laid in one of two ways, either on a sand base with sand joints, or on a concrete base with mortar joints. In either case, number one hard burned common brick suitable for sidewalk work is frequently used, although smoother surfaced sidewalk paving brick is sometimes preferred.

If the bricks are to be laid in mortar, the services of a skilled bricklayer may be advisable, but if they are to be laid in sand, the work is easily done by anyone who is handy, the only tools required being a level and a tamping block.

Recommend Sand Method

The sand method is recommended by those who prefer a walk or terrace to be slightly irregular, perhaps with grass growing between the bricks.

The soil should be excavated to a depth of about 3½" below the surface. If the ground is uneven and needs to be filled with fresh earth in certain places, these should be puddled or tamped smooth before laying the brick. If the brick is to be laid across a lawn which is already established, the excavation should be made the exact width of the finished brick walk. However, if the walk is to be laid across newly graded earth which has not yet been seeded the excavation should be approximately 2" wider. One-inch boards should be placed upright along both sides of the excavation, to be used as a guide for levelling and to hold the bricks in place until the lawn is well-sodded, after which the boards may be removed and the spaces filled with sand or dirt.

Form Smooth Surface

Cover the bottom of the excavation with ½" of sand carefully screened (level) so as to form a smooth surface. Lay the bricks flat on the sand according to the pattern desired. Leave about half an inch between bricks for joints. As soon as the bricks are laid, fill the spaces between them by placing a layer of sand on the walk and sweeping it into the joints with a broom. Tamping the walk once a day for several days and spraying the water will help pack the sand firmly between the bricks so that the joints may be completely filled.

If a more rigid or regular surface is desired a 3" base of concrete is sometimes used and the bricks laid on a ½" bed of cement mortar with joints filled with a dry mixture of sand and cement and sprayed, or grout (thin mortar) poured into the joints and then tooled flat. Another method is to pack the sub-grade thoroughly, apply a thin sand bed, and over it spread not less than ¼" of rich cement mortar with wire mesh reinforcement embedded. Lay the bricks in pattern and pour the joints with grout and tool finish. This is an economical method of securing a finished job, and when carefully done has proved entirely satisfactory.

Old Cliches Of Films Appear On TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 10—(AP)—Ever wonder what happened to those old movie cliches? They're on television now.

In recent years, Hollywood has been kidded unmercifully about using worn-out lines of dialogue. The result is that many screen writers now lean over backwards to avoid using phrases that sound familiar.

But take a look at the old movies on TV and you can see some of our old friends again. Here are some examples:

1. The hero is shaken by having just seen someone from his past.

Heroine: "What's the matter? You look as though you've seen a ghost."

Hero, grimly: "I have."

2. The heroine's father has just absconed 17 bullets while trying to thwart the bank robbers. "Look after Nellie," he gasps to the hero. His hand falls lifeless and the hero covers his head with a sheet. He goes outside to Nellie.

Nellie: Is he—is he—?"

The hero nods sadly and she melts in his arms.

3. The hero aims to clean up the western town and says as much to the operator of the gambling saloon. The latter snarls: "This town isn't big enough for both of us. One of us will have to get out. And it's not going to be me."

4. The leading lady in the show bows a tendon and the stage manager is frantic. He spies a promising chorus girl and tells her to put on the leading lady's costume.

Replay Overture

The overture is played three times and the audience gets restless. Finally the girl is ready to go on. The manager pats her on the back and says: "This is your big chance, kid. Go out and knock them dead."

5. Shells are bursting all over the battlefield. The young kid, who has been cocky all along, scrambles into a shell hole and blubbers "I don't want to die. I'm too young to die."

The hard-bitten sergent slaps him in the face and mutters: "Get a grip on yourself."

6. The brash young hero advances toward the heroine despite her protests. He sweeps her into his arms. "I hate you! I hate you! I hate you!" she shouts.

But he pays no heed. He plants a kiss on her lips. She pounds her fists on his back, then slows down and then holds him tightly.

"You're some woman," he whispers.

"You're quite a man," she replies, dewy-eyed.

HOUSE No. 668.—A wooded corner lot in the suburbs is the picturesque setting for this white stucco cottage with red roof and shutters. Gable ends are of vertical boards with beaded joints. The owner tells us that his wife did the actual designing of their home. We think she did a splendid job throughout. Bearing in mind there might be close neighbours, she placed all windows—with the exception of one, overlooking the front or back garden. The living-room is good-sized and the corridor-style kitchen with dinette is efficient. Both bedrooms are well placed for privacy and convenience to the bathroom. It would be advisable to insulate the bathroom walls. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

1868 Maxims Useful Speaker Tells W.I.

BETHANY, May 10 — (ENS) — The president of the Women's Association of the United Church, Mrs. Mansell Finney, entertained the members for their May meeting at her home. Mrs. Thomas Jennings read the scripture, with Mrs. H. Chalice giving the lesson explanation, stating our responsibility to the brotherhood of man lies not only in the wise spending of money, but in our talents as well.

Mrs. Harvey Fallis and Mrs. Leonard Driver were appointed a committee to arrange for the redecoration of the Sunday school room. The date for the annual garden party was set for July 4. The program was in charge of Mrs. Thomas Malcolmson, who gave a reading "What Do We Worship?" Mrs. William Cavano read a poem "I Would Not Know the Future." Mrs. R. Carr sang "Somewhere".

Mrs. Harvey Fallis gave the topic "The Use of Time and Possessions" quoting a book entitled "Home" written by Dr. Tweedie in 1868 and stating that the ideas incorporated in the book written so many years ago was still applicable today. Three ideas or maxims to guide people in their stewardship of property were given as "Make all you can; save all you can; give all you can.

In summing up the proper use of time and possessions as displayed in a christian character, Mrs. Fallis quoted the following poem:

"It is not what a man possesses that tells in the final test.

"It is not what a man professes that anks him among the bes.

"Nor wealth, nor race, nor learning is ever the thing that amounts,

"The God of us all is discerning 'tis only the heart that counts."

Mrs. Finney assisted by Mrs. Challice, Mrs. Malcolmson, Mrs. Argue and Mrs. Jennings, served lunch.

Convert Trucks To Use Propane

Propane gas motors in trucks will be introduced in Peterborough soon by the Harding & Hayes Propane Gas Co.

Two of the company's employees started today on a four-day trip to Dallas, Texas. They are driving one of the company's trucks and a propane gas engine will be installed in the truck at Dallas along with a bulk tank. The truck is expected back in Peterborough, May 17.

P. M. Harding, a partner of the company, said today that the company is planning to convert the engines in all its five trucks into propane gas engines. The other four will be done at the plant in Peterborough.

He explains that the operating costs of these engines is considerably lower than the ordinary gasoline engine.

Propane gas engines are widely used in the United States in various kinds of motor vehicles and trailers.

The two employees who are driving to Texas are Dick Walther and Robert Hamilton.

O.S.T.F. Lifts Blacklist Of Hamilton Board

Cavan W.A. Plans Church Cleaning Bee

CAVAN, May 10—The monthly meeting of the Cavan United Church W.A. was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ray Syer. The president, Mrs. Syer, was in the chair.

There were 11 members present. A bale is to be packed at the June meeting, which is to be held in the basement of the church. Material for two quilts to be made is to be purchased, as they are ordered for the fall. Both quilts that were on hand have been sold.

A committee was formed for a home tea and baking sale. The committee includes Mesdames Fred Byers, Ken Syer, A. Matchett, Leslie Pritchard and Newall. Arrangements were made for a housecleaning bee at the church for both men and women on May 13. A pot-luck dinner is to be provided by the ladies.

Mrs. Syer read part of the study book, "From Lakes to Northern Lights."

Miss A. Tinney sang a solo and Mrs. Sid Boyles recited a poem, "The Anvil." The minister, the Rev. A. M. Butler, was present and gave a talk and explained the need of the new building, the United Church Training School. So few members were present the discussion of funds for same were left over for the next meeting.

Soap With Bach On BBC? Yes, If It Means Money... Anti-Monopolists Argue

By RONALD MacLURKIN

LONDON, May 10—(Reuters)—Britons are arguing vehemently over the advantages or otherwise of having baked beans served up with Bach, or soap salesmanship pervading symphonies.

The licence and charter of the British Broadcasting Corporation, the state organization which for 29 years has had a monopoly of the British air waves, expires June 30.

While the government still is deciding the terms on which a new charter will be granted, strong pressure is being exercised by groups campaigning for an end to the BBC monopoly. They want sponsored programs and radio advertising introduced into Britain for the first time.

They are supported by several Conservative members of parliament who argue that the money paid by wealthy advertisers would mean better programs for British listeners. But the Labor opposition is solidly for the BBC monopoly.

Although chances of sponsored radio coming to Britain seem slender, those who shudder at the thought of soap spiels are campaigning just as violently against it as the other side is pushing it.

For months the argument has filled the correspondence columns of prominent newspapers.

Peers Take Part

Correspondents have ranged from Lord Brabazon, who objected to the BBC having "monopoly control of the mind," to Bertrand Earl Russell, the well-known philosopher, who wrote: "It was my misfortune to be dependent on American radio in 1940 at the time of the fall of France. The most devastating news would be interrupted, just at the point where one's anxieties had reached their highest pitch, to assure one that so-and-so's pills would cure worry, or that more men smoked so-and-so's cigars than anybody else's.

"I used to find it difficult not to smash the machine in fury," he fumed.

A public opinion poll on radio advertising showed that 42 per cent were for it, 46 per cent against, and 12 per cent could not make up their minds.

Britain has 11,274,984 radio sets. Owners pay £1 a year for the licence required by law. For this, they get the choice of three different programs, pumped over the air from 6.30 a.m. until midnight each day.

The light program, frankly lowbrow, accents on comedy and dance music. The third program, comes on the air at 6 p.m. and is uncompromisingly intellectual, featuring Greek drama, modern poetry, and music by composers unknown to the masses.

The home program tries to strike a balance with a mixture of vaudeville, talks, symphony concerts and plays.

Last year these programs cost £7,860,883.

In recent months, television, spreading with new transmitters as far north as Scotland, has become a menacing rival to radio.

QUEEN ELIZABETH, left, and the Queen Mother are shown as they reached Buckingham Palace after an automobile trip from Windsor Castle to take up residence in the palace for the first time since the death of her father. The Queen had been living at nearby Clarence House with the Duke of Edinburgh and their children. In the lower picture, Princess Margaret is shown arriving at the Palace.

Urges Exemption Beyond 21 Years

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP)—W. J. Browne (PC-St. John's West) said Friday in the Commons that tax exemptions for dependent children should be extended beyond the age of 21 years in cases where they are attending universities.

He believed there should be a tax exemption for children so long as they are dependent and particularly for those going through university. Most university students were beyond 21 but depended on the financial help of their parents to put them through.

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said the answer was not simple. It was recognized that most persons should be self-supporting by the age of 21. But in cases where the parents sent a son or daughter to university, it was to be expected that he or she would repay them in some measure when they became established in their profession.

Repudiate Secession

HAMILTON, May 10—(CP)—The Glendale Spinning Mills locals of the Textile Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) Friday voted to repudiate the secessionist movement initiated by Jack Robinson, the union's Hamilton director. The 250 members of the 5,000-member Hamilton joint board voted unanimously to bar Robinson and his associates from their local.

Carpenter's Holiday

WINDSOR, May 10 — (CP) — Windsor's 700 carpenters are on a "holiday," the Windsor Daily Star said Friday. Officials of Local 494, the Carpenters' and Joiners' Brotherhood (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), would clarify the action neither as a strike nor a work stoppage, a newspage story said. The men seek a 35-cent boost on an hourly basic rate of $2.25, the newspaper said.

W.A. Entertains Mothers And Babies

LAKEFIELD, May 10 (ENS)—A happy time was enjoyed on Tuesday afternoon when the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of St. John the Baptist entertained the mothers and babies of the congregation to tea in the Parish Hall.

A short worship service was conducted by the rector, the Rev. L. J. Delaney after which he gave a most interesting talk to the mothers.

Afternoon tea was served by Mrs. S. E. White, Mrs. F. Dainton, Mrs. John Twist, Mrs. Harold Coons, Mrs. E. Rogers and Mrs. John Sanderson.

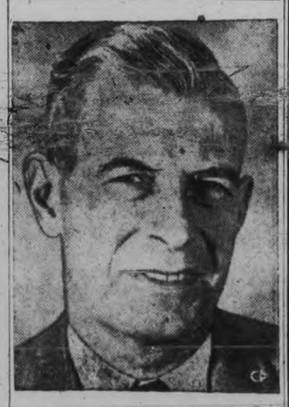
Unemployment Up

LONDON, May 10 (Reuters)—British unemployment figures climbed to 467,871 by April 21—highest since 1947—and Northern English textile manufacturing towns were hardest hit, the Labor Ministry reported Friday night. The figures are an increase in one month of 34,897 jobless, all reported from textile towns. The industry has a total of 136,000 jobless.

CONDENSATION, AND PAINT FAILURES

The tendency to blame insulation for all paint troubles by condensation is not fair. Paint peeling and blistering may result from condensation of moisture within the house. Such moisture penetrates the walls until it reaches the underside of the exterior paint. Building materials, through which the water vapor passes are porous, the paint is not.

As a result, moisture gathers under the paint, forms blisters and eventually the paint peels away fro mthe wood. A membrane vapor barrier eliminates such difficulties by keeping moisture out of the walls.



BISLEY VETERAN—Lt.-Col. J. T. Steele, 60, of Guelph, will command the 23-man Canadian rifle team in the Commonwealth rifle meet at Bisley, England, July 7-19. Col. Steele served during the Second World War with the 11th Field Regiment. President for two years of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, he was made a life governor and ex-officio member of the executive committee at the annual meeting earlier this year. He has qualified as a shooting member of the Bisley team 14 times but competed only seve ntimes. In 1926 and 1929 he was a member of the team winning the Rajah of Kolapore Cup.

Headache Clinic Has Long Waiting List

LONDON — (CP)—The common cold, long first in the unpopularity parade, now has a close contestant.

Two million Britons are regularly succumbing to head-splitting attacks of migraine, something that can be caused by allergy to anything from chocolate biscuits to whisky.

Due mostly to glandular disturbances, migraine is no respector of ages. In one London clinic, a three-year-old is under treatment for the malady.

Run by a 42-year-old Harley Street gland expert, the clinic opens twice weekly, giving free service under the National Health Plan. It is the first "headache clinic" of its kind and already has a long waiting list. Eighty per cent of its cases are cured within months, others get "permanent preventative" treatment.

For real migraine, says the doctor, resting in a darkened room is the only home treatment. Headache powders are just no good. Statistics show that twice as many women as men suffer from the complaint and nearly all work with the brain rather than the hands.

River Diverted Second Time To Tap Iron Ore

ATIKOKAN, Ont.—(CP)—A huge re-arrangement of nature's features to extend harvesting of rich iron ore is almost completed near this northwestern Ontario town.

The topographical face lifting, costing $750,000, for the second time will change the course of the Seine River, now flowing into Rainy Lake.

A drainage system for a maze of lakes in the district, the river first was diverted 10 years ago to allow part of Steep Rock Lake to be drained and the iron ore mass at its bottom to be mined.

The second diversion will take the river away from the remaining part of the lake into a series of swamps. This will permit the rest of Steep Rock Lake to act as a settling basin for silt.

Silt-laden water resulting from dredging operations until now have reached Rainy Lake. The discoloration and pollution of water supplies brought protests from both sides of the Canadian-United States boundary.

The project was started after attempts to make silt settle in Steep Rock Lake were discarded as expensive. Plans had to be formed on the spot.

"We found there just wasn't a text book available to give us any clues for handling the diversion," says K. McRorie, chief engineer for Steep Rock Iron Mines.

"I had made a hobby to some degree of hydraulics but this job called for angles that weren't outlined anywhere else."

Called For Three Dams

Involved was a series of three dams constructed to handle peak water heights and evacuations to take care of tremendous volumes of water. Rate of flow and other factors had to be calculated.

A survey was made two months ago over the route of the new channel to find the exact area which might be flooded. While cutters cleared timber and brush from the lowlands, construction was started on dams.

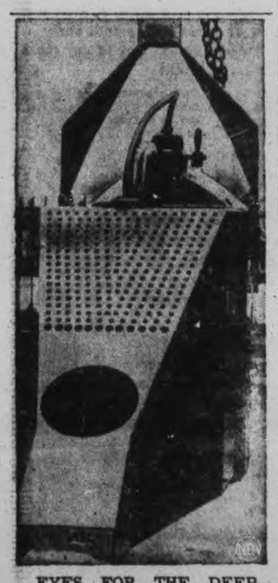
Heavy equipment was transported to construction sites after ice was thickened by flooding. Russians used this system in the Second World War to cart complete trains across thin ice.

A dam at Wagita Bay, where once the Seine River tumbled into Steep Rock Lake, now has been raised to hold back a maximum of 50 feet of water. A second dam has been biult at Rawn Lake on the new channel and will handle a similar amount of water. An earth-fill dam at Walter Lake will hold back 15 feet.

New diversion of the Seine may stop floods in Atikokan which date back as far as 1916 when the town was a railway divisional point.

In 1950, flood waters of the Atikokan River, which runs through the centre of town, spilled into basements and first floors of homes.

The amount of water pushing through the river won't be changed since the watershed remains the same. But the flow-off from spring rains responsible for floods will pass off at a fasfer rate.



EYES FOR THE DEEP—Deep-sea denizens will be robbed of their privacy when this floodlighting device, containing a television camera, is lowered into the ocean. Developed by the British Admiralty for a Cambridge, England, firm, it will be able to "see" under water for British TV viewers.

THE WASP COMES HOME — A Navy floating crane faces the ripped bow of the aircraft carrier USS Wasp as a preliminary inspection of the 75-foot gash is carried on in New York harbor soon after the Wasp's arrival. The 61 survivors of the USS Hobson, which sank after a collision with the Wasp, were aboard the giant flat-top as it limped in to port for repairs.

Winnipeg Expert Promises To Rid Alberta Of Rats

CALGARY—(CP)—N. L. Poulin of Winnipeg, a modern Pied Piper, claims he can clean up Alberta's rat problem in three months.

Mr. Poulin is in Alberta studying the province's first invasion of rats. At present he has a crew co-operating with the provincial government in a survey of the rat situation in the southern area.

"This may startle you," Mr. Poulin said, "but the province of Alberta has been infested with rats for at least two years if not more.

"We have found proof of this by examining rat burrows that have been weather-beaten and in most cases these conditions would never exist if the burrows had not been there for as long as two years if not more."

(Rats in numbers in Alberta have not been found until this year and this led to the general belief that this was the first invasion of the province, considered previously to be the only rat-free area on the continent).

Mr. Poulin also supports his statement by his findings in some of the province's grain elevators.

"We have even located rat burrows right through cement and I know for a fact that it takes a rat a good many months and even years to burrow its way through such a hard surface."

Mr. Poulin's survey reveals that rats have penetrated as much as 60 miles across the Saskatchewan border.

Spearhead Drive

"The rats have attacked Alberta from Saskatchewan in a spearhead drive and if given time they could create a solid front of at least 100 miles," he reported.

The Winnipegger has been in the extermination business since 1938. The reputation of this modern Pied Piper who uses his own formula for driving out rats is widely known in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

He was responsible for driving rats from such cities as Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Swift Current, Sask.

Mr. Poulin's weapon is a secret mixture to which he claims rats are allergic and with which he can rat-proof any structure. But he says that is only one half of the method. The other half of the battle is the way the mixture is used

To combat the Alberta invasion his strategy would be to attack inside Saskatchewan's border by creating a "Maginot Line" that the pest could not penetrate After that it would be simple to wipe out what rats were left in Alberta.

In combatting rats in cities, Mr. Poulin claims his easiest jobs are where there are no garbage incinerators.

In such a situation all that is necessary is to drive the rats into the garbage dump where they concentrate and are easily killed.

"It is much harder to control a rat problem in a city with an incinerator. This burns all the waste foodstuffs and instead of the rats going to the garbage dumps they infest buildings and are harder to get at."

Peer Sees Changes In British Press

LONDON—(CP)—The newspaper hierarchy of Britain has undergone a significant transition during the present generation, says Lord Burnham, managing director of the London Daily Telegraph.

In a speech, Lord Burnham sized up the change as follows:

"After the First World War, unsuccessful peers took to owning morning newspapers. Between the wars successful newspaper men became barons. Today newspapers are owned by Viscounts, and the Barons have to work for their living along with other journalists."

Canada Lee Dies Of Heart Attack

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP) — Canada Lee, noted negro actor, died Friday night. He was 45.

His death, at his home, was attributed to a heart attack.

Lee, whose real name was Leonard Lionel Cornelius Canegata, was a prize fighter, jockey and violinist before achieving stage stardom.

A native New Yorker, he made his first appearance in the theatre in 1928, but did not achieve prominence until he appeared in the 1934 revival of "Stevedore." He became a great success in "Native Son" in 1941.

He was appearing at the time of his death in "Cry, the Beloved Country," a movie about South Africa's racial problem.

Jailed For Year

TORONTO, May 10 — (CP) — Ivor Hickman, 16, Friday was sent to jail for a year on a charge of wounding. Evidence was that he stabbed Carol Haddock, 15, his former sweetheart, last January 18 with a hunting knife. A jury acquitted him of a charge of attempted murder.

Germans Want To Forget Hitler's Anti-Semitism Era

By JACK HENRY

FRANKFURT —(Reuters)—Anti-Semitism still is a simmering issue which most Germans prefer to ignore.

No one here believes that a new Hitler could rally mass support now just by attacking the Jews and calling for pogroms.

But many are concerned at the reluctance of Germans to remember the excesses of the Nazi period, or support moves to make good some of the material damage done to German Jews in the Nazi era.

A country-wide appeal for support during a government-sponsored "Brotherhood Week" met with apathy. State governments, churches, universities and German spiritual and intellectual leaders co-operated in the project. But the public just stayed away.

The same attitude met an appeal to industry, trade unions and the general public in Hamburg to make an "olive tree collection" for Israel.

Industry and the trade unions held aloof. The city raised enough money in three months to buy 3,000 olive trees, due to great efforts by teachers, church organizations and students.

The most willing response came from school children, university students and what the organizers call "little people," whose penny contributions made up the bulk of the money collected.

Jewish leaders in Germany say that the wish to forget is stronger than the wish to make up the wrongs done to Jews.

Complicated procedure facing Jewish claimants before they can win back any of their property, Jewish leaders say, indicates the original idea of making good some of the wrongs done is getting lost in a mountain of application forms, affidavits and court verdicts.

Trial Of Pyx Approves Coins

LONDON, May 10 (Reuters)—An official left London's Goldsmith's Hall Friday to tell the Queen that the trial of the pyx—or box—had found her Royal Mint not guilty of swindling its customers.

The trial, believed to date from Saxon or Roman times, tested coins minted for British and Commonwealth governments at a session which began March 4 and ended today.

Verdicts announcing that the coins had been found correct in weight and content were formally handed to the Queen's Remembrancer, an official of the treasury. Richard Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer looked on.

One in every 200 gold coins and a specified number of silver and cupro-nickel coins were placed in the pyx for testing.

A special jury checked them for weight. They were then melted and tested for quality.

J. E. R. MUNRO, principal of Queen Alexandra School for the past 21 years, will retire on Oct. 15 of this year.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

J. E. R. Munro To End Days Of Teaching In October

J. E. R. Munro, principal of Queen Alexandra Public School since 1931, announced his intention of retiring in a letter to the Board of Education Thursday night. His resignation will take effect October 15.

Mr. Munro was born in Prince Edward County near Demorestville and received his early education in the public schools there. He graduated from Picton high school, spent two years teaching in Milford, Prince Edward County, and then attended Normal School in Peterborough.

He joined the staff of the Peterborough public schools in 1914, then spent four years with the army, holding the rank of major at the time of his discharge.

Thirteen of his 34 years of teaching were at King George School, and the remaining 21 have been spent at Queen Alexandra.

S. Wilson Conant paid tribute as a member of the Board of Education to Mr. Munro as one of Peterborough's leading educationists.

Army Hits Mark In Manpower, 50,000 Strong

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP) — The army has hit the 50,000-mark to become the first of the three services to reach its manpower target under the three-year defense program. The program still has nearly two years to run.

Cabinet has authorized the army to recruit beyond 50,000 and the defense department says the intention is to go on recruiting as fast as qualified men come forward.

The complete picture doesn't look so rosy, many special force men may leave the army in the next month or two when their 18-month term is up.

Chances are between 2,000 and 3,000 special force men back from Korea will elect to return to civilian life. The result will be that the army manpower total will drop below 50,000.

Of the original 10,000 volunteers for the special force in 1950, 2,500 have been discharged. Another 2,500 have turned regular soldier and the army is keeping its fingers crossed and waiting to see how many will stay in uniform.

The three-year defense program envisaged a total force—all three services—of 115,000 by the spring of 1954. No breakdown of this was ever given publicly but the department privately broke it down into 50,000 for the army, 45,000 for the air force, 20,000 for the navy.

At the end of March, the Navy had 13,500, the air force 32,600 and the army 49,300 for a total of 95,400. The army passed 50,000 a few days ago.

When the Korea War started, the over-all total was 47,000 including 20,500 in the army, 9,500 in the navy, 17,000 in the air force. When the three-year program started last year there were 66,500 in the forces including 10,600 in the navy, 34,500 in the army and 21,300 in the R.C.A.F.

Thus the forces have more than doubled since Korea and have grown nearly 50 per cent since the three-year program was touched off.

The army's lead can be attributed mainly to the decision to recruit the 27th Brigade for Europe. This added more than 10,000 men.

Wider Powers In Trieste Zone

LONDON, May 10 (AP).—Britain and the United States today gave Italy wider administrative powers in Trieste's Zone A, the scene of anti-Allied rioting last March.

A three-power agreement provides for a new Italian political adviser and an Italian senior director of administration in Zone A the Allied-occupied sector of the strategic free territory at the head of the Adriatic that Italy lost under her peace treaty in 1947.

Italians are to be put into many administrative posts now held by British and U.S. officers. Italian officials will be increased from five to 23. The reorganization is expected to be substantially completed by July 15.

Italy's Premier Alcide de Gasperi, who hopes for eventual return to Italy of the whole 320-square-mile region and its 320,000 people, commented in Rome that Italy's position in Trieste has been considerably strengthened.

He described the agreement as the basis for eventual solution of the entire problem of Trieste—coveted also by Premier Tito of Yugoslavia—and said the agreement will be administered in a spirit of friendly understanding.

The Italian Premier said the agreement is the first practical application of the recognition by Britain, the U.S., and France in 1948 of the "prevailing Italian character of the whole free territary, including the Yugoslav-occupied Zone B.

A copy of the new agreement was handed to Yugoslavia Friday. France also was sent a copy.

The Italian political adviser and the zone commander would represent the Italian government in a matter regarding Italy in the zone. He was to have a status similar to that of the British and U.S. advisers.

The memorandum of agreement reiterates that Britain and the U.S. retain responsibility of administering the zone and that the military governor keep in his hands all powers of government.

Landmark Vanishes

EDMONTON—(CP)—One of Edmonton's oldest homes, a brick dwelling built in 1900, is being torn down to make way for a downtown parking lot. The city purchased the structure in 1905, since when it has been leased to various business concerns. It is felt that revenue from parking cars will be greater than rents from the house.

SIXTEEN NURSES were graduated from St. Joseph's Hospital Friday afternoon at exercises held in the Nurse's residence. In his address to the graduates, the Rev. J. F. Coughlin said that although without science their work would be impossible, science was not the complete answer to the problems they would face as nurses, nor in other walks of life. The nurses who graduated were: (Top Row, Left to Right) Bertille Fanning, Gwendolyn Chatterton, Kay Naud, Helen Hendrick, Jean Walsh, Monica English, Pat Jackson, Veronica Sheridan. (Bottom Row) Betty Schiarizza, Jean Connolly, Anne Stoklosar, Marguerite Lamey, Margaret Tunney, Anne McGee, Rita Chapman, and Mary Costello.—(Roy Studio Photos.)

Science Does Not Provide All Answers Graduating Nurses Told

"No nursing career can be a success without a firm foundation in science," the Rev. J. F. Coughlin, assistant principal of St. Peter's High School said in addressing the graduating class of St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing Friday afternoon.

However, he warned, "We cannot place all our hope in science."

[illegible] the 1952 graduating class who were presented with their diplomas at the school's annual commencement exercises held in the nurses' residence, Father Coughlin termed modern science a "great boon to humanity," if it is in the hands of good men and women.

"We have become accustomed to look for great things from science. The wonder drugs have become a hackneyed expression of newspaper jargon, but they illustrate our confidence in men of science," he said.

Won Esteem

The medical profession has won the esteem in which it is held on far higher merits than scientific techniques alone said Father Coughlin. "Techniques are merely the physical plane and are in the same order of accomplishment as a yo-yo champ or a knitting grandmother. If it should ever happen that medical men base all their claim to esteem solely on the use of modern and involved techniques then they are setting themselves up as glass idols soon to be smashed to bits."

It is in the solemn oath taken by doctors that the true esteem of the profession lies, said Father Coughlin. "The nurses graduating today share in that dignity. It rests on far more than technical skill and scientific learning. They are pledged to observe the sacred ethics handed down from the early Greek practitioners.

Aim Highest

"In the Christian way of life, there is no middle way of life—no mediocre level," Father Coughlin continued. Regardless of which of the three states of life: religious, single or married life, the graduates may ultimately follow, each demands the same generosity of sacrifice and service he said.

In extending greetings to the graduating class, Mayor Hugh Waddell expressed the hope that each of the graduates would make "effective and productive use of the knowledge they acquired in their training. You have youth, energy, ambition and the rosy outlook of a bright future," he said. "Yours is the opportunity to make the most of it."

Presented Diplomas

His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry, D.D., presented the diplomas and medals to the graduates and as each of the graduates came down from the platform to receive her certificate, little Mary Fraser carried the diploma and medal to the Bishop on a salver.

"Nursing provides a profession training that will [illegible] you well in whatever capacity you decide to follow," Bishop Berry said before making the presentations. "Nursing is a service that does not end at the bedside. It develops an outlook that fosters a desire to serve and enables the graduate nurse to fit into the community in a very special way."

Carry Roses

As the graduates walked slowly down the two aisles of the auditorium, carrying bouquets of red ribboned roses which accented the starched whiteness of their uniforms and black banded caps, violinist Kevin Leahy, accompanied by Mrs. Leahy at the piano, played Franz Lahar's Merry Widow Waltz. The graduates arrived at the stage in pairs, bowed as they met in the centre, and took their places in chairs arranged in a semi-circle on the platform.

During the program, Mr. and Mrs. Leahy played another violin-piano selection: Fritz Kreisler's "Leibesfreud." Mrs. Stanley Northrop sang Handel's "When You Walk," and Mrs. Leslie McLaren sang two numbers: "Sylvia," and "Morning," by composer Oley Speaks. Mrs. G. Wilson Craw accompanied both Mrs. Northrop and Mrs. McLaren on the piano.

P. D. Scollard of the school of nursing advisory board was chairman.

Following are the graduates: Rita L. Chapman, Peterboruogh; Gwendolyn J. Chatterton, Orono; Joan E. Connolly, Lindsay; Mary M. Costello, Enmsmore; Monica L. English, Indian River; Bertille Fanning, Peterborough; Helen T. Hendrick, Chelsea, Quebec; Patricia M. Jackson, Peterborough; Marguerite A. Lamey, Hastings; Anna M. McGee, Kirkfield; Kathryn A. Naud, Smiths Falls; Betty Schiarizza, Peterborough; Veronica M. Sheridan, Perth; Ann O. Stoklosar, Madoc; Margaret M. Tunney, Grafton; Jean L. Walsh, Indian River.

Mrs. Ross Matthews, 463 Hunter St. W., is a patient in the St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, where she underwent a serious operation a week ago.

Two Nurses Win Scholarships To Train More

Two scholarships, one in obstetrics, won by Miss Bertille Fanning of Peterborough, and another awarded to Miss Ann Stoklosar of Madoc, for advanced training in operating room technique, were presented Friday afternoon at St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing graduation.

Dr. D Whyte, chairman of the medical staff scholarship committee which awards the scholarships [illegible] of more graduates who qualify for post-graduate training, made the presentations. Combined value of the awards is approximately $500.

In the absence of Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan, the Rev. Joseph O'sullivan presented the nine Benefaciendo Medals. Three are awarded each year to each of the three classes and are presented to students who show good, but not necessarily the highest marks, and also for the "special solicitude and charity they show toward patients." If the medal is won by the same student three years in a row, it is awarded permanently on graduation.

Three In A Row

Three three-year winners of the 1952 class were presented with the medals by Father O'Sullivan. They were: Miss Margaret Lamey, of Hastings, Miss Bertille Fanning and Miss Patricia Jackson, both of Peterborough.

In the intermediate class, the medals were presented to Miss Rose Maloney, Miss Kathryn Farley and Miss Marie Hogan. Junior winners were: Miss Marion Sprakett, Miss Mary McCarthy and Miss Thelma Dion.

The award for highest standing in theory, presented by the St. Joseph's Ladies' Auxiliary, was won by Betty Schiarizza, of Peterborough. The prize for bedside nursing, presented by Dr. Robert Young, was won by Gwendolyn Chatterton, of Orono. Dr. Young was unable to be present, and the prize, a travelling case, was presented to Miss Chatterton by Dr. Young's eight-year-old son Bryan.

Marguerite Lamey, of Hastings, won the medal for nursing and Mrs. Frank Lynch, former president of the ladies auxiliary, presented Monica English, of Indian River, with the medal for surgical nursing, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence S. Ryan.

Queen Leaves Seclusion Of Court Mourning

LONDON, May 10 (Reuters) — The Queen Mother will leave the seclusion of court mourning next Tuesday to make her first public appearance since the funeral of King George VI, last February.

The Queen will travel to Crail, Scotland, to say a personal farewell to the Korea-bound 1st Battalion of the Black Watch Regiment, of which she is colonel-in-[illegible].

Though court mourning does not end until May 31, Britons will salute the Queen's visit as an example of her strict adherence to what she regards as her first duty —to serve the country.

The visit, however, will entail little ceremony. The Queen is expected to travel quietly to the camp and stay there about two hours. She will inspect the troops and probably make a short speech.

In the weeks of mouring, the Queen Mother has left Windsor Castle or Buckingham Palace — where she has been staying—only to visit several London churches. To avoid attention she has made a point of not visiting the same church twice.

Only once has she stepped out of this strict schedule—to attend a musical party at the home of Lord and Lady Eldon. A press photograph of her leaving—in a dress of black lace—was the first Britons had seen since the Royal funeral.

Her timetable when mourning ends is not known. But no doubt she will begin attending several functions normally graced by royalty—such as charity and society balls and the opening of housing estates—to lift some of the burden from her daughter's shoulders. Princess Margaret will also return to many of these duties.

One Sunday news paper has suggested she would like to become the next Governor-General of Australia. But no one has attached much credence to this report and an Australian spokesman here described it as "a most novel piece of speculation."

Other reports have suggested she might visit South Africa.

However, the biggest date on her calendar is the coronation of her daughter in June next year. If precedent is followed, she will have no active role in the actual act of coronation, though to her will go the place of honor in the magnificent Royal procession immediately before the Queen's carriage.

In Westminster Abbey she is expected to watch the ceremony from a special pew a few feet from her daughter's throne.

Reporter First Woman To Fly In Jet Aircraft

HALIFAX (CP)—Mary Casey, a reporter for the Halifax Mail-Star and the first Nova Scotia woman to fly in a jet aircraft, says the experience was not one to soon be forgotten.

She made the flight in a T33 jet trainer of the R.C.A.F. during a recent air show here with FO Ken Lewis of Calgary and Ottawa at the [illegible] miles an hour.

"I hardly realized we were moving," she said of the take-off.

"My eyes were glued to the speed and altitude indicators on the control panel in front of me. Up, up we went—seemingly almost straight up—through a fat white cloud to 12,000 feet.

"Down below us, Halifax was recognized to me only by the hexagon shape of the Citadel. As we climbed the sun grew warmer as it beamed through the plastic canopy and the helmet and rubber face mask I wore seemed to get heavier and heavier."

"But when we levelled out the weight dropped off and I had only the awesome feeling of looking down on the world from such a tremendous height and of covering so much territory in such an incredibly brief time."

Inside the cockpit . . . there was no sensation of speed—the ride was so smooth I had practically no feeling of movement.

"But when the aircraftc limbed or dived or turned, with the wings almost perpendicular to the ground so far beneath, you knew you were travelling."

After the flight, I watched for a minute as the T33 took off on another flight "and I sat and really relaxed for the first time all day."

Mother And Daughter Tea Held By Confederation H & S

The ladies of the Confederation Home and School Association had a novel, and what proved to be a very popular, idea when they decided to hold their spring tea as a "Mother and Daughter Tea." Ticket conveners Mrs. G. Kiff and Mrs. D. Abraham estimated about 200 paid admissions to the tea and the children under school age were allowed in free. Many of the guests were from other school sections of the city.

Purpose was to raise money for cups and saucers needed at the school for such affairs and meetings and the necessary sum was more than realized. Success is largely due to the efforts of general convener Mrs. W. J. Waldie.

Decorations were carried out in streamers criss-crossing the room and festooning bazaar tables and in flower centrepieces and doilies for each small table combining delicate shades of mauve, yellow, green and pink. Mrs. Clarence Porter was in charge of decorating and had assistance from teacher Miss Wartman and grade eight girls in making the flowers.

The tea table arrangement was also very dainty and suitable to the occasion with sweet peas the flowers chosen and the candles in the same colors as the streamers. The white linen tablecloth was beautifully embroidered and the setting was enhanced by a silver service and silver candalabrae and flower basket.

Refreshments included a good supply of jam and peanut butter sandwiches—for reasons the mothers knew well.

Daughters were pouring orange drink for the young guests at one end of the table and mothers and teachers poured tea at the other. These pairs were Mrs. J. Stuart, past president of this organization, and her daughter Jane, Mrs. J. G. Nicholls and Sylvia Waldie, Miss O. Johnston and Sandra Wood, Miss E. Garbutt and Audrey Tripp. Also pouring tea were Mrs. A. Olmstead and Mrs. A. Black, president of Queen Alexandra Association.

President Mrs. Lionel Monk and her daughters Christine and Gail and vice-president Mrs. Harvey Sutton and Julie Poole received at the door.

Entertainment was mainly for the younger guests and they did enjoy puppet shows presented by Mrs. J. R. Henderson of the South End Library and her assistants, and especially the private demonstrations of the puppets given between shows. Mrs. M. Szafranski assisted with this feature of the tea which was arranged for by Mrs. John Branson.

The home cooking table was handled by Mrs. C. Whatley and Mrs. J. Grierson and they did a sell-out business. So did Mrs. Doug. Melville, convener of the candy table, who was assisted with sales by Mrs. Branson.

Serving of the refreshments was done by grade eight girls, teachers and mothers. The girls helping were Eileen Weir, Joy Golloher, Jeanette Kettle, Barbara Ruttan, Maureen Aitken, Arlene Lunn, Pat Sibley and Sandra Wood and the teachers were Miss Wartman, Miss Day, Miss Parker, Miss Carroll, Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Murray. Mrs. Donald Wood, Mrs. L. Moore, Mrs. J. Wineberg, Mrs. W. H. Powell, Mrs. J. Henry and Mrs. E. Carroll of the Association served and looked after replenishing plates and tea pots. Mrs. H. Rolufs, Mrs. W. N. Thompson, Mrs. W. Hall and Mrs. Porter were looking after the kitchen work and making tea and Mrs. W. White was in charge of making up the orange drink.

Single-Breasted Suits Return

VANCOUVER (CP) — The single-breasted suit may be scheduled to make its Canadian comeback, but in Vancouver this news won't raise a single male eyebrow.

"Vancouver men have a reputation for being the least style-conscious in Canada," said one clothier sadly.

"In fact, eastern Canada rates Vancouver men as Canada's worst dressed. And that's not just Ontario or Quebec. Prairie cities like Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Regina are ahead of us."

Another clothier said that men on the coast don't bother to dress up "unless they absolutely have too."

But about these single-breasted suits—they'll be one-button style, with long narrow lapels. And the clothiers say hopefully that backward as Vancouver males are reputed to be, some 60 per cent will be wearing the suits this summer.

Loud sport shirts are taboo in the style books this year and even ties are more subdued.

To be really sharp, the "slim Jim" is the latest. That's a tie that's thin at both ends and can be tied from either end.

There's nothing quiet about underwear, however. In everything from broadcloth to nylon tricot, Vancouver men can get shorts in rainbow hues, in leopard skin stripes a la Johnny Weismuller and with beetles and schmoos crawling over tartan backgrounds.

ORANGE PIONEERS

Orangeism appears to have been introduced to Canada about 1820 and a Grand Lodge for British North America was formed in 1830.

Major Bennett Chapter Party Success At K. G. & C. Club

Major Bennett Chapter dance held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club Friday evening with 68 couples present was a huge success. Co-conveners Mrs. R. Clark and Mrs. Marjorie Delaney were responsible for the pleasing arrangements. Favors of nail polish and shampoo for the ladies and a variety of small gifts for the men were handed out at the door by Miss Jessie Johnston, Miss June Fraser and Mrs. A. Glassford.

Highlight of the evening was the draw for an electric floor polisher on which tickets have been selling for some time, under the convenership of Mrs. Harry Hamley. The lucky winner is Mrs. Harry McNabb of R.R. 11, Peterborough.

Prizes for spot dances were won by Mr. and Mrs. John McFee and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ward. Mr. and Mrs. S. Constable won a gent's elimination dance and a novelty dance was won by Mrs. Tom McMillan. Ladies' birthday dances were won by Mrs. S. Lockington, dancing with Mr. A. Pilley, and Mrs. Ward Pammett, dancing with Mr. Harry Hamilton.

Door prize draws were won by Dr. Warren Gamble, Mr. Eric McKinstry, Mr. Charlie Dobbin, Mr. Jack Skitch, Mr. A. Poolman and Mr. Earl Hope.

The committee assisting the conveners included Mrs. A. Poolman, Mrs. M. Shannon, Mrs. S. Gledhill, Mrs. F. Patterson and regent Mrs. Donald Murray.

Those attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. Skitch, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. S. Constable, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dobbin, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Marwood Patterson, M. Institute Sells Bulbs, Shrubs

A successful sale of bulbs and shrubs with Mrs. Charles Sandercock as auctioneer was one of the highlights of the May meeting of Roseneath Women's Institute.

The meeting was held in the township hall on Thursday with Mrs. Harold Taylor as hostess and Mrs. Edgar Carew as pianist. The first vice-president, Mrs. Fred Murphy presided.

Included in the correspondence read by the secretary, Mrs. Bart Thackeray, was an invitation which was accepted from St. James' Anglican W.A. to attend their meeting on May 15 in the township hall.

The financial statement showed receipts from the W.I. play, "Henry's Mail Order Wife" amounted to $67.50 making a balance on hand of $278.84.

The good cheer convener, Mrs. Alfred Pringle, reported 28 persons remembered during the month.

A report of the annual convention conference of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario held in Guelph in May was presented by the delegate, Mrs. Bart Thackeray.

The annual reports of the branch conveners of standing commtitees were presented as follows:

Community activities and public relations by Mrs. Alfred Pringle; agriculture and Canadian industries by Mrs. Frank Adams; historical research and current events by Mrs. Charlton Grigg; resolutions, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace; home economics and health, Mrs. Charles Sandercock; citizenship and educatoin was presented by Mrs. Fred Murphy owing to the unavoidable absence of the convener, Mrs. Ernest Burrison.

The roll call "A garden pest and how to control," was well responded to by the members.

Mrs. Fred Murphy and Mrs. Bart Thackeray were appointed a committee to arrange a program to be presented at Alderville on May 14 where the Institute will be guests of the Alderville Homemakers.

On motion it was decided to donate $10 to the Salvation Army in Cobourg and $5 to the Crippled Children's Fund. A donation of $30 was sent to the Northumberland T.B. Association.

Plans were made to have the next meeting on the evening of June 5 with Mrs. B. Thackeray as hostess.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband Said To Blame For Henpecking Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: I have two sisters-in-law, one married several years, the other about to be married. Recently I heard the married sister give the following advice to the bride-to-be: "When you and your husband are in public, be very affectionate and kind to him. But when your're at home, step on him and let him know who is the boss."

I know that this tactful female has applied such tender treatment to my brother, the most pitiful henpeck I ever saw. Could you print a few lines to convince the young bride that the older woman doesn't know what she's talking about? Thank you very much.

H. N.

ANSWER: I will say this for your sister-in-law. She has the decency to do her henpecking in private, which is more than most bossy wives do.

There are many ways in which women usurp the traditional right of their husbands to be the "head of the house". Some accomplish their purpose with more subtelty than your sister-in-law; many use less. All are wrong, but even more at fault is the Milquetoast who buckles under his wife's thumb. Without demur he surrenders all responsibility, all authority, all right to parental respect, while friend wife rules the roost—too often, not wisely!

Neither Should Be Boss

In a modern, well-balanced household, neither husband nor wife is "boss" in the dictatorial sense of the word. Both demand, and get, respect from each other and the children. Responsibilities are shared, but the final word of authority comes from Pop.

Your young sister-in-law will certainly establish a much finer household by following this advice than by heeding this cynical wife's counsel. No woman can truly love a man she does not respect, and she can't respect a man who so easily relinquishes authority.

Too many households are matriarchal, with father — largely thorugh his own fault—stepping down from the top spot. To his children he is an animated paycheck, to his wife a household convenience. A switch to old-fashioned procedure is needed, and would result in a much better standard of behaviour among our young people.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I have been married four years, and out of that time we have been together about a year and a half. We have two small children. My husband is in the Merchant Marine, and we have had several disagreements over this. I think he should quit sailing and find a job where he could be home with his family. He has been promising ever since we married to give up the sea and find work at home. He has tried it a few times, but always gives up and goes back to a ship. He says he can't make enough on shore, and that inside work makes him nervous.

PHYLLIS M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: From experience with many [illegible] positions, I can offer little hope that your husband will ever willingly give up the Merchant Marine for a shore job. The hundreds of books that have been written about man's love for the sea are not exaggerations. There is something about a seafaring life that holds a man firmly.

Of course your husband's duty is to, and with, his family, but only the Delphic Oracle could tell you how to convince him of if. If he hasn't been used to working on shore, he would undoubtedly have to take a job at less pay, and after sailing the seven seas, riding a subway or bus will be pretty tame to him.

Polish up all your objections, present them to him as convincingly as possible, perhaps have someone else in the family talk to him—and more than that you cannot do. A man works best at what he likes to do, and you'd both be miserable if you forced him to give up a job he loved for one that he hated.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 14 years old. The boy who sits next to me in school has a friend I would like very much to meet. How can I get my classmate to introduce us? This boy I like is 15.

THERESA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The direct solution is the simplest. Ask your classmate to introduce you.

However, I am more concerned with your scholarship, Theresa, than with your romance. You need to pay considerably more attention to the teacher and blackboard, and less to the boy next to you. For a girl of 14 your letter was atrocious. Spelling, grammar, writing—all could stand a great deal of improvement. You come from a city noted for its scholarship; don't let it down! Get to work on your books, and you'll find it much easier to meet and know the right kind of boy.

Remember Your Mother On Sunday

By NANCY CLEAVER

Flowers for mother on the second Sunday in May—all kinds and sorts—brilliant pink carnations [illegible] red roses, purple velvety pansies, saucy crimson snapdragons,—what a variety from which to choose at the florist's shop. What fun in anticipation to picture mother opening the sweet-smelling box of loveliness on the morning of Mother's Day.

All the flower gifts will not be bought. Some will be early blooms from the garden and others may even be picked from the roadside or the lawn. "The nicest spring bouquets are dandelions—even for Mother's Day," one young woman said, "They remind me of a succession of short-stemmed funny little bunches, some of them a bit battered or wilted because they are clutched so tightly by my son's chubby little fingers. But no face could shine more with happiness, and no eyes could be clearer or bluer, as he tilts up his freckled face to be kissed. At that moment his dandelion bouquet and his love have made me the proudest mother in the world."

All Had Fun

Another mother of school age children mentioned the flowers which she loved most were those from the bulbs which the family had planted on a bright Saturday afternoon the autumn before. Everyone had helped and everyone had had fun.

In the spring they all watched for the first green sprouts of the circle of snowdrops around the the barberry bush. The pointed, striped helmets of the crocuses pushing up through the grass were not slow in appearing. Close on their heels came the many blooms in the border in front of the stone wall. This mas a mosaic of color—the red and yellow, the orange and dark purple of the tulips, the golden daffodils, blue scillia and grape hyacinths, and delicate pink and cream and mauve hyacinths.

Some of the "Flowers for Mother" are pictured on the attractive Mother's Day cards. How many minor poets have striven to say in a new and striking way, "I love you, Mother" below the gay posies!

FLOWERS FOR MOTHER on "her day" are not all bought in a shop. Some "bouquets" are memories she will treasure all her life.

In every country compliments to mother have been paid. Even the "bad boys", the Russions, have this fine proverb: "A mother's love will draw up from the depths of the sea." The Greeks, from their maritime adventures derived this saying, "Children are the anchors that hold a mother to life." Some unknown gay French man coined this saying: "Mother's love is ever at the Spring." While the Scottish poet wrote, "The mother's breath is aye sweet." There is no truer reflection on the nature of women than the German: "Who takes the child by the hand takes the mother by the heart." The Hebrew folk have an old saying: "There is no bad mother or good death."

Critical Observations

It is quite true that some writers have dared to make an occasional critical observation. Disraeli once remarked, "The author who speaks about his own books is almost as bad as the mother who talks about her own children." Arthur Baer asked the pertinent question about absentee mothers, "Do incubator chicks love their mother?" G .K. Chesterton once said, "My country, right or wrong" is like saying, "My mother, drunk or sober." Kin Hubbard, the humorist offered this crack: "The old-time mother who used to wonder where her boy was now has a grandson who wonders where his mother is."

The cleverest lines found on a Mother's Day Greeting Card, the most flattering or stimulating quotation about mothers, do not mean nearly as much as a son's or daughter's own words of love to mother, whatever be their ages! This message may be printed in uneven letters, or written in handwriting which is hard to decipher, or typed neatly, or even spoken in a great hurry, (because it is hard to put into words the things which mean most to us.) But in whatever form it is expressed, the sweetest words which ever fall on a mother's ears are "I love you".

You can give mother a marvellous bouquet of flowers—and she will love them—You choose a gift accompanied by a card which you think is "just right"—But on Mother's Day both Dad and the children should tell mother in their own way how much she means to them.

They shouldn't need a special day to do it—Every day in a child's quick response to a mother's affection and appreciation, should be Mother's Day—but this is Her Day in the whole year—Be sure you give her recollections which she will treasure all her life.

As you think of flowers for mother, quite possibly you recall the phrase "roses in December." Did you know that it came from the pen of G. A. Studdart-Kennedy, the much beloved British padre knicknamed "Woodbine Willie" in the First World War? He wrote very good sense about all people, but especially about mothers when he said:

"God gave his children memory that in life's garden there might be June roses in December."

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: Dear Friend: I have been reading your interesting column for a long time and have found many grand recipes and useful diets in it. I feel rather stupid to ask you this but I do not know anything about broiling meat and fish and wondered if you could help me out on this. I would like to know if you have to have a special pan or if it can be done in a frying pan and whether it is done on top of the stove or in the oven and lastly if any water is added to the pan. I would also like to know if it would be alright to use one-half grain saccharin tablet in a cup of coffee when on a reducing diet. Mrs. A. T.

ANSWER: Modern stoves have top burners in the oven, and come equipped with a "broiler pan" which is made of aluminum or enamelware or stainless steel and which is the same size as a rack in the oven and fits into the rack supports. It is about 1 inch deep, and contains a wire or slotted rack on which to place the meat or other material to be broiled. The broiler burner is turned on about 5 minutes for gas, or 10 minutes for electricity, before time to broil. Most cooks like to insert broiler pan to hold heat up at broiling level. The rack is greased and meat or fish, etc. is placed on it and cooked at high dry heat, and is turned over once when first side is cooked and golden. The food is usually placed about 1 or 2 inches from the direct heat. No water is added.

There is seldom any reason why anyone could not use saccharin in his coffee. If, for any reason, you are under the doctor's care you might ask him, but I can see no harm in it. On the contrary if you will enjoy your coffee more it is all to the good, for most reducing diets are so strict. Would you please send me your name and address so I can mail the column on broiling to you?

QUESTION: Before I tell you my troubles may I tell you how much I enjoy your column? I am a fairly new subscriber to the [illegible] its most interesting features. Now for the problem which really has me baffled: I hope I don't sound immodest when I say that since I was married 5½ years ago I have been able to count on turning out pretty fair cakes ... pride goes before a fall .. the last 5 or 6 cakes have been real "floperoos." Just after the cake is baked it will be lovely and light, but the bottom ¼ to ½ inch will be thick and soggy. Then after it is cooled the whole cake becomes moist and solid although fine-grained ... I have made these cakes both by standard and one-bowl methods, while the standard ones are a little better they are still heavy. My old-faithful never-fail chocolate cake turned out that way ... I decided to try a new brand of shortening—but had the same result—lovely on top, terrible on the bottom ... I usually use a pyrex pan and cool the cake on a rack in the pan—could this be the trouble? I don't have the trouble with cake mixes . thanks for listening, I'll look forward to your answer.

Mrs. Alex S.

ANSWER: If you had not added that one little exception about cake mixes I would have been sure it was your bottom oven not functioning at full heat, then would have added that cakes should be baked in shiny new tin pans. I still may not be wrong, for cake mixes are very durable and foolproof.

Let us assume the bottom oven is at fault. Have it checked by the dealer from whom you bought it. And heat the oven with it only and check on time it takes to heat to 375 deg. Fahr. If electric it should not take more than 25 minutes. Buy shiny new tin pans and stand cake on rack 1½ inches from bottom burner and see if it rises at that position and bakes on the bottom. Change your brand of baking powder and use baking powder from a store where there is a fast turnover. Almost all of the shortenings are emulsified now—except pure lard. Use the standard method—cream shortening for 5 minutes, cream in sugar gradually, beat in yolks. Sift flour, measure, and sift it with the dry ingredients. Sift it over the creamed mixture alternately with the milk and vanilla. Beat whites and fold them in. Please write to me again—don't leave me wondering how you made out. Best of luck.

Lakefield Group Plays In Bancroft

BANCROFT, May 10 (ENS)—The Lakefield Young Adult Group played to an enthusiastic audience in the Bancroft Community Hall on Tuesday night when they presented their three-act comedy "Here Comes the Prince."

Art Hewitt was the chairman and between the acts selections were heard from young Bancroft pianists Marlene Mullett, Aldith Robinson, Sue Gordon, Elizabeth Follis, Lorraine Watson, Dean Laundry, Bob Delyea and Mrs. Don Creighton.

Before leaving for home the Lakefield group who were sponsored by the Evening W.A. of St. Paul's United Church, spent a social hour with the members and enjoyed a lunch provided by a committee convened by Mrs. Ellis Mather.

In Memoriam

DEGEN—In loving memory of my mother, Mrs. Mary Degen, who passed away one year ago, May 9, 1951.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter May and grandchildren.

MILLER—In loving memory of our sister, Greta (Northey) Miller, who was suddenly taken from us, May 11, 1950.
—Ever remembered by Laura, Myrtle and families.

MILLER—In loving memory of a dear wife, Greta May Miller, who passed away May 11, 1950.
God gave me a wonderful wife,
Her memory will never grow old,
He fashioned her smile out of sunshine,
He moulded her heart out of gold,
He needed a new star in heaven,
A beautiful light to shine,
So out of this old world of sorrow,
He chose that dear wife of mine.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by husband Bill.

NICHOLS—In loving memory of Mrs. Stevens Nichols, who passed away 20 years ago, May 11, 1932.
For her, life more abundant,
For us, a guiding star.
—Lovingly remembered by her daughters Rita and May.

OBITUARIES

FREDERICK A. NOTT

Frederick A. Nott, father of Dr. Robert F. Nott of the city, died on Friday at his home 232½ Windermere Ave., Toronto, following a short illness. He was born in that city and has lived there a lifetime, and was employed by the C.N.R. in the foreign freight department until his retirement ten years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Della V. Young, one daughter Mrs. H. Tomlison (Margaret) and a son, Frank, all of Toronto, and Dr. Nott of Peterborough. Mr. Nott was a member of the Church of England.

Funeral service will be held on Monday at York Brothers funeral chapel, Toronto, at 1 p.m. Burial will be at Park Lawn cemetery.

MRS. GEORGE NIMMONS.

Mrs. George Nimmons, the former Roberta Helen Millar, 184 George St. N., died in Buffalo on Thursday following a short illness.

Mrs. Nimmons was born in Glasgow, Scotland, daughter of the late Robert Adam Millar and Jean Telford and has lived in Peterborough since 1920.

She was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church, the Order of the Eastern Star and the Rebekah Lodge.

She leaves her husband, George Nimmons, one daughter Mrs. William Beggs (Florence) Peterborough; and two sons, R. M. Taylor of Detroit, Michigan; and G. A. Nimmons of Peterborough; and one step-daughter, Mrs. Frank Garvey (Agnes), Port Perry.

The funeral will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. M. P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church will conduct the service. The Order of the Eastern Star will hold a service at the Comstock funeral home at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and the Rebekah Lodge at the funeral home Sunday at 7 p.m. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Roof Burned Damage $2,000

WARKWORTH, May 10. (ENS) —The roof of the farm house home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Lawrence was partly burned off on Tuesday afternoon in a fire of unknown origin.

The two and a half storey house about six miles west of Warkworth on the county road is a 50-year-old landmark in that section.

About 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Mrs Lawrence said, she smelled smoke, but an investigation failed to reveal the source of the fire. It appeared to disappear, but then the fire really broke out in the roof and attic.

The east side of the roof was completely destroyed and two of the six bedrooms were badly damaged. The rest were damaged by smoke and water. Damage was estimated at about $2,000.

Fire Department

The Warkworth fire department responded after permission had been obtained from the reeve of Warkworth who was at a meeting at the time.

The firemen used chemicals, water from a cistern in the house, a well near the house, one in a nearby field and one owned on the adjacent farm of Charles Killingbeck. A strong wind threatened to take the fire to a barn, but firemen put out the flames before they could do any more damage.

Many neighbors responded to the alarm and most of the furniture was taken out. Even some of the doors were taken off their hinges.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Lawrence's cousin, Mrs. Ross Mitchell, with her three-year-old daughter Shirley, of Grafton who were visiting, spent the first night with neighbors and then set up beds in the first floor until the upstairs could be repaired.

In the morning of the same day, the Warkworth fire department put out a chimney fire in an apartment owned by Morley Smith.

Suffers Minor Injury In Collision With Car

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10 — (ENS)—Gerald Holmes, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Holmes of Campbellford, escaped with only a bruised shoulder on Friday afternoon, when his bicycle collided with a car on Doxsee Ave. The youngster was knocked to the pavement and the bicycle demolished.

Driver of the auto, Harold Redden of R.R. 4, Warkworth said the boy rode into the side of the car. He was not held. The lad was attended by Dr. W. W. Baker who found he was not seriously injured.

Chief Constable George H. Hardy investigated. He urged motorists to be extra cautious, as youthful cyclists are appearing on the streets of the town in increasing numbers, and some of them are not as familiar as they should be with traffic laws.

Lancaster Squadron To Fly To Britain

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP). — Lancasters from the R.C.A.F.'s 404 Maritime Squadron at Greenwood, N.S., will fly to the United Kingdom during May and June as part of their routine training program, Air Force headquarters announced today.

While in the U.K. the Lancasters will fly on exercises with the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force.

Several Lancasters are scheduled to leave May 12. Early in June more aircraft from the same squadron will make the flight. Both groups of Lancasters will operate out of the R.A.F. station at St. Eval in Cornwall. They are expected back at their Greenwood home base early in July.

Ground crew from the squadron will also make the trans-Atlantic trip, to service the aircraft during their stay overseas.

Mrs. George Mouncey as program convener announced the following numbers: An instrumental duet, piano and violin, Miss Hilda Brown and Bill Murphy; A vocal duet by Misses Nancy Carew and Mary Coyle; A reading by Miss Donna McGrath; A piano solo by Mrs. Edgar Carew.

The members of the cast of the W.I. play and their director were asked to come forward. Mrs. Cephas Robins read an address and Mesdames George Mouncey, Harold George and Alfred Pringle made the presentation of china cups and saucers. The recipients, completely taken by surprise, replied briefly. Miss Joan Grigg read an ode to the cast of the play, "It Can be Done", followed by the singing of "For They are Jolly Good Ladies."

The members of the play cast are: Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Harold Taylor, Mrs. Charles Sandercock, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, Mrs. Fred Murphy, Mrs. Bart Thackeray. The play was ably directed by Mrs. Charlton Grigg.

The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

The hostess served refreshments.

Vandals Damage Fort

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 10 (CP) — The Niagara Historic Sites and Monuments Board reported Friday that Old Fort Mississaugua at Niagara-on-the-Lake has suffered extensive damage at the hands of vandals. The fort was built in 1814. Five years ago, the roof burned off.

Millions Of the way to the south end of it, side with the white - painted troughs that now contain the tiny fry.

Start In Jars

It is at the south end of the main building that the hatching process starts. Here, in batteries of tall glass jars, the fertilized eggs are kept — roughly 150,000 to a jar — until they are ready to hatch. The jars, of thick glass, are roughly seven inches in diameter, and 30 inches high.

The eggs are about the size of bird shot and fill the bottom two-fifths of each jar. Water slowly circulated through the jars keeps the eggs from sticking together. If they stuck, says Mr. Jackson, the unhatched fry would die.

Eggs in the jars are a variety of colors—most are amber in color, showing they are fertile, but there is the odd blue one, some red ones, and the inevitable white eggs. White eggs are infertile.

It is within these jars that the first predator attacks the unhatched fry. A white fungus forms on eggs, and those attacked can be clearly distinguished by the fuzzy whiteness partly hiding their amber color.

One glass jar contained the last batch of eggs that would provide fry for the troughs. Mr. Jackson, saying that the last was always the worst, estimated that only 35 per cent of this batch would hatch into fry.

The jar contained a mass of white, infertile eggs, but a small number of the fertile amber eggs could be seen.

Start To Hatch

Inside the eggs that were nearly ready to hatch could be seen the tiny fry, about a quarter of an inch long. They are curled up inside the egg, and look like tiny black lines drawn on the interiors of the shells.

When they are ready to hatch, the glass jar is removed from the others, and part of the water is poured off. Then the fry, some hatched and already wriggling, are poured into a white enamel basin.

From this, they are distributed evenly into 10 white enamel basins, so that each contains about 15,000 eggs. Here the eggs lie until all are hatched, and this may take half an hour or more.

Once free from their shells, the fry can be seen plainly as transparent little creatures, except for the black line that runs through the length of each. The yolk sac gives them a pot-bellied appearance, and there is a slight flush of blood at the front of the sac.

Not too active at this stage, they will dart to the surface, swim hurriedly and pointlessly to and fro, then drop exhausted to the bottom of the pan.

Next comes the problem of pouring off the cracked eggshells. These shells are almost indistinguishable at first, but when the water is disturbed, they are seen to have the amber color that marked them in the glass jars.

Pour Gently!

The cracked shells are poured off gently, so that no fry will be lost down the drains of the troughs. When this is done, the batch of fry in a basin is poured into a screen-bottomed tray with wood sides, which rests in the trough.

There is a change in water temperature that the fry undergo at this point. In the jars, water was at a temperature of about 52 or 53 degrees. Running water in the troughs is warmer than this by about five degrees.

For the most part, the fry lie at the bottom of their trays, swimming seldom and appearing lifeless. They form a khaki mass against the near-black of the trough bottom.

For 10 days the fry live in the troughs, tripling their size. Within this 10 days the yolk sac is consumed, and they begin to forage for food. They must be fed until the 10 days are up and they are placed in the rearing ponds.

In this 10-day period, and in the time that went before it (while the eggs were in jars), there is about two per cent mortality in a hatchery. Nature's death toll is much greater.

When the muskies — all of an inch long or slightly more — are placed in the ponds, they have to be fed for six to eight weeks. In that time they will grow to as long as six inches, although the average would be about four or five inches.

80 Per Cent Die

By then, they are fingerlings, ready to be stocked in lakes. But not all of the 4,000,000 fry survive as fingerlings. The mortality rate in this period is about 80 per cent, and only about 800,000 will live to be stocked in the province's rivers and lakes.

Again, the natural death rate among such an amount of fry would be higher. Mr. Jackson said that under natural conditions only five per cent or less would live.

"If every one of the fry hatched under natural conditions were to survive," he said, "there wouldn't be much room left for water in our l

Canadian Experiment May Speed Planning For Korean Recovery

VANCOUVER, May 10 —(CP)— I've just had a wonderful time renewing friendship with a bright young Korean I used to know in his devastated homeland.

He came to Canada last January to study scientific agriculture. The way he's going about it strikes a spark of hope for his country.

The youth is Pak Jong Yong who used to work with me in Korea. Now, as I go back to Korea to cover activities of the Canadian armed forces, I feel an idea I shared in is a success.

Writer Jock Carroll of Toronto and I felt education is the way to keep Korean democratic; that she won't have good government, or the professional brains to improve her social conditions, until a new generation is trained. Forty-five years of Japanese occupation and the Korean war have left her unequipped to train the men she needs.

Sponsors Studies

Carroll's magazine (Weekend) picked up the idea. It is sponsoring Pak's studies in Canada—at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., where he's called Johnny Young.

In Ottawa the other day, I helped Pak celebrate his 20th birthday. He's the same lad I knew in Korea —intelligent, unspoiled by magazine and newspaper stories about him, and disarmingly candid.

In four months his English has improved. He has had a chance to confirm that he has more than average ability, for he's leading his class at Macdonald High School despite his language difficulty.

And he has perfected his use of knife and fork, since until Christmas he usually used chopsticks.

Pak says he likes Canada fine, because the ple are "always so kind." He clinched his social standing at Macdonald by a high-bar gymnastic exhibition that woed the school.

Likes Gymnastics

"It's funny," says Pak, "but boys who never spoke to me before shook my hand after that." Gymnastics is the only sport he likes.

I'm taking back to Korea a present for his sweetheart and letters for his family. I plan to tell them that he will still be Korean in heart and manner when he returns, but that he will be well trained to help his country improve its agriculture when hostilities have ended.

There is a lift in my heart over how wonderfully Pak Jong Yong is making out. As I go back to his country, I wonder if he doesn't point up a pattern for reconstruction. The effect of 50 Pak Jong Yongs, trained in Canada and returned home to Korea, could be incalculable.

Bomb Threat Halts Detroit Newspaper

DETROIT, May 10 (AP) — An anonymous bombing tip halted the presses of the Detroit Times Friday and sent frightened employees scurrying into the street.

Reporter Russ Fuller received the bomb threat by phone.

The tipster said a hidden time bomb would go off in the Times at 4 p.m. EDT.

Police ordered the building evacuated. The deadline passed; detectives found nothing.

Announces Medals

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton Friday night announced the award of the Distinguished Service Cross to Cmdr. Edward T. G. Madgwick, of Ottawa, and other awards to naval personnel who took part in Korean operations. Cmdr. Madgwick won the D.S.C. for devotion to duty as a commander of the destroyer Huron during Korean operations last year.

R.C.A.F. Band Grounded

WINNIPEG, May 10 — (CP) — Because of the cutback in aviation gas consumption by the armed forces, an R.C.A.F. band from Trenton, scheduled to fly to Winnipeg for a navigation school's wings parade Friday, was grounded. Into the breach went Prairie Command's Royal Canadian Artillery Band and the parade went on as scheduled.

RENEW FRIENDSHIP—Two friends who met in war-devastated Korea renew their friendship under more pleasant surroundings on the tulip-covered grounds of Parliament Hill, Ottawa. Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent, right, became interested in bright Pak Jong Yong who worked as a houseboy for him in Korea. In January Pak Jong Yong was brought to Canada to study scientific agriculture. His fellow students call him Johnny Young. When his studies are completed Pak will return to help rehabilitate his native land. Boss is on his way back to Korea to resume coverage of the Canadian armed forces.

Waistline Tea Held At Rectory

LAKEFIELD, May 10, ENS) — The newly decorated rectory of the Church of St. John the Baptist was the setting for a "Waistline Tea" given by members of the Guild on Thursday afternoon.

Over 60 attended and were delighted with the renovation which included the painting and papering of the living-room and the addition of new hardwood floors; a new tile floor in the kitchen which was also painted and the painting of the hall. All this work was done voluntarily by members of the church.

The guests were welcomed by Guild president, Mrs. H. E. Gastle and the Rev. L. J. Delaney and Mrs. Delaney.

The tea table was centred with a bowl of spring flowers, flanked on either side by tall pink tapers in silver holders. Tea was poured by Mrs. H. Stuart, Mrs. Charles Stenner, Mrs. L. Quackenbush and Mrs. Harold Deeth.

Mrs. C. Asquith was tea convener and was assisted in serving by Mrs. E. Rogers, Mrs. William O'Brien, Mrs. Fred Hudson, Mrs. J. Mose and Miss L. Paul..

Mrs. John Twist was cashier for the afternoon.

Vancouver Man Hurt In Trenton Accident

TRENTON, May 10 (CP)—Bert Boler of Vancouver was injured last night when crushed beneath the rear wheels of a truck from which he leaped after it went out of control.

Boler had thumbed a ride to Trenton with Keith Gunter, Trenton truck driver. Near here, police said, the truck went out of control, left the road and hit a telegraph pole. Boler leaped out before the impact, and was crushed beneath the rear wheels.

He was taken to hospital here suffering from concussion and other injuries.

Tribute Paid Member Of Bar

In the April issue of Chitty's Law Journal published in Toronto there appears an item headed "Requiescat in Pace" and refers to a member of the Peterborough Bar Association who recently died. The item is written by R. M. Willis Chitty, Q.C., the editor of journal.

"Today we buried a man whose passing in some ways leaves our profession that much poorer. You probably have never heard his name but he typifies much that goes to make our profession what Ruskin called it the noblest of all professions. In the galaxy of stars he was only a pin-point and yet without him and many like him we could not render the public the service that we owe. He came to our office a qualified practitioner of Manitoba, sometime in the thirties of which we have no record. Our office then in some ways was sort of a home for waifs and strays. Why he left Manitoba we have never discovered. He was too proud and his brethren of Manitoba too loyal to tell. He said the climate was too rigorous for his health. Perhaps it was so. He served us faithfully to the utmost of his ability. Later he went to Peterborough and there he served faithfully and well. Some years ago he suffered a slight stroke but he would never admit it on the sporadic occasions when he came to our office or we saw him at meetings of District Six of the Federation. He died on Sunday here in Toronto. We saw him the previous Friday in our office, and there was no hint of an impending end. He was another Caspar Milquetoast mill-run of our profession and yet without him and many like him the profession could not render its great service to the public. His name? What does it matter. And yet perhaps we may enshrine it in the 'monumentum aere perennius' of Horace. Some antiquarian in centuries to come poring through forgotten pages may find it and wonder why. The answer leaps to mind. The old and perfect eulogy, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, Alford Elliott McDougall." We ask no more than that some day someone will say the same of us, and we too will rest in peace."

Squatter Once Hunted Bear In Famed Stanley Park

VANCOUVER (CP)—The scenes of his boyhood are fading from his eyes, but old Tim Cummings still knows the sounds of Vancouver and beautiful Stanley Park—the palce where he was born.

William Timothy Cummings, the last of the park's squatters, is older than the city itself. He was born New Year's Day, 1881, in the same little cottage where he lives today.

His father was a Scottish sailor who jumped ship when his wind jammer rode into Burrard Inlet some time after 1870. His mother was a Bella Coola Indian girl who was brought south to work in the fish cannery at Steveston.

When Tim was a boy he hunted deer and bear in the heavy forest of Stanley Park and vicinity. Now he saws logs on the beach and goes to town only once a week.

"What's the sense of going downtown when you can't see to get across the streets and you have to wait for somebody to take your arm," he said.

After the death of his parents, Tim stayed in a little shingled cottage near the Hallelujah Point lighthouse. Except for some minor additions over the years, it's the same old house.

Last Of Squatters

The Vancouver Parks Board has ejected all squatters except Tim and his sister, Agnes. They don't know why they were permitted to remain.

They have a collie dog named Rex, coal oil lamps, outdoor plumbing, a rich garden of vegetables and flowers, and a boat.

His eyes are steadily failing and Old Tim can no longer see the north shore or Lion's Gate Bridge.

"I could see the bridge when it first went up but it's gone now," he said. "Except sometimes in the morning when the sun is just getting up and I can see the light flashing on the windshields of the cars."

"I got walloped in the eye during the Great War," he said.

"Then I was a stevedore. They paid us 15 cents an hour for 10 hours' work a day and that was quite good enough. Why, it costs me 15 cents to buy bones for the dog now."

In spite of his failing eyesight, Tim isn't content on his three-quarter acre plot of land. He likes to listen to the bells and sirens of boats in the harbor. He knows them all.

SUSPECT'S GIRL — Maxine Taylor, 24, of Skowhegan, Me., makes a phone call at Taunton, Mass., court after being arraigned on a immorals charge. Miss Taylor is the sweetheart of Harvey "Mad Dog" Bistany, a "prime suspect" in the Arnold Schuster murder case.

Permit Newsmen To Wear Korea Ribbon

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP) — The army said Friday any Canadian Correspondent who has spent 30 days covering the Korean War is entitled to wear the blue-and-yellow ribbon of the Korea medal, now worn by thousands of veterans of the 25th Brigade, the Navy and Air Force.

Members of the Canadian Red Cross, volunteer aid detachment, Order of St. John, defence research teams or cable and wireless detachments serving with the Canadian forces in the field also are entitled to wear the medal.

Veteran Suicides

VANCOUVER, May 10—(CP)— A war veteran killed himself Friday in a crowded ward of Shaughnessy Military Hospital here. Police reported he shot himself, using a revolver believed to have been smuggled into the hospital in an overcoat. "He told us he was tired of it all," said a patient in his ward.

Find Three Bodies Hidden In Gulley; All Shot To Death

LONDON, Ont., May 12. (CP)—The sharp eyes of a nine-year-old boy led to the discovery Sunday of the bodies of three persons shot to death in a lonely gully near the Muncey Indian reserve. Dead are Mrs. Lydia Riley, 64, of Muncey; her niece, Mrs. Beatrice Henry, about 30, and her husband, Herman, about 32, of Christinia. A party of London fishermen found Mrs. Riley's body which had two wounds in the chest and one in the head. The boy, Billie Morrylees, found the body after he spotted the bright green of a woman's dress in the drab underbrush from the car in which he was riding. The side road runs along the gully, just north of the reserve, 15 miles southwest of London.

Several hundred feet away, the other two bodies were found by Harold Whiting of Muncey. Both Mr. and Mrs. Henry had bullet wounds over the heart.

Police said there were indications the bodies of Henry and his wife had been dragged into the gully, opening the possibility they had been shot some distance from the gully.

The bodies were sent to Victoria Hospital, London, where post mortems were conducted by Dr. John Fisher, pathologist.

Find No Motive

Police disclosed no motive for the slayings and there were no reports of the weapon used being found.

Police moved into the reserve Sunday night and about six officers were working on the case.

Lyle Riley, son of Mrs. Riley, said he last saw his mother and the Henrys when they left his Muncey home at 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

He said he believed his mother intended to go to the home of another son, Sam, and it is believed the Henrys were going to their home.

Members of the London fishing party were Chester McKerlie, and his son; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Beer; Mr. and Mrs. William Morrylees, and their children.

Ahead of Mother

Young Morrylees saw the body of the woman just before his mother noticed it.

"We could tell at once she was dead," said Mr. McKerlie.

He said they drove into the village of Muncey, notified police, and returned to the gully with a nurse from the Muncey clinic.

A short time later provincial police arrived and called in coroner Dr. C. R. Newton, of Strathroy, and coroner Dr. A. A. Routledge of London.

Steel Dispute Hearing Begins In U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 12. (AP)—Lawyers for the administration and the vast steel industry open oral arguments before the Supreme Court today in an historic effort to settle finally whether President Truman's seizure of the steel mills was legal.

The industry is asking the Supreme Court to uphold the April 29 decision of Federal Judge David A. Pine, who ruled that Truman's seizure order of April 8, issued to head off a strike was unconstitutional. He ordered the mills returned to their owners.

The justice department, supported by the United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.), is asking that Judge Pine's injunction against seizing the mills be reversed.

The court may rule only on the narrow issue of the injunction itself and not decide the broad problem of just how much unwritten power a president has to meet a national emergency. Or, the whole case could be sent back to the lower court for further arguments and findings.

Give No Hint

There was no indication when the high could would hand down its decision.

The court set aside six hours for the two sides to present their viewpoints, starting this afternoon.

The acting attorney-general, Philip B. Perlman, who is solicitor-general argues federal cases before the hight court, is presenting the justice department's stand.

The steel companies are represented by 79-year-old John W. Davis, considered one of the country's top constitutional lawyers.

The steel companies' brief contends the government is attempting to impose compulsory arbitration, is trying to settle a labor dispute by "executive fiat" and is by passing the Taft-Hartley Act, which the brief said Congress intended for deadlocked labor disputes.

The justice department argues the President in seizing the mills acted to meet an emergency through powers set forth in the constitution. The department's brief called this "a grant of all the executive powers of which the government is capable."

Say Compromise Being Studied

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—Admiral William Fechteler, United States chief of naval operations, said today a possible compromise is being studied to resolve Anglo-American differences over the Allies command in the Mediterranean.

He told a press conference he has no idea what is the basis for an article in the Paris newspaper, Le Monde, which said he wrote a report that forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization might be driven out of Western Europe within a few days should Russia attack.

He said the whole concept of being completely driven out of Western Europe is so fantastic that he had never given it serious consideration.

Fechteler returned from Western Europe last week after discussing the Mediterranean command with British, French and Italian chiefs and with General Eisenhower.

Court Turns Down Watchmaker's Appeal

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today turned down the appeal of Genereux Ruest, Quebec City watchmaker convicted of murder in a plot that sent 23 persons to death aboard a dynamited airliner Sept. 9, 1949.

Seven of nine judges agreed that the appeal should be dismissed. The other two would have ordered a new trial.

The court was the last judicial resort for Ruest, one of three persons found guilty of murder in a time-bomb explosion in a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane over a desolate Quebec province area. He is to be hanged July 25 unless the federal government grants executive clemency.

Department Has Plan For New Steel Bridge

HAMILTON, May 12 (CP) — The Ontario Department of Highways has prepared a plan for a steel bridge to be strung across the Burlington Beach canal and already has a sufficient supply of 36-inch steel girders to do the job, it was announced today.

"The only interest of the department of highways is to supply the plan and the material to the Dominion Department of Public Works," Engineer Arthur Sedgewick said. "Removing the steel of the wrecked bascule bridge and actual construction of the new bridge—it will have to be suitable for three or four years' use—is up to the public works department." While the possibility of using one or more Bailey bridges to span the 160-foot canal has been discussed at length, it was felt that this idea would not be satisfactory, the engineer said. Pedestrians would not be able to walk across the narrow Baileys while motor vehicles were crossing.

Endicott Denies Saying Canada In Germ Warfare

TORONTO, May 12 (CP)—Dr. James C. Endicott claims that germ warfare is being used against the Communists in Asia. But he denies saying that Canada is taking part in it.

Speaking to an estimated 8,000 persons in Maple Leaf Gardens Sunday night for the closing ceremonies of a three-day Canadian Peace Congress rally, Dr. Endicott, chairman of the Leftist body, directed his reply to External Affairs Minister Pearson.

Mr. Pearson had been asked in a Commons committee about recent Moscow radio reports which quoted Dr. Endicott as "confirming" that United Nations forces are waging bacteriological warfare on Red China.

Dr. Endicott told the audience: "It is alleged that I on my own authority implicated Canada in germ warfare.

"I did not. I gave an honest answer to honest questions about an article in The Montreal Standard on Canada's work for germ war. I did not take the article to China.

"It appeared at length in the Chinese press. The article, as I have already said, claimed that the head of Canada's Defence Board told Gerald Waring that 'the future of death on a mass scale is very bright.'

(Two weeks ago, Dr. Endicott said in London during a telephone interview with The Canadian Press that he had not implicated Canada in germ warfare. He said he had made "no statement (that) I had knowledge the insects were bred in Canada.")

Dr. Endicott told Sunday night's meeting that if any member of the parliamentary committee feels the article by Mr. Waring has done Canada an injustice, they are at liberty to write fully to the New China News Agency and set the matter right."

He told of his visit to northeast China where he said he saw the effects of "large-scale U.S. germ warfare being carried out against the Chinese people."

He said he saw and collected many germ-bearing insects and their containers dropped from American planes. He claimed he visited farmers and saw the people being inoculated against diseases.

Meteor Blast Causes Excitement

Seattle Residents Feel Concussion Of Explosion In Sky

SEATTLE, Wash., May 12.—(AP)—U.S. Air Force investigators and astronomers, after checking hundreds of eye-witness reports, said today a fiery object which exploded with violent force over Seattle and the surrounding Puget Sound country early Sunday probably was a meteor.

They continued questioning witnesses from Olympia, 50 miles south of here, to Bellingham, 80 miles north, however, and started a search for "strange" materials they said might have come from a meteor.

The object flashed across the sky at 1:26 a.m., P.D.T., (4:26 a.m. E.D.T.) Sunday. Airline pilots and ground observers said it exploded with a blinding flare and burst into flaming streamers. The rumbling concussion that followed rattled windows and shook doors.

Col. Allan Bennett, commanding officer of the 25th Air Defence Division at McChord Air Force base near Tacoma, and Dr. J. Hugh Pruett, University of Oregon astronomer and Pacific regional director of the American Meteor Society, agreed it probably was a meteor.

Bennett said none of the radar installations in the Pacific Northwest picked up the object on their screens and he doubted the object could have been an aircraft or guided missile.

"If it was a meteor, it was probably coming nearly straight down," Bennett said. "That would make it very difficult to track (on radar) . . . if it was an aircraft or guided missile we would have picked it up."

Some observers said the object appeared to be as low as 8,000 feet. Dr. Pruett said, however, that meteors usually cease to glow at 25 to 30 miles up.

There were no reports of damage caused by the blast, but police, fire department and newspaper switchboards were jammed by hundreds of calls from suddenly awakened residents.

Ridgway Leaves For Europe

TOKYO, May 12 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who blocked Communists in Korea and engineered the end of the Allied occupation of Japan, left today on his way to Europe to succeed Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It was only a year, a month and a day ago that Ridgway took over from Gen. Douglas MacArthur as supreme commander of Allied powers in Japan.

As he left he turned over his United Nations and Far Eastern commands to Gen. Mark Clark.

Ridgway's Constellation left at 3:09 p.m. (2:09 a.m. E.D.T.) for Honolulu.

Two Men Rob Jewelry Store

TORONTO, May 12 (CP)—Two men today robbed a jewelry store of $25,000 worth of watches and diamonds and $4,000 in cash after striking proprietor Mrs. Hilda Jeffries.

Mrs. Jeffries opened the store early in preparation for a large sale. She opened both the front and back doors and then unlocked the store safe.

"The first thing I knew, someone hit me over the eye," she said. "There were two men and one pushed something in my back and said 'say one word or even turn your head and I'll shoot'."

She fainted and when she regained consciousness the men and the jewelry were gone.

A sign in the window said: "Entire stock sold to the highest bidder. We are not going out of business."

The store is on Bloor Street in West-Central Toronto.

Great Dane Puppies Attack Child, 7

ORILLIA, May 12 (CP)—Clifford Francis, 7, Sunday was badly mauled by several 12-week-old Great Dane puppies.

The boy was playing with the dogs who belonged to a neighbor while he and his mother were visiting Mrs. Violet Beaumont.

Two men who went to the boy's rescue were attacked by the parent dogs and had to beat them off with sticks.

Uncover More Of Arctic's Vast Secrets

Daring North Pole Air Force Party Learns Interesting Data

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, May 12 — (AP).— The daring North Pole air force plane-landing party has uncovered more of the Arctic's secrets.

One, a cache left by the Rear-Admiral Robert E. Peary expeditions in the early 1900s, had lain hidden nearly a half century. Others, scientific secrets, are as old as the Arctic itself.

The Air Command told today of more of the work done by scientists and observers on the historic flight May 4 in which Lt.-Col William P Benedict landed a C-47, and took off 3 hours and 10 minutes later from the geographic North Pole.

These were some of the results:

The depth of the ocean below the ice was determined by a seismograph echo sounding at 14,150 feet. Dr. Albert P. Crary and his assistant, Robert Cottell, of the Cambridge Research Centre, Cambridge, Mass., bored a 10-foot hole in a thick ice floe and dropped two pounds of TNT and exploded it in the experiment.

Find Cashe

The Peary cache was found on one of the plane's flights and landings over the region. The plane was travelling at low altitude over Cape Columbia, Ellesmere Island, where the Peary expeditions left the last land to start a 500-mile trek over the ice.

The cache was spotted and upon landing the party found it contained names and dates between 1900 and 1909. There were four metal and wood boxes.

In other work, the expedition left at the North Pole six watertight glass jars, wrapped in eye-catching luminescent red silk. The jars contained notes about the expedition and any finders were asked to record the date and position found and report to the air force research centre. Such information may supply information on the speed and direction of little-known Arctic ocean currents.

Lt.-Col. Benedict and Lt.-Col. Joseph Fletcher said they stacked four empty oil drums in to a cairn, topped by an American flag.

Observations were taken on a delicate instrument used to measure the earth's gravitational pull by Dr. Crary and Cottell. The instrument is reported to measure a three ten-millionths of a change in gravity. The earth's gravitational pull is greatest in the Polar regions.

The plane which the rugged 34-year-old Lt.-Col. Benedict, war combat veteran with both the R.C.A.F. and U.S. air force, landed at the Pole has no special equipment except aluminum skiis of a new type.

Serious Fires Cut Supply Of Gasoline

DENVER, May 12 (AP)—With a major settlement for background striking oil workers and company officials got ready for Tuesday's showdown meeting with the wage stabilization board.

Military flying is down to essentials in the United States. More civilian flights are suspended each day. American motorists are feeling the growing pinch. Three disastrous fires heightened the shortage.

O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International (C.I.O.) largest of the 22 unions striking for higher wages, has said that, after months of postponement before the walkout started 13 days ago, the striking refinery and pipeline workers are determined not to work without a contract.

Scattered Agreements

Scattered agreements have been signed through the industry. The first major agreement which union officials conceded might set a settlement pattern was okayed by workers Sunday.

It is between the independent union of petroleum workers and Standard Oil of California. It provides a basic wage increase of 18½ cents an hour. That's the compromise figure Knight said would be acceptable instead of the 25-cent raise sought originally on the current $2 to $2.10 hourly rate.

Disaster cut at fuel supplies. Fire following disrailment of a freight train near Corsicana, Tex., destroyed 16 tank cars of fuel oil and four of high-octane gasoline. About $250,000 of gasoline was lost in a barge explosion near New Orleans.

Fire swept a five-acre area of crude-oil storage tanks at the Houston Refinery of the Eastern States Petroleum Co., a company not affected by the strike.

Drastic Cold War Step-Up Seen After Essen Rioting

BONN, Germany, May 12. (AP)—West Germany's impending peace contract brought a bloody weekend battle to industrial Essen and reports today that East Germany's Communist rulers are getting ready for a drastic step-up in the cold war against the west and tighter Russian-East German ties.

One young Communist was killed in the Essen riot, in which police gunfire broke up a clash between anti-Reds and 30,000 Communist-led youths demonstrating against plans to rearm West Germany for western defence. Scores of demonstrators were injured and several were arrested.

Here in the capital, meanwhile, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met with rebellious leaders from his government coalition forces. Their opposition to the peace pact threatens its chances of ratification by the West German parliament.

Despite Adenauer's urging, the opponents were reported still adamant that Britain, the United States and France concede more before West German troops are furnished for the projected European army. The Allies already have said they have gone as far as they will.

Centre of Campaign

As the talks on the peace contract continued in Bonn, informed East-zone sources in Berlin said that Communist-surrounded metropolis has been chosen by the Russian and East German leaders as the focal point of their campaign against the Western agreement.

These sources anticipated that the East German government may soon demand the unification of divided Berlin and withdrawal of all occupation forces from the metropolis. This, the sources added, may be accompanied by "drastic measures" against West Berlin.

They predicted also that East Germany soon may be declared a "people's democracy" like other Soviet satellites and that its government may be shaken up to weed out anyone not in accord with the full Sovietization of the East zone.

Sources close to the politburo of the East zone's ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) Party said its inclusion in the Russian-led Cominform probably will be announced at a party conference in July.

The East German government already has said it will raise an army—presumably with the present highly-trained police force as a nucleus—to counter West Germany's planned participation in the European army. Announcing their plans for the army, the Reds last week said West German rearmament threatened the country with civil war.

Lucky Coffin

OSTEND, Belgium, May 12 (Reuters)—A hospital patient here, told he had only a few days to live, bought himself a magnificent coffin lined with white silk. Then he surprised himself and his doctors by making a remarkable recovery. He sold the coffin to another seemingly hopeless case—Jacques Smeets. Within a few days Jacques had recovered from severe internal haemorrhage and sold the bier to a third desperately-ill patient. He, too, now is on the way to recovery, and today he was looking for a buyer for the lucky coffin.

UN Planes Hit Enemy Rail Lines

SEOUL, Korea, May 12 (AP)—United Nations planes today blasted the North Korean rail network with another of their new saturation bombings designed to make track repairs as tough as possible for the Reds.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force said fighter-bombers made 28 cuts in a short stretch on the vital Kanggye-Sinanju line near Huichon in the northwest. Nine U.S. B-29s hit the Huichon rail bridge Sunday with 90 tons of bombs. Fighter-bombers cratered rails in more than 80 places on a small section south of Suncho at the same time.

The stretches of track are on main rail routes from Manchuria to the North Korean capital, Pyongyang.

In the last two weeks, U.N. planes have been concentrating bomb loads in short sections on the main lines. This makes repair work more difficult for the Red track crews, who have been able overnight to repair cuts by only [illegible].

A United States Eighth Army briefing officer said a "rough little fight" broke out Sunday when 15 grenade-throwing Reds struck at a United Nations position northeast of Kumhwa on the central front. The Reds withdrew after a sharp, 20-minute fight.

4 Bullets Hit Car U.S. Driver 'Unaware'

DETROIT, May 12 —(CP)—Although four police bullets struck his speeding automobile during a two-mile chase, Raymond Smith said today he was "unaware" anyone was following him.

"Besides," said the 33-year-old truck driver, "I had a headache."

Smith told police—who started to chase him as a speeder—that the headache was the aftermath of a tavern brawl. Someone had hit him over the head with a beer bottle.

He faces a reckless driving charge.

Charge Reds Use Talks For Spreading Propaganda

MUNSAN, Korea, May 12—(AP) — The United Nations Command today accused the Communists of using the Korea armistice talks for a propaganda sounding board.

A U.N.C. communique said the Reds fired "their most vicious propaganda attack of the 10-month-old armistice negotiations" in a 34-minute "tirade, obviously prepared in advance" and "filled with invective, distortions and palpable lies."

Another plenary session was scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday (10 p.m. EDT, Monday). But Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior U.N. delegate, told the Reds the U.N. command "formally dissociates itself from the propaganda purposes for which you are utilizing these meetings."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il delivered the blast at the U.N. command. It was studded with Red accusations that the Allies mistreated Red prisoners of war.

Never had reporters covering the negotiations on Panmunjom seen the usually mild-mannered Admiral so angry. After the 52-minute session Joy said:

"We were subjected today to one of the most vicious propaganda blasts we have ever had. The Communists told us in effect that unless we intend to disrupt the meetings they would insist on meeting every day and use these meetings overtly for propaganda although they did not use those words."

Nam Il again rejected Joy's proposal for an indefinite recess until the Communists have something concrete to offer.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, U.N. spokesman, said the Reds have instructions to insist on continuing the talks and "to utilize them entirely for a propaganda sounding board."

POW's In Control Of Affairs Inside Compound

TOKYO, May 12. (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark, supreme United Nations commander, said tonight the U.S. Eighth Army agreed to stop screening Red prisoners of war on Koje Island in return for the release of Brig.-Gen. Francis T. Dodd. Clark, who succeeded Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today as U.N. commander, listed the ransom demands by North Korean prisoners on Koje Island—and told which demands were acceded to in order to obtain Dodd's release.

Clark's statement said Brig.-Gen. Charles Colson, new commander of the P.O.W. camp, agreed to:

1. Do all within his power to eliminate future violence and bloodshed on Koje. (90 P.O.W.'s and one American guard were killed in two Koje P.O.W. riots in February and March.)

2. Stop "forcible screening" or any rearming of prisoners of war in this camp" and not make any attempt "at nominal screening." (Allied officers have been screening prisoners of war and civilian internees to determine whether they would resist being returned to North Korea or China after an armistice. What was meant by "rearming" was not explained).

3. Allow the organization of a P.O.W. representative group on commission consisting of North Korean and Chinese prisoners.

Clark said:

"The reply by General Colson to the Communist was made under duress at a time when the life of General Dodd was at stake. The Communist demands were unadulterated blackmail and any commitments made by General Colson as a result of such demands should be interpreted accordingly."

Clark did not say whether the commitments would be honored.

"4. Immediate recognition of the P.W. representative group (commission consisted of N.K.P.A. and C.P.V.A. P.W. and close co-operation to it by your command. This representative group will turn in Brig.-Gen. Dodd, U.S.A. on your hand after we receive the satisfaction written declaration to resolve the above items by your command. We will wait for your warm and sincere answer. P.W. representative group on N.K.P.A. and C.P.V.A."

In his reply, Colson said, "'with reference your item one of that message, I do admit that there

Will Resume Inquiry In F-M Outbreak

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP) — Parliament's inquiry into the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in Saskatchewan will be resumed Tuesday, A. J. Bater (L—Battlefords) said today.

The Commons Agricultural Committee chairman said Dr. N. D. Christie, federal district veterinarian at Regina, will be available as a witness.

"I hope we will be able to terminate our inquiry Tuesday and prepare our report to the Commons, but that will depend on committee members," Mr. Bater added.

Hearings were adjourned last Wednesday after six days of questioning of government officials. Opposition members charged the government was trying to "choke off" further investigation. Liberal members said the opposition was trying to make "political capital" out of the investigation.

Taft, Eisenhower Expect To Win Votes

By The Associated Press

Both Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower expect to win new national convention delegate votes today as Wyoming and Rhode Island Republicans meet in State conventions to select 20.

Wyoming Democrats also are meeting to elect 10 delegates. Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee attended a pre-convention caucus Sunday night before leaving for Denver today, later Oregon.

Taft counted on picking up a majority of Wyoming's 12 Republican votes, but Eisenhower backers in Casper said "there'll be a hell of a fight" if Republican state leaders don't agree to a split giving at least five to the General.

Eisenhower forces in Rhode Island are confident they will get most, if not all, of Rhode Island's eight delegate votes to the Chicago Nominating Convention.

13 Conventions

As the busy political week got under way—13 conventions with 166 delegate votes at stake—Taft had 343 votes and Eisenhower 290, according to an Associated Press tally based on delegates pledged, conceded, instructed, favorable, or willing to state a first ballot choice.

Both Republican contenders picked up new votes Monday. Taft added 11 and Eisenhower four as 86 delegates were selected in party meetings in Nevada, Utah, Michigan, Missouri, and Virginia. Republicans chose 24, Democrats 62, most of whom were uncommitted and uninstructed.

Tuesday's West Virginia primaries will elect 20 Democratic and 16 Republican delegates and North Dakota Democrats open a two-day convention to complete that State's eight-vote delegation.

Report Talks Near Breakdown

CAIRO, May 12 — (Reuters).— Anglo-Egyptian talks over the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan are near a breakdown, Cairo newspapers reported today.

The Independent El Ahram said "it now is quite clear that Egypt will reject the latest British proposals" to settle the dispute.

The Wafdist newspaper Al Misri said the Egyptian government "is in a state of despair and fully realizes the futility of talks with Britain unless Britain, within the next few hours, agrees to Premier Hilaly's full demands."

Talks for a settlement have been going on for months. A formula is believed to have been found for the withdrawal of British troops from the canal zone, but Britain has refused to recognize Egypt's claims for full sovereignty in the Sudan.

Russia Will Open Road To Hamburg

BERLIN, May 12 (Reuters) — Surprised Allied officials learned today that the Russians will soon open the direct highway between Hamburg and Berlin to interzonal traffic for the first time since the war.

M. Voronichev, chief of the Soviet transport and communications division, said in a letter received at British headquarters today that Allied traffic will be able to use the road from May 15.

The highway shortens the trip between the two cities by 24 miles.

Meanwhile, Soviet troops today are still blocking Allied patrols from leaving Berlin by road for West Germany.

An Allied official said that the Russians have not yet replied to a protest made Saturday by the three western commandants to Vassily Chuikov, Soviet control commission chief.

$100,000 Fire Damages Second School

OWEN SOUND, May 12 (CP). —Fire Sunday gutted six classrooms in the Owen Sound collegiate, burned the roof off four other classrooms and resulted in water damage to another 19 before it was brought under control.

Damage in the three-hour fire has not been determined but unofficial estimates put it at well above $100,000.

A $750,000 fire swept the Picton Collegiate early on Saturday.

The central section of the Owen Sound school, hardest-hit in the blaze, was built in 1880 and school officials for several years has considered tearing it down.

Some students ran into the building to rescue their books but others were halted by police. No one was injured.

Offer Accommodation

School is over for most pupils until further notice but Grade XIII pupils will return Tuesday. Offers have been received from churches and Separate schools here for space to be used as temporary classrooms.

School started a month late last fall because of a poliomyelitis epidemic here.

In Picton, school is out for 115 students of the Picton Collegiate.

But their fellow-students in upper grades will continue in emergency classrooms set up in three local churches.

Picton school officials announced Sunday that emergency classes will be held in the United church, the Anglican parish hall and the Presbyterian church basement. Grades 9 and 10 will be dismissed for the rest of the term.

Doctors Detect "Human Sonar"

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 12 —(AP)—A kind of "human sonar" —comparable to the sound-echoing technique used by the Navy to detect submarines—may be working in the brains of many insane people.

Dr. Walter Freeman, Washington, D.C., brain specialist, said today a new idea in brain surgery offers promise of stilling the "spirit voices" heard by such people—and perhaps improving their general mental condition.

He said the surgical technique—involving the removal of a finger-tip-sized organ from deep within the brain on both sides of the head —is based on a concept that "voices" heard by the insane are actually echoes of words whispered by the patient himself, often with closed lips.

The report was in an address prepared for the Society of Biological Psychiatry meeting in conjunction with the American Psychiatric Association.

Make Nice Profit On Canadian Dimes

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP). — Thousands of Canadian dimes are dropped into subway turnstiles and bus fare boxes, but the city board of transportation isn't complaining.

The board, which runs the city-owned transit system, has been turning over a neat profit on the Canadian money.

It announced last week that it sold 90,000 Canadian dimes collected on city transit lines between Oct. 14, 1951 and April 21, 1952 for $9,090. The face value of the coins totalled $9,000 leaving a profit of $90.

In October, 1951, the board sold 110,000 Canadian dimes for $1,045 with a loss of $55.

The sales were made through a New York bank.

During the last several months Canadian money has been at a premium as high as two per cent more than U.S. currency.

Property Divided Into 123 Lots

Queen Elizabeth subdivision north of the city will provide 123 lots for immediate housing purposes.

City Clerk Outram suggested the name today considering the proximity of Queen Elizabeth School and purchase by the Board of Education of five acres of the area for enlargement of the school premises.

As recently explained the largest part of this block is being purchased from Schneider-Alexander Ltd. It is situated between the city boundary and the larger acreage of Land Assembly Scheme.

A plan of the nearer property of some 25 acres has been prepared for the meeting of the finance committee of the council. Interested builders have already indicated that they may take 50 of the lots for houses which they are ready to proceed with as soon as they can get possession. Lots will be available for people who wish to build homes for themselves.

Intention of the council is to offer the lots at once, partly because the Land Assembly Scheme is not effective in that detail until 1953.

New F-M Outbreaks Reported In Britain

LONDON, May 12 (Reuters). — Nine further outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease were confirmed in Britain during the weekend, the Ministry of Agriculture announced today.

They included one on the Isle of Mull, off the west coast of Scotland where 72 cattle and 700 sheep had to be slaughtered.

This brought the total number of outbreaks since the present epidemic began last November to 274, and the total of animals slaughtered up to 33,168.

Golds Buck Decline On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 12. (CP)—Golds bucked a declining stock market today in early afternoon dealings. Firm support bolstered a scattered list of issues.

Industrial dealings were light while few oils, golds or metals attracted speculative interest. Mid-Continent, a Western oil, was an exception as it added about 10 cents in a turnover of more than 260,000 shares. Activity followed rumors of a successful drilling. Volume for the first three hours was 1,476,000 shares.

Papers led industrials lower with a scattered list of fractional declines. Utilities, textiles and manufacturing companies also slipped but refining oils and miscellaneous issues were firm.

Senior golds posted advances ranging to about 75 cents. Dome, Hollinger, Kerr Addison, Malartic and Teck Hughes were strong. Secondary issues were mixed.

Western oil losses ranged to about 25 cents as Calvan Consolidated, Canada Southern, Canadian Atlantic, Federated Petroleum and Pacific Petroleum slipped.

Base metal leaders sagged as Consolidated Smelters, Golden Manitou and Quemont eased. MacKeno and Sherritt-Gordon were strong.

The pound sterling was $2.75⅝, down ¼ from Friday.

A.Y.P.A. Elects Ruth Floyd Sec'y

Miss Phyllis Milson of Toronto East was elected president of the Toronto Diocesan Council of the Anglican Young People's Association at the Diocesan Conference held in St. John's Anglican Church Saturday.

Approximately 175 delegates from Peterborough, Toronto, Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg attended the conference.

The Rev. H. Hilchey of St. Elizabeth Church, Queensway was elected chaplain.

Other members of the executive elected were: Walter Jones of Toronto East, 1st vice-president; Jack Roney of Toronto Centre, 2nd vice-president; Miss Sylvia Bucknell of Bowmanville, corresponding secretary; Miss Ruth Floyd of Peterborough, recording secretary; Syd Speck of Toronto East, treasurer.

The installation of officers was conducted by Mr. Hilchey Saturday night.

Night Parking Cut To Four Hours

The amended bylaw relating to night parking is now in effect. It has been passed by the council, and should soon reach the police department.

This enactment says: "That the bylaw fixing the limitation on the parking of motor vehicles on all streets in the city to not more than six hours be amended so that the period would be reduced to four hours between 12 o'clock midnight and 8 a.m. daily."

That is the amendment, and presumably civic authority intends to give it force. Its meaning is so clear that any person can understand it. You are liable to a fine if you leave a motor vehicle parked in the streets for more than four hours between midnight and 8 a.m.

New signs are perhaps being prepared to carry out new one hour limit of parking on the following streets, both sides: Hunter from Aylmer to Bethune; Simcoe from Aylmer to Bethune; Simcoe from Water to Queen and Queen from Simcoe to Hunter.

Tennessee Father On Way To Get Son

KINGSTON, May 12 (CP) — A father from Tennessee today was reported on his way here to take a mentally-ill wanderer home. Provincial police say they still do not know how Harlan Smith, 22, of Cowan, Tenn., reached this eastern Ontario district.

Officers on highway patrol found Smith walking in the rain yesterday about five miles west of here. Investigation showed he had a weekend pass from a mental hospital in Tennessee to visit an aunt in Detroit, more than 400 miles southwest of here. He said he remembered nothing after he left the hospital.

He was admitted to hospital here for observation.

"He seemed to be in an unconscious state after we picked him up," said one of the police officers. "He is rational for a few minutes, then cannot talk at all. He seems to black out completely."

Slews On Wet Road Smashed Parked Car

Damage estimated at $600 resulted early Sunday morning when a truck went out of control on the wet pavement and struck the rear of a parked car on Charlotte St.

Alvin Stoneburg, 371 Armstrong Drive told police he was driving west when his truck went out of control for some unexplained reason, and when he applied his brakes, it skidded sideways, striking the rear of a car owned by Isadore Black, 476 Charlotte St.

The truck continued skidding around in a circle, damaging the left side of the car.

Damage to the car was estimated at $400 and the truck received approximately $200 damage.

Constable William G. Scott investigated.

Ramp Collapses Editor Dashed To Death

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., May 12 —(CP). — The wife of a veteran Prince Rupert newspaperman was standing only six feet away from her husband Saturday when a ramp collapsed, dashing him to death on the jagged rocks 30 feet below.

Alex Hunter, managing editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News, was killed and two other men were injured Saturday when a ramp leading from the seaplane floats to the pier at Kemano Bay suddenly gave way. Kemano Bay is 85 miles south of here.

John F. Magor, publisher of the Daily News, and J. D. McRae, a Prince Rupert businessman and member of the outgoing B.C. Legislature, were injured.

Mr. Magor, who suffered two broken ankles in the plunge, was flown to hospital here late Saturday. Mr. McRae, who received a broken ankle, was flown to hospital in Vancouver. Neither was in serious condition.

To Attend Ceremony

The three men were among a party that left here by seaplane to attend opening ceremonies at the Kenny Dam of the Aluminum Company of Canada at Nechako, about 20 miles southeast of Prince Rupert. They landed at Kemano to pick up an official also bound for Nechako.

From his hospital bed Mr. Magor said the three men preceded the main group down the ramp. The ramp suddenly gave way, tumbling the men to the rocks below. Mr. Hunter died from head injuries half an hour after the accident.

Mr. Magor said Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Norton Youngs, wife of the president of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, were only six feet behind them.

R.C.M.P. officers said an inquest would be held.

POW's In Control

have been instances of bloodshed where many prisoners of war have been killed and wounded by U.N. forces. I'll do all within my power to eliminate further violence and bloodshed . . ."

Did Not Accede

Colson did not accede to the second demand, for the U.N. command to abandon its principle of voluntary repatriation in truce negotiations at Panmunjom.

"That is a matter which is being discussed at Panmunjom. I have no control or influence over the decisions at the peace conference," Colson told the prisoners.

Dodd said tonight Communist prisoners who held him a hostage 78 hours on Koje Island threatened to kill him, resist United Nations troops and stage an island-wide prison break if force were used to get him out.

The general said he was convinced, nevertheless, that the United Nations command threats to use force "had a decided effect" in gaining his release.

The general, reading from a four-page statement in a clear, strong voice, said "the demands made by the P.O.W.'s are inconsequential and the concessions granted by the camp authorities were of minor importance."

Dodd read his statement to the press after being held behind a wall of security for 48 hours.

He seemed, healthy, despite his ordeal.

Only Big Concessions

The agreements to stop screening prisoners and allow them to organize seemed the only big concessions the army made.

Clark's statement that the Red demands were "unadulterated blackmail and any commitments made by General Colson as a result of such demands should be interpreted accordingly" seemed to hint that the U.N. would not honor the commitments.

Clark said the Communists made the following demands in these words:

"1—Immediate ceasing the barbarous behavior, insults, torture, forcible protest with blood writing, threatening, confine, mass murdering, gun and machine-gun shooting, using poison gas, germ weapons, experiment object of A-bomb, by our command. You should guarantee P.W. human rights and individual life with the base on the international law.

"2—Immediate stopping the so-called illegal and unreasonable voluntary repatriation of N.K.P.A. (North Korean People's Army) and C.P.V.A. (Chinese People's Volunteer Army) P.W.

Stop Screening

"3—Immediate ceasing the forcible investigation (screening) which thousands of P.W. of N.K.P.A. and C.P.V.A. be rearmed and falled (copy) in slavery, permanently and illegally.

Allow Reporters

Reporters and photographers were permitted to visit Koje today for the first time since Dodd was seized. However, camp authorities said they would not answer any questions dealing with negotiations with Communist prisoners and other "security matters."

Nothing was disclosed on what happened to Dodd during the 78 hours he was a hostage in his own prison camp.

Lt.-Col. Robert Raven, who barely escaped the same fate, said the trouble at compound 76 actually started May 6, the day before Dood's kidnapping. A work detail of prisoners returning to the compound was searched and found to have "contraband" which Raven listed as four watches, 18 new pencils, two rings, three tooth brushes and a cigarette lighter.

Raven said that when the forbidden articles were taken the work detail refused to go into their compound. They agreed only when told that the articles would be returned and that Dodd next day would come to talk to them.

The next day Dodd went to the compound. He and Raven began talking with the prisoners through the barbed wire fence. The Red negotiators dragged out the talks, he said, until a work detail went through the main gate where the conference was being held.

The gate remained open several minutes. Raven said he and Dodd were too engrossed in talking with the Reds to notice the gate.

"Several prisoners moved over to close the gate," Raven said, "and then they got behind us."

Rushed By POW's

He said the Red POW's rushed him and Dodd and that "five were on me and at least 15 had hold of the General."

Raven said he saw Dodd struggling with his captors until the General finally disappeared behind the compound building. Raven finally fought free with the help of Capt. Joseph S. Hunter, who was in charge of Compound 76, and an American guard.

He said the guard had to bayonet one of the prisoners in the face to drive him away.

Raven said infantry reinforcements were rushed to the compound and that the enclosure was surrounded and secured within 20 minutes.

The prisoner camp apparently was normal today. But the visit of reporters almost caused some disturbance. As reporters gathered at the compound entrance with Capt. Hunter, a spokesman for the prisoners approached and said he had something to say. Camp officials immediately told him to stop talking and go inside.

Asked To Move Away

Correspondents were asked by the authorities to move away to prevent any incident. As they complied, prisoners returned to the compound, waving a petition.

Camp officials were in control outside the prisoner compound. But it was obvious that the Communist prisoners were running things to suit themselves inside.

Raven said it was in direct violation of prisoner-of-war regulations for POW's to raise their own flags. But the North Korean banners with the red circled star were on many flag poles throughout U.N. P.O.W. Camp No. 11—Koje Island—today.

Colson said a five-man board headed by a general officer was investigating the seizure of Dodd.

Consultant With Beck Edward Richards Dies

The funeral will be in Chatham Wednesday with burial in Ottawa Thusday.

Police Seek 2 Men In Ft. Erie Robbery

FORT ERIE, May 12 —(CP)— Police are looking for two men accused of beating and robbing Thomas Grant, 36-year-old hotel employee, late Saturday night.

Grant told police he went for a ride with two strangers. He said the men beat him, robbed him of $7 and left him in a ditch.

He was admitted to hospital with a broken nose, severe head injuries and cuts about the head. Several of his teeth had been knocked out.

High Waters Pound Maid-Of-Mist Dock

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 12 (CP)—High waters of the Niagara River are pounding the dock of the Maid-of-the-Mist company here and tossing one of the steamers which in summer carries groups tourists on trips underneath the Falls.

Should the river remain high, it was believed that the dock may have to be moved.

Religion Plays Big Part In Helping Mentally Sick

The importance of religious therapy in the treatment of the mentally ill was the subject of an address given by the Rev. T. H. Floyd, chaplain at the Ontario Hospital, Whitby, at St. John's Anglican Church Saturday night.

Mr. Floyd was guest speaker at a banquet for delegates attending the Fifth Annual Diocesan Conference of the Toronto Diocesan Council of the Anglican Young People's Association.

"Chaplains have been appointed to the hospital at Whitby, because the government feels that religion properly applied has a great healing virtue for mind, body and soul," Mr. Floyd said.

"In a great many cases it has been found that faith and prayer would bring healing when medical science has failed and the will to live is restored."

Will To Live

The speaker explained that the will to live well each day is the greatest possession anyone can have. This stands far above any kind of material possessions.

"If you analyse your worries, you will find that all your trials and tribulations are due to something that has happened in the past or unnecessary anticipation of the future," he continued. "The best way to prepare for the future is to be happy, contented and strong today."

The necessity for people to learn how to live was emphasized by the speaker. He pointed to the church as the greatest force for teaching people how to live.

"Many church people follow the moral and ethical teaching of the church, but fail to follow faith and trust taught by the church. They follow the church's teaching in their actions but fail to put these teachings into mental practice. The church's teaching is to accept the present and believe in the future."

In his concluding remarks Mr. Floyd enumerated five rules to be followed to live well: make the best of the worst; enjoy yourself; have a goal in life; mix with others; enjoy your religion.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Pamela Humphries of Peterborough and thanked by Jack Roney of Toronto.

Water-Filled Pothole Spills Motorcyclist

COBOUURG, May 12 (ENS) — Rain washed out a recently-filled hole on Highway 2 at the east end of the town and left a deep depression which spilled motorcyclist Bill Harvey of Cobourg, early Sunday morning. The young man was driving west into town and as the hole was filled with water he was unaware of its presence.

The machine flipped over and sent the driver flying through the windshield and over the handle bars. He escaped without serious injury but skinned his legs badly. The machine was heavily damaged.

Police has a barrier and lights set up right after the accident.

Dr. H. Longmore Dies At 79

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12 — (ENS)—A medical practicioner in Campbellford for more than half a century, Dr. Howard Bruce Longmore, 79, died suddenly at his home on Queen St. on Saturday evening.

Dr. Longmore had been in failing health since last December and had practiced very little since that time. His wife, the former Maybelle Fee, died a number of years ago.

Surviving are his daughter, Josephine Marjorie, who graduated as a trained nurse in New York city and has lived wiht her father for some time. One son, Darrell Ernest of Montreal is at present in Rome, and is on his way to Campbellford. There are also two brothers, Allen E. Longmore of Victoria, B.C., and E. Linden Longmore, general manager of the Hollinger Mines at Timmins and two sisters, Mrs. C. V. Titus of Huntington, N.Y., and Mrs. J. J. O'Harra of Janesville, Minn.

Dr. Longmore was a graduate of Queen's University and was well known throughout the district, gaining many friends and admirers during his half century of practice. His hobbies were golf and tennis. He attended the St. John's United Church and in his younger years was an elder of the church. He was also at one time superintendent of the Sunday school

Dr. Longmore was the first president of the Campbellford Rotary Club and a life member of that service organization and also a member of the I.O.O.F.

The funeral date has not yet been set.

Rain Brings Relief

WESTERHOPE, Northumberland,England, May 12 (Reuters)—This northern village was one spot in Britain Sunday where people were glad it rained. It gave the people of Westerhope their first respite in five days from a plague of millions of Bluebottle flies. All the Bluebottles disappeared in a long and heavy rainstorm.

Churches Combine

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11 — (AP)—Two churches—one Negro, the other white—which merged into one, began regular Sunday services Sunday. It was the first regular service under the Rev. Wesley L. Hawes, 36-year-old Negro who was chosen as pastor by both Presbyterian congregations. The merger was the result of too little room and too many members for the all-Negro Hope Church and too much room and too few members for the all-white Westminster. They decided to combine two weeks ago.

Form Industrial Committee At Norwood Board Meeting

NORWOOD, May 12 (ENS)—A public meeting was held in the town hall Thursday evening under the sponsorship of the Board of Trade, to discuss taking steps to have an industry come to Norwood. In the absence of the vice-president, the Rev. H. K. Wright was chairman for the evening.

Rod Webb gave a report on the Trade and Industry convention which he attended in Toronto recently. He enlarged particularly on an address which pointed out that there is a stage in the location of an industry which most municipal planners seem to neglect. Most municipalities are given a general examination by industrialists long before the municipal authorities are notified at all. Only rarely does a company boldly announce that it is going to build a big plant and that it is seeking a suitable site.

Mr. Wright then reported on the convention of the Board of Trade members in Peterborough.

Harry Callan, the guest speaker, described the work of the Department of Planning and Development in locating industry in Ontario. The department employs one man in the United States and three men in Great Britain whose job it is to sell Ontario. The job of assisting outside industries to get located is done in Eastern Ontario by Mr. Callan.

When a firm in the United States or Great Britain is sold on the idea of opening a branch in Ontario it might be turned over to Mr. Callan, who assists them in finding the type of location which they want. They conduct the prospect to several municipalities which seem to meet their requirements and from then on it is up to the municipalities themselves to do their own selling job. There have been a large number of small industries brought into villages and towns throughout Ontario. There is a very marked tendency on the part of industries to turn more and more away from the large congested city areas to smaller towns. They are, however, going to towns where local councils and Boards of Trade are continually on the alert and are working together to do a selling job for their home towns. The first essential, of course, is to make an industrial survey and have it filed with the department. This survey must be kept up to date each year. There must be some means to provide money for this type of work. It cannot be done for nothing. Mr. Callan estimated that an industrial committee in a village the size of Norwood would have to have an annual budget of something like four or five hundred dollars. Representatives must have money to travel frequently and to entertain. A special pamphlet on Norwood should be prepared and printed which would contain all of the information of the industrial survey with considerable enlargement on a number of points. This pamphlet would probably contain a map of the village.

In the discussion period which followed G. A. Brethen stressed the importance of the public as a whole knowing something of Norwood's potentialities. He urged that the prepared questionnaire form on the department be read and the meeting made acquainted with the report which the department held of Norwood's position. The report was then read and several points explained by Mr. Callan.

After considerable discussion on just what constitutional form an industrial committee might take, a committee of Rod Webb, G. A. Brethen, John Nixon, Rev. H. K. Wright and J. J. Stewart was elected to commence the work of an industrial committee.

The booklet, "Civil Defence in Schools," outlines procedures for selection and assignment of shelter areas, raid drills, training of fire wardens, aid crews and other specialists among older students.

Illegal Agreement

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP) — A federal trade commission examiner reported Wednesday night that the 10 concerns which produce practically all the metal lath in the United States are engagd in an illegal price fixing agreement. Unless the decision is appealed, an F.T.C. order prohibiting the alleged practices will become official in 30 days.

Fatally Wounded

NORFOLK, Va., May 12 (AP) — A nevy rating was fatally wounded Sunday when he was shot accidentally by his five-year-old son. Chief quartermaster Robert Ernest Hubbard Jr., 38, died almost instantly after the son, Robert, fired a bullet from a .38-calibre revolver into his back. The boy picked up the gun playfully pointed it at his father and pulled the trigger.

Find No Evidence

DENNIS, Mass., May 12 (AP)—Amateur archaeologists on a weekend expedition have failed to prove that Leif Ericson founded a colony here. About 50 members of the Massachusetts Archaeology Society announced after two days of digging that "evidence has not yet been found of a Viking settlement." The theory that the area might be the site of the "Vinland" of the old Norse sagas was first advanced by geographer Frederick A. Pohl of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Say Damage $500 In Two-Car Crash

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12 — (ENS)—An accident resulting in about $500 damage to two vehicles on Saturday morning sent one driver to the doctor and brought residents running to the scene when the two cars met at the intersection of Ranney and Market Sts.

George Vice of Campbellford was driving east on Market St. when his car was struck by another driven by Marshall West, travelling north on Ranney St. West reportedly failed to stop at the intersection, which has been the scene of a number of minor accidents.

The Vice auto was damaged badly, taking the brunt of the impact on the right front and rear fender, front wheel and door. The West auto suffered damaged right side and radiator. Dr. J. R. Anderson attended Mr. Vice for an injured shoulder but the other driver was uninjured.

Chief Constable George Hardy investigated, and said no charges have yet been laid.

Douse Grass Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12 — (ENS)—Firemen were called to a grass fire at the home of James Heathcote on First St. about 8 p.m. on Saturday, but had little difficulty in quelling the flames. They returned to their station within a few minutes of the call.

Don't Forget Our Navy

A Royal Canadian Navy Mobile Recruiting Unit began work in Peterborough today; it provides an opportunity for ambitious, serious young men in this district to enter a life which offers first-rate chances to get ahead in the world; it also provides us with an opportunity to make some comment upon our Canadian Navy, a proud possession of which some Canadians are strangely forgetful.

* * *

Our Navy is forty years old, but until the last war it counted for little. Indeed, in 1939 we had only six ships and less than 2,000 men. But we were given a share in the job of keeping the Atlantic crossing safe for merchant ships bearing arms, and we had to work quickly; we worked so quickly that four years later we had nearly a thousand ships, and 100,000 men. Forty-seven per cent. of the ships engaged in the Battle of the Atlantic were ours. Winston Churchill has said that the aspect of the war which gave him the most worry was the campaign against German U-boats; we can understand what he meant, for in 1942 alone we lost over 1,000 merchant ships to these sea-raiders. But by 1943 the situation was in hand and the Canadian Navy and the British Navy, working together, broke the U-boat strength.

* * *

It might be necessary for us to repeat this exploit on a larger and more dangerous scale, for Russia has submarines which are capable of longer service than those of Germany; they are reported to be able to travel for two months, submerged, at a speed of 25 knots. We must not forget, in our interest in atomic weapons, that supplies are moved by ships, and that ships are vulnerable to submarines.

* * *

Our Navy is expanding again, and by 1954 it is hoped that we will have 100 ships and 20,000 men. It is to seek some of these men that the Navy is recruiting in Peterborough at present, and we suggest that young men who can meet Navy requirements give serious thought to the matter.

A Canadian Said It

For several weeks past we have been browsing in Canadian Quotations and Phrases, a new and important book compiled by Robert M. Hamilton and published by McClelland and Stewart. So far as we know it is the first Canadian quotation book to appear, and it marks an important point in our national development, for without a measure of native wisdom, and a considerable native literature we could not produce a book of quotable passages. The compiler has wisely avoided any suggestion that these quotations are widely familiar; it is to be hoped, however, that they will become familiar, and that this book, slender at present, will run through as many editions as Bartlett, growing in bulk and quality with the years.

A book prepared on national lines such as this cannot hope to attain the richness of a quotation book which rifles the literature of the world. The fact, also, that so much of our history was made during the nineteenth century gives a predominantly Victorian cast to what is found in the pages of this collection. It was inevitable that politicians should be extensively quoted, and equally inevitable that some of their gold should be pinchbeck, if not downright brass. But the Canadian voice comes from these pages with refreshing strength. There are many passages from Sir William Osler which are pure gold. Macdonald and Laurier both appear in unfamiliar and becoming lights. Stephen Leacock, who said so much that was deeply true in a way that made us laugh, is extensively quoted, as he should be. And there are others, eminently quotable, including the neglected Lampman and a modern satirist with a brilliantly sharp pen, E. A. MacKay. T. C. Haliburton is extensively drawn upon, and those who find Sam Slick the Clockmaker funny will be glad of it; others will be grateful that Canadian humour did not dry up with Haliburton. This book is full of good things which deserve to be known as Canadian, and quoted by Canadians.

We are pleased that Canadian journalists have been able to add so much to this book. Bob Edwards of the Calgary Eye-Opener is quoted 61 times, and he is always witty and pungent. (Edwards, thou shouldst be living at this hour! The Canadian press hath need of thee!) Nicholas Flood Davin, perhaps the ablest journalist ever to work in the Canadian West, is well represented; his verse appears to have taken colour and ease from that of his countryman Tom Moore—a colour and ease which Canadian verse has lost at present. Peter McArthur, the best of our Canadian writers about farm life, is quoted often, and so is Arthur Stringer. Charles Heavysege, whose work is not enlivening when read in bulk, provides some admirable and quotable scraps. We form the opinion, after a consideration of this book, that the political and literary life of this country has been better served by its press than is generally understood.

We wonder about the quotability of some parts of the book, but we would not wish them to be left out. The fact that E. B. Wood, M.P., was called "Big Thunder" by D'Arcy McGee is interesting, but we doubt if we shall ever wish to make use of it. On the other hand it is amusing to know that Egerton Ryerson was called "The Pope of Methodism," and we wish that this title might be continued in honour of whatever Canadian appears to deserve it. We note with lacklustre eyes that three Canadian politicians have been called "Honest John"; we instinctively mistrust anyone who bears such a nickname. But it delights us to learn that an indiscreet telegram won the late W. T. R. Preston the name of "Hug-the-machine Preston"; that name, too, should go to whatever modern politician deserves it. And although we once knew it, we had forgotten that Senator David Mills was called "The Sage of Bothwell"; has Bothwell ever had a sage since, we wonder? Sir John A. Macdonald might well be called "Old Tomorrow," and only Disraeli could have thought of calling Goldwin Smith "The wild man of the cloister."

A Canadian quotation book is a welcome and useful thing. We hope that it will get into all the school and university libraries, as well as to all the people in Canada who write. For there is a Canadian flavour about this book which is salty to the taste. Of course there is a great deal of pompous solemnity in it, and some solemnity which is vital and true without pomposity. But there is also an undercurrent of sly fun, of mockery, of intellectual anarchy, of the Old Adam, which is fine stuff, and a rebuttal of the oft-repeated accusation that we are entirely a nation of dutiful asses, doing as our politicians and parsons tell us. The author and the publishers are to be congratulated on a good and lasting piece of work to which Canadians may turn when they want an apt phrase, or when they seek relief for their heaviness of heart.

No Large Migration

In view of what Mr. Anthony Eden, now Foreign Secretary and Deputy Leader of the House of Commons, told this newspaper in Port Hope last summer, the British Minister of Labour's statement is disappointing. Mr. Eden said that he hoped statesmanship could find a way to ease the difficulties which prevented a free flow of people and commerce between Britain and Canada. Mr. Eden and his party have now the opportunity for the required statesmanship, but their Minister of Labour, Sir Walter Monckton, said recently that he sees little "likelihood of very large numbers migrating" to Canada in the face of present difficulties.

The difficulties are great. One is that Britain, a "soft currency" country, does not have enough dollars to permit emigrants to Canada to convert more than a pittance into dollars to take with them. (For instance, if 10,000 Britons were allowed to take out an average of $10,000 each, the total amount would be $100,000,000—more than Britain can afford to part with now.) Another difficulty is that Canada wants young and skilled workers. Britain, needing her own youth and their skills, wants Canada to have a "cross-section" immigration policy, to take children and old men, women married or single, unskilled as well as skilled labour. Canada wants only the most productive, trained and vigorous Britons.

Statesmanship, even Conservative statesmanship, apparently is not finding the ways which Mr. Eden hoped could be found.

A Saint For The Taxpayer

We are much impressed by the suggestion of Archbishop Carrington of Quebec that Canada ought to adopt a patron saint, though we cannot agree that St. John the Baptist is the best possible choice. That saint is already the patron of the province of Quebec, and although we are sure that the beneficence of St. John in inexhaustible, a little more originality in this matter would do our country no harm.

St. Lawrence appears to us as a very suitable choice. Not only was he a man of notable purity and devotion, but the circumstances of his martyrdom ought to make him especially acceptable to every Canadian taxpayer. Poor St. Lawrence was roasted on a gridiron, and he bore this horrible death with a stoicism which seems to us peculiarly Canadian. Indeed, legend has it that in the midst of his torment he turned to his judges and declared: "Assum est, versum et manduca", which means "I am roasted enough on this side; turn me round, and eat." If this is not perfect in its evocation of the spirit of the average Canadian toward his government, we do not know anything about saints or Canadians.

If we are to have a saint, let us have Saint Lawrence. He showed a fine spirit on his gridiron, and so, let it be said, do we. And this is written while the ink on a million Income Tax forms is scarcely dry.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

EVER SINCE I last wrote about Muzio Clementi I have been poring over his magnum opus, the Gradus ad Parnassum (Steps to Parnassus), with which, I blush to say, I had never before been acquainted except for one or two odd numbers. The more I study them the more I realize that I am in the presence of a commanding genius, whose achievement is sadly underrated. The Gradus is a collection of one hundred studies for the piano, the fruit of many years of labour. They are nearly all quite difficult to play, though they are written in an intensely pianistic idiom, quite different from that of the harpsichord. Although none of them are of great length they display a wealth of musical ideas expressed with terseness and force. Like Mozart, Clementi effected a brilliant and highly personal fusion of the fashionable "gallant" style with the solid contrapuntal style of the late Baroque. In connection with the latter element it must be assumed that during his long residence in England he assimilated a good deal of the manner of Handel. But not only does his music attain a truly classical balance and synthesis: it contains the germ of future developments. Newcomers like myself to Clementi's mature style are apt to trace the influence of Beethoven. It is true that many passages have something of the Beethovenian flavour, and even of his style of writing for the piano, but in reality the boot is on the other foot. It was Beethoven who was indebted to Clementi, not the other way round. Even as late as the Ninth Symphony the slow movement reveals a startling parallel with one of the studies in the Gradus. Beethoven himself did not underestimate Clementi's importance, and as I stated in my previous article Clementi's works were well represented in the German master's sparse musical library.

* * *

IT IS strange that Clementi's fame should have suffered comparative neglect, though there is a reason for this. He stood at the end of the long line of Italian instrumental composers. Thenceforward the Italians concentrated their energies on the opera, and abdicated the field of instrumental music and musical criticism to the Germans. Naturally the nationalistically minded Germans were inclined to exalt their compatriots at the expense of other nationalities. Possibly it irked some of them to recollect that the great Beethoven owed something to non-German sources. Even the most "impartial" critics are influenced by national prejudices. The rest of the musical world followed docilely the lead of Leipzig and Berlin. As for the Italians, they had almost forgotten the existence of a man who had left his native country at the age of 14 and had not written a single opera. His sonatinas, humbler works composed for the utilitarian purpose of providing teaching material for pupils though not without freshness and charm, have survived to give an inadequate impression of his genius. It is as unfair to judge Clementi by his sonatinas as it would be to judge Schumann on the sole evidence of his Album for the Young.

THE PETERBOROUGH Kiwanis Music Festival opens this Wednesday. There have been considerably more entries than last year, many of them coming from a considerable distance. Mr. Alec Redshaw, one of the adjudicators, who has come from England, was in Peterborough adjudicating in 1948, when his criticisms were much appreciated. These adjudicators have a pretty strenuous time, travelling from one end of the country to another and working from quite early in the morning until very late at night. If the programme is not worked out properly it is impossible for them to keep to their allotted time. Few people realize how exacting is the task of the adjudicator. He must be on his toes the whole time, concentrating his whole attention on the music. He must allow no detail to escape him in the performance, yet he must preserve a clear overall picture. While he is listening he must jot down notes on the performance and be ready to give his remarks and marks at the end of the class with as little delay as possible. While it is his duty to make searching criticisms of any defects he must have the happy knack of making them in a nice way. Older adjudicators are usually more successful at this. It is as well for the adjudicator to season his remarks with a little humour, though he should avoid facetiousness or sarcasm. In a sense the adjudicator is judged just as much as the competitor, though those who judge him rarely take into account the difficulties that I have underlined.

WITH THE approach of summer an increasing number of people is week-ending at country cottages and elsewhere, and choirmasters are beginning to find their choirs dwindling away. It is a good thing for choirs (and incidentally choirmasters) to have a holiday, but things have got out of hand in the last few years, the "holiday" getting longer and longer. The invention of the internal combustion engine has created problems that did not exist fifty years ago, when the population was less mobile. More important than this, the concept of duty has lost much of its force in recent years and has been largely replaced by an easy-going philosophy of comfort and pleasure. Naturally it entails a certain measure of self-discipline to turn out regularly week in, week out, but nothing worth-while has been accomplished without effort. To belong to a choir is a privilege which entails certain obligations. By all means a choir should have a holiday, but it should keep together until then!

THE CONSERVATORY dispute has died down, and Dr. Mazzoleni has withdrawn his resignation. A new Dean still remains to be appointed. The new Dean will have to be a man of tact and constancy of purpose, especially in the early days of the new set-up. The spheres of the two divisions of the Faculty will have to be clearly defined if friction is to be avoided. At the same time a man who is merely a good administrator would be inadequate for such an important post. He must also be a musical scholar who can keep in touch with his students. Unfortunately the modern tendency is to chain academic heads to their office-desks, when they should be guiding and moulding their pupils or imparting the fruits of their experience and research to the world at large. It will be hard indeed to find a worthy successor to Sir Ernest.

Two sportsmen went duckhunting. They crouched in a small punt waiting for the birds to appear.

"Duck!" said the first.

"Where?" said the second, as he stood up in time to be shot in the neck.

"HO-HUM—WHOSE MOVE IS IT NOW?"

Letters To The Editor

LABOUR STRUGGLE

Sir: After reading your editorial on the matter of filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Alderman Graham and your clear cut interpretation of the Municipal Act, I would greatly appreciate if you can find space to publish the following.

The interest created by the City of Peterborough administrators in regards to filling the vacancy on the council is a growing one. It is surprising that the efficiency and ability of our city fathers is being taxed so much by a small incident such as this. At the last council meeting the issue was tossed around like a hot potato until our energetic and historic statistician delved into his records and found the City of Peterborough special act of 1910, which was just the answer deemed most appropriate for this occasion. The recent amendment to the Municipal Act which clearly answers their problem is too modern, and it is felt by many interested citizens that it is not just the problem of filling the vacancy that concerns some of our administrators, but simply the basic fact that the logical person to fill the vacancy, as clearly stated in an editorial of the Peterborough Examiner, happens to be a representative of labour.

It has taken years for industrialists to realize that labour is a very important part of our modern way of life, and many schemes and obstacles have been hurdled in the great struggle to achieve this end. Therefore while our city administrators are muddling around to satisfy their own particular desires the working people in our fair city are realizing more and more that maybe there is some woebegone fear behind their muddling which might be aggravated by a voice from the rank and file.

If our councillors would exercise their ingenuity and grave concern on some of our more serious problems, such as housing and lower tax rates, rather than fatiguing themselves in the manner they apparently are doing it would be serving the citizens of Peterborough much better.

Yours sincerely,

GEORGE LOGAN.

A DIFFERENCE IN WORDS

Sir: On May 7th, 1952, your paper printed an editorial wherein observations were made on actions taken by the Executive of Local 524 UE in regard to the 24th of May Statutory Holiday.

I have no quarrel whatever with your paper editorializing on the actions taken by our Union, UE, on Statutory Holidays, or on any other matters we take up in the interests of our membership.

The person, or persons, assigned to write your editorial columns are of course not for me to choose. I am, however, taking this liberty of suggesting to you that who ever those persons may be, that they obtain the facts on the subjects they choose to specialize on.

The Executive of Local 524 UE did not recommend that June 30th be a paid holiday in lieu of May 24th, nor has the Executive of Local 524 UE asked for any shifting of the May 24th holiday.

The accusations of our leaders asking for "a fantastic shift" in order "to catch popular acclaim" is therefore obviously unfounded and contrary to fact.

Our Union has been tackled before by daily newspapers on our stand for paid Statutory Holidays. Not too long ago the UE was called many names because UE led the way in negotiating 8 paid statutory holidays per year.

I am happy to report that we succeeded in gaining this important concession for our membership, and that as a results of our accomplishments, many other workers have likewise gained.

Insofar as the discussions carried on between C.G.E. and UE on the July 1st weekend, I am quite prepared to give you the facts.

The parties to the Union Agreement have been discussing the ways and means of giving the C.G.E. workers a long weekend for the July 1st holiday.

The Company proposal was to work a Saturday shift at straight time payment, and thus disregard the overtime provisions of the Union Agreement.

The Union's proposal was no Saturday work, and that the Company pay the workers for June 30th (the day before July 1st holiday).

Our reasoning is very sound in this regard. The Company sets aside money to pay for 8 Statutory Holidays per year. This year no payment is made for May 24th because it is being observed on Saturday.

I trust this information will serve to correct the apparent wrong conception your paper had on this matter.

Further, let me assure you this matter is now in the hands of the C.G.E. workers, and will be determined in the same proper manner as all other important issues that confront our membership.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE WALLACE,
President,
Local 524 UE

(Ed. Note: Mr. Wallace's fourth paragraph in essence contradicts his third and fourth last paragraphs. His letter bears out our news report of May 1st about a meeting being held that night: "One item on the agenda will be a decision on the following executive recommendation: That the C.G.E. be asked to make June 30 a paid holiday in lieu of May 24 which falls on a Saturday". The news report states succinctly what the executive's agenda and reasoning proposed as confirmed by Mr. Wallace's letter.)

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly. And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly.

This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind, having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart. (Eph. 4:17, 18.)

For we know in part, and we prophesy in part. But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away . . .

For now we see through a glass darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known. (I Cor. 13: 9, 10, 12.)

A man and his wife had called upon a real estate salesman with a view to the purchase of a new house. After going over his listings, the salesman hesitated over a very glowing description.

"I think this house would suit you fine," he said. "And one good feature about it is that it's only a stone's throw from the bus line."

"That's good," said the man. Then, turning to his wife, he commented:

"After all, dear, it would give us something to do in the evenings. We could sit on the porch and throw stones at the buses."

Yugoslavia's Children's Theatres

(UNESCO)

A high proportion of Yugoslavia's education budget has been devoted to the development of children's theatres, of which there are about 16 at the present. They use for their performances the national theatres or the stages of various industrial or cultural organizations.

Although a few children's theatres existed before the war as private ventures, notably in Belgrade under the present director, Madame Gita Preditch-Nouchitch, their growth and wider development began only two-and-a-half years ago. A large proportion of dramatized children's stories of western origin, which are used, include Cinderella, Puss-in-Boot, Red Riding Hood, and Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

Building Bridges

(Niagara Falls Review)

Interesting new wrinkle was used by the Ontario Department of Highways saving a deal of money and continuing efficiency. During the winter the department built two bridges just north of Sudbury. Building of the bridges began in January. Traffic was rerouted over the frozen river surface thus minimizing the bothersome summertime problem of getting traffic over the river. Loads up to 37 tons were driven across the ice.

QUEEN OF THE MAY

Believe Red Population Shifts To Seal Off Western Influence

By WILLIAM L. RYAN,
AP Foreign News Analyst

Persistent reports of population shifts along Russia's western borders have given rise to speculation that Stalin is building a human curtain on his frontier to seal off the Soviet people from western influences.

Polish and Romanian sources in Sweden and Italy support the reports, but much mystery surrounds them. However, it is certain that important population transfers are going on.

One story which this reporter heard in Stockholm is that the Russians are building a guard line from Lithuania or Latvia to Romania, populating border areas with nomadic Asiatic people or mongols after the deportation of the native population. The operation is said to centre on the border between present Poland and that part of Russia which was Polish before it was seized under the 1939 Nazi-Soviet pact.

British and United States sources in Vienna say they have no confirmation of the report. They tend to believe that the settlements are made up of prison labor.

Heard Story

Interreport-Ost, an organization in Vienna which sifts information from Soviet satellite countries, reported recently it had heard the Mongol story.

The resettlement is by persons who speak no Russian nor any western-language. The presence of strong Russian guard contingents can be explained by Soviet anxiety to keep the new settlers away from any contact with Poles, Ukrainians, Lithuanians or East Prussians whose borders are sealed.

This is the way the Stockholm and Rome sources describe the operation: Mongols work among themselves as collective farmers in areas along the borders, whence Poles, Ukrainians, Lithuanians, East Prussians and others were deported to areas inside the Soviet Union.

The cordon extends roughly for more than 1,000 miles from Latvia toward Romania. Some 7,000,000 Europeans were removed from their homes in Poland, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia to make room for the Asiatic belt, and were either transferred to Soviet territory or sent into Siberian exile.

Brought Back

Some Poles originally sent by the Russians in 1939 to far eastern territories, acquired eastern wives and eastern-looking families. Some 10,000 of these are said to have been brought back to present-day Poland. This may have given rise to reports of an influx of Chinese labor.

This fails to explain the reports about the Russian side of the border. The Poles are said to refer to people there as "The Kafkas," which means a people of mixed Asiatic strains.

Western reporters cannot go to the areas mentioned and all reports must be considered with reserve but they are too persistent to be ignored.

Brawny, Brains Not Strangers

By ROBERT MARX

LONDON—(Reuters)—"Two-ton" Tessie O'Shea, British Vaudeville star, may pack a lot of beef but she's no meathead.

Tessie threw a luncheon party to knock down the statement by slim acress Dorothy Dickson that stodgy bodies breed stodgy brains. Backing Tessie up were a dozen heavyweights of show business and other professions who didn't get where they are just by throwing their weight around.

Guest of honor was Sophia Tucker, "last of the red hot mamas."

Tessie, her blond hair hidden under a big black picture hat, led off.

"A fat girl can do anything a thin girl can do," she grinned.

"We've got so much more to give," chuckled her guest.

"We like being fat," Tessie said. She waighed 250 pounds shortly before going to the United States last year for a series of television appearances, but decided that was overdoing it a bit and slimmed down to a svelte 200.

It wasn't all for laughs, though. Turning solemn for a minute, Tessie said she's serious about this weight business. She doesn't like to see girls getting "complexes" because they can't get thin. Going back a way, she remembered she was the fattest girl in her school but won tennis and dancing honors—and she wasn't at the bottom of the class, either.

Missing from the luncheon was 200-pound Mrs. Bessie Braddock, Labor member of parliament, who had to attend to some weighty business in the House of Commons.

Mortals, Immortals Lesson Sermon Subject

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the lesson sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world including First Church of Christ Scientist in Peterborough on Sunday.

The golden text was "They that are in the flesh cannot please God. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you."

Selections from the Bible included the following from Psalms 100: 3: "Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, included the following: "Immortal man was and is God's image or idea, even the infinite expression of infinite Mind, and immortal man is coexistent and coeternal with that mind. He has been for ever in the eternal mind, God; but infinite mind can never be in man, but is reflected by man. The spiritual man's consciousness and individuality are reflections of God. They are the emanations of Him who is Life, Truth, and Love. Immortal man is not and never was material but always spiritual and eternal."

14 Candidates Named To Contest 6 Federal By-Elections In May

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, May 12 — (CP) — Fourteen candidates have been named to contest six federal by-elections May 26. Nominations close today.

The by-elections — their outcome may have some bearing on the date of the next general election—were called to fill six of seven vacancies in the Commons, resulting from deaths and appointments.

The voting will be in the Ontario constituencies of Ontario and Waterloo North; the Quebec constituencies of Victoria-Carleton and Gloucester. Five of the seats were Liberal, the other Progressive Conservative.

No date has been fixed for a by-election to fill a seventh vacancy, in the Quebec constituency of Outremont-St. Jean.

The Commons standing: Liberals 181; Progressive Conservatives 45; C.C.F. 13; Social Credit 10; Independent 4; Independent Liberal 2; vacant 7; total 262.

The by-elections will mark the government's first test of strength since last year when it lost three seats to the Progressive Conservatives in five by-elections. The Progressive Conservatives retained two seats.

See Fall Election

Liberal members a few months ago were predicting a federal election in the summer of 1953. They now are discussing privately the possibility of an election this fall.

Liberal members have said the possibility of a fall election hinges on several "ifs." They would welcome an election this year if:

1. The Liberals make good showings in the six by-elections.
2. The Liberals win or gain substantial ground in provincial elections in Quebec, British Columbia and Saskatchewan.
3. The outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan is brought under control.

The members believe that if an election is not held this year it will not be held until the fall of 1953 or spring of 1954.

The Liberals and Progressive Conservatives will contest the six by-elections. The C.C.F. has nominated candidates in the Ontario constituencies.

Wagers Benefit Science

OSLO—(CP)—Norway's government-operated soccer pool reports net profits of 15,000,000 kroner (about $1,250,000) for 1951. As decreed by law, two-thirds of the profits go to scientific purposes and the other third is used for the promotion of sports. In the four years of its existence the pool has paid out 43,000,000 kroner.

Today Is National Hospital Day!

Nursing originated in the health needs of primitive man, receiving new impetus and a distinctive professional character in the Christian era. Through the years as Medical Science has constantly developed, nursing knowledge and skill have kept pace.

Christ-like charity, the well-spring of the spirit of nursing, was first introduced by Our Lord: "Jesus appeared the Great Physician and Healer," as the touch of His hand restored health to diseased and crippled bodies. There are few callings in which the members are privileged to follow so closely in the footsteps of the Great Healer. Healing, soothing, relieving pain with the charity of Christ is the aim of each nurse who strives to be worthy of her profession.

Today, nursing education is in a period of transition and expansion as the need for more and more professional bedside nurses grows. This demand has been brought about by the increased hospitalization of the sick. The progress of Medicine with its marvellous surgical techniques and life-saving medications, instead of lessening the demand for nurses in hospitals, is increasing it and probably will continue to do so for years to come.

Our Schools of Nursing have the responsibility of preparing nurses for various fields outside the actual hospital services—Public Health Work, Victorian Order Nursing, Industrial Nursing, Medical Clinics, and Air Line Hostesses. These health services cannot achieve full effectiveness unless the supply of trained nurses is adequate.

It is true there is universal concern regarding the need for more nurses to care for the sick, but quality must never be sacrificed for quantity.

Schools of Nursing aim to develop in their students not only skills but cultural ideals which together with their work will enable them to live happily in their community.

Although goalie David Folger, of Kingston, appears to have the ball under control, it slipped past him and Vin Pennyquick (far right) who backed up Folger on the play. Final score: Peterborough 4, Kingston 0.—(George Lilley Photo).

Kingston Bows To U.E.W. In Soccer Fray

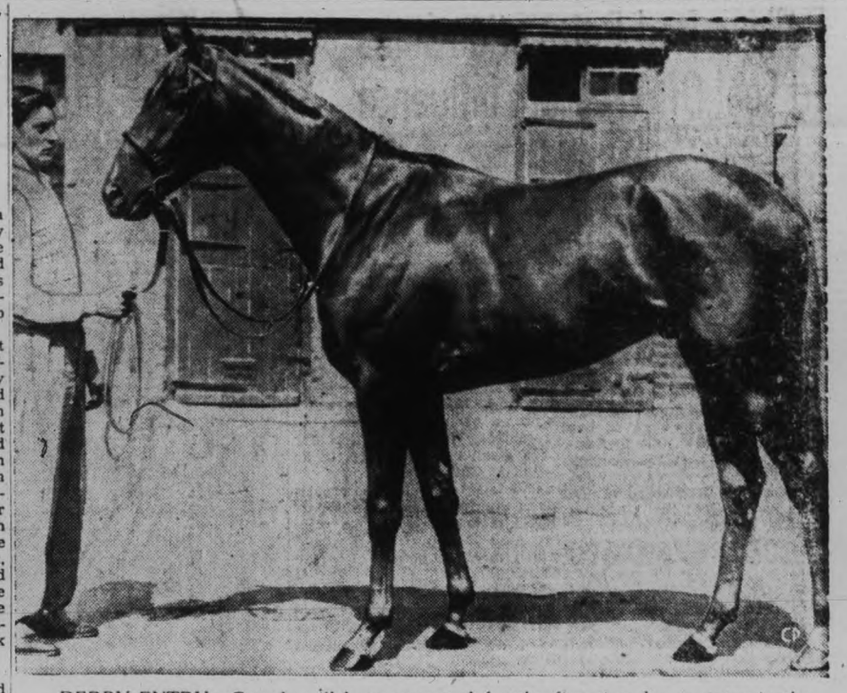
The U.E.W. soccer team took a 4-0 Eastern Ontario League victory over Kingston on Saturday on the latter's grounds. It was the second win in as many loop starts this early season for last year's champions. Kingston were runners-up last season.

Bob Strong early had a neat move on goal but was ruled offside. Running for the ball, Billy Holroyd pulled a leg msucle and came off for treatment. Kingston then put on the pressure but Art Jones in goal saved several hard thrusts and cleared neatly. With Holroyd back as a passenger on the wing, Andy Smith of the visitors collided with a rival player and suffered a scalp wound which kept him out for the rest of the route. Kingston kept pressing but, in a Petes' drive, they conceded a corner. Johnny Holt took the kick to place it beautifully at the goal mouth where Jack Robertson headed in for a story-book goal to make it 1-0 at the half.

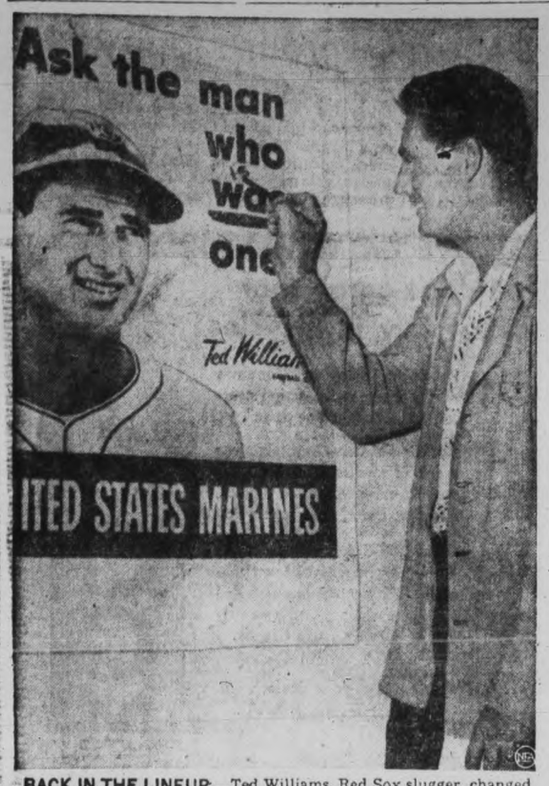
Cheered Them

This goal heartened the crippled U.E.W. squad and they came out fighting in the second half. Ray Titshalll, reserve goalie, went in as centre forward to strengthen the line and they started to click. Kingston was unbalanced by the U.E. drive, but kept fighting back. They had the Petes' goalkeeper beaten but Jimmy Craig headed the almost certain goal out and nearly knocked himself out in the process.

Petes then whipped in and Kingston conceded a corner kick. Up popped Johnny Holt with another lovely cross which Eric Cotton banged at the goal where it was hastily scrambled out. But G. Smith whammed it right back to make the score 2-0. U.E. kept pressing and Bob Strong put them three in front with a shot deflected into the net by a defender. Two minutes later, Ray Titshall sent home a blistering shot to wind up the scoring. But the Petes sighed with relief when the hot contest wound up and they could limp off as tired but worthy winners.



DERBY ENTRY—Canada will be represented for the first time by an entry in the Epsom Derby. Max Bell, publisher of the Calgary Albertan, paid more than $25,000 for Indian Hemp, a royally-bred chestnut colt with a record of five times in the money—including two firsts—in seven starts last year. Given a fast track Derby Day, May 28, his chances, says trainer Marcus Marsh—who also handles the Aga Kahn's horses—are "very hopeful." A half-brother, Noor, was third in the 1948 Derby for the Aga Kahn and went on to greater triumphs in the United States. Pre-race odds on the entry, shown with his groom, are about 50-1.



BACK IN THE LINEUP—Ted Williams, Red Sox slugger, changed a Philadelphia Marine recruiting poster back to present tense reporting as a captain for active duty.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

O.L.A. senior schedule has been released, showing the opening game on May 16 (next Friday) as: Owen Sound at Peterborough; Fergus vs. Toronto in Brampton goes the next night; as Monday sees St. Kitts at Hamilton. While the schedule runs till Aug. 23, the last local game is Aug. 15 with Mimico here, the Timbermen finishing on the road on Aug. 20. That should rest 'em up for playoffs, if they make them. Heavens, what did we say? Seven clubs in St. Catharines, Fergus, Hamilton, Mimico, Peterborough, Toronto and Owen Sound, the latter replacing Brampton, though some Toronto "home" games will be staged in Brampton. So, the 1952 lacrosse lid is pried off here this week.

A Five-team Circuit

Quinte columnist writes. "It looks from here as though the C.O.B.L. will be composed of five teams, Belleville, Kingston, Peterborough, Picton and Batawa. It is learned unofficially that Napanee has withdrawn from the loop and will do its baseballing in the Kingston City League. Too heavy transportation costs, it seems. Kingston and Peterborough have the long hauls and they appear to be satisfied. Batawa has not officially entered yet but assurance has been received by league officials that the Shoemen will be in. A meeting of league officials has been called for Monday when it is expected the schedule will be drawn up and other pre-opening wrinkles ironed out."

A Western Ontario writer, Jack Parks, views with alarm the unlimited rule on ball imports in the Intercounty League. Says: "The move will be a crushing blow to the game of baseball in Ontario. The teams backing the idea now are those who figure it cheaper to import than to develop talent. They aren't interested in baseball, their main purpose is to become professional promoters. They apparently don't give a hoot what happens to the development of youngsters in their own back yard." He could well be writing of the Oshawa senior setup, eh? But we should also remember that here in baseball, lacrosse, football and hockey—you must develop the youngsters if future major sports are to survive.

Juniors To Carry On

Gord Snape has reconsidered withdrawing the local junior ball entry from the Lakeshore League and will carry on, holding nightly workouts at 6:30 in Riverside. All junior players invited. President Max Swanston of the senior Petes assured Gord that the club would not be raided as it was imperative that the youngsters be encouraged and kept in their own category till ready to step up. Last week, Gord burned up when some of his juniors began taking in senior drills, but apparently all is peace and harmony again, though practice time in Riverside still has to be allotted by the recreation commissioner. The seniors will have to keep hustling, too, as the season is almost upon us.

A couple of soccer items. U.E.W. won their second loop match 4-0 in Kingston on Saturday and had to fight for it as they were crippled up from the first 20 minutes on. But they finished strong to roll up the count. We haven't their schedule as yet. Reg Cox, P.D.F.A. commission president, writes us from Lindsay: "A late starter this year, the Peterborough-District Soccer-Football Association is desirous of contacting any person interested in soccer in Peterborough and vicinity. Anyone desiring to sponsor, referee or assist in reorganization should get in touch with R. A. Cox at Lindsay, 4 Colborne St., E. Players not yet affiliated are requested to send in their names and addresses, and teams will be formed. An open meeting will be held as soon as arrangements can be completed."

Ottawa Dumps Red Wings

By The Associated Press.

Lou Limmer, former home-run king of the American Association, is beginning to find the range in the International League.

The lanky first baseman of Ottawa Athletics clouted a homer in each game Saturday as Ottawa defeated Rochester Red Wings 9-5 and 7-3 to sweep a four-game series.

Limmer, property of Philadelphia Athletics, now has hit five homers during the month to bring his output of the season to six. He led the Association in home runs with 29 in 1950 while at St. Paul.

Lefthander Joe Murray won the opener for Ottawa in a relief role. He allowed only one run over the last six innings. Ed Hrabczak went the distance in the second game. Limer homered with the bases empty in the opener and with one on in the nightcap.

The league-leading Montreal Royals also won a doubleheader, beating Toronto Maple Leafs 7-2 and 2-0. The victories enabled the Royals to pull four games in front of Buffalo Bisons.

Lefty Mal Meliette scattered nine Toronto hits in the first game while the Royals amassed 16. Don and Charley Thompson led the assault by driving in six suns and collecting four hits apiece.

Bob Alexander blanked the Leafs on five safeties in the second game. Royals scored in the third on a double, sacrifice and single and again in the sixth on Junior Gilliam's home run.

A doubleheader between Buffalo and Syracuse, and a single game between Springfield and Baltimore, were rained out.

Two Canadian universities opening a Dominion college basketball championship series at London, Ont., tonight, are out to "get rid of Ridd."

In a joint statement Sunday night, cotches Johnny Metras of the University of Western Ontario and Dr. Maury Van Vliet of the University of Alberta threatened to withdraw their teams from the 1952 Canadian Olympic basketball playoffs if the college winner has to face "a composite team" when it plays Tillsonburg Livingstons starting May 19.

Although no names were mentioned in the statement, both coaches have voiced disapproval of a ruling by the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association which gave Tillsonburg the right to use all-star centre Carl Ridd of Winnipeg as a replacement for forward Tom Gibbons. The Livingstons are unable to use Gibbons in an Olympic series because he is a United States citizen.

The coaches said they have notified Don Paul, president of the C.A.B.A. of their decision.

Joe Page, one-time famous New York Yankee fireman, has reached the end of the line. He was given his outright release Saturday by Kansas City of the American Association after he failed to make good this year with Syracuse Chiefs of the International Baseball League. He had been optioned there on a make-good basis.

Manchester United, English League soccer champions, won the second game of their North American tour at Philadelphia yesterday 4-0 over an all-star Philly aggregation.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago won the $15,000 Pan-American golf championship Sunday with a 72-hole total of 279, three over par, at Mexico City.

The Detroit Free Press says St. Louis Browns have offered their ace righthander Ned Garver to Detroit Tigers in return for third baseman George Kell and other players. Vice-president Bill Dewitt of the Browns conferred with Tiger officials. Tiger manager Red Rolfe said, however, such a trade would be "silly" because "we new infielders, not pitchers."

Calumet Farm's Real Delight, just as expected by the experts, romped to a 4½ length victory Saturday in the $25,000-added Black-eyed Susan stakes for three-year-old fillies at Pimlico. Eddie Arcaro was up.

Horsemen reached an agreement at Chicago Sunday night on purse distribution with officials of Lincoln Fields race track and called off a scheduled strike at Hawthorne, Ill.

Frank Sedgman, Australia's Davis Cup star is 7 to 4 favorite to win this year's Wimbledon tennis championship. Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., who won last year, is rated third at 5 to 1.

Re-Elected President

GALT, May 12 (CP) — Dave Mannan of Cainsville was re-elected president of the Ontario Rural Softball Association at its 21st annual meeting Saturday. John Eccles of Guelph was elected first vice-president and E. G. Galls of Galt, secretary.

Snead Captures Greenbrier Open

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 12 (AP).—There's no place like home, of course, and for Sam Snead there's no place like his home course.

Sam proved it again Sunday with a four-under-par 66 in a drenching rain to win the $1,800 first prize in the Greenbrier open played over the layout where he also picks up loose change as golf professional.

It was the slammer's fourth straight sub-par round and gave him a 72-hole total of 264. His 16 strokes under par were six better than the second place effort turned in by Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., who pocketed $1,000.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., copped third with a 271 and $700 in prize money.

Although the 6,368 yard Old White course was drenched in a downpour, the veteran Snead shot like the sun was out, as he birdied five of the last 18 holes. His only real spoiler was the fifth hole, where he took three putts.

On the 525-yard 17th the defending Greenbrier champ got onto the green in two with a pair of powerful pokes. He barely missed an 18-foot putt; then sank an easy one footer for a birdie four.

HEADS REFS—Bun Hill, former senior lacrosse goalie, is in charge of referees this year for the Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association, which begins a week of drills in the various sections Tuesday evening.

Basketball Tiff Said Ridiculous

MONTREAL, May 12 (CP)—Al Irwin, national secretary of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association described today as "ridiculous" a statement by two university coaches that they objected to facing a "composite" C.A.B.A. team in the Olympic trials.

Irwin was replying to a statement from London, Ont., Sunday night in which Dr. Maury Van Vliet of University of Alberta and Johnny Metras of University of Western Ontario threatened to withdraw from the 1952 Canadian Olympic basketball trials.

Irwin said Van Vliet and Metras were objecting to a C.A.B.A. ruling which allows Tillsonburg to replace Tommy Gibbons with Carl Ridd, a member of Winnipeg Varsity Grads. Gibbons was ruled ineligible for the Olympic series because of his American citizenship.

"Ridd is the only player involved in the hassle," Irwin said. "Therefore, I fail to see where Metras and Van Vliet get their ideas regarding a 'composite' team

"What we are trying to do is to see that the strongest team possible represents Canada in basketball. We are the Association handling the Olympic trials, and if we choose, we would not have to allow the college teams to compete."

Taylor Denies Report He'll Build Track

TORONTO, May 12 (CP) —Industrialist E. P. Taylor denied Saturday a report that he heads a syndicate which plans to build a modern race track here and "put Toronto in the big time on racing."

"I want to say definitely that the rumor is untrue," said Taylor.

The report that Taylor, acting for a syndicate, planned to buy Dufferin Park, Thorncliffe and sufficient stock in Woodbine to gain control of that track and then build a new track to replace the three

Indians Sweep Twin Bill To Lead League By 2 Games

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

What happened to the lively ball? Like the dodo bird, it appears to have become extinct. Two years ago the pitchers were wailing about two much jack-rabbit in the ball. Now the hitters are doing the moaning and groaning. The Major League season is less than a month old and already 28 shutouts have been pitched. American League hurlers, who have turned in 17 whitewashing jobs, have spun seven 1-0 games to equal their full-season total of 1951.

Bob Lemon of Cleveland and Allie Reynolds of New York Yankees pitched brilliant 1-0, two-hit victories Sunday. That boosted to 35 the total of games this year in which a team was held to four hits on less.

Only four runs were hit Sunday. That raised the two leagues' total to 217, 70 fewer than the total at a corresponding date last year.

Sweep Doubleheader

Lemon's two-hit victory was followed by Mike Garcia's eight-hit, 3-1 triumph that enabled the Indians to sweep a doubleheader from the Browns and increase their American League lead to two games over the runner-up Washington Senators.

Lemon was extended to the limit as Ned Garver, Brownie ace, yielded only four hits himself. Three of them came in the last half of the ninth to furnish the only run. Dale Mitchell's two-out single with the bases loaded broke up the mound duel.

The Indians collected only five hits off loser Cain and two relievers in the second game but made them all count for Garcia's fourth victory.

Reynolds, who hurled a no-hitter against the Red Sox last September, nearly duplicated the stunt. The only hits the Red Sox got Sunday were first-inning singles by Dom DiMaggio and Vern Stephens as the Yankee righthander registered his 1-0 triumph at the expense of Mel Parnell.

Hank Bauer singled with one out in the fifth, advanced to second on a grounder and scored on a line single by Irv Noren.

In Third Place

The defeat dropped the Red Sox into third place, 10 percentage points behind Washington.

The Senators defeated Philadelphia Athletics, 5-2, in 11 innings of the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. Rain washed out the second tilt after two scoreless innings.

Detroit Tigers snapped their seven game losing streak, nipping Chicago 2-1, after the White Sox had won the first game of the doubleheader 6-5. Rookie George Lerchen's eighth-inning single drove Johnny Lipon home from second with the winning Tiger run in the eighth. Minnie Minoso's two-run homer and strong relief pitching by Saul Rogovin, another ex-Tiger, won the opener for Chicago.

Brooklyn Dodgers whittled New York's National League lead to one game, edging Philadelphia 4-3, in 10 innings.

Error Helps

An error set up Brooklyn's winning run. Peewee Reese got a life on Granny Hamner's bobble, stole second and scored on a two-out single by Roy Campanella.

Joe Adcock walloped two homers and a single to lead the Cincinnati Reds to an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Chicago Cubs split a twin bill with Pittsburgh, losing 11-2 after winning the opener 8-2. George Metkovich drove in three runs with a triple and three singles to help Bob Friend register his second Pirate victory. Hank Sauer backed up Paul Minner's five-hit pitching in the opener with a home run, double and single.

The scheduled doubleheader between the Giants and Braves in Boston was rained out.

Winnipeg Wins Plaudits For Ballet

TORONTO, May 12 (CP) — A second showing of the Winnipeg Ballet's "Shooting of Dan McGrew" closed the fourth annual Canadian Ballet Festival Saturday night with rounds of spontaneous applause.

Speaking of the "long established and professional" Winnipeg ballet, Herbert Whittager of The Globe and Mail said: "The audience needs the kind of enjoyment that the Winnipeg group can give if it is to support the festival and surely the other dancers need to see the best in the country."

The Ballet Production Club of Vancouver produced an unscheduled performance of "Scherzo." Mrs. Whittaker said: "As an exercise in adagio it was light in feeling and buoyant but put considerable strain on the four dancers to maintain its mood."

Reviewing the complete festival, Mr. Whittaker had these comments:

Choreography: "There is a lack of genuine creative urge in the work of the Canadian choreographers, which may be laid down in part to their lack of opportunities of growing in their art and also to the conditions under which they must labor."

Settings: "The standard was quite high . . . but of the settings, I think Jean Fournier de Belval was easily identifiable as having made the most helpful and artistic contribution with his work for Elizabeth Leese's Lady From the Sea."

Dancers: ". . . such obvious 'stars' as Eva Von Genscy, Elizabeth Leese, Willy Blok Hanson, Jean Stoneham, Irene Apine and Jury Gotschalks.

"But the work of Marina Katriono, Viola Busday and Arnold Spohr of Winnipeg, Joanne Ashe of Ottawa, Lillian Jarvis, Walter Foster, Katherine Stewart and little Christilot Hanson of Toronto, Calvin Von Reinhold and Kay Armstrong of Vancouver and Alex Periema of Montreal must not pass without some special mention and applause."

Father, Son Drown

FRUITVALEN, B.C., May 12—(CP)—A father and son were drowned Saturday in the Columbia River after the boy slipped while trying to untangle a snagged fishing line. Charles Noble, a non-swimmer, jumped into the water in an attempt to rescue 14-year-old Andy Noble and both were caught in the swirling eddies.

Bonfire Starts Blaze, Destroys Home

COLDSPRINGS, May 12 (ENS)—The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. McKinley, and family of the Sully road, northeast of Plainville, was completely demolished by fire Friday evening.

It is thought to have started from a bonfire used in burning rubbish and that was thought to be out. Some of the embers must have blown near the house and before it was noticed the back kitchen was on fire. Mrs. McKinley was unable to get to the phone to call for help, but she was fortunate to get their four young children, including an infant, out the front door.

She took the children a quarter-mile to a neighbor's for help, but by this time the fire had too big a start. Mr. McKinley was in Harwood at the time.

Cobourg fire brigade was called, but by the time they arrived the house was pretty well demolished. Had the wind been in another direction the barns would have burned too.

4-Foot Wave Sweeps Down On 5 Homes

CLARKSON, Ont., May 12 (CP)—A four-foot wave of crude oil and water swept down on five lakefront homes here Sunday when an oil storage tank at the British American Oil Refinery collapsed.

Police cordoned off the area after fear was expressed that a fire could sweep through the 400 storage tanks at the refinery 16 miles west of Toronto. One family was removed from its home, 250 feet away from the refinery.

The storage tank, capable of holding 3,500,000 gallons of oil, was being filled with water for test purposes when a steel plate buckled and the tank collapsed on an oil pipeline which burst.

Dancing, Speeches Mark Anniversary

NORTH BAY, May 12—(CP)—Square dancing, speeches and displays marked the 50th anniversary celebrations of the provincially-owned Ontario Northern Railway Saturday.

Premier Frost said the railway opened up an area which previously produced nothing. Last year the mineral output was $500,000,000.

He predicted that scientific advances will make available many other products of the north which now are commercially useless.

SWITCH BOARD OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAY

North Country Main Centre Of 1952 Caterpillar March

By ROD CURRIE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO —(CP)—Forestry officials expect another plague of tent caterpillars in Ontario this spring. But they say that in most areas the infestation will not be quite as bad as in 1951 when crawling armies chased early holidayers from summer homes, stalled trains and delayed highway traffic.

Since the caterpillar's birth-rate goes in cycles, areas which bore the brunt of the attack last year probably will escape with a lesser infestation this year. The breeding cycle reaches its peak about every 10 years.

During early May caterpillars have been seen on the march in several parts of Ontario.

Officials of the forest insect laboratory of the Agriculture Department predict the Port Arthur and North Bay areas will be hardest hit this spring. Heavy infestation also is predicted for the Muskoka, Parry Sound and Sault Ste. Marie districts as well as parts of western Ontario.

Last year's caterpillar invasion, believed the worst in the province's history, followed a mild winter and warm spring.

Thousands of acres of forests in the Sault Ste. Marie area alone were denuded by the hordes. Trains operating between there and Sudbury were delayed as much as an hour at a time because the crushed caterpillars greased the tracks and the engines couldn't gain traction.

Besides marching through stands of woodlot trees and infesting fruit orchards, the fuzzy worms advanced into summer resort areas where they hung from trees, screen doors and windows.

Tests Under Way

The Ontario Department of Lands, in co-operation with Federal officials, is conducting a series of tests to determine just how much damage is done by the caterpillars.

It is believed that unless a tree is in poor condition, or is attacked three or four years in succession, it probably would survive. The caterpillars do not enter the wood but eat only the leaves. In June they turn into moths.

The fight against caterpillars is carried on mostly on a community basis. Spraying from planes is usually effective but last year's hordes were so great that insecticides proved all but useless.

There are two kinds of tent caterpillars. The American caterpillar builds his tent in smaller trees where he later proceeds to defoliate all nearby trees. His cousin, the forest tent caterpillar, which despite his name, does not build a tent, infests the forests and is considered the more harmful of the two.

Last year the forest caterpillar became so numerous in the Sault Ste. Marie area that they drove wildlife out of upper peninsula woods. The animals left the woods because the insects were "dropping like rain from every tree."

Investigate Fire

MOUNT ELGIN, May 12—(CP)—A $10,000 fire which destroyed a school bus, a large storage shed and several farm implements here Sunday is being investigated by Ontario Provincial Police and R.C.M.P. The big Muncey school bus, operated by the Department of Indian Affairs, was lost along with the sheds and implements, all property of the department.

Checking Trunks

FORT ERIE, May 12—(CP)—In a move to combat alien smuggling from Canada, immigration and customs officials have begun opening the trunks of all cars passing through inspection lanes the four international bridges on the Niagara frontier. The action was prompeted by the seizure Wednesday of two alien Italians in the trunk of a Niagara Falls car.

Appointed To NATO

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP)—Group Capt. George H. Newsome, 39, of Prescott, has been appointed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris in a shift in overseas appointments involving senior Canadian Army and R.C.A.F. officers, defence headquarters announced Sunday.

King Tut Curse Superstition Doctor Argues

By HAIG NICHOLSON.

CAIRO, May 12—(Reuters)— A 78-year-old British doctor has left for home after 40 years in Egypt, convinced that the curse of King Tutankhamon is just another superstition.

Dr. Douglas Darry, until recently professor of anatomy and anthropology for the Egyptian government, was one of the first to peep into the gold-filled tomb of Tutankhamon.

He unwrapped the mummy of the Boy King of ancient Egypt, and says he is the living proof that there is no foundation to the superstition that the curse of an untimely death rested on those who opened the tomb.

In an interview before he left for Britain, Dr. Derry said:

"They said that this curse was responsible for the death of Lord Carnarvon who financed the excavations, and Howard Carter, who supervised the work, and others who assisted in the opening of the tomb.

"Surely the curse should have rested most heavily on me for I unwrapped the mummy of Tutankhamon. That was nearly 30 years ago. I am in my 78th year and still fit and well. But possibly when I pass on, superstitious people will say it is the curse again."

The tomb was discovered in November, 1922, when Howard Carter was on the point of giving up excavations in what he called the "cursed valley."

The actual unwrapping of the mummy was not begun until two years after its discovery and had to be done with the body still in the gold coffin, Dr. Derry pointed out.

Over the head and shoulders, reaching down to the middle of the body, was a solid gold mask representing the effigy of the young king.

This mask was firmly stuck to the floor of the coffin by certain resinous liquids which had been poured in as libations just before the lid of the coffin was fastened on.

The mummy itself was glued to the floor of the coffin. It was some days before Dr. Derry was able to release the body and draw the head and shoulders out of the mask.

"As the bandages were removed layer after layer of gold objects were revealed," Dr. Derry said. "On the arms, were bracelets stretching from the wrists to the elbows.

"Tutankhamon was the first Egyptian king to be found untouched and in his original coffin."

Dr. Derry spent more than 40 years of his life helping young Egyptians become doctors and was still teaching in Cairo's medical school when the "shooting war" started in the Suez canal zone last fall.

The Nahas Pasha cabinet decided to dismiss all British officials in government service and Dr. Derry was one of those who had to go.

Budgetting Guide Shows Trent For Basic Living

TORONTO — (CP) — Minimum family living costs have increased in Toronto up to 16 per cent since 1949, Toronto Welfare Council has discovered.

In its revised schedule for family budgetting, guide to Family Spending, the council has found that it now costs 16 per cent more for a Toronto family to maintain a minimum standard of health than in June, 1949.

The schedule was prepared by the council's research department as of Feb. 1, 1952. The statistics replace earlier ones reckoned for 1949.

Peter Alapas, research director, said the major change in the interval since the 1949 Guide was issued was in food costs. But between Feb. 1, and April 1, food prices have dipped to the extent of $1.20 weekly for a manual worker and 25 cents weekly for a child.

A 39-year-old office worker who maintains a wife of 35 and two children of three years and nine months in a five-room house or apartment, could not provide respectably for his family in Toronto today on less than $33.90 weekly after the rent has been paid.

This figure does not take care of such items as savings, insurance, taxes or health-plan subscriptions.

In 1949, under identical circumstances, he could have got by on $28.08 weekly.

The Guide does not give a budget figure for an average family but is based on expenditures needed for different age groups. Families are cautioned that modifications must be made to fit each case.

Prairie Doctor Invents Can Which Dances, To Detect Oil

ESTEVAN, Sask. — (CP) — A Saskatchewan doctor has decided to retire from the medical profession and specialize in the disease which is spreading across western Canada—the oil fever.

He is Dr. F. B. Smyth of Estevan, the inventor of a magical "tin can" which he hopes may be a key to oil exploration.

Dr. Smyth says his invention, the "emanation detector," has attracted the attention of oil men from all parts of the continent. The strange little device, which appears to be just a tin can with a string attached is said to have the ability to smell out oil and valuable mineral deposits such as coal and uranium.

The doctor says his invention not only leads drillers to oil, but also determines the depth of the deposit, the depth of the pay zone and even the type of oil.

The presence of oil, even thousands of feed under ground, sets the can off on a mysterious "St. Vitus Dance."

Began 34 Years Ago

Dr. Smyth began work on his invention 34 years ago back in Winkler, Man.

Oil companies from Canada and the United States are anxious to put the emanation detector to a test, he says. The "wagging wonder" will be used to spot drilling sights near the Saskatchewan-Alberta border and at St. Paul, Alta., northeast of Edmonton.

Dr. Smyth has travelled throughout the western provinces plotting the location of worthwhile mineral deposits. According to his map, the city of Regina is sitting astride gas and oil deposits.

Dr. Smyth was born in the Algoma district of Ontario and studied medicine at Toronto and Winnipeg. He has practised at Winkler, The Pas, Man., and as a medical officer for the Federal Indian Affairs Branch. He was a doctor at Torquay, Sask., for 13 years and at Estevan for 10.

Die-Hard Reds Planned Seizure Week Ahead

KOJE ISLAND, Korea, May 12—(AP)—Die-hard Red prisoners of war had planned the seizure of Brig.-Gen. Francis T. Dodd at least a week in advance, Koje stockade officials said today.

Dodd, 52-year-old commander of the U.N. Koje island P.O.W. camp, was grabbed by Red prisoners Wednesday and held 78 hours. He was released unharmed Saturday and flown to Seoul Sunday.

Lt.-Col. Grover R. Raven, almost captured at the same time, told reporters that within minutes after the Reds grabbed Dodd the North Korean prisoners were waving banners which said:

"We captured Dodd. If our problems are resolved his security is guaranteed. If there is any brutal act or shooting his life is in danger."

Raven barely escaped capture. He said the prisoner was trying to drag him into the compound had been bayonetted by a U.N. guard.

Previously Detained

Raven disclosed that one month before the Dodd incident Raven himself had been detained forcibly by the inmates of compound 76 about three hours.

He said the prisoners had complained about their food and tried to force him to eat some cereal and soup.

"I refused," he said. "If they had invited me to eat I would have done so gladly but they tried to force it on me and I refused."

Raven was released unharmed after the first seizure.

Brig.-Gen. Charles Colson, named commander of the P.O.W.s after Dodd was seized, said the capture of Dodd was planned and executed by the Reds "apparently to get a hostage so they could make certain demands in return for release of their prisoner."

Eighth army reports on the Dodd capture, however, said the prisoners had been supplied writing paper and a telephone and that Red prisoners from other compounds had been permitted to enter compound 76, where Dodd was held. Those were not all the requests filed by the Reds.

OFF TO GERMANY—Members of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps wave happily as they sail from Montreal on their way to Germany to join Canada's 27th Brigade for the summer. The officers, all students at various universities, will train with Canada's North Atlantic Treaty force and return to their studies and regular C.O.T.C. work in the fall.

Three Plays Well Presented At Queen Mary

A substantial audience, including an unusually large number of children, gathered on Saturday night in Queen Mary auditorium to see three plays presented under the sponsorship of the Y. W. C. A.

The first one was one act of A. A. Milne's "Toad of Toad Hall," performed by members of the Y. W. C. A. Children's Theatre. It was admirably acted, and Rosalind Ross, as the popular, successful Toad, was especially good. Others in the cast were Linda Swartz, Robea Purdon, Allison Low, Wendy Outram, Margo McCombe, Miranda Davies, Jennifer Davies, Gail Wilkinson, Rosemary Epston, Marion Gledhill, Marlene Harrison, Joselyn Calvert and Judy Morre. The play had several spendid properties, including a caravan, a motor car and a horse. It was directed by Mrs. Irene Campbell.

The Knox Theatre Group presented "World Without Men" by Philip Johnson, a novel play about a woman scientist who abolished every male creature at a single stroke. This powerful role was ably played by Peggy McCombe, and other well-defined and ably presented characters were played by Susan Summers, Joyce Meiklejohn, Ada Huffman, Betty Massey-Cook, Lindy McIntosh and Betty Blair. The play was staged by Peter McCombe, with lighting by Ray Gillies.

A melodrama, "The Case of the Weird Sisters" by Wall Spence was the third play of the group, presented by the Blue Triangle Players. A good sense of the year 1900 was created by the costumes of Jean Strasser, the stage furnishings by Mary Clifford, and the lighting of Ken Roberts. The cast worked together well to create an impression of a family shadowed by madness, and Sonya Donaldson and Irene Campbell gave ingenious, funny and sometimes touching performances. The plot of the play was clearly brought forth by Ivy Olsen, Frances Adleman and Ruth Swartz. John Campbell's direction exploited the possibiliites of the play throughly.

Decide Life Term Given If Winnie Judd Found Sane

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 12 (AP) —Governor Howard Pyle Saturday commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Winnie Ruth Judd, 48, the "tiger woman" of the early 1930's.

The action was recommended by the Arizona Board of Pardons and Paroles. Mrs. Judd will remain in the Arizona State Hospital for the Insane until such time as she is declared sane. If that should ever occur, she would be transferred to a state prison.

The red-haired killer was committed to the hospital for 72 hours before she was to hang for the 1931 shooting of two women friends. A jury had found her guilty of murder. Another jury found her insane.

Mrs. Judd was found guilty of killing Agnes Anne Le Roil and Hedvig Samuelson in her home here Oct. 16, 1931. She shipped their disemembered bodies to Los Angeles in a trunk and suitcase.

During the 20 years she has been in the State Hospital, Mrs. Judd has escaped five times.

900 Carpenters "Holidaying"

WINDSOR, May 12 (CP) —An action union officials described as "holidaying" continued today as 900 Windsor painters and carpenters stayed away from work to enforce contract demands.

Seven hundred carpenters quit their jobs Wednesday, halting work on scores of construction projects in this area. Officials of Local 494, the Carpenters and Joiners' Brotherhood (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), said the men are asking a 35-cent boost on an hourly basic of $1.90.

The carpenters were joined Friday by 200 painters. They are asking 35 cents on a basic of $1.55, said officials of Local 1494, the Painters' Brotherhood (A.F.L.-T.L.C.)

Officials of both unions have denied the men are on strike. They called it a 'holiday."

Religious Play At George St.

A religious play, When Mothers Meet, was presented at a fireside meeting in George St. United Church Sunday night following the evening service.

The meeting was sponsored by the Mr. and Mrs. Club of George St. United Church.

The play depicted the two tragic mothers of the Bible, Mary, the mother of Jesus and Salome, the mother of Judas. The play was directed by Archie Townsend and taking part were Mrs. Arthur Long and Mrs. Donald Hamblin.

A male quartette, Walter Dawson, Robert Aspinal, Roy Wilfong and Victor Boorman, sang All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name, accompanied by Charles Allen.

A sing-song was led by Charles Forsyth with Mr. Allen at the piano.

A hymnary was presented to the oldest and youngest mothers present, Mrs. Ida Fanning and Mrs. Eric Smith. The presentation was made by Arthur Long, president of the Mr. and Mrs. Club.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Stanley Gilmour.

A social half hour was conducted by Mrs. Stanley Gilmour.

Knocked 2 Down Driver Fined $15

A careless driver who knocked down two pedestrians while making a left-hand turn, was fined $15 and $9.75 costs in police court today.

Gerald C. Taylor, 381 Queen St., claimed he was blinded by the sun and did not see Mrs. Lillian Alton, 283 Parkhill Rd. East, and Mrs. Lily Doree, 584 Division St., in time to avoid hitting them.

The two women were struck April 21, at Hunter and George Sts., as they were crossing George St., with the green light, and Taylor was making a left-hand turn to go south.

Mrs. Doree was eight days in hospital recovering from a sprained foot, twisted knee, bruises and facial scratches, while Mrs. Alton said her hip was bruised and her nerves were so badly upset as a result of the accident that she lost several days work.

Taylor claimed he did not see Mrs. Doree until after she had been hit because she was wearing a dark coat, because of a shadow extending across the street and the blinding glare of the afternoon sun. He said he did not see anyone starting across as he began his turn and only saw Mrs. Alton when she was directly in front of his car.

Mrs. Alton said Taylor was travelling quite fast as he made the turn and was looking towards a bank on the corner just before the car struck her.

Commenting that it would be difficult for anyone to cross the street if Taylor's explanation was accepted as urged by his defence counsel John C. Currelly, Magistrate W. R. Philp said "A driver can't hit pedestrians then come into court and say it isn't my fault. If he was momentarily blinded, I don't see how he could have seen one woman and not the other."

G. H. Cutmore Found Dead, Killed By Gun

George H. Cutmore, 55, secretary of the De Laval Co., was found Sunday afternoon lying behind his car, dead from a shotgun blast in the stomach. The body was discovered shortly before 1 p.m. on a driveway leading off the River Road, two and a half miles north of the city.

Coroner Dr. Herbert Young said there will be no inquest. Death is believed to have been accidental.

Three men travelling north in their car on the River Rd. noticed Mr. Cutmore lying on the ground —still damp from falling rain— and they stopped to investigate. They found him dead from a stomach wound.

Bob Donaghue of Patterson Ave., Toronto, one of the trio, phoned Provincial Police headquarters from the Nassau powerhouse. With him at the time were Earl Gilman of 116 Sophia St., and Maurice O'Heron, Jr., of 190 River Rd.

Went Golfing

Mr. Cutmore left his home at 272 Burnham St. to play golf at the Peterborough Golf Club. For some reason he pulled into the driveway branching off the River Rd., N., and reached into the trunk of his car for his shotgun.

He was found a short time afterwards, lying on the ground behind the trunk of his car. The driveway is in a small cedar grove.

Mr. Cutmore has been on the staff of the De Laval Co. for 32 years. He started in as a time clerk, shortly after coming to Canada from England. After successive promotions he held the positions, at the time of his death, of secretary of the company and controller of plant operations.

"A fine man and he did a wonderful job," said Wilfred S. Derry, advertising manager, "we're certainly going to miss him."

Cecil L. Upper, vice president and general manager of the company is absent in Europe. He was informed by cable of Mr. Cutmore's death.

Mr. Cutmore leaves his wife, the former Ruby Agnes Young; three sons and a daughter — Robert, Dean and Elizabeth of Peterborough, and Ross of Toronto; two sisters and two brothers — Mrs. Edith Weller, Mrs. Hilda Ostler, Frederick and William, all of England.

He was born at Witney, England, son of the late George Cutmore and Elizabeth James. During the First World War he served in the Royal Marine Light Infantry, enlisting as a private and working up to the rank of 2nd Lieutenant.

In 1919 he came to Canada and joined De Laval in 1920.

On City Trust

Mr. Cutmore was a member of the City Trust and the United Services Institute where he instructed in nursing and first aid. He was an Oddfellow, a Mason, member of the Peterborough Club and the Peterborough Golf Club. He was president of the golf club in 1951.

He was a parishioner of St. John's Anglican Church.

The funeral will be from the Comstock Funeral Home, Rubidge St., to St. John's for service Wednesday at 2 p.m. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson and Canon J. D. Paterson of Toronto will officiate. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

2 Marmora Men Land In Korea

MARMORA, May 12—(ENS)—Two native sons of Marmora, distantly related and now in their twenties, became reinforcements to the Canadian forces in Korea this month, word having been recently received from each, of their safe arrival.

The one to arrive there first was Gunner Carl G. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Gray. He left Vancouver on March 19 and landed in Japan on April 5 and after a few days spent there, eventually reached Korea. He celebrated his 20th birthday on the ocean.

CARL GRAY

Gunner Kenneth Reynolds son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds had his 20th birthday on January 2. He did not leave Vancouver until April 6 and only had an eight-hour stay in Japan. He landed in Korea on April 19.

Trapped By Tractor Youth 18, Rescued

KITCHENER, May 12 (CP) — James Pincott, 18, of nearby Preston, was rescued Saturady after the tractor he was driving overturned, pinning his feet, and burst into flames.

He was able to get one foot free. He used a smock he was wearing to beat back the flames.

Harod Snyder, 30, working on a farm across a river, heard Pincott's call for help. He waded the river and was able to free the youth before his clothes caught fire.

$100,000 Fire Razes Timmins Warehouse

TIMMINS, May 12—(CP)—Fire early today destroyed the Wendall B. Brewer warehouse and caused damage estimated at $100,000, in the most spectacular blaze here since the arena burned in February, 1947.

Flames broke out in the northeast corner of the building. Within an hour the structure was gutted. Several thousand persons, attracted by flames leaping 200 feet in the air, watched firemen battle the blaze in a drizzling rain.

The two-storey frame building was constructed about 10 years ago and was to have been the site of a new foundry and machine shop industry.

Few Men Resist Getting Shoe Shine

CHATHAM, May 12 —(CP) — Few Chathan men could resist getting a shoe shine Saturday.

Thirteen girls, working in shifts, made up for their lack of experience by using plenty of polish, elbow grease and winome smiles as they raised $117.36 for their Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire Chapter.

"Definitely successful," said Mary Frances Sherman, regent of the chapter. "It was a lot of hard work, but a lot of fun too."

Half Prisoners In Pen Donate Their Blood

KINGSTON, May 12 —(CP)— More than half the prisoners at Kingston penitentiary have donated blood to the Red Cross. Kingston members of the Society presented donor buttons and thank-you cards to the prisoners, Sunday.

Some 40 per cent of the prisoners have donated blood more than three times, the Society reported.

Two Appointments In Resources Dept.

OTTAWA, May 12 — (CP) — The Resources Department today announced two senior appointments caused by the retirement last week of J. M. Wardle, director of the Engineering and Water Resources branch.

Succeeding Mr. Wardle is Norman Marr, a veteran of 34 years government service, as chief of the water resources division. Mr. Marr's place will be taken by I. Roy Strome, for assistant chief of the water resources division.

Mr. Marr, 61, native of Walkerton, Ont., and a graduate of the University of Toronto, was recently appointed a member of the board of engineers concerned with the St. Lawrence Seaway. He has been chairman of six international engineering boards appointed by the international joint commission and represented Canada on six international boards of control concerning waterway matters already dealt with by commission.

Does Nickel pay taxes?

"They sure do, son. In 1951, for instance, the Nickel Company paid over 48 million dollars in income taxes. Everybody has to help pay the cost of Government. All of us pay some share in income taxes, sales taxes and many other kinds of taxes. The industries in this country do pay a large part of the cost of Government."

"Well, how much tax does Nickel pay?" "I guess it would be pretty hard to figure out all the taxes, but Uncle Jim, who is an accountant, told me that the Nickel Company paid $3.30 per share in income taxes last year but the owners got only $2.60."

ACCUSED OF BRIBERY—Gordon Cook, 28, an Air Force Reserve officer, gathers his family about him in his Detroit, Mich., home after being indicted for allegedly bribing a sergeant to alter medical records to avoid being recalled to active duty. Cook admitted paying the sergeant $100, but said it was not intended as a bribe. With him, left to right, are son Jimmy, one; his wife; and son David, three.

26 Weekend Fatalities Reported In Eastern Canada

By The Canadian Press

Twenty-six persons were killed in Eastern Canada during the pleasant spring week-end, 12 of them in traffic accidents.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed 17 persons killed in Ontario, seven in Quebec, one in New Brunswick and one in Nova Scotia. Six persons were drowned, four were shot and four died in accidents at home.

The bodies of three persons shot to death were found in a gully near London, Ont. Dead are Mrs. Lydia Riley, 64, her niece, Mrs. Beatrice Henry, 30, and Mrs. Henry's husband, Herman, 32.

At Sarnia, 23-month-old Richard Roy Murray was scalded to death when he fell into a pan of boiling water his mother was using to clean chickens.

Another Manitoba boy, Hector Bouthier, 14, was electrocuted while playing on the roof of a barn at his Springhill, N.S., home beneath high-tension power lines.

Three Drown

Romain Sinesail, 24, was found drowned in four inches of water near Simcoe. He set out Friday to hunt groundhogs. Near Cornwall, Anita Heuson, 9, of St. Hubert, Que., was drowned in the St. Lawrence river when the outboard motor boat in which she was riding capsized.

Thomas Audette, 20, was drowned after his canoe capsized in the Yamaska river 45 miles east of Montreal.

The body of Joseph Fugere, 73, missing from a home for aged persons at Montreal, was taken out of the Riviere Des Prairies. Two other bodies were taken out of the St. Lawrence at Montreal; Germain Langlois, 30, who fell from a liner last Thursday and J. P. E. Lahaie, 60, who disappeared from his north-end Montreal home March 31.

At Hamilton, Angus McIntosh, 63, was fatally injured in a fall down the stairs at his home. Andre Magnoux, 73, was found dead in his Verdun, Que., home with the gas jets on.

Motorists found the body of George Hubert Cutmore, 55, secretary of the DeLaval Company, on a side road near Peterborough. He was shot to death.

Traffic Fatalities

Pedestrians were killed by trucks freight trains and streetcars. Onni Hanninen of North Bay walked into the side of a truck at Sudbury; Herman Greenley, 68, walked into the path of a freight train at Perth, and John Dover, 88, walked in front of a street-car in Ottawa.

Two persons died when their automobile ran off the road near Cornwall and plunged in Blackladder's Creek. Dead are Nona Annabelle, 6, and Glen Macdonald, 33.

Another double fatality occurred near Niagara Falls, Ont., when two cars collided head-on, killing John N. Soltys, 22, of Toronto and Allen Mewha, 25, of Stevensville.

Other traffic deaths included: Martin Lacey, 22, Verdun, Que., motorcycle out of control; Edward Barry, 19, Chatham, N.B., his automobile hit a truck; Mrs. Lydia Kocsis, 69, Strathroy, pinned under the wreck of a two-car crash; Lloyd Joseph McDonald, 26, Hamilton, convertible into a ditch at Perth; J. M. Brouillette, 62, St. Johns, Que., truck ran into a ditch.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

RUNS INTO TREE

Damage of $400 was caused to a 1950-model car early Sunday morning that ran off the road in Kirkfield and crashed into a hydro pole. The driver, Joseph Whalen of Carden township, was not hurt. O.P.P. Corporal Fred Rawlings of Fenelon Falls investigated.

CHILD SERIOUSLY INJURED

Injured when she fell from a moving car Sunday, three-year-old Brenda Edwards R.R. 2, Peterborough, is in serious condition in Civic Hospital. She was admitted to the hospital Sunday evening, and is said to be suffering from a skull fracture.

FOUR-PETALLED TRILLIUM

"Did you ever see a trillium like that?" a little girl asked the Examiner today, presenting a specimen she had picked Sunday along the Oregon Trail, north of Deer and Lovesick Lakes, between Buckhorn and Burleigh Falls. Jane Castle, 123 Simcoe St., pointed to its four white petals and four leaves as one more than the average.

CHIP ISLAND CHORUS

Frogs in the river were in great voice Sunday night. After the noise of traffic had subsided the chorus is extending in position from the C.P.R. to Peterborough Canoe could be heard almost to Aylmer St. The monotone of unison may have been coming from the quiet water along the Engleburn shore and Chip Island.

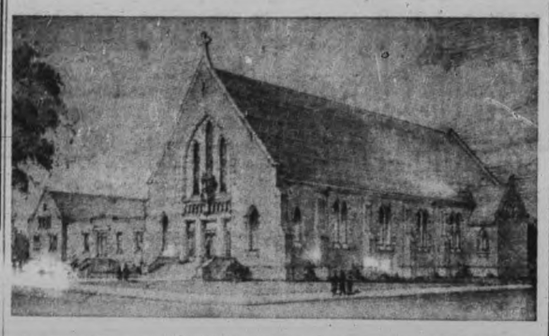
The meeting will be 8 p.m. at the Labor Centre, 408½ George St.



BREAKING THE GROUND for the new $279,000 parish church of St. John the Baptist is the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough. He is being assisted by the parish priest, the Rev. Dr. Frank M. Grant. The first sod was turned Saturday afternoon. The church on Wilson Ave. is shown (above). It will be of stone construction; will accommodate 500 worshippers, and should be completed in 10 months.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Bishop Berry Turns Sod For New Southend Church

The Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, Saturday afternoon turned the first sod on the site for the new parish church of St. John the Baptist. Located on the north side of Wilson Ave., between Herman and Hurley Sts., the new church will accommodate Roman Catholic worshippers in the rapidly-expanding southend of the city.

Designed by Edward J. Turcotte, R. A. I. C., St. John the Baptist will be of stone construction—Credit Valley stone, trimmed with limestone. It will be of Gothic style and will seat 500 people.

Complete In 10 Months

Piggott Construction Co. Ltd. have the building contract and they hope to have the church completed in 10 months. Work is scheduled to begin a week from today.

The Rev. Dr. Frank M. Grant, parish priest, said: "Another church has become necessary in the last 10 years because of the growth of the city in the southend; and the parishioners are largely composed of young families—some from other parishes, and some from outside."

Dr. Grant, a curate at Sacred Heart for many years, estimated that there are 350 families in St. John the Baptist parish. Most of them are in the city and North Monaghan township.

The parish of St. John the Baptist was created in November, 1950, when the Sacred Heart parish was divided. It takes in all the district south of Lansdowne St., from the Otonabee river on the southeast to Highway 28 on the west. To the south it extends to the parish of the Assumption.

Worship In School

Until the new church is built the parishioners will continue to worship in the auditorium of St. John's School. The temporary priest's house is on the north corner of Herman St. and Wilson Ave., beside the site.

The church will face Wilson Ave. It will be 134 feet long and 51 feet wide. There will be a wing for administration offices and the priest's house will adjoin the wing.

A small crowd of clergy and laity were present Saturday afternoon as Bishop Berry blessed the site and then turned the first sod with a silver-painted spade. He was followed by Father Grant and several clergy; and finally by two boys of primary school age, eager to take part in the ceremony.

St. John the Baptist will be the fifth Roman Catholic church in Peterborough.

Picnic Over In Housing Says Realtor

Contractors Call For Tenders On Jobs "Gouging" Finished

The post-war "picnic" is over for the building trades, a city real estate dealer said today commenting on the housing situation in Peterborough.

More and more contractors in the city are telling sub-contractors that they will have to tender for jobs, and that the lowest tender will get it, he went on.

There was no doubt that there had been a lot of gouging done by contractors and sub-contractors during the years after the Second World War. "That is over with now," he said.

Costs To Drop

"In a fairly short while," he predicted, "we should see the cost of building dropping because of this practice of calling for tenders. Sub-contractors will have to work on a more strongly competitive basis."

The remark that the "picnic is over" came as a side comment on the statement of Gordon MacOdrum (PC-Leeds), who told a Toronto property owners' association Friday that the Ontario government feels it should get out of rent controls.

This real estate dealer said he felt that the housing problem would iron itself out after a time if rent controls were removed.

Mayor Hugh F. Waddell said he believed the situation was "fast getting to the point where any government interference with rents should be removed." On the other hand, "if private enterprise can't control the situation," then the city might have to step in. And that would be the only excuse for government stepping in.

(Mr. MacOdrum, chairman of the Provincial Rents Committee, said he thought every municipality should be given a chance to say whether they want rent control.)

Land Assembly Helps

One factor which should ease the situation was the Land Assembly Scheme, in which all three levels of government take a hand, with the Federal government paying the lion's share.

Mayor Waddell also referred to the recent purchase by the city alone of 26 acres in Smith Township. That land, he said, would be treated the same as the L.A.S. property. Wholesale speculation would be controlled, and lots would be sold directly to the home builder, with the one provision that he start work on his home within six months.

Milky Way

A new use for milk was discovered Saturday afternoon by Elwood Northey of Elcome Crescent, a driver for the Mohan-Hunter Dairy. While driving along Lansdowne St. Mr. Northey noticed that he had a short circuit in the engine of his truck. Some grease ignited and a fire broke out. At first Mr. Northey tried to smother the fire with a cushion he carried in the cab of the truck but he only succeeded in fanning the fire. Not wanting to see the truck go up in flames while he stood by as a helpless spectator, Mr. Northey did some quick thinking. He reached inside the truck, got a case of milk and poured several quarts of "Bossy's finest" on the engine. It did the trick.

IT'S LEGAL—Don Holmes (left) and Rus. Ayrhart (right) display some of the carp taken from a pond connected to the Trent River about a mile north of Campbellford. Mr. Ayrhart waged a one-man war on the scavengers with a pair of waders and a spear. More than 60 fish weighing about 300 pounds were removed from the pond. The fish dig up weed beds, feeding grounds for game fish, and eat the spawn of other fish. They are a menace in many parts of the province, destroying what would probably otherwise be good fishing grounds.—(W. W. Reid Phto)

12 Sabre Jets Due To Fly Low Over City

Twelve Sabre jets of 413 Squadron of the R.C.A.F. will be flying over Peterborough at 1:10 p.m. Tuesday if the weather permits. However, rain is forecast for Tuesday.

Among the pilots whose home base is Bagotville, Que., are a Bobcaygeon man, FO Murray E. Kelly, 24, and FO. T. V. Mulrooney, 28, of Kingston.

The squadron is making a tour of Ontario centres, staging flying demonstrations to give Ontario people who have never seen a jet flying a view of the operational aircraft.

670 Miles An Hour.

The aircraft fly at a top speed of about 670 miles an hour and are now being used in aerial fighting in Korea and are flown by Canada's squadron in Europe.

They carry six .50 calibre machine guns in their nose and are are used for low flying strafing of troops or high altitude fighting. In Korea they have chalked up a worthy record in spite of fighting against the very good Russian MIG fighter.

As well as visiting Peterborough Tuesday, they will fly over Oshawa and Hamilton. Wednesday morning, they are scheduled to be on view over Orillia and Barrie.

The same day at noon they will be over St. Catharines and Niagara Falls, and then to Brantford, Galt, Preston, Kitchener and Guelph Thursday.

Friday morning the squadron will cruise around Stratford and St. Thomas and leave Malton airport Saturday for Bracebridge and North Bay. A fly past is scheduled for Sudbury Saturday morning with Huntsville and Midland listed for Sunday morning.

Next Monday the squadron will return to Bagotville, Que.

Fisherman Traps Carp In Pond, Cleans Out 60

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12. (ENS)—The fishing was good, in fact very good, in Campbellford on Friday afternoon. A few local residents got quite a haul of beauties ranging from two to five or six pounds. Within a few [illegible] one man had about 300 pounds of fish in a pile by the roadside about a mile north of the town. More than one American tourist driving on the road braked to a sudden stop and got out to examine the catch, hardly able to believe his eyes.

In the event a game warden, or Conservation Officer reads this, we had better explain here that the fish were carp. By no stretch of the imagination can they be termed a game fish, and that one of their brother officers knows all about the episode.

Trapped In Pond

The carp become trapped in a muddy section of water about a mile north of Campbellford each spring when the water recedes. On Friday the waters of the Trent Canal were a little lower than usual and Rus. Ayrhart, who lives near the pond decided it would be a good time to reduce the carp population of the Trent. He placed a large wire screen over the culvert passing under the roadway and connecting the pond to the river proper.

The carp wallowed like hogs in the mud and Rus. waded about the pond spearing the fish one after the other and heaving them onto the bank. Within a short time he had amassed a sizeable catch and the fish drew a great deal of attention from motorists, especially a couple of visitors from the U.S., up in this particular neck of the woods to try the trout streams.

Some residents used .22 rifles to pick off the odd fish that kept out of reach of Mr. Ayrhart's spear.

Rus. is the president of the Campbellford and District Fish and Game Protective Association.

Invasion Tactics

SOUTHSEA, England —(CP)— The biggest amphibious and cliff assault demonstrations by troops since the last war will be held here and on the Isle of Wight, with invading forces dropped from helicopters. More than 800 men from the Army, Navy and Air Force are taking part.

Car Sails 30 Feet Through Air, Occupants Hurt

Two occupants of a new convertible were injured on Sunday morning when the car left the Clydesdale Road, northwest of Apsley, and went 30 feet through the air, before plunging down a steep embankment.

Arthur Bullied, 9 Birch Street, Mount Dennis, is in Civic Hospital recovering from concussion, a broken nose and severe cuts about his face. Bullied also lost several teeth, when his head crashed into the windshield.

The driver of the car, Russel Peever of North Park, received a gash on the head and a bad cut on one hand. Both men were taken to Apsley Red Cross Hospital and given first-aid treatment by Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield. Bullied was later taken to hospital in Peterborough. Peever was allowed to return home as his injuries were not considered serious.

O.P.P. Constable Bert Howden who investigated said the car was travelling south when the accident occurred. It did not overturn as it plunged down the steep incline, ending up in a swamp. Damage to the new car is estimated at more than $600.

It's A Whopper

Come Now Julius Caesar! Elk Aren't That Strange

By JIM ENGLISH

The tall story, thought to be an invention of the Americans, is an older pastime than some stars-and-stripers would care to admit.

Julius Caesar told one of the early ones, although it's doubtful that he knew what he was doing. His story was about elk.

It's a pretty good one; as good in its way as the ones about the man so small it took two men and a boy to see him, and the groundhogs burrowing in the sandstorm. You could even rate it with the one about the boy in Iowa who climbed a growing cornstalk. The stalk grew so fast and so high that neighbors had to shoot biscuits up to him so he wouldn't starve.

Happened To Others

What happened to Caesar happened to a lot of people. He swallowed a tall story about something he knew nothing of.

Some backwoods boy with the stain of grapes still purple on his feet sold Caesar a bill of goods. Caesar jotted it all down and reproduced it in a fashion that would be scholarly if we didn't know better nowadays.

Caesar probably ante-ed a dinarius to hear what the peasants knew about elks. The lad who told him probably took the money and did whatever boys from the backwoods do whenever they come to town after a hard summer of stomping on grapes to make wine.

Then our bucolic hero went home and formed the first liars' club and he and his friends swapped tall tales as they splashed around in the grape pulp.

When Caesar got home that night, his mind still ringing with this odd story about animals, he hurried straight to his L. C. Smith quill and parchment model and wrote out in longhand the tale of the elk. Maybe he embellished it a bit, but it's a dandy.

This is the way he told it, circa 55 B.C. (circa is a fancy word for about):

"There are also animals called elks. They are like goats in their general conformation and the spotted appearance of their hides, but they are a little bigger. They shed their horns, and they have legs without any joints. They do not lie down in order to rest and if they fall down accidentally, they are not able to get up. They use trees as beds, leaning against them and taking their rest propped against the trunks. When hunters have tracked them to their usual haunts, they undermine at the roots all the trees in the vicinity, or cut notches in them so that they only look as if they were standing. And so, when the elks, in their usual fashion, lean against the trees, they break them down with their weight and collapse along with them."

Now you know all about elks.

TB Survey In District Starts Sept.

Expected To Be Held Every Three Years Should Be Annually

The Peterborough city and county mass chest X-ray will begin Sept. 1.

This was announced at a meeting of the executive of the Peterborough County T.B. Association with representatives of the Ontario Department of Health, the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The mass X-ray which is sponsored by the Peterborough T.B. Association will start in the rural sections.

Should Be Annual

Dr. Jamieson of the Ontario Department of Health said that the ideal arrangement would be to have annual mass surveys, but at present available staff and equipment make it necessary to limit the mass surveys to one every three years.

Harold Lewis, representing the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture, offered the services of the federation in arranging the rural survey. The survey in the city will be arranged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Jamieson was accompanied by Alex Russell of the Ontario Department of Health. Les Groombridge and Ken Billings represented the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

James Heffernan, president of the Peterborough T.B. Association was chairman of the meeting.

Prairie Farmers Are Urged To Make Conservation Study

REGINA—(CP)—There are millions of acres of land in western Canada which will become Arizona deserts if the exploitation type of agriculture practised in this country is continued.

This opinion was expressed here by J. T. Kyle of the Saskatchewan agriculture department's conservation and development branch.

Mr. Kyle said conservation in agriculture has come to the fore in Saskatchewan in the last six or seven years probably more strongly than in any other western province.

"We had 10 years of very tough times during the 1930s and some of the things we neglected then have resulted in a great need for conservation," he said.

The forces of nature, wind and water are potentially one of the greatest sources of power. If they get the upper hand, however, they can carry away the crop-producing soil.

Methods used today in controlling wind and water erosion are summerfallowing so that the trash cover remains on top of the soil, contour farming, grassing of waterways and strip cropping.

Mr. Kyle said that in 1941 in Western Canada there were 4,000,000 acres of abandoned land which formerly had produced crops. If that land had been in production since 1941 it would have produced more than 62,000,000 bushels of wheat.

To deplete the top inch of soil on one acre of land of all plant nutrients, 480 bushels of wheat would have to be produced. Taking the average wheat yield of about 15 bushels an acre in Saskatchewan, that would be the production of 31 crop years.

Hamilton Man Killed When Car Overturns

PERTH, May 12 (CP)—Lloyd Joseph McDonald, 26, of Hamilton, was killed Sunday night when his convertible automobile left the highway two miles from here, plunged into a 10-foot ditch and turned end-over-end three times.

His wife, Gerda, 25, is in hospital here with a fractured skull and other injuries. It is believed the two were travelling to Ottawa when the accident occurred two miles northeast of here and about 50 miles southwest of the capital.

Congregation Tells Minister They Don't Agree

TORONTO, May 12 — (CP) — Members of the congregation of the First Unitarian Church here who did not agree with their minister's sermon Sunday had a chance to tell him so.

After the morning service, the Rev. William P. Henkins put into practice his belief that 'the congregation should have a chance to put their ministers on the spot about the things he preaches."

"The competitive spirit of courtship is a detriment to a happy marriage."

But one member of the discussion group replied: "Nonsense. You can't take competition out of the matrimonial race."

Minister and members of the congregation disagreed on the place of nursery schools and community centres in family life but agreed that society is too hard on the unmarried mother and illegitimate child.

They also agreed that friendship between a man and a woman should be allowed to continue after both are married to other persons.

Workers Stage Wildcat Strike

PORT COLBORNE, May 12 — (CP)—Some 400 employees of the Maple Leaf Milling Company plant are on a wildcat strike in a dispute over statutory holiday pay for May 24.

Armand Madere, president of the Maple Leaf local of United Packinghouse Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), said the strike was illegal and the executive had no control of the membership on this issue. Employees walked out Friday night.

The plant, with a capacity of 12,000 barrels of flour a day, has shut down.

The workers claim they should receive a full eight hours' pay for May 24, which this year falls on a Saturday. The company says that only those who would have to work that day will be paid and only on the basis of the time they would have had to work—eight hours or four.

TYKE LIKES STRIKE—Five-year-old Joyce Cole gives her father, B. R. Cole, some support in the picket line at the main gate of the Wichita Falls, Tex., plant of Continental Oil Co. For Joyce, the strike has meant a chance to spend all day with her father. For workers, however, the strike has meant a loss of $300,000 a day.

Reporter's Quiz Stymies Teachers Questions On Grades 8 To 10

VANCOUVER (CP)—When your child's report card shows low marks, go easy on him as if it's 10-to-1 his teacher couldn't do much better.

Reporter Herc Munro of the Daily Province, recalling his many "flunked examinations," conducted a sly survey among executives of the British Columbia school teachers' federation in convention here, [illegible] asked three teachers to pose seven questions commonly found in examinations for Grades 8 to 10. These were then used for an off-the-cuff test of the federation executive, including three school principals.

Not one answered more than four questions correctly and the others could do no better than three.

Munro said it was explained that those questioned were too busy keeping up with new education developments to remember all minutiae learned in school. They said successfully educated people did not attempt to keep all knowledge in their heads. The important thing was to know where to find the answers when needed.

Munro reported: "One principal, so help us, said Magna Carta was signed in 1266, then corrected himself to say, 'No, no, that was the Battle of Hastings.' (The battle was in 1066).

The Questions

Here are the questions, and your child probably had to answer at least some of them:

1. What are the chemical symbols of iron, tungsten and gold?
2. When blue litmus paper turns red what has been placed on the paper—acid or alkali?
3. When was Magna Carta signed?
4. Who invented the internal combustion engine?
5. Southern Chile is in which of 14 vegetation categories?
6. How does one determine the mill rate of taxation?
7. Fifty per cent of what is 60?

Questions on the mill rate, Chile iron and the engine really left them floundering, said Munro.

He admitted that he himself got only three answers correct, but did about as well as many other non-teachers.

Check with these correct replies: 1—FE, W and AU; 2—an acid; 3—1215; 4—Daimler, a German; 5—west coast forest; 6—expenditure over assessments times 1,000; 7—120.

Hamilton Has Traffic Tie-up

HAMILTON, May 12—(CP)—One of the city's worst traffic jams Sunday tied up long processions of motor vehicles at the east and west approaches to the city. One jam was almost three miles long.

Thousands of motorists on Sunday drives to see the Niagara Peninsula blossoms and tourists on their way into Ontario were diverted through the city because of the wrecked bridge over the Burlington Canal which normally carries traffic on the Queen Elizabeth Way.

The bridge was demolished by a freighter about two weeks ago.

Ten persons were injured in 24 traffic accidents in the city during the weekend.

Coronation Coach Gets Rubber Tires

LONDON, May 12—(Reuters)—On her way to be crowned next year, the Queen will ride more smoothly than her predecessors—the famous coronation coach is being fitted with rubber tires.

The coach, known for its bumpy riding, was built in 1762. Its heavy five-foot wheels, treaded with iron hoops, are out of alignment and uneven through years of use. The new tires will not be pneumatic, but even the solid rubber will be a big improvement.

Wheelwrights and technicians, conferring at Buckingham Palace, decided to put the hand-carved wheels into a plastic mold to coat the iron rims before the rubber is attached. This will fill in bumps and cracks.

Memorial Service

TORONTO, May 12 — (CP) — Motorcyclists from all over Southern Ontario marked the anniversary of VE-Day with a memorial service at the city hall cenotaph Sunday. The service was preceded by a parade of more than 350 motorcyclists from 10 Toronto clubs with representatives from most other Southern Ontario clubs present. VE-Day was May 8.

Official Tells Why He Chose Canadian Home

QUEBEC, May 12 — (CP) — Herbert H. Lank, chairman of the executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said today that he, an American, chose to live in Canada "not so much because of its visible opportunities, but because of the way of life, the way in which Canadians do business."

He told the American Railway Development Association he came to Canada some years ago after spending 11 years in South America.

"I came in the first place, and I continue to stay here not because of the standard of living, but because of the standard of life," he said.

He described one of the major problems of business men as keeping their operations in adjustment with external factors which were conditioned more and more by governmental policies and actions.

"That trend, if not as far advanced, is just as marked in Canada as it it elsewnere," he said.

Straightforward

"Although I have vigorously objected to the trend in many cases, I would be the first to admit that adjustment to the operations of government in Canada, even when we do not agree, is relatively straightforward."

Mr. Lank said relations between government and industry in Canada are usually marked by an appreciation of each other's problems, a sense of mutual confidence and a realization that both are working in the national interest.

"There are disagreements, but on the whole, business makes an honest effort to understand the position of government and government does the same with business," he said. "In fact, the government goes out of its way to encourage the presentation of briefs on questions of national importance and on policies which have direct repercussions on business."

GULF ISLAND

Prince Edward Island, originally called St. John's Island, was re-named in compliment to the Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria.

3 Drowned Near Cornwall

CORNWALL, May 12 (CP) — Three persons were drowned near here Sunday in two separate accidents.

Nona Annable, 6, and Glen MacDonald, 33 of Cornwall, were drowned when the car in which they were riding plunged into five feet of water in Blackadder's Creek and turned over on its side.

Rescued were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Annable of nearby Moulinette, parents of the child, and Helen Kirkey of Cornwall. Mrs. Annable and Miss Kirkey were taken to hospital suffering from shock. Their condition was described as good.

Nine-year-old Anita Heuson, only child of Flt. Lt. Robert Heuson and Mrs. Heuson of the R.C.A.F. station at St. Hubert, Que., was drowned in the St. Lawrence river when an outboard motor boat capsized.

Four persons were rescued. They were FO. Lloyd Henderson, Robert Tucker, 14, of Verdun, Que., operator of the boat, and Henderson's two daughters, Adrise, 8, and Lillas, 5.

Hope To Make Real-Life South Sea Film

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 12 (AP)—Movie maker Mark Robson is heading for the South Seas to film a real-life island epic—or as real-life as the censors will allow.

Director Robson is the kingpin of Hollywood's first major invasion of the South Seas in decades. His Aspen productions will film one of the James Michener stories from "Return to Paradise" on the Island of Upolu in Western Samoa. A cast and crew headed by Gary Cooper is being exported from here for the project.

Robson scouted over a large portion of Polynesia before finding the locale he wanted. One of his main problems now will be to keep his picture suitable for censorial tastes.

Sexy Dances

"We want to include the native dances," the director remarked. "But it may be difficult because they are so sexy. One of their main dances is based on the mating instinct in no uncertain terms.

"When I was at a party in the Islands, the others tried to urge one of the men to dance. His wife would not let him, and later I found out why. If he danced with another woman, it would have been the same as having an affair with her."

Robson will be filming "Return to Paradise" in the small village of Lefaga. His negotiations for use of the place were a large-scale production.

"We had to sit down with all the family heads of the village. We drank the local drink and there was much ceremony. Only five or 10 per cent of them had ever seen a movie, so we had to start from scratch and explain just what we were going to do. This took about four or five hours. Finally the big chief got the idea. The only thing he wanted to know was: "How many years will it take you to make the movie?"

Asked why he could not shoot the picture at Catalina, as most island films are, Robson said "it would still look like Catalina. We would not be able to get the real natives nor the real village. Besides, we have an agreement with Michener, the author, to shoot it in the genuine locale."

TO TOUR CANADA—Prayers of thanks for a safe journey and for guidance during a coast-to-coast tour of Canada are offered by the Salvation Army International Band on arrival at Montreal after an ocean crossing by air. After their tour they will return to Britain June 4. They will play in Peterborough.

Believes Kremlin Undecided If War Inevitable-Committee

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—Top U.S. military leaders believe it is quite likely the Kremlin has not yet decided whether all-out war with the West is inevitable, the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee said Sunday.

The committee said it was told that if an attack is ordered "it will depend entirely on whether or not the Kremlin believes such an attack will be to its advantage."

This analysis was given in recent secret testimony and disclosed Sunday in a committee report to the House on its $6,901,000,000 foreign aid bill for the year starting July 1.

The House group cut $1,010,900,000 from President Truman's $7,900,000,000 program, then restored $12,000,000 for the International Children's Fund.

The report did not explain the reductions, limited to funds earmarked for Europe. Neither did it discuss current proposals to slash the total to $6,000,000,000.

The bill will come before the House probably next week.

Danger Not Lessened

The committee said it was convinced, after hearing 43 witnesses, that "there had been no lessening of the danger of Soviet aggression which would justify any modification or relaxation of the U.S. defence effort."

It said "the continuous build-up of the military strength of the free nations is the best deterrent to a Russian attack.

The best judgment of U.S. military leaders and diplomats is that the Soviets have not set a date for an attack on the West," the report added.

But it added that "large Soviet forces, fully mobilized are ready in Eastern Germany and at other strategic locations to attack at a moment's notice."

The report said that "in order to use the atomic bomb most effectively in our defence, it is essential that we have bases at strategic locations far from our own shores."

The trimmed house bill includes $4,500,000,000 for military assistance throughout the world, most to purchase war equipment. The report said the tentative schedule for next year includes 149 vessels, 1,275 aircraft, more than 6,000 tanks and combat vehicles and more than 9,000 artillery and naval guns. These arms are for future delivery.

Get More Equipment

Western Europe will get considerably more than $4,000,000,000 worth of equipment next year, financed by past appropriations.

Allied armies also are scheduled to receive $326,000,000 worth of surplus U.S. arms during next year, the report said.

If all this is insufficient to meet the situation, the House bill would authorize the Defence Department to transfer from its own stocks $1,000,000,000 worth of arms. These would be charged against U.S. defence appropriations.

The report said the committee explored the question of whether European peoples would resist attack. It concluded that their spirit "has substantially improved."

In the Far East, it said, continued military aid is needed to protect French Indo-China.

Explorers Realize $25

Explorers' Group of Grace United Church, under leadership of Mrs. B. Sherry, on Friday evening presented a concert by Mrs. E. Cochrane and her Hawaiian guitar pupils to a capacity crowd. They made a profit of $25 on the evening and this sum is being given to the church building fund. Marion Johnston and Janet Merrett were taking tickets and ushers were Carol Druery, Jean Bowler, Sylvia Ramsay and Kay Sibley. Home made candy was sold in the foyer by Margaret and Joan Whitfield and Nona Sanders. Janet and Ann Merrett pulled the curtain between numbers and also assisted in serving lunch to the performers with Karen Keene, Margaret McCarrell, June Casey, and Vonda Langer. The refreshments were prepared by Mrs. E. McCarrell, Mrs. D. Bell, Mrs. F. Sanders and Mrs. Sherry. The door prize, a cup and saucer, won by Kenneth Adams, one of the cast, and gifts to each of the cast and their leader were presented by the Rev. E. W. Rowland.

Reception Held In Cafeteria After Graduation

The largest crowd yet to attend the graduation exercises of the St. Joseph's School of Nursing crowded the residence auditorium for the ceremony on Friday afternoon. Sixteen nurses were graduated.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary assisting the guests to find seats were Miss Anne O'Leary, Miss Kay Doherty, Miss Hope Zawadski, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. H. Crowley, Mrs. J. Corkery, Mrs. E. O'Toole and Mrs. F. J. Lynch.

Auxiliary members also took charge of the reception arrangements which this year were held in the new hospital cafeteria. It was gay with decorations in the hospital colors, blue and yellow, the pillars being entwined with streamers and tied with fresh tulips and the walls were banked with artificial lilacs.

Shining silver featured a charming tea table setting with lovely spring flowers as the centrepiece, highlighted with lighted candles. Tea pourers were Mrs. J. V. Gallivan, Mrs. P. J. Anglesey, Mrs. Rosina Paquette and Mrs F. J. Lynch.

Mrs. D. J. Emory met the guests as they crossed from the residence and they were directed to the tea room by Mrs. R. McCabe, Mrs. J. C. Rutherford and Miss M. McCarthy.

In the cafeteria they were received by president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Bernard Monaghan and vice-president Mrs. D. Driscoll.

Mrs. O. Hallihan was tea hostess and the servers were: Mrs. A. Zbernowsky, Mrs. J. Conlin, Mrs. M. Collins, Mrs. Leo. Martyn, Miss Eleanor Grady, Miss Louise Letellier, Mrs. V. O'Toole, Mrs. Mark Crough, Mrs. L. McCabe, Mrs. W. Cunningham, Mrs. B. Hickey, Mrs. J. Duignan, Mrs. K. Mowry, Mrs. J. McGrath, Mrs. M. J. Roche, Mrs. M. Gilbert and Mrs. J. Doris.

Mrs. J. J. Crowley and Mrs. E. Finn who were the decorators with assistance of Mrs. R. McCabe, also served.

Refreshments were prepared and provided by the Sisters.

Sherwin-Sandercock Rites

ROSENEATH, May 12 (ENS)—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Church Parsonage, Roseneath on Saturday when Marjory Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sandercock, was united in marriage to Ralph Burton Sherwin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Sherwin, all of Roseneath. The Rev. R. C. White officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

White chantilly lace and tulle over satin was fashioned into a bouffant gown for the bride, with a short lace jacket studded with pearls and long pointed sleeves. Her floor-length embroidered veil was held in place with a pearl headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses.

Miss Doris Robins was her cousin's only attendant, and she wore a ballerina length gown of nylon net and lace over taffeta with a bolero of lace with matching headdress and carried a nosegay of mixed flowers. Mr. Donald Adams was the groom's attendant.

A reception and dinner for 50 guests was held at Maple Lodge, Roseneath, where the bride's mother received in a gown of navy nylon faconne crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

She was assisted by the groom's mother, wearing navy alpaca crepe with white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations. Guests were from Peterborough, Norwood, Centreton, Baltimore, Cobourg and Roseneath.

Friends of the bride who served dinner were: Misses Pauline Down, Jean Thomas, Lois Arthur and Roma Braithwaite.

When leaving for their honeymoon in the United States the bride wore a tailored suit of dusty-rose gabardine with navy accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin will live in Cobourg.

Graduation Dance Is Lovely Affair

Graduation dance of the St. Joseph's School of Nursing was one of the loveliest affairs yet held in the nurses' residence auditorium. Streamers and balloons in the school colors and beautiful flowers on the stage set the scene for a very happy time among graduates and the friends.

Patrons and patronesses were Dr and Mrs. W. S. Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Overend and Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Scollard who received with the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. Bernard Monaghan.

The dance was under the convenership of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Hospital with chairman of nurses-in-training Mrs. Grace Poole in charge, assisted by her committee members and their husbands, Dr. and Mrs. Wm. X. Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Finn, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Legris and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moher.

Guests were admitted by invitation only.

Queen's Alumnists Hold Rendez-Vous

Queen's University graduates of the district held their Alumni Association spring rendezvous at Hillier's Lodge, Young's Point, Saturday evening. Among the 40 attending were members of the medical, scientific, engineering, commercial and liberal arts professions, exclusive of pedagogy. Some other universities were represented, including Sao Paulo, Brazil.

A bonfire, a sing-song and reminiscences occupied the first part of the evening. A hot supper was served at ten o'clock. C. M. Krug, vice-president of the Peterborough Branch of Queen's Alumni, took responsibility for the arrangements. Dr. T. E. Currier, president of the branch, presided at supper. Miss Meg. Morgan, secretary, was recorder.

Dr. Currier announced that the annual fall meeting would probably be held Tuesday, October 21.

Fashion Fabrics With New Effect

LONDON — (CP)—Fabrics for forthcoming fashions will be "hazy" or misty in effect.

An exhibition of the new materials, designed by a London firm, showed how this effect is achieved. One fabric is laid against another and the two embroidered together with motifs to create a pattern.

One of the cloths likely to prove popular is black satin and olive green organza embroidered with heavy plum-colored clusters. Another material is silk tweed, woven in grades from pure silk and wool, varying portions of silk and acetate and 100-per-cent acetate. The tweed effect is given by a discreet fleck across the dominant color.

It is likely that the darker greens blues and black will lead in favor. These fabrics can be draped or tailored and both the tweed and the new double material are uncrushable. A "near black" organza —it might be described as black with a purple bloom on it—is another new material.

Former Queens On New Coins

LONDON—(CP)—The first coins to be struck for the reign of Queen Elizabeth II will be important to numismatists the world over. They involve close studies of the coins minted for Queen Victoria and the first Queen Elizabeth.

After the Queen herself has made her decision, the Royal mint advisory committee will give a final judgment on the designs, and the chairman of this committee is none other than the Queen's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

Several British artists of established reputation in coin and medal work were asked to submit designs, and worked on plaster models of the Queen's portraits for coins and medals. Sketches for the reverse side of the coins are also being prepared.

The first coins prepared for Queen Victoria's reign were struck in 1839 and showed a bust of the Queen with the hair taken to the back of the head in a classic Grecian knot. Another coin struck later showed head and shoulders. In this, Victoria wore the Crown and her hair was in plaited loops around her ears, as she liked to wear it. Queen Elizabeth will also be shown with the crown on those coins struck for use overseas.

In the coinage of the first Queen Elizabeth, head and shoulders were usually shown, although some coins showed her enthroned in Coronation robes. Nearly always, her elaborate dress and ruff were portrayed.

Bell-Forsyth

The marriage took place Saturday in St. Andrew's United Church parsonage, Millbrook, of Beverley May, daughter of Mrs. Stanford Sloan and the late Douglas Forsyth, to Preston Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Bell of R.R. 2, Port Hope. The Rev. A. M. Butler officiated.

The bride was dressed in navy crepe with white hat and accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Douglas Sanders. Alfred Pollard of Canton was the groomsman.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

After a trip to points east Mr. and Mrs. Bell will make their home in Brampton.

CGIT Doings

GEORGE ST.

George St. Church CGIT gave a banquet for their mothers last week and 55 mothers and daughters enjoyed an evening of comradeship. Tables were attractively decorated in the CGIT colors, blue and white, and the meal was served by some members of the Evening Auxiliary WMS, assisted by Mrs. Tinney and the Misses P. and A. Allen.

President Victoria McKim called on Sandra MaGee to give the welcoming address to the guests. A toast to the church was proposed by Donna Blewett and Mrs. Charlton McBride responded. Eileen Armstrong proposed a toast to the mothers and Mrs. S. McKim responded. Marion Outram gave a toast to the three leaders, Mrs. Leo Copp, Mrs. C. E. Potts and Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, expressing appreciation of their efforts. Each leader replied briefly, the consensus of their remarks showing pleasure and satisfaction derived when helping girls to follow the CGIT purpose.

Friendship as compared to the campfire was the subject of an inspiring message to the girls by Mrs. A. A. Mathews. Miss Marion Brown, member of the Girls' Council, spoke on CGIT camp interests.

Mrs. Lloyd Blewett being the youngest mother present was winner of a beautiful corsage donated by Mrs. F. Spencley.

Community singing was led by Mrs. Potts with Mary McBride at the piano and contests were led by Mrs. Copp.

Mission Work In China Is W.A. Topic

ROSENEATH, May 12—(ENS) —"Has missionary work in China been worthwhile?" was the subject of an address presented by Mrs. Silas Sherwin at the May meeting of Centenary W.A. The speaker told of the adverse circumstances under which the native Chinese Christians lived.

The meeting was held in Centenary Church on May 8, the vice-president, Mrs. Silas Sherwin presiding with Mrs. R. C. White as organist and Mrs. Ernest Burrison as secretary.

Mrs. Leo Timlin, good cheer convener, reported two persons remembered during the month.

Receipts from sales of sewing during the month amounted to $27.73. The treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Timlin, reported a balance on hand of $35.89.

A Mother's Day program was presented by Mrs. Dawson Timlin, Miss Emma Sherwin, Mrs. Ernest Burrison and Mrs. Reginald Timlin. Mrs. Walton Lean conducted a quiz that was won by Mrs. R. C. White. Lunch was served by Mrs. Delbert Sherwin, Mrs. Walton Lean, Mrs. Silas Sherwin.

Fenella Couple Mark 54th Anniversary

ROSENEATH, May 12—(ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. William Sandercock, Fenella, quietly marked their 54th wedding anniversary on Sunday at their farm home two miles west of Fenella.

In a reminiscent mood, the bride and groom recalled they were married at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Harper, Hamilton township. The ceremony was performed by the late Rev. Alexander McCormack, resident congregational minister at Coldsprings. The wedding music was played by the minister's daughter, Miss P. McCormack. The bridesmaid was Mrs. Charles Jibb, Baltimore and the groomsman was the late George Harper.

Their entire married life has been spent in that community. They have two sons, Eric and Gordon Sandercock, Fenella, and four children, Marie, Eleanor, Carolyn and Bruce Sandercock, all of Fenella.

Mr. Sandercock's health is very poor but Mrs. Sandercock is active about her household, an active member of Fenella W.M.S. and Fenella Women's Institute.

Mr. Sandercok is 78 years of age and Mrs. Sandercock is 74.

Bette Davidson Is Bride Of Frederick C. Spring

A very lovely wedding took place Saturday afternoon in the Pentecostal Church as Bette Doreen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Davidson of Wallis Drive, became the bride of Frederick Cleland Spring, the only son of Mrs. F. Spring of Peterborough and the late Mr. Spring.

The Rev. Fred Parlee, minister, was assisted in the ceremony by the bride's grandfather, the Rev. G. A. Chambers of Ktichener.

Wedding music was played by Miss Barbara Johns and Mrs. Joyce Spurrell of Barrie was soloist. She sang the "Lord's Prayer" and "Together We Walk."

All white flowers in tall standards draped with white tulle and palms were flanking decorations at the altar.

The bride was gowned in foam white net and shadow lace over satin, the sheer yoke offset by a scalloped portrait neckline edged with seed pearls. The gown was styled with dropped sleeves which were shirred and the bouffant skirt of net featured a front panel of the lace and a full back. Her shoulder veil was of tulle illusion and was caught to an open net crown embedded with pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias with stephanotis.

Mr. Davidson gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Nancy Spring and Mary Harvey was junior bridesmaid.

The maid of honor's gown was of waltze blue net over mauve net over blue taffeta, giving an irridescent effect. A small tuxedo bolero of net, featuring short sleeves, topped the fitted bodice and the full skirt flared softly to the floor. Miss Harvey's dress was orchid net over pink satin with short puff sleeves and becoming neckline. They wore bands of blue and pink flowers in their hair and each carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Groomsman was the bride's brother, Keith Davidson and the ushers were Bill Davidson and Arthur Postons of Hamilton.

Green Room at the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Davidson received her guests in a

The reception was held in the gown of turquoise blue silk and a pale pink hat and gloves and she was wearing a corsage of pink carnations and sweet peas. The groom's mother assisted her, gowned in grey with a navy and grey hat and her corsage was of deep pink roses.

The bride and groom have gone on a few days motor trip, following which they will take up residence at 422 London St.

For travelling the bride chose a beige suit and hat and brown accessories and when going away her corsage was of Talisman roses.

W.M.S. Names Delegates At Omemee

OMEMEE, May 12. (ENS)—Trinity United Church W.M.S. held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Deyell, with Mrs. T. A. McConnell presiding and 34 members present.

Mrs. R. E. Brooks reported $95.10 received from the Easter thankoffering and Miss C. Connell $61.60 from weekly envelopes to the end of April. Correspondence included a letter read by Mrs. A. Rutherford from the Christian Citizenship secretary of Lindsay Presbyterial, concerning [illegible] of missionary minded women in their own communities. Supply secretary, Mrs. S. Moyer, requested that contributions to the bale be brought in time for packing the first week in June. The president announced a sectional rally May 16 at Janetville. Mrs. V. Lang was asked to be responsible for a report.

The program was in charge of group leader Mrs. J. M. Sandy. The subject for consideration was "Orientals in Canada". Mrs. E. Mahood read the scripture and the commentary was given by Mrs. Sandy. Mrs. Deyell led in prayer. There was an instrumental by Mrs. I. Connell and Miss L. Race.

Problems which confronted the Japanese Canadians in B.C. during the last World War, and how the United Church was their friend, was revealed by means of a skit presented in three scenes by Mrs. C. G. Shaw and Mrs. S. D. Vaughan impersonating two Japanese women. The conclusion arrived at by the Japanese was: "Christianity stands for something —for justice and right against injustice and wrong and it cares for people."

Lunch was served by Mrs. Mahood, Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Sandy and Mrs. Shaw.

Choir Stages Variety Concert Coldsprings Hall

COLDSPRINGS, May 12 (ENS)—The choir of St. Paul's United Church, Coldsprings, sponsored a variety concert Friday night in the township community hall. The Rev. P. C. Brown was chairman for the occasion.

The program opened with the "The Lost Chord" a medley of old songs by Mesdames M. Dines, N. McIntosh, P. Harris, K. Harper, L. McIntosh, C. Timlin and L. Timlin.

Mrs. Paul Harris, and Mrs. Melville Dines played piano duets, as did Bill Little and Warren Buttars.

Readings were given by Mrs. Leslie McIntosh, Mrs. Wilbert McMann and Miss Annie Moffatt. Solos were sung by Misses Eunice Minifie and Grace Wilton and Messrs. Paul McIntosh and Bill Little. A violin solo was given by Cecil Jibb, accompanied by Mary Jibb at the piano. Mrs. Clifford Timlin and Lorene Timlin, sang a duet.

During intermission, candy was sold by junior choir members, and Bill Little entertained with piano music.

After entermission the W.I. Drama Contest play "After the Church Supper", was presented under the direction of Miss Edith Hoskin. Those taking part were: Mesdames Floris Gordon, Bernice Harper, Delta Linton, Marion McKinley, Edna McMann, and Olive Timlin.

After the play, Mrs. McKinley on behalf of the cast spoke a few [illegible] presentation to Miss Hoskin, as director and Mrs. N. D. McIntosh, for make-up.

Gifts were presented to each by Mrs. Harper and Mrs. Timlin.

Proceeds for the choir fund amounted to approximately $46.

RIGHT: Act like a guest, and don't mention the cost of the food. If something is too high, just order something else, without any comment on price.

DOROTHY DIX

Lack Of Courtesy Found In Teensters

DEAR MISS DIX: What has become of the common courtesies of everyday life to which I was reared? The high-school boys and girls of today have absolutely no knowledge of even fundamental manners. They address their elders without the title of Mr. and Mrs., they never say "please" or "thank you", act like hoodlums in public conveyances and generally behave as though they had no proper upbringing. Is this a modern trend? Or are parents simply negligent in teaching their offspring manners? I notice the same disregard of amenities among old people, too. Perhaps they need a post-graduate course in etiquette.

A. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Except insofar as it does, at the moment, personally inconvience you, don't worry too much about the manners of teen-agers. The years from 14 to 18, marking the transition from childhood to adulthood, are so full of change for youngsters that they should be forgiven for lapses of etiquette. They have so much to learn, so much to experience, so many adjustments to make, that they frequently do forget the courtesies they have been taught. By 18 they are usually back to normal—the fine gentlemen and gentle ladies they were brought up to be.

Little Children Malleable

During the early years of a child's life it is very easy indeed to teach him manners. Children are born imitators, anxious to please, and take readily to such instruction. They behave beautifully until they reach the teens. Then, no longer willing to ape their elders, they begin to go their own ways, reveling in independence, and completely forgetting early training. Boys tend to become boisterous (and so do many girls), but this is their defense against an awkward appearance, a too-apparent self-consciousness. When the changing voice and gangling limb have adjusted to normal, we again have the nice young person who is anxious to please.

Parents, too, should be forgiven if a sprouting sibling belies his careful upbringing. Life with a teen-ager is a constant struggle to correct and guide his behavior in one way or another. Youngsters at this age seem constitutionally unable to retain instruction, especially home instruction, for more than ten minutes. Consequently they must be continually reminded. Hence, if these perpetual admonitions don't cover every subject every day, allowances must be made.

A child who has careful training in a happy home environment, is not going to forget his background. He may lapse—but never forget! He needs patience more than constant correction. Bystanders who hastily condemn all teen-agers for not remembering to address people politely, or for dashing in front of their elders to grab a seat on a bus, should remember their own youths. Surely all such critics were not Little Lord Fauntleroys through their teens. Remember, too, that these rough young people who irk you by their failure to say "please," will, in a few short years—or months—be fighting their country's battles. Don't begrudge them the few carefree days they have.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 15 years old and my problem is a father who won't let me go out nights. My boy friends has a part-time job after school, so I can only see him Saturdays and Sundays. He is getting very tired of the situation.

M. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your problem is shared by most teen-aged girls, if that is any consolation to you. You have the advantage, however, that you are allowed to go out with boys, even though you object to the restrictions imposed. Your father is actually very liberal. Saturdays and Sundays are enough for dates. If your boy friend went out nights, when would he have a chance to do homework? You are both very young and should be grateful for conscientious parents.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Do you know what the requirements are for joining one of the women's branches of the armed forces? I am 15, and it is my ambition to enter the service when I graduate from high school.

DELLA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Get in touch with the navy and army recruiting offices nearest you, and get your information direct from them. Make up your mind what field you would like to specialize in, then you can schedule your high school work accordingly. Of course, you have a few years to go before you can join up, but it's nice to have a definite goal to work towards.

Aging Women Leading In London Plays

By MURIAL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Women who dread advancing years should give a close look at Britain's theatre bills this season.

Drawing big audiences at several west end houses are such old-time favorites as Dames Sybil Thorndike and Edith Evans, respectively 69 and 64; Isabel Jeans, 61, looking an attractive "just over 30," and silver-haired Gladys Cooper, who at 63 can still hold a stage by her power of complete stillness.

Age, or maturity, says Cecil Wilson of the Daily Mail, "has never shone so youthfully on stage and screen .... just old enough at 60 seems to be the actor's cuse for 1952."

Dash And Sparkle

In support of this, Sybil Thorndike and Edith Evans give a performance of dash and sparkle in "Waters of the Moon," long a London hit, while two plays by Noel Coward now running have Isabel Jeans and Gladys Cooper to emphasize the popularity of "Ageless Beauty."

In a revival of "The Vortex," one of Coward's earliest plays, Miss Jeans shrugs off the years with a warm smile lighting her oval face. Married to dramatist Gilbert Wakefield, she is considered one of the best-dressed English actresses.

In "Relative Values", Coward's latest play, thrice-married Gladys Cooper, wearing an apple green dinner gown of lancil jersey draped in full and graceful lines, recalls the pin-up picture postcards of herself that decorated many windows in the days before the First World War when she won fame as a Gaiety girl.

Her first big part came in 1907 as Eva in "The Girls of Gottenburg".

In "relative values," this tall, stately woman has a part suited to her somewhat chilly, regal beauty.

As the traditional English countess extricating her son from the clutches of a title-grabbing Hollywood film star, who turns out to be the sister of her own lady's maid, Miss Cooper has ample opportunities to display her well-known "fire-under-lace" approach. The Daily Express credits her with making "a stagey confection more sprightly than gay."

Miss Cooper can still set fashions. Although no longer dressed by Captain Molyneux, she still keeps her stage wardrobe just ahead of fashion, wearing a brand new outfit for each of the three acts and changing clothes with the weather.

"No intelligent audience wants to see an actress swathed in wool in midsummer," said the actress, whose autobiography will be published shortly.

Other well-known actresses with undeniable charm and many years of experience now appearing in London include Australian-born Cecily Courtneidge, still kicking as high as ever, American start Lynn Fontanne and France's Yvonne Arnaud.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

How To Make Good Coffee

Mrs. W.M.'s letter will explain why I am serving up coffee to you today.

"Dear Mary Moore: I have enjoyed your column for a long time and have clipped and pasted many recipes.

"At the present time I am disgusted with the results of my coffee making. For years I have thought I knew how to make a perfect cup of coffee, but now I am not so sure. The coffee seems to have changed so too, and not for the better.

"I have recently bought a new glass percolator which holds about 8 cups. Before this I had always used drip. What do you think is the quickest and best way of serving about 16 cups of coffee to a few guests?

"Maybe you would print a column on "Coffee Making" (with today's coffee). Thank you so much and good luck in your wonderful work. Mrs. W. M."

It took me a long time to arrive at the method I am using now to make coffee and yet it is the method that was most strongly recommended to us in cooking school.

Drip Coffee

Buy pulverized coffee. To get pulverized you have to hunt for a coffee merchant who is willing to prepare a pulverized grind. This is worth the trouble, for in the process you find a man who knows about the different blends and can choose your own blend. Pulverized coffee is as fine and parts of it are finer than fine cream of wheat. My coffee supplier puts the beans through the "pulverized" grind. I do not believe the large chain stores can grind it this fine—unless they might be persuaded to put the first grinding through a second time.

I use 5 level tablespoons (measuring spoons) of pulverized for a "four-cup" dripolator, which yields 5 or 6 cups of coffee, according to the size and shape of your china cups. As you know, you pour boiling water through the top and wait until it drips through. If you would like the coffee stronger, do as the French do—let the first brew drip through again—but keep it hot over very low burner as this cools it off a little.

Glass Maker Method

Use pulverized grind—1 tablespoon, levelled, for each 1 cup boiling water. Measure coffee and water. Bring water in lower bowl to boiling point before inserting the upper bowl, unless manufacturer of coffee maker states otherwise. (There is a rubberless model where upper bowl is inserted before water is heated.) As water rises into upper bowl, reduce heat and stir coffee for a few second. Allow coffee to remain in upper bowl and to gurgle for at least 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Allow to syphon to lower bowl, remove top, keep hot but do not allow to boil.

Coffee For 16

An average-sized coffee cup holds 5 ounces brewed coffee. Into a triple-thick cheesecloth bag measure 10 level tablespoons pulverized coffee. Lower this into a large kettle containing 2 quarts cold water (measured in milk bottle). Cover, bring to boiling point over medium heat. Dash into it ½ cup cold water. Let stand 2 minutes. Remove coffee bag.

That what you wanted?

New Toni

WITH PRICELESS PINK LOTION

Holds the set longer than any other permanent!

Which Twin's Toni was set a week ago—and which was set today?

Yes, both twins have Toni's. Julia Lacy, on the left, had hers set just before this picture was taken—Cynthia, on the right, had her Toni set one whole week before and never re-set it! You can't tell the difference. Here's proof that Priceless Pink Lotion gives a wave that stays lovely without re-setting!

You'll forget all other ideas about permanents the first time you use New Toni with Priceless Pink Lotion. For the new Toni process is faster, gives a wave with the vibrant spring and silky-softness of a natural wave. Yes, and it holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had!

Never a lotion so wonderful! You've never used anything like Toni's new Priceless Pink Lotion! It curls more completely—yet is kinder to your hair! And that means a lovelier, livelier wave for you. Less re-setting. New freedom from the nightly chore of pin curls.

Never a neutralizer so fast! You save 20 minutes with the new Permafix method of neutralizing. And because Permafix neutralizes more thoroughly, it "locks in" your Toni wave so it can't come out. New Toni means all day—every day beauty for you month after month.

Never a guarantee so complete! If you don't say your new Toni looks lovelier and holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had, the Toni Company will cheerfully refund your money. So try New Toni—and you be the judge.

6—In Memoriam

HATHERLY—In loving memory of James Hatherly, who passed away May 12, 1947.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain;
We who loved him sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Ever remembered by wife Vera, and daughter.

MILLER—In loving memory of mother, Mrs. William Miller, who passed away, May 11, 1950.
What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In heaven that happy life.
—Ever remembered by Myrna and Earl.

MOORBY—In loving memory of William Moorby, who passed away suddenly May 11, 1948.
—Sadly missed by his loving wife, son Donald and step-daughter Carrie.

NOKES—In memory of our father, Mr. A. Nokes, who passed away May 12, 1948.
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember thee.
—Ever remembered by the family.

WILLIAMS—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. J. B. Williams, who passed away May 12, 1941.
We often sit and think of her,
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for her will still keep green
And never fade away.
—Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. F. Mortimer and family.

Weekend Rain Boon To Farmers

Estimate of that multi-million dollar rain at the weekend, and continuing this morning, depends upon shifting values of the dollar particularly in the equivalent of land products.

Of course the farmer welcomed it in its timeliness and volume. He has completed seeding for the year, and requires moisture and warmth for growth not only on his grain investment but also for his pastures, more important than ever this season as a factor in reducing his cost of production.

The urban consumer is still disposed to appraise the ground soaking rain in terms of a million dollars, meaning many millions, assuring him of a continuance of steaks, bacon, butter and eggs, not to mention milk and ice cream.

But in the producer's casual calculation that range of value would have to be clipped anywhere from 30 to 90 per cent, depending on the products in, which he was most interested. The Examiner has told the story of wool and hides and their free-wheeled skidding since last year.

Prices Down

Ottawa retail prices recently compared with May of 1951 indicate butter down from 71c to 62c; eggs from 89c to 49c; steaks from $1.05 to 85c and 80c; grade A chicken from 69c to 49c; pork butts 63c to 49c; lard 23c to two pounds for 25c. Etc. . . .

Several farmers today, in town as the rain held up work, commented that they were wondering when their prices would be reflected in restaurant bills of fare.

Ordinarily, if you lived on a concession line you would offer no dissent from the city man's valuation of this overdue Maytime rain, but if you had ten or twelve litters of pigs in a market reporting cold storage of the nation packed to the limit, you'd be chary about easy reckoning of value of the welcomed rain. You'd be more likely wondering whether you were going to lose your shirt in the final reckoning.

Hastings WA Invited To Two Meetings

HASTINGS, May 12—(ENS)—Mrs. William Gillespie and Mrs. Bert Gillespie were hostesses to the W.A. of St. George's Anglican Church, Hastings, when the monthly business and devotional meeting was held.

President, Mrs. Clifford Baker, called on the rector the Rev. A. J. Patstone, who opened the meeting.

Letters of invitation were read one from the Evening Auxiliary of Trinity United Church Hastings, inviting the members to their missionary meeting on Tuesday evening, at which the Rev. W. Tonge of Lakefield will be the speaker. Also a letter from the W.A. of St. James Anglican Church, Roseneath, our sister church, inviting the members to their missionary meeting on Thursday afternoon. The Rev. E. Richmond of Omemee, being the speaker.

Plans were made for the annual Lilac Tea and Home Baking Sale, which is to be held on Wednesday afternoon, May 28 in St. George's Sunday School room.

Miss Plant gave a most interesting report of the W.A. annual held in Toronto. Mrs. Frank Halbus took the study book. Mrs. M. Rymerson gave a humorous reading. The hostess served refreshments and everyone enjoyed a very happy social hour.

Third Cow Bears Twins In Roseneath District

ROSENEATH, May 12—(ENS)—A holstein cow owned by Richard Surerus gave birth to twin calves Saturday night. The calves are both males. Within the last two weeks Mr. Surerus' neighbor, Willis Timlin, had two holstein cows freshen, each giving birth to twin calves; in this case the calves each times were a male and female.

The Surerus farm is situated three miles southeast of Roseneath and the Timlin farm two miles southeast of the village.

Cavan Council Grants $200 To 'Little Royal'

MILLBROOK, May 12—(ENS)—Cavan township council voted a grant of $200 to Millbrook Agricultural Society for the spring show at the May meeting. L. W. Smith addressed the council, asking for the grant.

Accounts totalling about $2,505 were ordered paid, larger items being $2,125 for road payroll and vouchers, $90 for relief and $101 for assessor's supplies.

June 11 was set aside as a school holiday for the township to allow pupils to attend the Millbrook fair.

Has Long Record Jailed 2 Years

Fergus Mongraw, who has a record of theft, car theft and false pretences, convictions dating back more than 20 years was sentenced to two years definite and one year indeterminate for car theft today.

In passing sentence, Magistrate W. R. Philp commented that from his record, Mongraw would appear to be a mental case. Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said prison authorities had examined Mongraw and declared him to be normal.

Mongraw was picked up two miles north east of Marmora the night of May 5, after he had driven off with a car owned by Dr. Robert Young, which had been left parked on Water St., with the keys in it and the motor running.

Norwood IODE Plans Public Speaking Prizes

NORWOOD, May 12—(ENS)—Mrs. W. H. Giffen, first vice regent, presided for the May meeting of the Norwood I.O.D.E. One minute's silence was observed in memory of the late Mrs. Edith Carleton, who had been a life member of the chapter. Mrs. Gerad LaBrash, convener of services at home and abroad, had knitted articles on display. Mrs. Metcalfe told about the I.O.D.E. scholarships and awards. It was decided to make a donation to national chapters' fund for endowment of a room in Canada House, London, England; also to give prizes for children's public speaking contest at Norwood Fair. Mrs. Metcalfe read a paper on "How the proclamations were carried out in different countries of the Commonwealth when Her Majesty was proclaimed Queen."

Following the business meeting Mrs. Earl Armstrong and Mrs. C. Copp were hostesses for tea.

Started Time Study At C.G.E. Robert E. Knox Retires

Credited with setting up the first time study piecework system at the Peterborough works of the C.G.E., R. E. Knox, 532 Homewood Ave., retired last week. He left the position of manager of wage and salary administration, to which he was appointed recently.

Since 1926, Mr. Knox—known variously as R. E. and Bob—has headed the wage rate department in the plant here. One of the first in Canada to instal elementary time study and job evaluation, he established a system which has since been adopted by all other C.G.E. plants.

Born In U.S.

Born in the United States, Mr. Knox was educated in Lynn, Mass., and the Lowell Institute of Industrial Foremen, Boston. After serving his apprenticeship as a machinist, he worked for a time at the River Works of General Electric.

Later he took further training in job management and held positions with U.S. firms as a wage rate expert.

His coming to Canada was more or less of an accident. An advertisement in a trade journal stated a man of his experience was wanted by the C.G.E. in Peterborough. He applied, had an interview with then works manager, E. G. Patterson, and was hired.

When he arrived, there was no piecework system, and he evolved his methods to replace the comparatively inefficient premium system then in vogue. Mr. Knox's department then contained about a dozen workers; now there are 150.

Became Citizen

In 1938, R. E. Knox severed his final tie with the United States by becoming a Canadian citizen.

Last year, preparing for his retirement, Mr. Knox purchased the Riverside Pavilion in Hastings, partly as a business venture, and partly to maintain the activity he has become used to.

Combined Service Held At Roseneath

ROSENEATH, May 12—(ENS)—A special Mother's Day service and promotion service was held Sunday morning at the United Church Sunday school with an attendance of 104 pupils and teachers.

The superintendent, Andrew Brown, presided with Mrs. Flex McMillan as pianist. Scripture readings were given by George Linton, Donald Robins and Jim Woodruff. Readings were given by Arlene Howie, Mary Skuce, Mary Halstead and Yvonne Adams. Miss Carole McMillan read a story "My Home." Mrs. Fred Lewis presented a biography of the life of the missionary, John Geddie. The offering was taken by two senior boys, Beverley Robins and William Coyle. Misses Blanche and Lind Arthur sang a duet "Open the Gates", with Miss Lois Arthur piano accompanist.

Asphodel Twp. Council Sets 1952 Mill Rate

NORWOOD, May 12—(ENS)—Asphodel township council struck its tax rate at the May meeting. Basic mill rate will be 53.4, plus school rate.

Following are the school rates for the township:

S.S. 3 Union, 9.9 S.S. 4, separate, 11.2; S.S. 8, union, 24.5; S.S. 10, public, 17; S.S. 10, separate, 16; S.S. 11, union, 4.

Sheep evaluator Frank Taylor reported four sheep had been killed recently by dogs. Sheep were valued at $30. each, and the council authorized Mr. Taylor to search for the dogs.

Melville Johnston, county weed inspector, interviewed the council, and they voted to continue their program of spraying and cutting roadside weeds. Council plan to make a tour of weed inspection on township roads on Wednesday.

Accounts totalling $1,797 were ordered paid. Larger items were $923 for road voucher no. 5, and $575 for warble fly control. Bruce Warr, inspector of warble fly control, reported 3,890 cattle sprayed.

Bill Of Rights Not Needed Garson Thinks

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said Saturday he still isn't sold on the idea Canada needs a bill of rights to guarantee basic freedoms for her people.

Further, he indicated the government would not consider such a bill until it is possible to amend the constitution in this country rather than through the British Parliament.

Mr. Garson, addressing Ottawa's University of Manitoba Alumni Association, argued that the basic freedoms are as safe in Canada today as in any other country with the possible exception of the United Kingdom.

"Our freedoms have achieved this security under the British principle of the sovereignty of parliament. Before we decide to discard this principle . . . let us have more cogent evidence than has so far been brought forward that we should improve matters by doing so. Let us keep our minds open. Let us maintain our willingness to be shown but let us not be convinced by mere rhetoric and generalities."

Distrust of Parliament

The essence of a bill of rights—such a step has champions both in parliament and outside—was "a distrust of parliament, a conviction that free people will not elect a parliament which will protect their freedom and, therefore parliamentary sovereignty should be restricted and limited . . . this is a serious indictment of an institution which is at the very core of our democratic way of life. . .'"

Advocates of such a bill had proved neither that Canada's legislatures have substantially disregarded human rights nor that a bill of rights would provide greater protection.

26 Locals Plan To Secede From T.W.U.A.

HAMILTON, May 12 (CP)—Jack Robinson, director in the Hamilton area for the Textile Workers' Union of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), announced Sunday night that 26 district T.W.U.A. locals voted at a meeting here Sunday to secede from the union. Some 5,000 textile workers are affected.

Harold Daoust, Canadian director of the union, denounced Mr. Robinson as the leader of a one-man movement and said attempts to split the union in Canada would be doomed to failure.

Mr. Robinson countered: "There will be a rude awakening for Mr. Daoust in his claim that I am leading a one-man movement from T.W.U.A., when he is caught in the avalanche of progressive people who are determined to build a decent union.

Bitter Quarrel

Observers said a bitter battle was shaping up within the union after the T.W.H.A. convention last week in Cleveland. They said there have been differences between Mr. Robinson and union president Emil Rieve and his associates since Canadian director Sam Baron was fired two years ago. Last week, Mr. Baron sought re-election to the executive board but was defeated by Mr. Daoust, backed by the administration.

Mr. Robinson charged the Cleveland convention was "rigged" to elect Mr. Daoust.

Locals represented at the meeting included: 736; Monarch Knit, Dunnville; 775, Dominion Fabrics, Dunnville; 800, Monarch Knit, St. Catharines; 824, Grouts, St. Catharines; 1021, Riverside Silk, Galt; 1028, Penman's, Waterford; 1031, Dominion Yarns, Welland; 1068, Galt Knitting, Galt; 1285, Empire Rug, St. Catharines; 1153, Artex Woollens, Hespeler, and 1268, Wool Combing, Galt.

Tough Bouncers Kept Busy At Peace Congress Rally

By CRAIG SWAYZE

TORONTO, May 12 (CP) — The peace rally sponsored by the Canadian Peace Congress at Maple Leaf Gardens Sunday night included a number of not-so-peaceful incidents.

Several times during the 2½-hour program, minor skirmishes broke out when some of the audience, estimated at 8,000, voiced objections to speeches, disturbances were greeted by special bands of "ushers" who "escorted" the hecklers from the building.

The huskies sported arm bands bearing the word "committee." They had an arduous evening.

Several times they rushed high into the "blues" to oust groups of youths who took exceptions to speakers' remarks. However police kept the action from becoming too hot by separating the parties concerned and clearing the section.

At one point, newspapermen and photographers on the floor in front of the speakers' platform attempted to leave their section and get to a disturbance in a corridor. They were greeted by a locked gate and a group of the "bouncers" barring their way.

When several photographers attempted to climb over the boards they were manhandled by the "committee men" with threats of broken cameras. Police prevented an outbreak as reinforcements of reporters and young leftists flocked to the scene.

With police standing by, the gate remained open the rest of the evening.

Several groups of university students were frisked by ushers as they entered the Gardens. Others reported they were asked to leave even before settling in their seats.

A newsreel cameraman was the target of the ushers. Wherever he went, one of the young huskies was at his elbow and his attempts to photograph scuffles were met with jostles—just enough to jar the camera.

Special squads of police patrolled outside the Gardens following the meeting, but there were no incidents.

'Mother's Vow' Theme Of Meet

HAVELOCK, May 12 (ENS)—The Rush Point Devotional and Handicraft Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cook on Thursday evening with an attendance of 65.

The theme of the program was "A Mother's Vow" and was in charge of Mrs. Cora Curtis. Scripture was read by Mrs. Randal Anderson and Miss Barbara Pollock with piano-accordion accompaniment led the singing.

R. C. Curtis, student minister on the Belmont Lakes Area Mission, led in prayer. A quartette, comprising the Misses Dorothy, Roberta and Betty Coke and Marie Newton sang "Whispering Hope" to guitar accompaniment played by the latter. Mrs. Archie Menzies gave a reading "The Vow of Hannah" and a Mother's Day poem was read by Miss Ruth Morrow. A special prayer for the mothers of our own and other lands was offered by Earl Pollock. The Rev. R. G. Newman was in charge of the announcements and Mrs. C. Curtis conducted the business session and also read the address for the presentation to Miss Ytje Hoekstra, a bride of the month and her fiance John De-Jong of Roseneath.

After the handicraft and games period, the hostesses, Misses Joan Seeney, Beverley Anderson, Iva Keating, Laura Wiggins, Helen and Frances Cook served lunch following which a vote of thanks was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Cook for their hospitality.

Ireland Forced To Import Ration Butter

By ERNEST AGNEW

DUBLIN, May 12—(AP)—The Irish are going to have to work harder and spend less if they want to continue to enjoy one of the highest living standards in Europe.

Finance Minister Sean MacEntee says the republic of Ireland's problem is the same one which is plaguing most of the western European countries—the balance of payments, or the difference between what imports cost and what exports sell for.

In 1951, Irish imports cost the country £62,000,000 more than its exports brought in. The difference was paid for out of wartime-built reserves, estimated as of now at about £350,000,000.

Despite the unbalance, the Republic still is one of the few creditor countries in Western Europe.

One of the root causes of the Republic's balance of payments problem is that agricultural production, the backbone of Irish economy, failed during 1951 to regain even the 1938-39 level.

For the first time in her history Ireland, one of the great dairy countries of the world, is importing and rationing butter.

Of the Republic's total population of 2,955,107, almost 645,000 are directly employed in agriculture compared with 212,000 in industry. But the agricultural working population is declining by a degree which one government report says "has assumed the dimensions of an exodus."

The Department of Agriculture says farm output can be doubled under a government-sponsored rehabilitation plan which now is in progress, and if output can be doubled, exports can be increased by 400 per cent.

"For the Irish at the moment, the vital need is to export in greater volume to every market, but especially to the United States and Canada," MacEntee says.

Britain is the Republic's biggest customer. In 1950, total value of Irish exports to the United Kingdom was £53,568, 944.

Underscoring the need for dollar goods sales are government figures showing that in 1950 the Republic sold only $3,690,000 worth of goods to the U.S. but imported $56,000,000 worth.

"It is an unhealthy economy in which net saving has ceased and consumption has outrun income," says MacEntee.

"No government could allow this state of affairs to continue. Having reached the end of our disposable external resources, we should suddenly find ourselves unable to pay for one-third of our current imports, employment now maintained on the basis of consuming external capital would come to an end, and an incalculable degree of economic and social thardship would follow.

"Want and hardship and unemployment would become widespread."

Dodd, the United Nations camp commandant is being held hostage by Red prisoners. Gen. Dodd took command of the camp last Feb. 20 after a riot by prisoners had been quelled.

B.C. Dam To Provide Power For New Aluminum Industry

By DAVE STOCKAND

NECHAKO, B.C., May 12 (CP)—Labor Minister E. T. Kenney today dedicated a dam named in his honor which will trap a wilderness watershed as muscle for a British Columbia aluminum industry.

With the dedication, another step forward was taken in Aluminum Company of Canada's $500,000,000 development in this untapped north country.

Past and future were pictures on the monument Mr. Kenney unveiled under the shadows of a sea of jagged peaks—a rock from the mountains bearing a plaque of shiny aluminum.

Following this workmen dumped the first load of crushed rock which will eventually form the dam's seal on the Nechako River.

The Kenney Dam, at completion late next year, will be the third-highest of its kind in the world. Rising 300 feet from its base, it will extend 1,500 feet and contain more than 6,000,000 tons of rock-fill with an impervious clay core.

Leaders of government and industry attended the ceremony, as did settlers from districts surrounding this wounded wilderness 450 miles north of Vancouver.

Among the guests were Premier Byron Johnson and ministers of his cabinet, as well as civic leaders from all parts of B.C.

The dam will reverse the normal flow of the waters of this huge plateau, creating a natural reservoir 350 square miles in area with its water surface 2,800 feet above sea level.

With their eastern exit sealed, waters will be backed up in the Ootsa-Tahtsa chain of lakes to create the reservoir.

From Tahtsa Lake—head lake of the system—these waters will be drawn off to the west through a 10-mile tunnel driven through solid rock of the coast range.

From there, the waters will plunge in a half-mile drop through pipes and penstocks to the powerhouse deep inside the coastal flank of the mountains at Kemano. The power site is 125 miles west of the dam.

From Kemano powerhouse, capable of eventually developing 1,600,000 horsepower, transmission lines over the mountains will carry the power 50 miles to the northwest to the aluminum smelter at Kitimat.

A little more than a few months ago Kitimat was a seldom-heard-of village of fishermen and loggers. Now it is headquarters of an army of construction workers, an embryo city which in years to come may mushroom into B.C.'s third largest with a 50,000 population.

Alcan says the coastal smelter will be in operation by the spring of 1954 with an initial output of some 80,000 tons of aluminum annually. It can be geared to produce much more.

Groundwork on the Kenney Dam made its first big advance last October when work crews pulled the Nechako River out of its natural bed.

The closed a 100-foot gap in a coffer dam to send the waters through a 1,500-foot diversion tunnel. Then the site of the dam was drained of water to allow a start on construction.

Nearest town of any size to the damsite is Vanderhoof, connected by a 50-mile road torn through thick undergrowth and boulder-strewn terrain.

Former Teacher, New Brunswick Girl Expert On Fossils

TORONTO—(CP)—Ruth Reed, a former Fredericton school teacher, wants to be a paleontologist.

She will spend the summer examining fossils in Alberta, to help pay for her Master's degree at the University of Toronto.

She left her Keswick Ridge, N.B., home some years ago to teach school. Later she entered Mount Allison University at Sackville, N.B., to study geology.

After graduating from university here she will start work in one of three fields—teaching, museum work or in the petroleum industry.

Looking for interesting fossils, usually hidden in rocks, isn't an easy job but her professor, Dr. Madeleine Fritz, says Miss Reed wields a mean hammer.

In Alberta she will make structural maps based on fossils found in oil well cuttings. Oil companies use these maps to get an accurate picture of their territory.

W. Germany Hears New Russ Threats

Cold War Renewed If Defence Pact Signed With NATO

BERLIN, May 13. (AP) — East German Communists on Monday threatened a harsh new cold war and Russian reprisals against West Berlin if the Bonn Government signs the proposed peace contract with the West.

A full Soviet-inspired campaign got under way to keep West Germany from rearming in the western European defence camp. It carried with it predictions that East Germany, in retaliation for such a move, would become a full-fledged satellite in the cominform.

East German Deputy Prime Minister Walter Ulbricht, Moscow trained hatchetman in the Soviet zone politburo, told 300 reporters here his government would oppose measure for measure "with scientific exactness" any moves by West Germany to put 400,000 soldiers in the proposed European Army.

He added ominously that "the day the peace contract is signed, West Berlin will learn its consequences."

Whether this would be a repetition of the 1948 Berlin blockade, he said, is up to the Soviet control commission.

Unusual Conference

Ulbricht called the unusual press conference for East and West journalists to harangue them for two hours with bitter denunciations of Allied plans for what he called a "general war contract."

He appeared to be warming up East Germany for tactics already agreed on by Red leaders in Berlin and Moscow. Other leaders in the Soviet zone already have prepared their people for the possible forming of an East German army "in defence" against possible civil war.

The West German government in Bonn made counter-charges Monday that the Communists are preparing civil war, with emphasis on training young Red fanatics in the Free German Youth organization in riot and disruption tactics.

East German sources foresaw quick enactment of a military draft law in their zone, with the expanding of the Communist cabinet to include a defence minister.

Move Quickly

Such moves would enable East Germany quickly to raise an estimated 350,000 soldiers by fall, comprising a hard core of 60,000 already well-armed "alert units" and a big backing of former W. GERMANY

Fleming is an R.C.A.F. exchange pilot flying Sabre jets with the U.S. Fifth Air Force. April 2, a U.N. spokesman credited Fleming with damaging a MIG over Korea.

975 Canadians Sail Home From Japan

YOKOHAMA, May 13 — (AP) —The largest contingent of Canadian troops ever to sail from Japan—975 fighting men with valiant combat records in the Korean War—departed for home Monday aboard the U.S.S. Buckner.

Most of the men came from three regiments which had proved their worth in close combat with the enemy: The Royal 22nd, largely from Quebec Province; the Royal Canadian from Ontario; and the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, from Manitoba. All were combat veterans, many with as much as 15 months of warfare.

Brig. Alan B. Connelly, chief of the Canadian military mission in Tokyo, saw his countrymen off.

Most of the men arrived in Japan with Korean-grown beards and moustaches, some longer than six inches, but after they set foot ashore all but one shaved.

Job For Twins

He is Sgt.-Major Maurice Juteau, 30, of Montreal, of a scouts and snipers platoon of the Second Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment. He retained his more than eight-inch handlebar moustache for good reasons.

"I'm going to save the moustache for my two sets of twins to cut off," he explained. "That will sever the last connection between me and the Korean War."

As the men waited on the Buckner deck, a festive mood prevailed. Streamers of colored paper fluttered and the 47-piece 289th U.S. Army Band gave the heroic combat veterans a rousing concert.

Senior officers aboard are Lt.-Col. Gordon C. Corbould of Bella Coola, B.C., winner of the Distinguished Service Order, and Col. Gaston Vallee, Montreal, commander of the heroic Royal 22nd Regiment.

Kill 100 Reds In Patrol Tilts

SEOUL, Korea, May 13—(AP) —United States airmen today destroyed five Communist jets, probably shot down two and damaged six in a half-dozen battles over North Korea, the Fifth Air Force said.

The U.S. Eighth Army said ground troops killed at least 100 Reds in patrol skirmishes.

The army said the U.S. First Marine Division is holding a sector of the western front near the armistice conference village, Panmunjom. It said the marines moved into the area from central and eastern front positions a month ago. They replaced the South Korean first division which held the sector 18 months.

The Far East air forces said United Nations fighter-bombers Monday cut a short stretch of rail line near Huichon in 100 places. It was another of the Allies' new saturation bombings.

Convention Postponed

OTTAWA, May 13 (CP) — The Royal Canadian Air Force Association anncunced today that it has had to postpone its third national convention, which had been planned for Ottawa May 22-23. It is expected the convention will be held early in September.

Plane Down In Brazil, 22 Aboard

Wreckage Spotted, Report 3 Dead 13 Others Injured

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 13.—(Reuters)—Eighteen passengers and four crew members were aboard an airliner which crashed while trying to make a forced landing outside Sao Paulo today. First reports said three were killed and 13 hurt.

The plane belonged to a Sao Paulo airline company. The pilot was believed killed and the co-pilot hurt.

The searchers said there were signs of fire. They sighted the twisted fuselage in undergrowth near the river Pinheiros.

The plane was operated by a Sao Paulo airline company.

A Pan-American stratocruiser crashed in the wild area of northern Brazil April 29 with 50 persons aboard. Rescue parties are attempting to reach the wreckage.

Steel Industry "Fears" Said Fantastic

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)— The administration told the Supreme Court today that the steel industry's fears of "irreparable injury" from government operation of the seized mills are "a lot of fantastic hobgoblins."

Solicitor-General Philip B. Perlman said the industry "failed entirely" to show any irreparable injury will result.

As the men waited on the Buckner deck, a festive mood prevailed. Streamers of colored paper fluttered and the 47-piece 289th U.S. Army Band gave the heroic combat veterans a rousing concert.

Perlman was winding up his plea for reversal of the decision by Judge David A. Pine that President Truman's seizure of the mills was illegal.

Counsel for the steel industry had reserved more than an hour for rebuttal.

The court listened—and asked questions—for more than three hours Monday.

John W. Davis, speaking for the steel industry, argued that President Truman had no authority, under the constitution or any law, to take over the mills. He called Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, nominal operator of the mills under government possession, "a mere trespasser."

Davis argued that the steel mills were seized without due process of law and therefore in violation of the fifth amendment of the constitution.

English Marks Have Improved

TORONTO, May 13 — (CP) — The condition of English at the University of Toronto has improved. Results of the university's remedial English course show that 70 per cent of the 180 students taking it passed.

Last November these same students failed a test in the mechanics of English—spelling, punctuation, vocabulary and grammar. Their language difficuties became nationally known when university president Sidney Smith called their showing "alarming" and said it indicated a university-level form of illiteracy.

The remedial course was started to help the students who scored lower than 33 per cent on the November test.

Prof. A. S. P. Woodhouse, head of University College's English department, said today that the course had been "reasonably successful."

A False Alarm

LONDON, May 13. (Reuters) — Police squad cars raced to Buckingham Palace today where a ladder had been found against a wall and a figure was reported prowling in the grounds. Detectives jumped into the bushes, came out with the "intruder" — the palace lamp-cleaner. He had casually leaned his ladder against the wall while going about his rounds of gas lamps.

Staff Chiefs Ask Camp Uproar Explained At Once

SEOUL, Korea, May 13. (AP)—Brig.-Gen. Charles F. Colson was removed today as commandant of Koje Island—three days after he made a sharply-criticized deal there with Red prisoners of war for the release of his predecessor. The new shakeup in the Koje command came less than 12 hours after it became known the U.S. joint chiefs of staff demanded immediate and full clarification of circumstances leading to: 1. Brig.-Gen. Francis T. Dodd's capture by his Koje prisoners, and

2. Colson's promised concessions to Communist P.O.W. leaders which won Dodd's release Saturday night.

Gen. Mark Clark, who became Far Eastern commander Monday, was instructed to send his report to the chief of staff "by the fastest means possible."

Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet named Brig-Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, veteran front-line infantry commander, to take over the turbulent 80,000-man prisoner camp.

Expert On Chinese

Boatner, third general to hold the post within a week, arrived at Koje a few hours after his appointment. He speaks Chinese and—is an expert on Chinese affairs.

Colson was reassigned to his former job as chief of staff of the First Corps in Korea.

Dodd, commandant of the island when Red prisoners captured him Wednesday, was reassigned to U.S. Eighth Army headquarters. His job was not announced.

On Koje, American tanks and combat infantrymen stood guard outside barbed-wire compounds, over some of which captured Chinese and North Koreans flew the Red Flag.

U.S. defence officials in Washington took exception to the wording of Colson's agreement with the Red prisoners. The Defence Department issued a statement Monday night saying the wording gave several wrong impressions.

It singled out these phrases: "Many prisoners of war have been killed and wounded by U.N. forces"; prisoners will receive "humane treatment in the future," and there will be no more "forcible screening or any rearming of prisoners of war."

Woman's Purse New Clue In Triple Slaying

LONDON, Ont., May 13 (CP)— A woman's purse was discovered in the crotch of a tree Monday as police investigated the Sunday slaying of three persons near the Muncey Indians reserve.

Documents on the ground below the purse showed the name of Mrs. Edna Violet McDougald, believed to be a relative of one of the shooting victims, Mrs. Lydia Riley.

Mrs. Riley, her niece, Mrs. Beatrice Henry, 30, and Mrs. Henry's husband, Herman, 32, were found in a gully 15 miles southwest of here shot to death with a .22-calibre gun. No motive for the slaying has been discovered.

The spot, near a blossom-lined lane, is known as a meeting place for bootleggers trafficking in wine with operators inside the reserve. Police said the bodies were dragged into the gully.

Murder Spot Distant

They said the three were shot some distance from the spot where they were discovered. Bloodstains were found beside a road about 4½ miles away and police are checking wheel marks on a little-used lane near the stains.

The purse was found in a tree on the north bank of the Thames river, in North London. Inspector Leonard Neil of the provincial police criminal investigation branch said it is "still in dispute" whether Mrs. Riley's purse was taken when she was shot.

Man Kills Four Aboard Bus

CLEVELAND, May 13—(AP)— Lawrence Goldsby, 20, told police today he didn't mean to shoot three bus passengers and a policeman to death Monday on a crowded bus. He is charged with murder.

"I was just shooting to scare," police quoted Goldsby as saying. "Then I couldn't stop shooting."

Goldsby, unemployed negro, grabbed a gun from Patrolman Eugene Stinchcomb's holster Monday during the evening rush hour.

Stinchcomb, 55, had boarded the bus after the bus driver's complaint that Goldsby was singeing the hair of a woman passenger with a cigarette.

Then Goldsby shot Stinchcomb and two women passengers, one of the women whose hair he had singed. A stray bullet killed a man passenger.

Oil Union Men Summoned To White House

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)— The Truman administration today made a last-ditch effort, short of invoking the Taft-Hartley Act, to end the strike of 90,000 oil industry workers which began two weeks ago.

Representatives of the industry and 22 striking unions were summoned before the Wage Stabilization Board for a meeting to determine whether union-company bargaining is making any progress.

President Truman was reliably reported waiting on the outcome of the meeting before deciding whether to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act's national emergency provisions. These include an 80-day court injunction against continuing a walkout.

The W.S.B. probably will renew its plea to the striking C.I.O., A.F.L. and independent unions to go back to work.

Won't Fool

But O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International Union (C.I.O.), largest of the union coalition, said in advance of the meeting the group intends to continue the strike until it wins suitable contracts. The unions rejected an earlier W.S.B. request to end the walkout.

The case originally was referred by Truman to the wage board to recommend a settlement. But industry representatives refused to attend hearings and the wage board turned the case back to companies and unions for bargaining.

It is expected that, if the W.S.B. decides after today's meeting that the bargaining seems stymied and the unions are determined to stay on strike, the W.S.B. will send the case back to the White House. Taft-Hartley proceedings probably would then follow.

Urges UK Mansion Schools As Memorial To Late King

LONDON, May 13. (Reuters)—A plan to turn some of England's stately homes into schools for commonwealth students as a memorial to King George VI has been proposed by a New Zealand businessman. The suggestion is one of hundreds pouring into the Mansion House, home of London's Australian-born Lord Mayor, Sir Leslie Boyce.

A public meeting next Thursday will appoint a committee to organize a memorial fund and decide on the project best fitted to commemorate the King.

The fund of £600,000 raised for a memorial to King George V was used to provide playing fields throughout Britain.

The "Commonwealth in Britain" schools plan was suggested by Frank Luke in a letter sent to the Lord Mayor from New Zealand.

Outlines Schemes

Luke's scheme is for Commonwealth countries to take over a number of mansion homes in Britain—homes which the owners can no longer afford to maintain —and convert them into schools.

Pupils from all parts of the Commonwealth would attend. The proposal is for each Commonwealth country to be responsible for one school, for buying or leasing a suitable mansion and converting it and for providing scholarships for regular groups of pupils to spent part of their lives in Britain.

Seek Missing Guard

LONDON, May 13 (Reuters) — Scotland Yard disclosed today that a widespread search is under way for a missing police sergeant who was a security guard at Marlborough House, Queen Mother Mary's London home. The guard was identified as Alexander McKenzie Mitchell, 43, believed suffering from loss of memory. He was reported missing Monday.

Skies Brighten Over Ontario

TORONTO, May 13 (CP) — Skies were brightening over most of Ontario today after rainfall Monday and Monday night gave crops a welcome boost.

Rain was heaviest in Eastern Ontario and the James Bay area, where 1.27 inches fell in 24 hours. The Windsor area and Northwestern Ontario received almost no moisture.

The weather office in Toronto said the storm centre today is moving north toward the James Bay area, leaving fair weather in most areas. Showers still were falling in Northeastern Ontario, however, and were likely to continue through most of the day. The rain was over as far as Southwestern Ontario was concerned.

Weather officials recorded .12 inches of rain in the London area, .23 in Hamilton and .12 in Toronto. In Muskoka .84 inches fell and .98 was recorded in Kapuskasing.

Toronto weather officials said the rain should let up in all of Ontario but the James Bay area by tonight.

Bookie Faces 102 Winners

LONDON, May 13 (AP) — Bookmaker Sam Sibley faced 102 winners today—they all backed Durante in the Kempton Jubilee and it came in at 10 to 1—and the lucky horseplayers had a chief constable to thank for their winnings.

For Sam, though, it was just a deluge of woe and a fine of £10 besides.

Bookmaking in Britain is an honorable profession, but not on streetcorners, where Sam held court. When the police arrest an open-air bookie, they usually confiscate his betting slips and nobody gets paid.

So when Chief Constable C. W. Johnson came walking down the street in Dudley last Saturday, Sam's troubles were almost over. The £10 fine wasn't bad at all considering all Sam owed to the Durante backers.

He came up for trial yesterday without a protest. The complaint was as usual. So was the fine. But as the proceedings neared an end, nobody had mentioned confiscating those illegal betting slips.

Oh, those slips, the constable recalled. No, he didn't want them confiscated. All 102 of them were returned—"I want to give the bookmaker a chance to meet his debts of honor," the officer said.

Queen's Horse Wins Wilburton Handicap

NEWMARKET, England, May 13—(Reuters)—The Queen today gained her first horse-racing success since coming to the throne. Her three-year-old colt Choir Boy scored an easy win in the Wilburton Handicap.

Carrying the colors of the Duke of Norfolk—the Queen's colors are not being used during court mourning—Choir Boy started a 2-1 favorite and won the seven-furlong event by 1½ lengths.

He is one of several horses formerly owned by King George VI and taken over by the Queen when her father died.

As Princess Elizabeth, she won her first flat race in April, 1950 with Astrakhan, a filly given her as a wedding present by the Aga Khan.
